Q. What causes double vision?

A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

VOL XXXIV NO 282 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, DECEMBER 11 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

SAFE BLOWERS AT LAKEFIELD

Safe blowers at Lakefield about 2.30 Sunday morning blew open the safe in Charleton's grocery and secured $179 in cash, and made off leaving no clew. The parties, supposed to be two in number, forced an entrance through a window, and after knocking the knob off the vault door proceeded to open it by the use of nitroglycerine. When the handle was removed the explosive was put in place and the hole and cracks were filled with soap, the result being a very badly smashed door.

Flour, which was piled against the door to make the force go inwards was scattered about the floor.

The men escaped in a buggy, and at the time of going to press had not been captured, although the police are busy on the case.

Only one citizen who was up with a sick child, heard the explosion.

Chief Thompson, of this city was notified and has the matter in hand.

The opinion is held that the burglary was committed by professional crooks.

TARIFF COMMISSION TO MAKE ENQUIRY INTO THE IMPLEMENT INDUSTRY

Ottawa, Dec. 9.—(Special)—The first task to be undertaken by the tariff commission after it has been named by the Government will be an enquiry into the agricultural implement industry, with the idea of ascertaining what basis there is for the contention that the time has come when duties should be reduced.

Western members, irrespective of party, have claimed that the duties on agricultural implements should be reduced to a lower point than the 7½ per cent. now collected.

W. F. Cockshutt, in the House the other day, asserted that the United States manufacturers are still able to sell implements cheaper than the Canadian makers, and the time has not yet come when the duties should be reduced. The duty of the tariff commission will be to get at the facts and report its findings to the government.

In view of the request recently made by representatives of the steel companies, it is probable that the commission will make a study of the steel industry as soon after it is formed as possible, and the government will re-decide, as the result of the data laid before it, whether the steel industry is entitled to more encouragement in the way of a renewal of the recently expired bounties, or an increase in the tariff.

SANFORD GUILTY OF DEATH OF SIX PERSONS

Portland, Me., Dec. 9.—Rev. F. W. Sandford, leader of the Holy Ghost and Us Society, was found guilty of causing the death of six persons on board the yacht Coronet, by the jury in the United States District Court to-day. Sandford will be sentenced on Dec. 16.

A statement in open court by the defendant was the feature when the trial was resumed in the United States District Court to-day. The "modern Elijah" delivered the statement from the witness stand, almost exactly as though he were speaking from his pulpit at the Holy Ioh Hilltop. He held the undivided attention of court officials, jurors and a large audience of spectators throughout the recital.

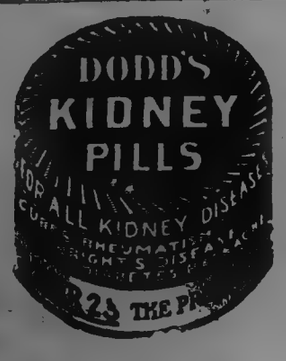
FISHERMEN ADRIDT.

Dorpat, Russia, Dec. 9.—Over 100 fishermen are adrift on an ice floe on Lake Peipus from which the winter fish supply for St. Petersburg is drawn. As all the lake steamers have been laid up for the winter some time will elapse before rescuing parties can be organized and sent out to search for the missing men, whose position is consequently extremely perilous.



FAT COUPLE WEDDED CARRIAGE TOO WEAK

Dover, N.H., Dec. 9.—Samuel Chesley Drew, the pride of the New England Fat Men's Association, who weighs 457 pounds, is back at his home to-day after a honeymoon trip with his bride, who was Miss Rose Lavigne, of Rochester, and who herself tips the scales at 278 pounds. As there was no carriage in the town capable of transporting the happy pair, they were carried from the train to their home in a hay truck.

CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURCH

Missionary Services Held Yesterday —Eloquent Sermons by Rev. Dr. Young.

Yesterday, missionary services in connection with the Charlotte street Methodist church were held, when the Rev. Dr. Young, of Montreal, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening, preaching eloquent and very impressive sermons on both occasions.

Dr. Young, as most of our readers are aware was formerly pastor of the George street Methodist church in this city. He is regarded as one of the foremost preachers of the Methodist Church in Canada. As a consequence large congregations were present yesterday to hear him. Special music was provided by the excellent choir of the church.

SHOOTING PAINS, IN SIDE, BACK AND ARMS

Prove the Presence of Rheumatic Virus, Which Is Cured Quickest by Nerviline—Rub It In.

Pains in the muscles, in the sides, the back, the neck or the chest—they always carry with them great discomfort. If the inflammation is severe the pain will be intense. If allowed to continue they are dangerous. Nothing so quickly cures local inflammation and drives away pain as Nerviline. Nerviline does this because it penetrates so deeply. Nerviline is not only powerful, but soothing. By relieving congestion it cures pain. It does this always. It cannot fail because it is a true antidote for pain. You can scarcely find anybody that will not tell you wonderful things about the pain-curing power of Nerviline. Remember, that there is not an ache or pain that Nerviline will not cure immediately. Nerviline is an anchor of health in every household.

Refuse anything that may be offered you instead of Nerviline, which is guaranteed for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, and all muscular aches and pains.

BATTLED FOR THEIR LIVES IN BURNING FOUNDATION SHAFT

Two Had Clothing Entirely Burned from Their Bodies—Four Others Badly Injured—Tragedy of New Skyscrapper District

New York, Dec. 9.—Locked in a burning foundation shaft seventy-five feet below the street level, six men battled for their lives to-day in the heart of New York's down-town skyscraper district. Two of them whose clothing was almost burned entirely from their bodies, will probably die, the other four are badly injured.

With flaring candles fastened in their caps, the men went into the lock under an air pressure of 21 pounds, a few minutes before the fire broke out. One of them placed his candle too near the wood of the wall of the shaft. A few minutes later flames were roaring about them. They beat upon the door for minutes before it was finally opened and they were drawn to the surface.

VAGRANCY CHARGE DROPPED GIRL WILL GET MARRIED

Kingston, Dec. 9.—Cupid took a prominent part in a case before Magistrate Farrel to-day. A week ago a young girl named Jillings was arrested on a charge of vagrancy. At the time she stated she was about to go to Campbellford to get married. She was remanded a week, until the case was investigated. When the case came before the Magistrate on Saturday morning, a letter was received from the young man in the case, in which he verified the girl's statement about marriage and the Magistrate then decided to dismiss the charge. The girl left for Campbellford this afternoon, where the knot will be tied. She was met at the outer station by the groom.

A THOUSAND FOOT LINER

London, Dec. 9.—Another 1,000 foot liner is projected, and this time by Germany. It is stated by The Standard that the Hamburg-American Line has placed an order with Harland and Wolff for a new steamship, which will eclipse in size and magnificence the White Star giants Titanic and Olympic.

The new vessel will be eleven storied floating palace, built to carry five thousand passengers and will have engines of 80,000 horsepower—that is, exactly twice as powerful as those of the new White Star liners.

WILLIAM MAY LOSE BISHOP JOB

Agitation in Germany for the Separation of Church and State.

Berlin, Dec. 10.—The agitation among Protestants, Lutherans and other Christians outside the Catholic Church for separation of Church and State is gaining in strength all the time, and may eventually cost the Kaiser one of his many titles, namely, that of Chief Bishop of Prussia. And the chief bishopric will likewise be taken away from the other Protestant kings and princes, nineteen of them, and from the burgomasters of the Free Cities, Hamburg, Lubeck and Bremen.

The opponents to the State Church in Germany assert that the government's interference with church affairs has become intolerable "because each of the many Protestant Prince-Popes wants to be more powerful than the Pope himself."

RICH JEWELS OF THE FORMER SULTAN

Are Soon To Be Offered For Sale at Auction in Paris.

Paris, Dec. 10.—The date for the sale of the jewels found at the palace of Yildiz after the dethronement of Abdul Hamid, has been fixed for December 20th. They will be put up at auction at the Georges Petit Gallery, and it is certain that never before has anything been seen approaching the quantity and value of the jewels that will come under the hammer.

At a rough estimate, made by a well-known expert of the Rue de la Paix, they have been valued at close upon $7,500,000, and a French literary man, who was admitted to see them lately, declares that he could fancy himself in one of the fabulous treasure houses of the Thousand and One Nights as he saw the sparkling stones being poured out into trays before him like marbles.

CHEAP FOOD FOR THE POOR OF GERMANY

MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES START FISH MARKET IN BERLIN—PRICED REDUCED.

Berlin, Dec. 10.—The high cost of living, general all over Europe, has made itself felt to such an extent in Germany that the various municipal authorities are doing their utmost to find means of alleviating the distress of the poorer classes. Some of these endeavors have been directed towards granting special increase of wages to municipal employes, policemen, postmen, street cleaners, etc., and this example has been followed by some of the larger firms, one of two of the big German banks, having granted their employes special "teurung" (high living cost) increases of salaries, a distinction being made between unmarried men and those who have a family to support.

Fish Market.

The first experiment in actually providing the masses with cheaper food has, however, been made by the Berlin city council. This is to be accomplished by making Berlin a city of fish eaters. The authorities will buy sea fish in large quantities at the fishing harbors and sell at low prices through specially appointed fishmongers in the Berlin markets. It is a significant fact that, although fish is, of course, to be seen on the tables of the middle and upper classes in Berlin, fish consumption, with the exception of the smoked and dried variety is almost unknown among the working people. Municipal placards of the official red, surmounted with the picture of a fish, have been posted throughout the city calling attention to the new food, and indicating the different markets at which the fish may be obtained.

VICTIMS OF MINE DISASTER MAY NUMBER OVER 260

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 9.—A "dust" explosion in the main mine of the Cross Mountain System, near Briceville, early to-day entombed a large number of workers, who had just entered for the day's toil. The mine is usually manned by 200 miners, but whether all had entered the shaft prior to the "dust" blast has not been determined.

Rescue preparations were immediately got under way and at 10 a.m. gangs of miners from other works in the district had gone into the main Cross Mountain Mine by three entrances.

RESCUERS FORCED TO RETIRE.

Members of rescue squads who were driven from the mine by flames and smoke declared they had advanced a mile into the main shaft before they were forced to retire and that in the tain crest.

distance they had discovered no sign of the imprisoned men. Just before their rescuers were driven out by smoke they encountered a cave-in in each of the entries. It was of such character as to almost positively confirm the early theory that "dust" had caused the explosion.

Of all the men who went into the mine this morning three have escaped. They were John Lang, Sam. Farmer and Bert Haymaker. They were in line of the lateral shafts at the time of the explosion. Warned by the blast's rumbles they escaped before the flames.

These men observed bad "signs" as they entered the mine. They believed the exact location of the blast is at least two miles in the interior and a thousand feet from the mountain

POSTMASTER STRATTON GETS OFFICIAL NOTICE TO QUIT

A mild sensation was caused on Saturday, when it became known that Mr. A. H. Stratton had received his notice from Ottawa that his services as postmaster would be dispensed with, the reason assigned being the usual one political partizanship before and during election. An announcement to this effect was, we understand made on Saturday night at Mr. Hall's Committee Rooms. The Times is informed that Mr. Stratton has demanded an investigation, stating that there is no truth whatever in the charge. His request will of course, be granted.

HOW IT WORKS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Our present Compensation Act is apparently rotten to the core. Mrs. Burke has lost her husband and her chance to get any damages so the Toronto evening papers say Saturday night.

Here is a widow, the bread-winner killed in that big slaughter house, the C.G.E., and because of a technicality in the law, she loses her right to compensation, although the jury awarded her $1,800.00 damages.

Take the young Hillier girl, whose right hand was burned to a crisp in the Chicle Factory. She could not get a cent under this law.

I tell you fellow workman, that the Whitney Government has neglected the workmen too much. I have never supported Mr. Hall, but I will this time on his platform of an act like the English Act. The present conditions are awful.

WHAT IS SOCIALISM?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see The Times had an article a few days ago on "Socialism," which I wish to correct. So much has been written regarding this great movement that is utter nonsense, I feel constrained to tell you what a Socialist really is—well knowing, however, that you would not print what I say, and that, should you see fit to comment on it, you would do so only in a lying and garbling way.

The abolishment of the present economic and industrial conditions and the entire control of the tools of production by our class—the producers—is our object. To attain this end we, recognizing, that might alone makes right, and that we have the might, will stop at no means to attain our desired object. No ideas of religion, so-called morality customs, or individuals will be allowed to stand in our way or deter us.

When we attain our economic freedom—and the time is close—and the

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach. The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

THE ORIGIN OF OPIUM

The Cultivation of Poppies which was only Begun in China 200 Years Ago was Imported from the West Into India.

The same political developments are to be seen in the East as in the West, but in a lesser degree, and to affirm that the West has outstripped the East, or that the East has lagged behind the West, is to affirm things about which nothing certain can be said. It is curious that the vice which is regarded as most distinctly Asiatic should have originated in Europe. Seven thousand years ago, in the so-called Stone age, the lake dwellers of Switzerland were cultivating poppies, apparently for the oil in the seed.

In the South of Europe and on the Mediterranean shores of Africa the opium poppy—or rather the wild poppy of which the opium poppy is a cultivated variety—was grown perhaps two thousand years ago. The Greeks were acquainted with the somniferous properties of the sap, which was used as medicine, but chiefly it was cultivated for the oil. Now this variety of poppy does not grow wild in Asia. It was apparently introduced into Persia, India, and China by Arab traders, as the narcotic juice seems to have been largely used by the Arabians for the pleasurable effects produced. It appears to have reached India about a thousand years ago, although no doubt the drug was imported before that time, and five hundred years ago it was an article of trade between India and China.

The cultivation of poppies, however, apparently was only begun in China some two hundred years ago, when the Chinese hit upon the plan of inhaling the fumes by burning the drug—the so-called opium smoking. Here we see the introduction of a narcotic from the West to the East, and the question arises why the West has been able to escape from its influence while so many Eastern nations have succumbed? This is more especially curious when we remember that tobacco, also introduced to the East from the West, is now as popular in Europe as in Asia and other parts of the world.

Whatever be the cause of this comparative indifference to opium in Europe, it remains a fact that its use and cultivation were imported from the West, and thus an Asiatic vice turns out to be not peculiarly Asiatic at all.

SUPERTITIONS ROUND 'OPALS'

Sir Walter Scott Started the Idea that Opals Were Unlucky in one of his Books.

The idea that opals were unlucky is thought by many to be on account of the unfortunate part Sir Walter Scott assigned to it in his "Anne of Geierstein." The opal is also associated with misfortune by Russians of both sexes, who, should they chance to see an opal amongst the goods displayed for purchase, will buy nothing more that day, and it is a curious fact that the Japanese, being under the sign that this stone belongs to, should be the nation to bring such ill-luck to the Russians during the disastrous war between these two countries. The Romans of old loved the opal so well that they bestowed upon it the name of "lovely youth." It never occurred to them that it was a gem which carried ill-luck to its possessor. In the Middle Ages there were not wanting men who shared the Romans' weakness, for opals did not lose their popularity as time went on. Each century brought its own joys and sorrows, luck and ill-luck, to the human race; and each age brought its fashions in jewellery as in clothing, but the opal remained high in favour and entered largely into the adornment of both sexes.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John." Husband (sighing)—"I wish it were but I know it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

NO DEMAND FOR RACERS

Failure of An Auction Sale at the Sheepshead Track.

The race horse is not so valuable an asset as in the days when the metropolitan tracks were running and anti-betting laws were not in force at eastern race courses, judging from developments at the Sheepshead Bay track, New York, when Sam Hildreth, the well-known owner of thoroughbreds, endeavored to auction off his string of good campaigners. Four horses were knocked down at what Mr. Hildreth declared were "miserable sums," and he ended the sale forthwith, and announced that he would take the stable to England and there dispose of it.

Wonderful Sprinting Feat

Sporting news from Australia contains the account of a wonderful sprinting feat by Jack Donaldson, the champion pro., in a match over 130 yards, against C. E. Holway, the American. Donaldson won by four yards in twelve seconds. To go ten yards inside evens is something that has not been seen since the palmy days of Harry Hutchens. English critics think the distance was 130 yds., but the account from Sydney are somewhat different.

Of the 440-yard race for the championship of the world between Holway and Trembath, the New Zealander, R. R. Terry, says in a letter:

C. E. Holway tacked Trembath's scalp to his girdle over 440, giving him the championship, for Trembath had beaten Postle some time ago. Trembath was favorite at 10 to 9, but there was not much betting. Holway drew the inside, but he allowed the New Zealander to take the lead after going 40 yards. They ran along for 160 yards with Trembath ahead; then the big fellow rushed past Trembath like a flash and put a gap of five yards between them. At 300 yards Holway was four yards in front of his rival, but Trembath kept plugging away in the hope of Charlie tiring, but it was of no avail, for Holway maintained his lead to the finish, and won by about four yards. The official time was 50 4-5 seconds, but I had my dog watch on, and made it 50 3-5. It had been raining hard and the track was bad."

Hard-and-Fast Routine

More and more, as we grow older, do we become the victims of routine and slaves of the hour.

The same round of duties lies every morning waiting for the coming of the mistress of the house as she takes up the reins of government with the best heart she may.

The woman who really rules her household and assumes the responsibility of wife and mother as her own, cast to be laid on the shoulders of any deputy, gradually, in too many cases, lets go the opportunities of influence and blessing which would interrupt her prescribed order of accomplishment.

Round Steak Boiled

If properly cooked boiled round steak will be rare, tender and juicy. Plunge the meat into sufficient boiling water to cover, boil rapidly for fifteen minutes, then push the kettle over a slow fire where it will simmer at one hundred and eighty degrees Fahrenheit for fifteen minutes to each pound of beef. Serve the beef with cream horseradish sauce, boiled turnips or cabbage and potatoes.

An old country woman and her daughter went into a shop in town to buy a bonnet. When she had purchased the bonnet the milliner, turning to the woman, said:—"What about a collar for your daughter?" meaning, of course, a hat. The woman turning to the girl, indignantly retorted—"What about a cooar for yoursel'?"

MEN OF CANADA IN PLAY TIME

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Relating to the Recreations of the Grown-Ups in their Hours of Leisure

The Canadian "Who's Who" is an interesting study in the careers of several thousands of Canadian men and women who have attained distinction in some line of activity; but the significant features of these brief histories are not so often in the records of success and accomplishment as in the list of recreations in which these men indulge in their moments of leisure.

Of the 660 whose recreations are quoted, 225, or more than one-third, acknowledge shooting as a favourite form of play. Of these fourteen at least specify rifle target shooting, and six big game shooting. The rest it may be presumed are devoted to hunting in one form or another. "Let us go out and kill something," is the way a witty Frenchman once described the Englishman's idea of sport, and the Canadian seems in a fair way to follow his example. Fishing and shooting go together with a large number of people, and 162 mention fishing as a recreation.

For a country with such splendid water courses and lakes, the number among those mentioned who are devoted to water sports is surprisingly small. With only forty-four in yachting or sailing a recognized diversion, canoeing appeals to thirty-one, boating without special preference to forty, rowing to thirteen, swimming to six, and camping, which of course includes any or all of the pleasures of the water, to thirty-one.

The same thing may be said of winter sports. The Canadian winter is the glory of the Canadian climate, but in view of the general favour in which winter sports are held, it is remarkable that only 94 — perhaps largely the Scotch proportion of the population — go in for curling, thirteen for skating, three for hockey, two for snowshoeing, two for skiing, and one for tobogganing.

Athletic and outdoor sports do not occupy as important a place as might be expected. This may be due to the fact that as men grow older — old enough to qualify for admission to "Who's Who" — they have usually passed from the performing to the onlooking stage in athletics.

ON "THE CANNY SCOT."

Scotsmen Not Sentimental, But Deeply Romantic at Heart, Says a Well-known English Writer.

"I have been trying all my life to like Scotsmen," said Charles Lamb, "and am obliged to desist from the experiment in despair." There are still probably a few people who secretly or openly harbour similar antipathetic feelings towards the natives of Caledonia, but their number is decreasing daily. It would hardly be correct to say that the Scots are universally popular. Popularity is usually the product of leisure and luxury, and is seldom accorded to those who have had little opportunity for the cultivation of the graces and external beauties of life. For generations the Scots have been held fast in the grip of uncompromising realities. The poverty of the country, with its long stretches of bleak but beautiful moorland; the "Sawbath gloom" which so long reigned over the Lowlands, combined with the "Celtic gloom" permeating every "distant shieling" in the Highlands, has not been conducive to the development of a spirit of gaiety and charm. But what they have lost in one way they have gained in another. It is this very schooling in "strait and narrow" ways which has given the nation the grit and dogged determination it now possesses.

HUMOUR NORTH OF THE TWEED.

A sense of humor is not now denied Scotsmen by the Sassenach. "A Scotsman and therefore quick to see the humor of things," was the recent comment of so cosmopolitan a critic as Mrs. Annie Besant. What would Sydney Smith say if he could have heard it?

Meanness is another charge which seems to have been withdrawn in recent years. It probably arose in the first instance from the Scot's necessity for economy. Brought up in a country where money was unusually scarce, it was difficulty for him to develop suddenly an open-handed generosity. This fostered habit of economy, brought about by circumstances, must be carefully distinguished from the merely mean desire to hoard. Great generosity of heart is often found in the most economical person, while a certain cold selfishness not infrequently accompanies the most outrageous extravagance.

Another charge which has sometimes been levelled against the Scots is a lack of romance, but their history is an ample refutation of this charge. The Scotsman is not sentimental, but he is deeply romantic at heart."

Creeps like a Serpent

Catarrh is an insidious disease, scarcely noticeable at first, but horribly relentless if not checked.

No disease makes such inroads into weak constitutions as Catarrh. It spreads from the place of beginning to the lungs, bronchial tubes, stomach, intestines, and before long all the organs of the body are affected.

A splendid remedy, attended with remarkable success in curing Catarrh has lately come prominently to the front. Its name is Catarrhozone, and no case is recorded where it failed to quickly relieve and cure.

The strong points about Catarrhozone are that it is both a local and constitutional treatment. It not only affords quick relief to the local symptoms, but also purifies the blood of all Catarrhal poisons, builds up and strengthens the system.

Catarrhozone Inhaler supplies an abundance of medicated air which is breathed in at the mouth, and after passing through every air cell and air passage of the breathing organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

This penetrating, volatile antiseptic at once kills the germs that cause Catarrh, and prevents the disease spreading when once established. It is so healing and soothing that the inflamed membranes, and sore spots are restored to normal and healthy condition in a few days.

Catarrhozone cleanses the nose and throat and keeps them entirely free of mucous discharge. It prevents dropping in the throat, cures headache and makes breathing easy and the breath pure and sweet.

To build up and invigorate the system, a blood purifier and tonic called Ferrozone should be taken after each meal. In conjunction with Catarrhozone it is a valuable aid in establishing such a healthy condition of the body that Catarrh cannot exist.

Other remedies have been known to give relief, but to permanently eradicate every trace of Catarrh you must use Catarrhozone. It is a commonsense, convenient, clean method of cure that is endorsed by the profession.

You are sure to be benefited quickly and positively cured by Catarrhozone. The complete outfit costs only $1.00. Trial size, 25c. Sold by Druggists, and The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

PROGRESS OF MACHINERY IN TURING PULP.

Three processes were used to manufacture into wood pulp the six hundred thousand cords of pulpwood used in 1910. These are the mechanical or grinding process and the two chemical processes, which depend upon the use of sulphite of soda. Statistics supplied by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, show that wood used by the mechanical process formed over three-quarters of the total during 1910, a greater percentage than at any time in the past. Unlimited supply of clean water is a necessity in the manufacture of wood pulp by the mechanical process, so that Quebec is the province best adapted for it. Spruce furnished over four-fifths of the wood used for mechanical pulp. Balsam contributed one-sixteenth, with small quantities of hemlock and poplar making up the balance. The sulphite process accounted for one fifth of the pulpwood and was used slightly more in Ontario than in Quebec. Nearly seventy per cent. of the wood used in this process was spruce, mostly from Ontario. Balsam furnished thirty per cent., about three-quarters of which was from Quebec and the same province used a small quantity of poplar in this process. Barely two per cent of the total amount of pulpwood was manufactured by the soda process, although Canada has the distinction of having the oldest soda mill in America. Quebec manufactured over three-quarters of the pulp made by the soda process. This process was the principal method used in the reduction of hemlock. Of the total used by the soda process spruce formed seventy per cent., hemlock seventeen per cent., and poplar ten per cent. Balsam is not adapted to the soda treatment.

CATARRH CANNOT BE CURED

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials people learn their true condition, then will crumble away your religion, your customs, and your foul marriage relations, than which nothing more vile and immortal was ever promulgated in any system of society.

The Socialist party is becoming stronger, and every day sees from its ranks the thinkers graduating into that great mass of non-voting revolutionists whose members are already causing your class such grave concern.

Altruism and sentimentalism hold no part in our philosophy. We are merely out to win. Perhaps, from an ethical point of view, Socialism is justifiable. Whether or no, that cuts no figure. We have the power and right and wrong, as you know them, mean nothing to us. We are biding our time and preparing to strike, and you had best prepare your road for a safe retreat.

The French Revolution should teach you that when the lower order of the populace breaks loose it is very hard and almost impossible for the thinking part to control them. You, the sycophants of the ruling class, would be the first to suffer from their blind rage, and you had best prepare for it.

HOW PROTESTANTS PAY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The records show that this county pays for the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's continuation class at Ennismore, well on to $100.00 per year and the Whitney Government gives an equal amount. This means that the Protestants are taxed the above amounts to keep up a school which is purely Roman Catholic and is not an approved school. This school has apparently successfully passed into the Normal here as follows:

1st year—2 pupils.
2nd year—None.
3rd year—1 pupil.
4th year—None.

Should not the Ennismore people pay for their own school? We are taxed to keep this school up and in competition with our own collegiate when there is room in our collegiate to teach these continuation class pupils. We pay taxes twice for the same object.

What do you think of the price per year we pay for a failure to pass one pupil through the examinations?

If Ennismore wants a competition school cutting off pupils from our collegiate, then let it pay for it.

This matter has been kept quiet, but it is all wrong. This is the reason Mr. Peck's friends say he will take a majority out of Ennismore—because the Whitney Government gave the people of Ennismore this present.

Protestant.

Sword in a Plank.

A curious discovery has been made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of heightening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a fresh plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for at least fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was an old-fashioned type, a short cross piece forming the handle. How the sword could have got where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank where it had entered, and it is believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence, and encircled with the growth.

A King's Retreat.

We often hear of Boscobel Oak, people pointing to it as the very tree which sheltered Charles II. after the Royalist forces had been shattered at the battle of Worcester. But the Boscobel Oak is not the original tree; it has grown from an acorn taken from the original tree. Boscobel House, near by, is, however, the very house in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to crawl out of the chimney and make his way into a wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, then, early in the morning, took food and drink with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath the tree searching for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China, it would appear, is a business complicated by Chinese customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old and after it has passed one New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years of age before it is 30 days days old according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, as elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady at Ching-tzu known to be over 100 who insisted on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a Chinese mother to give a son the age of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. This of course is another source of trouble to the enumerators.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

Notice is hereby given that, owing to a change in the law requiring a report from the City Engineer, which takes considerable time to prepare, before local improvement works can be undertaken, petitions for sewers, sidewalks or pavements to be constructed as local improvements must be received before February 1st, 1912, to be acted upon in 1912.

Since the last Annual Meeting Branches have been opened at Grand Falls, Nfld.; West Summerland, B. C.; Suffield, Alta.; Athalmer, B.C.; Kamloops, B.C., and Port Haney, B. C.

At a Special Meeting of the shareholders, held on 5th September, 1911, an issue of $1,600,000 new Capital Stock was authorized, making the total Paid-up Capital of the Bank $16,000,000, and at this date $1,013,000 of the New Stock has been subscribed for.

It has been decided to increase the Bank Premises Account to an amount, which, while still thoroughly conservative, more closely approximates the value of our land and buildings as assets than did the former practice.

All the Offices of the Bank, including the Head Office, have been inspected during the year.

(Signed) R. B. ANGUS,
President.

Bank of Montreal,
4th December, 1911.

The President's Address.

The president, Mr. R. B. Angus, then moved the adoption of the Report, seconded by the Vice-President, Sir Edward Clouston, Bart. The President said:

I beg to move the adoption of the Report; and in doing so I have to call attention of the Shareholders to two important changes in the Annual Statement.

The one that was authorized by you at the Special Meeting of 5th September and subsequently approved by the Treasury Board, provided for an increase of the Capital Stock by $1,600,000—mainly with a view of extending to that amount the right to increase the issue of notes in circulation. This appeared to be urgently demanded, as the circulation of this Bank had reached the legal limit, the amount of the paid up capital; and as other Banks were much in the same position, it was feared that a great scarcity of currency would soon be experienced.

Another considerable change in the Statement at this time will be seen in the treatment of Bank premises account, which for years had been represented by the comparatively insignificant sum of $600,000, notwithstanding the large expenditure recently incurred for Bank Buildings and for providing suitable accommodation for the increasing business throughout the country. Your Directors have been frequently criticised for having charged the full amount of the cost under this head against the profits of the year, and it has been suggested that we should alter our system to conform to that of other Banks in the published statements. We have, therefore, had a conservative valuation made of the property, which results in the figures now submitted, namely, $9,088,000, land $4,735,000 and buildings $4,353,000, and have taken back less than half that amount or $4,000,000—more adequately to represent this item in the balance sheet. To adjust bank premises consequently the sum of $3,400,000 has been applied and the balance carried forward.

The calls on New Stock extend over a period of nine months and the payments being completed the capital will stand at $16,000,000, and the rest at a like amount.

On 15th September last we sustained a loss of $271,721.00 by burglary at New Westminster, one of our important branches, where a considerable amount of money had been provided for the payment of wages. A small portion so far has been recovered in addition to the insurance and the balance has been written off.

The business of the bank has been fairly prosperous during the year, although the employment of spare funds, in call and short loans, has been less productive than usual, the prevailing rates having been extremely low in New York and London, during the whole period. The ordinary deposits show a gratifying increase, while those of a temporary character have to some extent fallen off, as we have been unwilling to encourage them at a higher rate of interest.

The financial markets of Great Britain and the Continent of Europe have taken freely of Canadian bonds and stocks, municipal, railway and industrial. There was a brief interval of dullness, but that condition seems to have passed and well vouched for securities are again in good demand. There is ample room for the employment of foreign capital in this rapidly developing country and it becomes the more imperative that no issue having any taint or doubtful value should be submitted to the foreign investor.

During the year under review Canada has enjoyed a period of great prosperity in almost every department of trade and commerce and has undoubtedly added largely to her permanent and productive wealth; although this has been more marked in the prairie provinces and British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces have not failed to participate.

The mining industry of British Columbia has taken on a new life, although the prolonged coal strike has seriously interfered with the operation of the mines and lessened their product. The mines in Ontario have been wonderfully productive. The iron and coal of Nova Scotia have had a large output and promise to be more profitable when their organization is more complete.

Manufacturers have been fully occupied and new industries of every description are springing up in all parts of the Dominion.

In immigration from Europe and the United States Canada has attracted 348,633 souls to her population, an increase over the previous year of 56,369. This item alone represents a very substantial gain, the value of each immigrant in money and property brought into the country has been variously estimated, and in the aggregate we know it must be very great; but still more to be valued is the advantage of the advent of so many additional hands, mostly farm laborers, who repair at once to the lands which lie open to their enterprise.

The increasing immigration, the consequent development of new acreage and the various climatic conditions make it difficult to estimate the result of the harvest. For instance the generally accepted figures for last year ranged from 80 to 95 millions of wheat, while the final outrun showed actually 118 millions in round figures. I have from a capable and well informed source the following estimate for this year: He says with regard to the Western crops:

Early estimates made by competent judges were in the neibhborhood of 200 million bushels. However, since then, these estimates have been reduced to about 180 millions, owing to subsequent unfavorable weather conditions. While the quality this year, as a whole, is not all that could be desired, the average prices being paid for the lower grades are even better than the prices obtainable in many previous years for the higher grades, and consequently the net cash returns will be the largest ever obtained from our Northwest:

When considering the effect of the wheat crop in relation to its influence on the prosperity of our Dominion, the value of the other cereals produced in our Northwest must not be overlooked. If we accept the present estimates of the various important grains, which are as follows:

Wheat	180,000,000 bushels
Oats	200,000,000 "
Barley	35,000,000 "
Flax	7,000,000 "

the cash value to the farmer, at the average prices prevailing to-day would be approximately over $235,000,000, no inconsiderable sum, considering that this is exclusive of the farmers' receipts from various other sources, such as live stock, hay, root crops and dairy products.

Railway construction especially in the Northwest continues to manifest great activity; and while in its immediate effect it benefits the country by the expenditure of money and the employment of labor, where the lines are judiciously chosen, it prepares the way for settlement and affords facilities for intercourse and ready access to markets.

Most worthy of note are the extensive irrigation works in the Northwest by which the arid lands are converted into fruitful fields destined to become the homes of a large farming population. As to the ready made farms they cannot be supplied fast enough to meet the wants of would-be settlers. While the railway took the initiative in this enterprise, it is being followed by large landholders and capitalists of Great Britain, who from patriotic motives in some instances are making such investments with the view of supplying homes, and giving a fresh start in life to the surplus population of the Motherland. Experimental farms for the instruction and convenience of settlers are also of immense advantage and are gradually being extended to every province of the Dominion.

A review of the various branches of trade and industry throughout the Dominion is beyond my province, although the Bank in its widespread operations is vitally interested in the commercial life of the country, and touches it at every point. I, therefore, attempt but a brief summary.

The dry goods trade of 1911 has been somewhat unsatisfactory. In the Spring stocks were heavy and the demand light, this being to some extent a legacy of the previous year. But a decided improvement has set in, with much better prospects.

In Canadian cottons a largely increased trade has been experienced, with firm prices, and imports are gradually decreasing.

Early in the year also our Woolen and Worsted manufacturers suffered from the competition of foreign imports. Goods intended for the United States, where the markets were overstocked, were, according to Bradford reports, sold in Canada at a sacrifice, but that condition of things has been overcome and the mills are now well employed in goods for next season.

Indeed, competent authorities report the wholesale trade to be at present in a comparatively flourishing condition and increasing in volume.

The iron and hardware trade and groceries are said to be decidedly good, although profits are somewhat curtailed by excessive competition.

In boots and shoes a large and apparently profitable business has been transacted, notwithstanding the high price of leather. A most remarkable change has taken place in the values of butter and cheese, as compared with those of a year ago. Farmers have been receiving 3c more per lb. for cheese, and 5c to 6c more for butter. The advance has been realized on a considerable portion of the season's make—indicating that the farmers have received at least $3,000,000 more for their exports of dairy products than for the corresponding period of last year.

The hay crop of the Dominion for 1911 was less than the previous year, but the farmers have realized from it a larger return by $2 to $3 per ton, and a good demand exists both in the United States and Great Britain.

The export of cattle continues to grow less each succeeding year, this being due in a great measure to the larger consumption of the home market and the increasing population both in the East and West.

The fisheries on our Atlantic Coast have been exceedingly prosperous and last year everyone who handled fish made money through the transaction. The fishermen had the biggest catch and obtained the highest prices recorded. This is true generally both in regard to our Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

With regard to the Pacific Coast, the Salmon pack is reported to have been an average one. The market is active and prices good. Other fishery conditions are generally satisfactory.

Recent changes in the tariff of the United States and the comparative failure of the Water powers in that country have brought the pulp and paper making in Canada into prominence. Several of our Mills have been successful in their operations; and with our extensive spruce forests and unsurpassed hydraulic powers this industry is sure to find a natural development in this Country.

The lumber trade has been poor throughout the year especially in British Columbia, which has had to face the keen competition of the Western States, whose lumber has been forced upon the Canadian markets in consequence of the almost complete paralysis of business in their own neighborhood. In the East and especially of late, there has been experienced a marked improvement, both in export and local account. In the latter there has been an unprecedentedly brisk and profitable demand in consequence of the activity of building operations.

This leads me to remark upon the Real Estate transactions which in some districts savor too much of speculation. In Montreal and other large Eastern cities prices have long been in a measure dormant, until recently when the public suddenly realized the necessity of providing homes and commercial buildings for the vastly increased population. Hence the rise in values which is not without justification.

The business of the port of Montreal shows a healthy increase. The total quantity of grain exported during the season of navigation is about 29,398,359 as compared with 26,349,514 bushels last season, while the exports of flour have almost doubled.

With the high prices of agricultural produce prevailing the farmers of Canada have had a profitable year, which is reflected in the satisfactory condition of the general business in all portions of the Dominion.

There can be no more certain indication of the business activity and general prosperity of the country than the railway earnings, which are phenomenally large.

I regret to announce the retirement of Sir Edward S. Clouston, Baronet, from the General Managership of the Bank. After 47 years of service, 20 of which have been passed in the Chief Executive Office, it is natural that he should seek some relief from the arduous duties of that position. I am happy to say, however, that his mature judgment and great experience will still be available to the administration, when required, in the less strenuous office of Vice-President.

He will be succeeded by Mr. H. V. Meredith, an able and well qualified officer, who will surround himself with such capable assistants as are always to be found on the staff of the Bank.

Sir Edward Clouston.

In seconding the adoption of the Report, Sir Edward Clouston said:

As the President has dealt with the general business of the country, I will confine the few remarks I make to the statement, a copy of which you have in your hands.

To meet the wishes of the Shareholders, expressed at several of our meetings, and to conform to the custom of the other Banks in Canada, we have shown the amount expended on new Bank Premises during the past year. We have also obtained valuations of all our lands and buildings, and I do not think we can be accused of over valuation when we place the value in our statement at $4,000,000, somewhat less than the value of the land alone. In fact, to the amount of $2,000,000 should be added the cost of uncompleted buildings, making it $700,000 more. The increase of $3,400,000 over former statements has been employed partly to increase our Rest to an amount equal to our Paid-up Capital, and the surplus has been carried to our Profit & Loss Account. Speaking as an individual, and in no way as a mouth piece of the Board, I would not advocate increasing, in future, our Rest beyond the Paid-up Capital. I should always like to keep the Profit & Loss Account at its present amount, as a Reserve, to be used when the Directors might see fit to do so in the interests of the Bank, and any surplus profits, after full appropriations have been made, I would suggest distributing among the Shareholders.

The shrinkage in deposits, as compared with last year, is accounted for by the fact that at that time we had very large special deposits, which were shortly after distributed. The regular deposit business of the Bank has been satisfactory. The increase in our Loans is an evidence that our Canadian business is steadily increasing. I think you will agree with me that the statement is a strong and satisfactory statement.

The President has mentioned that I have decided to retire from active Executive work. I have held the stage for a long time, for I find my service in the General Manager's position is more than double that of any of my predecessors. I have kept in mind however, that while Corporations may go on forever, the men who manage them come and go, and with that in view I have always tried to arrange that the exit of any one man should not in any way interfere with the business of the Bank. In passing over the reins of office to my successor, I feel I am doing a good thing for the Bank and its Shareholders. Mr. Meredith has spent all his active business life in the service of the Bank, is familiar with its policy, is trained in its traditions, and has been uniformly successful in his previous appointments. I have no doubt he will be equally successful in the high office to which he is called, and I am quite satisfied your property will be handled conservatively.

Rev. G. H. Parker then made a brief address, enquiring whether there was a prospect of increased dividends to the shareholders, with the increased earning capacity of the Bank.

Mr. R. B. Angus—"This question has already been dealt with by the retiring General Manager. He was of course only speaking for himself and without any knowledge of what the year might bring forth, when we shall be in better position to ascertain what the profits are. There is no doubt whatever that if the profits are adequate an additional dividend will be paid, but this depends so much on the outcome of the year's business that nothing definite can be said in anticipation."

The annual report was then unanimously adopted.

It was moved by Mr. Hugh Paton, seconded by Mr. George Hooper, that the thanks of the meeting be presented to the President, the Vice-President, and Directors, for their attention to the interests of the Bank.

Mr. Hugh Paton—"I am informed that it is not usual to speak to this motion. I will therefore content myself by remarking that it is singularly applicable to the present occasion, judging by the events of the year, and the work of the Bank as shown by the report just presented.

The motion was then unanimously adopted.

The President—"Gentlemen, on behalf of the President, the Vice-President and Directors, I wish to thank you for this mark of your renewed confidence. We have been able to carry on the affairs of the Bank during the year, with the loyal support of the staff, all of whom have been anxious to work for the furtherance of the interests of this institution. I feel that all the officials and staff have done their duty, and on behalf of them I wish to express our appreciation of the cordial support we have always received in our work." (Applause.)

Moved by Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy, seconded by Mr. C. R. Hosmer that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the General Manager, the Assistant General Manager, the Superintendents, the Inspectors, the Managers, and others Officers of the Bank, for their services during the past year.

This was unanimously adopted.

The General Manager (Sir Edward Clouston)—"On behalf of myself, the Assistant General Manager, and the other officers of the Bank, I wish to thank you for this kind motion. I have always realized that the success of anyone in the position I have held depends largely on the efficiency and loyalty of his staff. I feel that I have had that to a great extent in the past, and on behalf of the Staff I have much pleasure in thanking you for your sign of continued confidence"

Mr. C. H. Cahan, K. C.—"As a shareholder I think it would be an expression of the feeling of all the shareholders of this bank if we, as shareholders, moved an expression of our regret at the announcement of the retirement of Sir Edward Clouston from the chief executive office of the bank, and an expression of our appreciation of the valuable services he has for so many years rendered to this Bank and its clients. Sir Edward Clouston has, during many years, held a very important and distinguished place in the banking affairs of Canada. Not only have his experience and services been of invaluable assistance to this Bank, but by his clear judgment, keen insight and extended knowledge of business affairs his advice has been of invaluable assistance to the clients of this Bank, who have frequently used it in times of need.

"As a shareholder therefore I beg to move a resolution expressing our appreciation of the services of Sir Edward Clouston and our regret that the circumstances of his health and long service have rendered it necessary in his opinion for him to sever his connection with the Bank as its chief executive officer." (Applause).

This resolution was seconded by Mr. James Skeoch, and unanimously adopted.

Sir Edward Clouston: "I must thank the mover and seconder of this resolution, and the Shareholders sincerely for all that has been said. I have always tried to do my best in the interests of the bank during my long connection with it, and feel very keen regret that I am now compelled to sever my connection with it as general manager."

The ballot for the election of Directors was then proceeded with, and without much delay the Scrutineers appointed for that purpose reported the following gentlemen duly elected, the old Board being re-elected:

Messrs. R. B. Angus, A. Baumgarten, Sir Edward Clouston, Bart., E. B. Greenshields, C. R. Hosmer, Sir William C. Macdonald, Hon. Robert Mackay, H. V. Meredith, D. Morrice, James Ross, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, K.C.V.O.; Rt. Hon. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O.

Officers Elected.

At a meeting of the Directors held later, the Right Honorable Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O., was elected Honorary President of the Bank, Mr. R. B. Angus, President, and Sir Edward Clouston, Bart., Vice-President.

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

His Original Sin.

In a country seat in one of the middle Western States dwelt a lawyer who, after a practice of thirty years, had accumulated a competence and retired. Being a man of much more than ordinary ability, an excellent speaker, entertaining decided political views, and enjoying the confidence of the community, he was urged by his friends to run for Congress. He refused. A man high in the political councils of the State came to see him, and added his persuasion.

"You ought to take that office," he said. "It might lead to something higher. You would make a national reputation."

"That's what I am afraid of."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well," answered the lawyer, hesitatingly, "I will tell you, but it is in strict confidence. It must not go any further. Many years ago, when I was young and inexperienced, I published a small volume of original poetry. So far as I know, there is not a copy of that book in existence now, but one would turn up in some corner of the world if I were to run for office, and the papers would print extracts from it. I wouldn't have that happen for a million dollars. No, sir, nothing doing!"

Dogs Go Wild.

Our tame dogs would all go wild if left to themselves for a few years. They tried the experiment once on Robinson Crusoe's island. They left some of their dogs there, and nobody called at the island again for about thirty years. And they found all the dogs had become quite wild. They hunted just like wolves, and they had forgotten how to bark; they could only howl. It was not till they became used to men again that they learnt to bark. A few years ago two dogs near to Nottingham lost their owners, so they made homes for themselves in a field. They hunted sheep and lambs, and did a great deal of damage, just as the wild dogs of India and Africa and Australia do. They looked just like wolves—so much had they changed during the months they had lived the life of wild dogs; and, finally, they had to be shot.

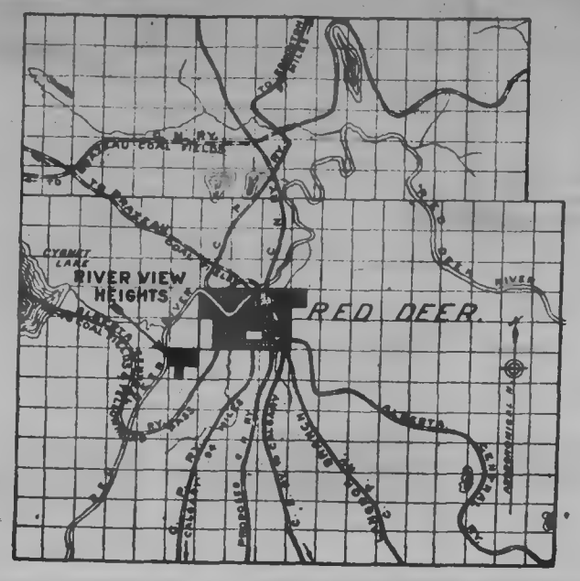
ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY! WILL YOU GRASP IT?

Everybody knows of the phenominal growth of Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon. How they have sprung from small villages in the course of two or three years, and now each can count its population by tens of thousands. The history of these large cities will, and is now, being repeated at

RED DEER, ALBERTA

RED DEER is an established town of 4,000 population to-day. Railroads now operating in Red Deer include C.P.R. Main Line to Edmonton, C.P.R Langdon Branch. Offices, Headquarters & Shops of Alberta Central. C.N.R. to Yellowhead Pass. Constructing G.N.R. Charter acquired. Red Deer with its location is destined to become the greatest divisional point of the great North-West as it is the key to the Yellowhead Pass. Railroads operating over this route will have a hauling capacity of 2,000 tons freight per engine more than those using the old route. Your own judgment will tell you what this means to Red Deer.



RED DEER has Water Sewer, Electric Light and Power Services. It has a Clothing Factory employing hundreds of hands. Sawmills, Brick Factory, a dozen Creameries and Cheese Factories and Elevators. It has an unlimited Fuel Supply, coal being obtainable at the Brazeau Mines which are situated only a few miles West of the Town, for $1.50 per ton. It has good Public and High Schools, Roman Catholic Convent and Presbyterian College. There is an abundance of shooting and fishing in the district. Look at Red Deer on the map then form your own conclusions as to its possibilities.

Kitchener's Disguise.

Kitchener's ability in disguising himself has given rise to many stories true and otherwise, of this famous soldier. The following incident was told by one who served with the Essex Regiment in a campaign against the Dervishes.

"I was acting corporal of the guard over a large number of 'gentlemen of the desert' whom we had taken prisoners. In the course of my rounds, a captive within the tent drew my attention, and I was surprised to hear in good English the request, 'Corporal, I wish to get out of this.' I, of course, reported the occurrence to the Sergeant of the Guard, only to be met with the curt reply, 'let the fool stay where he is.'

I continued my rounds and was again met with the request. Again I reported the matter and this time the reply was as curt but a bit stronger, so I went on my rounds again.

As I passed the spot this time the voice from within said, 'Say, Corporal, you are of the Essex Regiment?' I answered that I was and the prisoner said, 'Well, tell Mr. B. that I want to speak to him.'

'What name?' I queried. 'Kitchener,' came the reply, and I at once reported accordingly to the Sergeant. He immediately made for the prisoner's quarters and I shall never forget that meeting.

The dishevelled 'dervish' was in reality the Lord Kitchener that was to be, who had been out spying among the enemy and had apparently been taken prisoner by his own troops.

Chinese Facts

In China the average rate of wages throughout the empire is about 18c. a day. The labourers at work on the new telephone line in Pekin get 10c. and wheelbarrow coolies in Shanghai $4 a month. The wages of Pressmen average about 48c. a day.

In the homes of the middle-class Chinese the husband's mother reigns supreme, and clubs have been formed among wives with such titles as "Rebellion Against the Mothers-in-law" and "Restoration of Female Rights."

Pekin is often erroneously referred to as "The Forbidden City." As a matter of fact, it is the Royal Palace in Pekin which is the real Forbidden City and from which foreigners, except on very special occasions, are rigidly excluded.

The Chinese, as a rule, are poorly housed. In the towns the buildings are mostly brick with tiled roofs, but many are built of wood. There is practically no attempt at infernal decoration. The windows are papered, but glass is coming into use among the well-to-do. The labouring classes live in mud or wattle huts, tiled, thatched, or roofed with matting.

Good Eggless Doughnuts

Two cupfuls of warm mashed potatoes, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of sweet milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, five level teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Flour to make soft dough. Roll out half an inch thick. Fry in hot grease. The potatoes keep the doughnuts soft and they keep fresh much longer than those made with eggs.

The first camera-obscura was invented by Giambattista Della Porta, an Italian philosopher, during the latter half of the sixteenth century.

Twixt Bull and Bear.

Lincoln stories are common, and the tellers of them are not as accurate in ascertaining their genuineness as they are prolific in producing them. The following tale may or may not be a real Lincoln." It is, in any event, a good story:

Two farm-hands, Lincoln used to say, were set upon by a huge bull while crossing a rocky field. One managed to gain a tree. The other took refuge in a hole in the tree that proved to have an exit in the rear.

The man who had chosen the hole was no sooner in at one end than he was out at the other. With a bellow, the bull made for him. He turned and again shot through the hole. The bull once more bore down upon him, and once more he was in and out of his hole.

The strange pursuit kept up some minutes. At first it mystified the farm-hand up in the tree. Then it angered him.

"Hey," he shouted, "you idiot! Why don't you stay in the hole?"

The bull was dashing from one end of the hole to the other at great speed, and the man was bobbing in and out desperately. He heard, however, his comrade's shout, and found time before his next brief disappearance to shout back:

"Idiot yourself! There's a bear in the hole."

The Time of Long Sermons.

Those who like long sermons should have lived in the seventeenth century. The manner in which the Rev. John Howe, Minister of Great Torrington, in Devonshire, conducted Divine service on a public fast day is thus described by a contemporary: "Mr. Howe said that upon these occasions he began about nine in the morning with a prayer for about a quarter of a hour, in which he begged a blessing upon the work of the day, and afterwards read and expounded a chapter or psalm, in which he spent three-quarters of an hour; then prayed for about an hour, preached for another hour, and prayed for about half an hour. After this he retired and took some little refreshment for about a quarter of an hour (the people singing all the time) and then came into the pulpit and prayed for another hour; and gave them another sermon of about an hour's length; and so concluded the service of the day . . . "

YUAN-SHI-KAI IS CHINA'S DICTATOR

The New Premier is a Manchu and a Militarist and Will Crush the Progressives If He Can. —But Can He?

(Special Cable Service.)

PEKIN. — Yuan Shi Kai, who has accepted the premiership is considered "the strongest man in China" since Li Hung Chang.

The return to power of Yuan-Shi-Kai, after two years spent in enforced retirement, is a matter of grave concern to the progressives. It may mean disaster to them.

For Yuan-Shi-Kai is a great man —one whose very name is more potent with the people of China than an army. He is feared and respected throughout the empire.

And now the government, in despair

at the spread of revolt, has summoned from obscurity this man who was so summarily dismissed and disgraced two years ago, and has put him again in supreme control of the army and navy. Which means that Yuan-Shi-Kai has virtually been made dictator.

That's just the sort of place Yuan is best fitted for. He is a Diaz-like individual, a man of tremendous energy and of big brain. In the days of the absolute monarchy he seemed like a progressive by contrast. He was associated with Li Hung Chang and did much toward untangling the mess caused by the Boxer outbreak. But Yuan is not a progressive. He is a militarist.

Indeed Yuan represents all that China is today in military standing. [illegible] army. When he came to power on the death of the great Li Hung Chang he cut about the reorganization of the entire military establishment of the empire, and thanks to his effort China has now a thoroughly equipped and well drilled army.

Now he has been called to take the premiership. If any one in China can turn the trick he can. And that he will do his best to crush the progressive movement may be taken for granted.

For Yuan is a Manchu.

THE FOUNDER OF SUFFRAGETTE MOVEMENT.

Mrs. EMMELINE PANKHURST

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is shortly coming to Canada, is one of the original suffragets. She is easily the most prominent figure among the English suffragets, with her clever daughter Christabel perhaps a close second. Just now she is touring the United States, speaking for the cause of woman's suffrage.

Mrs. Pankhurst is a little woman — but, Oh, my! She speaks like a house afire. Wherever she appears she awakens great enthusiasm by her simple yet dramatic telling of the story of the battles between the suffragets and the English authorities, and of how she and many others were thrown into prison for daring to stand up for woman's rights.

AMERICAN FORESTS

They Have No Timber Fit for Paper-Making.

NEW YORK. — South American forests will never yield pulp timber worth importing to the United States for paper manufacture, according to Louis Chable, representative of the International Paper Company, who arrived home lately. Mr. Chable said he had made an inspection of all the important forest lands of the Southern continent and found no pulp timber fit for paper-making.

Go Slow Over Bridge.

Ald. Duncan, chairman of the Works' Committee of the City Council, has given notice that people driving over the Hunter street bridge must do so at no faster rate than a walk, or they will be liable to be fined. This bridge has practically served its day and generation, having been in use for nearly forty years. Even bridges made of steel do not last forever, and the purpose of Mr. Duncan is to try and preserve it until a new and better one is provided.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HON. JAS. D. McGREGOR

The honorable James Drummond McGregor, new Lt.-Governor of Nova Scotia comes of a family of very old standing in the country, his grandfather Rev. James McGregor, D.D., having arrived in Pictou in 1786, to earn fame as the pioneer minister of Eastern Nova Scotia. Born at New Glasgow in September 1838, the future Lt.-Governor passed through the average educational curriculum of the times and the place, and has had a successful business career as a merchant and shipowner in his native colony. Twice mayor of his town of birth, he had the honor of being returned to the Legislature of Nova Scotia on two occasions and was appointed to the Senate 24 April 1903. He was an unsuccessful candidate for House of Commons honors in 1900.

The Hon. gentleman is a liberal, a presbyterian, director of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company Ltd, and is married.

Mrs. GORDON WRIGHT,
Prominent in Temperance

Mrs. Gordon Wright, W. C. T. U. president of the Dominion of Canada, possesses many brilliant talents and her advancement in the W. C. T. U. ranks has been phenomenal. Beginning fifteen years ago as Local Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics in London, Ont., her home city, the following year she became provincial head of the same department, and a year later was placed in charge of the Dominion superintendency. While still holding this office, Mrs. Wright was elected president of the London Union, an active organization of some three hundred members.

In 1898 Mrs. Wright was again advanced, being appointed recording secretary of the Province of Ontario. Two years later she was elected to the office of corresponding secretary for the same Union. This position she filled with conspicuous success, her management of difficult correspondence with influential bodies displaying a genius for this work, which made her a valued member of the provincial sub.-executive for a number of years. Mrs. Wright also acted for some time as editor of the Canadian White Ribbon Tidings.

In 1908 Mrs. Wright was further honored by being elected to the vice-presidency of the Dominion. Two years later she was raised to the highest position in the gift of the Union, that of Dominion President.

Mrs. Gordon Wright is a typical Canadian — a woman of culture and charm. Her winning personality, her natural gifts as an executive officer and public speaker, her devotion to all temperance, missionary and philanthropic causes, combine to place her in the front rank of Canadian womanhood.

HON. A. G. MACKAY
Who resigned Ontario Liberal Leadership.

The hon. gentleman who resigned the Leadership of the Liberal party in the Ontario House of Legislature a few days ago, is an M.A. and a K.C. Born at Sydenham, Grey County Ont., on 7th March 1860, his early educational days were spent at Sydenham Public school, Owen Sound High School, the High School of Mount Forest, and finishing at Toronto University from which he graduated B. A. in 1883 and M.A. in 1885. With such an array of instructional influences it is no surprise if the young Sydenham Scot was pointed in early life as a man who knew things, a man who was likely to go to the front in whatever direction he might decide to devote his abilities. That results have justified the faith of those prophets, is known today of all men who give attention to public affairs in Ontario.

Finishing his university career, Mr. Mackay was during four years Principal of Port Rowan High School, following which, he went in for law study and was called to the bar in May 1891, and three years later had the honor of being elected Crown Attorney for Grey County, a position he held until 1901.

Switching into the political arena at the 1902 general election, success came his way at the first venture, being returned representative for North Grey, a constituency that has continued its confidence right along to the present time.

Hon. Mr. Mackay is a director of the Imperial Cement Co. and president of the Owen Sound Dredging and Construction Company. He takes a live interest in military matters and is captain of the 31st Reg't of Militia.

Cross-Purposes

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Be Business in New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr. Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, once. The hat pirate looked on Mr Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr. Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge by with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr. Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boy, in disgust. "I thought I was doin' you a favour because you been a good feller But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone. In these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke street, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

Farmers' Institute Meeting.

Owing to the Provincial elections coming on in December, the November and December Farmers' Institute meetings have been postponed until January. One of the important subjects to be taken up this year is that of cultivation of the soil and the conservation of moisture. Some sixty or seventy-five short courses are to be put on in various parts of the province.

Runaway.

A team of horses belonging to Mr. James Brown, a farmer of North Monaghan, caused considerable excitement near the C.G.E. yesterday, when they ran away at the corner of Park and Romaine streets, the wagon being turned over and was completely demolished.

A Budding Mark Twain

A boy in Oklahoma City submitted the following essay on the ship of the desert:—

"A cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a bacteria, because it has bumps on its back The cannimal is very patient and will lie down and die without a groan but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the hump The shepherds of the cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called aquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebrates."

The boy is eight years old His teacher says he is an ignoramus His father says he is a young Mark Twain

Franklin's Manners

Franklin collected thirteen principles to cover the small amenities of daily life. Each week he picked out one and practised it diligently, thus creating a habit. It took three months to cover them all. Each year he practised each one four full weeks. He kept this up for many years. The uncouth Franklin of early manhood who found fault with his wife for giving him a silver spoon and a china bowl for his bread and milk instead of a pewter spoon and earthenware crock, developed into the statesman and man of the world who won the respect of Englishmen, the admiration of Frenchmen, and the gratitude of Americans.

A Child May be Born with a Tendency to Consumption, but if Proper Care is Taken It May be Overcome.

Although there are many things that we do not know about consumption or tuberculosis, there are some that we do and a few that we are in the act of learning.

We do not know, for example, what makes for susceptibility and what for immunity. Strong and robust persons are sometimes stricken down with the invalids and convalescents from other diseases are no more susceptible to it than are other people. And it is possible to live for an extended lifetime in the condition known as "run-down" or "weak" without developing tuberculosis.

People, says a writer, still speak of consumption as "inherited," but it is not inherited. A child may be born with a certain tendency to it, but if proper measures are taken early, and kept up steadily and long enough, this tendency can be overcome. A child whose parents before him, and their parents before them, perhaps for generations back have been poor breathers, will probably inherit a small, mengre chest, and will therefore be the natural victim of the consumption germ as soon as it reaches him. That child will have to be taught to breathe. The tendency to pigeon-breast can be overcome and a narrow chest developed to a normal capacity; but to do this, the child must be kept constantly in good air, and taught how to develop and use the lungs. A pigeon-breasted child who is being brought up on the coddling process—overshelteredoverfed and overclothed—is in no much danger as if he lived under the famous sword hanging from a hair.

WATER CARRIERS IN PARIS.

In the Modern Babylon Water is Still Brought in the Old-fashioned Way.

Paris is rich in contrasts, and sometimes the irony is charming. In the height of fashion to-day is still to be seen the picturesque water-carrier, and the scarcity due to the drought once more calls attention to his existence. On the heights of Montmartre are to be seen these robust Auvergnes, marching with their measured steps—and, by a fiction, the Paral water-carrier must always be an Auvergnat—with his two buckets. The extension of the water system has gone hard with the "porter d'eau," who in days past made a fairly good living. In 1840 there were 1,253 porters; in 1890 the number had fallen to 300; and to-day there are few indeed. A barrel of water contains about 1,000 litres, and its market value is about five francs. Like most other occupations in France, the water-carrier was under State or police supervision, and each night he had to fill his barrel and place it in the district he worked, so as to be ready in case of fire, but the supervision has fallen into desuetude.

Capitalization $500,000; Divided into 500,000 Shares; Par Value $1.00

Have decided to mine a large quantity of the Very Rich Ore shown up by recent developing work, and also intend to erect a mill to crush from 20 to 25 tons a day. This will enable the Company to pay dividends next summer. In order to provide funds for this purpose the Company now offer the balance of the 50,000 shares offered to the public in the Prospectus dated 26th day of September, 1910, filed with the Provincial Secretary, Sept. 27th, 1910. These shares are now selling at $1.25 per share until Nov. 25th. They will then advance to $1.50 per share. They will continue to advance in price as developing work proceeds. Assays got from this property run from $22.00 in gold per ton to $86,240.40 (eighty-six thousand two hundred and forty dollars and forty cents). Part of the machinery is now at the mine—the balance will be taken in on the snow roads this winter.

The Golden Rose Mine is forty miles from Markstay Station by winter roads, and in summer it is reached by boat from Temagami Station on T. & N. O. Ry.

36 KNOT STEAMERS.

Fast Service Between Montreal and Liverpool in the Near Future

London, Dec. 7.—Lord Strathcona says a service of 25-knot steamers between Liverpool and Montreal will shortly be an accomplished fact, much sooner than people imagine.

A Des Moines man had an attack of muscular rheumatism in his shoulder. A friend advised him to go to Hot Springs. That meant an expense of $150 or more. He sought for a quicker and cheaper way to cure it and found it in Chamberlain's Liniment. Three days after the first application of this liniment, he was well. For sale by all dealers.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS

THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

GENTLEMEN,—

As the unanimously nominated candidate of the Liberals of this Riding, it is incumbent upon me to suggest some of the considerations and features of policy I favor, in order to justify me in soliciting your support. I therefore submit to you some of the main planks of the Liberal Platform and my own, upon which I stand and if as a result of your support, I am elected, I shall use my best endeavors to have them given effect.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The Workman's Compensation Act should be radically remodelled, embodying the best features of the English and German Acts, and extended so that full and ample damages may be given to a workman or his family on account of any injury he may sustain in the course of his employment, and without a law suit.

Moreover, the Workman or his family, under such a law should not be called upon to fight an expensive law suit in the courts with a wealthy corporation and be dragged from one Court of Appeal to another with the evident advantage in the long run to the longest purse, or else be compelled to accept a mere pittance for the injury he has sustained.

THE FACTORY'S ACT.

In order to prevent accidents to workmen, provision should be made for a more frequent inspection by competent inspectors, whose duty should be to see that dangerous machinery and places are properly guarded, fire escapes furnished, sanitary and ventilation facilities improved, and every step taken to protect and preserve the life, limbs and health of employees.

Many accidents happen to employees due to working them too long hours. The employer should be made liable for this increased risk. He should either be forced to give shorter hours to his employees or else be compelled to assume the increased risk which follows in consequence of an employee being over tired and over-worked.

EDUCATION.

A more progressive and adequate Educational policy is urgently needed. More liberal grants should be given in aid of primary education, in the promotion of industrial training and technical schools in urban and rural communities; and in the establishment of night schools for the benefit of those who have been forced to leave school at an early age to earn their own living. Model schools should be restored with a view of increasing the supply and efficiency of teachers.

Two great general principles should underlie our Educational system in this English-speaking Province, which forms such an important part of this English-speaking continent, namely:—

(a) Every child in the Province should have a thorough elementary Education.

(b) Every child should have a thorough knowledge of the English language.

To attain this end, necessary laws and regulations should be passed and enforced and liberal aid should be given to provide further adequate training schools and a sufficient supply of competent and qualified teachers for every School Section in every part of the Province.

Were this done tens of thousands of our fellow citizens would not be as they are now, deprived of the opportunity of acquiring any knowledge of the English language.

AGRICULTURE.

The rural population of Ontario is declining in this Province, which contains the richest and best farm lands on this continent. This state of affairs can be reversed by bringing about the active immigration into this Province of suitable people for settlement and employment upon our farm lands; by the building of good roads throughout Ontario and thereby facilitating traffic and insuring quick delivery of farm and garden produce; by increasing the rural telephone service; by the location of a demonstrator in every rural riding and by the establishment of suitable demonstration farms in each Riding and by showing to the farmers through such demonstration farms the results of successful experiments in every branch of agriculture.

A government with an earnest desire to do something to develop the agricultural possibilities of this splendid farming region would do something to facilitate its settlement which is now handicapped from lack of roads to give new settlers access to or egress from their premises. Without roads or the sympathetic attitude of a government the settler in new Ontario is greatly handicapped, and the settlement of the country is correspondingly retarded.

TAXATION.

The Assessment Act should be amended so as to permit a Municipality, if it so desires, to exempt improvements from taxation, either in whole, or in part and to provide for the removal of the existing inequalities of taxation.

NEW ONTARIO.

New Ontario should be developed and settled and its Railway facilities utilised and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be made to do service as a colonization road and should be extended to the Hudson Bay and branches should be built as the development of the country demands.

AID TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The alarming prevalence of Tuberculosis calls for the aid of the Provincial Government, which it is not now receiving, and is rudely denied, to assist in the provision of facilities for curative or palliative treatment for those whose means prevent this. To this end I would favor amendment of the Succession Duties Act so as to impose an additional percentage of taxation on the estates of very wealthy men, say $250,000.00 and over, to provide a fund to be devoted to the maintenance of Tuberculoses Sanitaria and the aid of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

PROVINCIAL AID TO RADIAL RAILWAYS.

Peterborough is particularly well located for the establishment of a system of Radial Railways in this District owing to the large number of water powers that would furnish cheap operation. These Railways would provide the City with more of the necessaries of life at a cheaper rate; would furnish cheaper and better accommodation to farmers in bringing their produce to market; and attract tourists to our summer resorts. Aid should be given to attain this end, with a percentage of profits to be returned to the Province after they are in operation earning reasonable dividends.

In addition to what I have above recited I shall feel it my duty to support any measure to meet the legitimate demands of a progressive people. If you think that I shall be able to give you valuable and effective, as it shall be my aim to give you faithful service, I respectfully ask your vote and support.

As it will be impossible for me to personally call upon all the Electors I trust that this means of communicating my position will meet with your approval and secure the favor of your vote and support.

Yours Respectfully,

R. R. HALL

Q. What causes double vision?

A. Double vision is caused by the eyes not being in line. That is, one may turn up, or have a tendency to do so, or both may turn in; a weak muscular system is the cause, a weak nervous system is back of it all.

Q. What is Astigmatism of the eye?

A. Astigmatism is an uneven curvature of the eye and causes a double focus, annoys the brain, and causes headache and nervousness. We make lenses called cylinders to correct astigmatism.

BURNS HITS GOMPERS IN SENSATIONAL WAY

Detective Indulges in Some Hot Talk Over the Dynamite Outrages

New York, Dec. 11.—The Burns-Gompers feud gets hotter every day, free
The famous sleuth is talking more freely than one would expect him to under the circumstances. Just what he is hinting at in regard to President Gompers of the A. F. of L., nobody but himself seems to know. Yesterday he said:

"Samuel Gompers, by the kind of talk he is making, is convicting himself before the American public. Any one who knows him knows that if he had a defence he would make a speech of the kind which would reach from here to Washington. Instead of that he is confining his remarks to short crisp statements. He is keeping entirely away from the charges I have made against him.

A QUESTION.

"Why does he not explain—if he is innocent—how it was that the day after the arrest of J. J. McNamara he came to Indianapolis and sat down with the board that voted the money for his defence?

"The board meeting was called to be a jollification over five dynamitings that were to have taken place in Detroit, but did not come off be-

COUNSEL FOR HERBERT DEFENDS CHURCH'S RIGHT TO ANNUL MARRIAGES

Montreal, Dec. 11.—What the Roman Catholic Church has done in the trial of Eugene Hebert's celebrated suit to have his marriage declared illegal was told this morning by L. J. Loranger, counsel for Hebert, and one of the legal practitioners of those responsible for the [illegible] and its workings in Quebec. As the case stands to-day Hebert is not actually a party to any suit, having "desisted" in his case before Judge Laurendeau. Ordinarily the husbands withdrawal would have removed the suit from the court's books, but Judge Laurendeau ruled on December 7 that the argument on the merits of the case must continue. This decision automatically expands the trial from a specific suit of Hebert [illegible] Hebert into a discussion of the right of the Roman Catholic Church to cancel a marriage. In other words it brings up the question of the supremacy of Church or State under the Quebec code in the governing of marriage.

THE CHURCH WANTS A DECISION

"The Roman Catholic Church as well as Mr. Hebert, for who I am acting, wish a final decision on the point of the church's authority to annul marriages not made in accord with ecclesiastical law. We demand that the principle involved in the Hebert and other cases be given a hearing before the Supreme Court or Court of Appeal. We believe that in asking the court to annul the Hebert marriage we are acting on our rights within the code of Quebec."—L. J. Loranger, counsel for Hebert.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE CURED ONCE MORE

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS AGAIN VANQUISH TERRIBLE AILMENT.

Alcide Tramblay Issues Statement for the Benefit of Others.—Good News for Sufferers From Kidney Disease.

Mistassini, Lac St. Jean, Quebec, Dec. 11 — (Special) — That even the deadly Bright's Disease, the most fatal form of Kidney Disease, can be cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills after all other means have failed has again been proved in the case of Mr. Alcide Tramblay, a well-known resident of this place. In order that other sufferers may benefit by his experience Mr. Tramblay has given the following statement for publication:

"I was troubled with Bright's Disease, Rheumatism and Gravel for seven years. Three doctors prescribed for me but they did not help me. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. I was always tired and nervous and had dark circles under my eyes.

"I heard of other cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills and started to use them with the result that in one month I was completely cured, and have been in good health ever since."

Bright's Disease is a disease of the Kidneys. Gravel and Rheumatism are caused by diseased Kidneys failing to strain impurities out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure them all by curing the Kidneys.

GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE BIG WORKING MAJORITY

Mr. E. A. Peck Elected in West Peterborough by Over 500 Majority--Mr. Thompson Elected in the East

The elections yesterday for the Legislative Assembly resulted, as everyone anticipated, in an overwhelming victory for the Conservative party. For weeks it was apparent that the effort of the Liberals to secure even a strong Opposition was practically a forlorn hope. This was due in the first place to the fact that Sir James Whitney and his party gave the people good government, with little to find fault with, and in the next place to the fact that the Liberals were utterly and hopelessly demoralized. The change of leaders at the eleventh hour and the rather milk-and-water platform of Mr. Rowell, the new leader, also contributed to the general result.

WEST PETERBOROUGH.

The result in West Peterborough was no surprise, as most people felt that, with the government sure of being returned, Mr. Hall had a poor chance, notwithstanding the brilliant fight he put up against fearful odds. The following is the result:

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury.

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real Estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable streets were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

DUN'S, BRADSTREET'S or ANY BANK

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. The present owners of this property guarantee to repurchase the property at the expiration of two years and give you 6 per cent. interest, if the purchaser is not satisfied with his investment. As further guarantee of the reliability of such an investment in Transcona Park, we invite you to fill in the coupon below addressed to the manager of the Eastern Townships Bank, Winnipeg, or address it to any bank in Winnipeg. All our statements will be investigated by the bank before any money is paid. Such an opportunity like this has never been offered to the public before. Fill in the form below and mail to-day or communicate with us direct and ask for plan of subdivision, you will be under no obligation to purchase.

The ever-increasing population will soon overflow and make Transcona part of Winnipeg—Transcona Park is only one mile from the city limits, and will be the first to receive the increase in land values. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Transcona Park, which is but a few minutes' walk from the G.T.P. shops, and nearer to Winnipeg than any other, can be purchased from

$5.00 TO $7.00 PER FOOT, ACCORDING TO LOCATION

TERMS, $15.00 CASH AND $10.00 PER MONTH, OR 1-5 CASH, BALANCE 6, 12, 18, AND 24 MONTHS.

LOCATION OF TRANSCONA PARK

Transcona Park is located east of Winnipeg, one mile from the city limits and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona to the west.

The mammoth steel and concrete shops of the Grand Trunk Pacific (the first unit of which will be completed by January next) will cost $5,000,000, and will employ 5,000 men.

A network of railroads radiate in every direction.

Cheap power, available 24 hours a day.

TRANSCONA PARK WILL BE TRANSCONA'S RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT

The realty market of Transcona is very active, values are increasing daily. Buy to-day at bed rock prices; you will be able to sell in the spring at a good profit. REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie District by our Department of the Interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found here abundance of suitable food: they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of the country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Pluck pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realises that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

A CHILDISH EXHIBITION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—There is no doubt that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been guilty of the most childish exhibition of ill-temper in reference to the choice of Dr. Sproule as Speaker of the commons. He speaks of a British precedent of retaining the same Speaker, no matter who was returned to power. Where does he find that precedent? It is certainly not recorded as a usage in any book on British constitutional history.

It has often happened in Great Britain that the Speaker has been returned out of compliment, in deference to his dignified title of "first commoner of the realm," without reference to his party, and without any opposition. Then, sometimes, he has been re-elected even upon a change of government in tribute to the personal qualities which cause his unanimous acceptance by a constituency. But there is no precedent which has either the force of law or the dignity of custom.

The precedent to which Sir Wilfrid Laurier should have referred is the one set by himself. Parliament was prorogued on the 23rd of April, 1896, and dissolved the following day. The elections followed, and Sir James David Edgar was appointed Speaker on the 18th of August. In succession to him the office has been held by Bain, Brodeur, Belcourt, Sutherland, and Marcil. If any of these were appointed on other than party grounds, the fact is mysteriously concealed. It is not suggested for a moment that they were unworthy of the chair. But the offence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's remarks lies in this, that he conveys the impression of thinking that a man given high dignity cannot fulfil its duties because he is a Conservative as well as other men selected for the sole reason that they were Liberal.

Notice is hereby given that, owing to a change in the law requiring a report from the City Engineer, which takes considerable time to prepare, before local improvement works can be undertaken, petitions for sewers sidewalks or pavements to be constructed as local improvements must be received before February 1st, 1912, to be acted upon in 1912.

S. R. ARMSTRONG,
City Clerk.

He does not venture so far as to say that Dr. Sproule is unfit for the office of Speaker. Nobody in Canada will deny that the choice has fallen upon the best man, one whose intellect and parliamentary experience alike qualify him for his duties. If there were some veiled purpose or secret antagonism in what Sir Wilfrid Laurier said, it may be told him in plain language that the Canadian people like plain speaking. If it were simply a childish outburst, had he not better consult his dignity before gravely compromising his great reputation?

Evolution of the Nursing Bottle.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewn two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment, between the stitches. Fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the time of the Georges it fell to one year, and now the average is reckoned as eight months. During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was produced through the cow's horn. Pap" was a mixture of crust soaked in water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

Two watches, a watch chain, two stick pins and three rings are missing.

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George F. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:—

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporters. This might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to educate our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-seas business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply ruling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st to September 30th of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,051,467, which is $2,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $3,869,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,181,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I personally believe that our trade of 1910 with the Argentine might be duplicated in each one of the other Republics, if we put the proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that there is no doubt a large trade could be worked up, if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell us commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $8,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada. There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which subsidy would not be required after a more extensive trade had been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the greater part of manufactured goods used in South America are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and belting are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, mutton, hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government or such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south.

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from manufacturers and traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an export association and to develop and extend our export trade.

POWER OF UNITED ACTION.

Chinese Have Steadily Combined Together, To Arm Themselves with an Invisible Weapon for Protection.

In order to enforce their rights by the simplest and most bloodless means, the Chinese have steadily cultivated the art of combining together and have thus armed themselves with an immaterial, invisible weapon, which simply paralyses the aggressor, and ultimately leaves them masters of the field. The extraordinary part of the Chinese boycott or strike is the absolute fidelity by which it is observed. If the boatmen or chair-coolies at any place strike, they all strike; there are no blacklegs. If the butchers refuse to sell, they all refuse, entirely confident of each other's loyalty.

Foreign merchants who have offended the Chinese guilds by some course of action not approved of by those powerful bodies, have often found to their cost that such conduct will not be tolerated for a moment, and that their only course is to withdraw, sometimes at a considerable loss, from the untenable position they had taken up.

The other side of the medal is equally instructive. Some years ago the foreign tea merchants at a large port, in order to curb excessive charges, decided to hoist the Chinese teamen, or sellers of tea, with their own petard. They organised a strict combination against the tea-men, whose tea no colleague was to buy until, by what seemed to be a natural order of events, the tea-men had been brought to their knees. The tea-men, however, remained firm, their countenances as impassive as ever. Before long, the tea merchants discovered that some of their number had broken faith, and were doing a roaring business for their own account, on the terms originally insisted on by the tea-men.

OUR WONDERFUL LANGUAGE.

How Allah Fashioned a Tongue for the Englishman.

In spite of certain undeniable disadvantages, the English language steadily makes headway. There are few tongues so hard to master. One foreigner, who has had his troubles, but has won his way to a perfect command of the language, has presented some of the humors of the difficulties which belong to this richest of living languages.

As a boy, I heard a fantastic Turkish legend, which, to my mind, aptly illustrates the actual facts concerning the origin and formation of modern English.

After creating the first parents of each of the races, the story runs, Allah took a large piece of meat, and cutting it into slices, distributed them among all the people to serve them as tongues. For some reason the Englishman was absent when the others received their share. At last he came into the presence of his Maker, and in mute humiliation began to put a tongue into his mouth. But nothing was left of the meat. So Allah was obliged to cut a little piece from the tongues of all the others, and joining these pieces, he fashioned a tongue for the Englishman.

The Golden Opportunity.

Among the persons who have recently made provision for old age when it comes are two sisters, aged respectively 33 and 34 years. They have purchased from the Canadian government a Last Survivor Annuity, that is an annuity which will give them together an income of $600 a year so long as they both live, and to be continued to the survivor so long as she lives. The cost of this Annuity, $3,648.65, has been invested at 5 per cent., and had brought in less than $185.00 annually, with the difficulty and annoyance of re-investment. The Annuity becomes payable when the younger sister attains the age of 55, and should both die before that time the purchase money will be refunded to their heirs with 3 per cent. compound interest. Each is now earning her own living, and the sum paid is the fruit of their labors for a number of years. They were thus able the better to appreciate their splendid opportunity. A card of enquiry addressed to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, will secure for you any information you desire on the subject.

Kingsley Would Smoke.

Archbishop Benson, when headmaster of Wellington, was a great friend of Charles Kingsley, whose rectory of Eversley was but a few miles away. A. C. Benson gives many interesting reminiscences of Kingsley as he remembers him in those days:

"My father used to tell how once he was walking with Kingsley round about Eversley, when Kingsley suddenly stopped and said, 'It is no use; I know you detest tobacco, Benson, but I must have a smoke!' and he had accordingly gone to a big furze-bush and put his arm in at the hole, and after some groping about, produced a churchwarden pipe, which he filled and smoked with great satisfaction, afterwards putting it into a hollow tree, and telling my father, with a chuckle, that he had concealed pipes all over the parish, to meet the exigences of a sudden desire to smoke.

Growth in Naval Expenditure.

Since 1902 the naval expenditure of the principal countries of the world has increased from £90,383,000 to £145,319,000. Great Britain is responsible for an increase of £12,000,000, Germany for $12,000,000, the United States for £10,000,000, France for over £4,000,000, and Russia for £3,000,000. In the last ten years the eight chief naval powers have spent the stupendous sum of upwards of one billion pounds sterling on naval defence.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers: So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Do Business in New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat. —once. The hat pirate looked on Mr Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr. Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge by with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr. Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boy, in disgust, "I thought I was doin' you a favour, because you been a good feller. But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone in these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business man of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

THE CRIMINAL AMONG PLANTS

Thugs of the Vegetable World that Have No Honest Ways and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze, clovers, and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitrogen which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this private store for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts which infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees are like unto them and both are singularly wanting in beauty, being clothed in dirty-brown tints, as a rule, and having no green leaves. Even one of the Persicarias (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and there evil-doers by no means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the root-stock of a grafted rose, for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers; such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

Worn-down Heels

There are some women who walk very awkwardly, and wear down the heels of their shoes on one side. This may be the result of badly fitting shoes or the heels may have been too high. As soon as the heel begins to wear in this way have it attended to at once; the cost will be but a few pence, but the result will speak for itself. If shoes are worn unbuttoned they quickly lose their shape, yet I have known many girls who seem ignorant of this fact.

On Using Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you know, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

TWO WAR PICTURES.

Reminiscences Written by a Non-Commissioned Officer Who Served During the Napoleonic Wars.

There has recently been published a book containing reminiscences written by a non-commissioned officer who served during the Napoleonic wars. In these reminiscences there is given this description of a scene after the British attack on the French forces in Alexandria: "After the action was over we were ordered to go and take all the wounded of both armies and carry them to the boats . . . . It was truly a horrible sight to see the French and British writhing in agonies of death, and making friendship, who had only a few minutes before been filled with rage and hatred at one another—all their fierce passions stilled, and like a hushed child, taking one another in their dying arms."

This other picture is of the scene presented by Waterloo the morning after: "When morning came I went out to see the field on which so many brave soldiers had perished. The scene which met my eyes was horrible in the extreme. The number of dead was far greater than I had ever seen on any former battlefield. The bodies were not scattered over the ground, but were lying in heaps—men and horses mixed promiscuously together. I turned away with disgust from this heart-moving spectacle. . . . . I confess my feelings overcame me; I wept bitterly, and wished I had not been a witness of such a scene."

"As It Was in the Beginning."

When William Pengelly was a sailor boy, weather-bound on the coast of Devonshire, he had his earliest geological experience, and Mr. S. Baring-Gould says he was wont to relate it as is printed below:

I received my first lesson in geology at Lyme Regis very soon after I had entered my teens. A laborer, whom I was observing, accidentally broke a small stone of blue lias and thus disclosed a fine ammonite—the first fossil I had ever seen or heard of.

"What's that?" I exclaimed

"If you read your Bible you'd know what 'tis," said the workman, somewhat scornfully.

"I have read my Bible. But what has that to do with it?"

"In the Bible we're told there was once a flood that covered the whole world. At that time all the rocks were mud, and the different things that were drowned were buried in it, and there's a snake that was buried that way. There are lots of 'em, and other things besides, in the rocks and stones hereabouts."

"A snake! But where's his head?"

"You must read your Bible, I tell ee, and then you'll find out why 'tis some of the snakes ain't got no heads. We're told there that the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head; that's how 'tis."

Why a Chinese Republic?

The statement that the revolution is likely to result in the formation of a Chinese Republic has caused a good deal of surprise in the Western world. When one thinks of it, however, this seems the most natural solution of the problem that will be presented by a successful revolution. The Manchu, a foreign dynasty, which has held power in China for some 300 years, is, of course, impossible since, as a matter of fact, the present

A Budding Mark Twain

A boy in Oklahoma City submitted the following essay on the ship of the desert:—

"A cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a bacteria, because it has bumps on its back. The cannimal is very patient, and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the bump. The shepherds of the cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called aquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebriates."

The boy is eight years old. His teacher says he is an ignoramus. His father says he is a youne Mark Twain

Franklin's Manners

Franklin collected thirteen principles to cover the small amenities of daily life. Each week he picked out one and practised it diligently, thus creating a habit. It took three months to cover them all. Each year he practised each one four full weeks." He kept this up for many years. The uncouth Franklin of early manhood who found fault with his wife for giving him a silver spoon and a china bowl for his bread and milk instead of a pewter spoon and earthenware crock, developed into the statesman and man of the world who won the respect of Englishmen, the admiration of Frenchmen, and the gratitude of Americans.

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

THE RUSH BEFORE THE WEDDING

Many Brides Attend Receptions Right Up to Last Minute.

Every bride should have the moral courage to refuse all social engagements for one week prior to her wedding; also she should refuse to shop or bother with any trousseau plants these last days. She should so arrange her fittings that all her clothes are ready at least two weeks before the date, and the last week should be given to quiet and rest, and certainly the bride that is not worn out with bother about clothes and a round of entertainments has at least some freshness and romance to take to the altar.

The elaboration of many a wedding, coming as it does upon the shopping, the house furnishing, the round of entertainments, and the packing, has caused many a girl, tired out physically, a nervous collapse that may argue ill-health all her married life, and certainly everything considered, the tired-out lines on the bride's face as she leaves her old home, amid the good-byes and confetti, for the first stage of her life's new journey does not argue a happy beginning.

Treating Nervous Infants

Intelligent people are beginning to understand the importance of protecting the nervous system in infancy, and the grave dangers consequent on a shock to an infant's nerves. As a rule, during the first year of its life, the more quiet a child is kept the better its chance of health and happiness. Overbright babies do not commend themselves to physicians, who know that the first year of a child's life should be spent mainly in sleep. All efforts to arouse the dormant mind of a child at this period are attended with danger. Specially to be condemned is the practice of tossing a child in the air, causing him to scream with delight and fright. Unnatural excitements of this kind frequently lead to those mental diseases for which doctors have not yet found a cure.

Remark in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

Football Only Played by Nobles

"The Festival called Tanabata, of which the football game Kemari forms an important item, takes place on the seventh day of the seventh month. The football is presented in a forked twig of the Kaji (paper mudberry), and the game connected with it is always of a ceremonial nature, and played only by Court nobles in specially constructed enclosures and in ceremonial dress," says Mr. H. L. Joly, the well-known writer upon Japanese legends. According to the legend (as given in "Home Life in Tokyo") with which the Feast of Tanabata is associated, the night of the 7th of July is the only one in the whole year when the Weaver (the star Vega) can meet her lover the Cow-herd (the star Altair) on the other side of the Heavenly River, as the Milky Way is called by the Japanese, and on that night magpies come and spread their wings across the river to bring the lovers together."

Captain Webb's Example

Captain Webb's great swim revolutionised the art of swimming in Great Britain. Before 1875 swimming was not regarded as an achievement of much moment. Very few schools taught their boys to swim, and most of those who did learn looked upon sixty yards in a bath as the maximum distance they could hope to attain. Gradually it was realized that long distances could be accomplished under the most trying circumstances. The hope of some day attaining to the fame of Captain Webb tempted many to practise long-distance swimming, and as years went by a new race of long-distance swimmers was created, men who essayed without fear the dangers of the Channel and made light of spending a day and a night in the sea.

Football Forecasts

New football, with forward passes and restrictions, have knocked all forecasts galley west. The small school of huskies is as likely to win as the big brother with an enrollment of thousands. Brains and speed offset beef and brawn and an educated toe in the backfield discounts weight in the line.

The coach with two good ends and a punter can develop a high class eleven. The balance of the team will come along as a matter of evolution.

WHEN THE U. S. FOUGHT TURKEY

A Century Ago United States Took Turkey to Task, and After Daring Attack Work Brought Enemy to Attention.

Most people have forgotten their history to the extent of overlooking the fact that where the Italian fleet is today ships of war of the United States were operating a little over a hundred years ago.

That war was signalized by the loss of an American frigate, but also by what Lord Nelson declared to be "the most bold and daring act of the age." The frigate Philadelphia was one of the vessels built for the war with France, which ended almost as soon as it began. She was on the Mediterranean station, and, under Capt. Bainbridge, went aground on an uncharted reef in the harbor of Tripoli while chasing a prize. The officers and men were captured and confined in dungeons. Thence Bainbridge managed to send word to the Americans to destroy the Philadelphia, which had been hauled off and manned by the Tripolitans.

This enterprise was conducted by Lieut. Stephens Decatur and a volunteer crew. Decatur performed his task of great danger and difficulty with complete success. The Philadelphia was captured, but, of course, it was impossible to take her out. She was set ablaze and the Americans sailed away with only one man wounded. It was a little later that the bashaw was compelled to make peace at the cannon's mouth, and since then the States has had very little interest in Tripoli, as it lies far outside the range of their commerce.

A few years ago an American artist, who was spending some months in Tripoli, hired a diver to go down and bring up some of the wreck of the Philadelphia, which is plainly visible in fair weather. Some of the wood is now in America in the shape of paper weights and the like.

WHY OUR CORNS ARE SO NAMED

Man Pays Irritating Penalty for the Invention and Use of Foot-Wear, and Titles the Outcome a Horn.

As man finds that his unprotected feet are not very safe to use for walking upon, he invents boots and shoes and sandals to protect them. But often we have to pay a penalty for our cleverness, for boots and shoes are apt to cause pressure on the soft, thin skin of our toes just where it lies close to the bone, with scarcely any padding between. The skin, in places where it is padded, can stand occasional pressure very well without injury, but the case is different where the skin is practically just over the bone. If the skin did nothing, it would be worn through in such a case. Therefore it tries to protect itself in circumstances to which it should never have been exposed, and the result is the corn.

A corn is due to a great thickening of the thin, horny layer which is found in the skin everywhere. It can only be really cured by removing the cause which produced it. We can keep a corn in check by paring away the horny material as it gets thicker or by putting something on it which has the same result, but we shall not cure the corn until we cease to apply the pressure which excites and irritates the horny layer of the skin to thicken itself. Corns are named from the Latin word cornu, meaning a horn, and the horns of some animals are also made from the horny layer of the skin.

Man's Physical Strength

Man's capacity for work and sport varies with the temperament of the individual and the character of the task. For this very crystal reason students of physiology always will find it a puzzling problem to analyze the average man and produce authentic figures showing the amount of strength he requires in his daily duties or what he accomplishes from a physical standpoint.

One man may be a hustler, his fellow creature obviously latent in physical energy, but there must be a distinction in mental duties and those which sap brawn and muscle.

Man's physical strength generally undergoes the severest test in athletics. The more vigorous forms of sports necessitate action that will not be found in the revolving chair or, for that matter, in any class of labor that taxes the physical powers.

Harvey's Long Walk

Walter J. Harvey recently started from Baltimore to walk to San Francisco on a wager of $500 to complete the trip in six months. The principal requirement is that Harvey must make his money for the necessaries of life as a Lootblack.

A Startling Revelation

The friends of Miss Mary McKenzie, of London, were astonished to hear that she had gone into consumption.

This sad intelligence came as a shock to Miss McKenzie's many friends. In the early fall she contracted a heavy cold which developed rapidly into Catarrh, and finally made such rapid advances that the bronchial tubes and lungs became affected.

Although the doctors said nothing short of a change of residence to the south would benefit, on the advice of a Dundas Street druggist Miss McKenzie decided to thoroughly test Catarrhozone, which is warranted to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes.

Miss McKenzie says: "After my druggist had recommended Catarrhozone I spoke to my friends about it and they all said it was such a good remedy that I commenced forthwith to inhale it five or six times each day. I breathed it deeply into my lungs, and felt its beneficial action very quickly. It seemed to go where other remedies did not reach, and was so pleasant and convenient that I did not mind using it very frequently, which, probably, was the cause of it curing my obstinate case so quickly. Certainly no case of Catarrh or Bronchitis should go uncured if the sufferer can get Catarrhozone, which is a sovereign remedy, worthy of the highest recommendations.

Miss McKenzie's case needs no enlargement. She was in a critical condition, apparently beyond the aid of doctors' medicines.

Catarrhozone has cured her, and others in her condition should no longer experiment with uncertain, untried treatments, but should turn at once to catarrhozone, and in it they will find relief and cure unobtainable by other means. Remember the name, Catarrhozone. Complete outfit guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00. Small size 25 cents. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Burns Hits Gompers

cause the plates were too well guarded.

"Ask him, too," he continued, "how it was when J. B. McNamara offered $30,000 to let him off and was asked, 'Where would you get $30,000?' that he said, 'Give me two hours and I'll have it;' the American Federation of Labor is back of it.' I was honestly surprised when I found out that that was the truth.

McNAMARAS ARE DEGENERATE.

"No important act of violence has been done the country over without the McNamara gang having a hand in it."

Then he went on to say that both McNamaras were degenerates. "Particularly Jim," he added. "Should he get out of prison in twenty years he would, I think, go back to dynamiting. He is a dangerous man.

A CHALLENGE.

Burns said in reply to Gompers' statement that Burns had never made an affidavit as to the guilt of the men.

"I am willing to make one, and I dare Mr. Gompers to make one that he did not attend the defence fund meeting at Indianapolis two days after the arrest of the McNamaras. Ask him if he will. Ask him, too, why Leightner, of Pittsburg, and Chancey, of San Francisco, were kicked out of the iron workers' union, and if he was not aware of the actual condition.

"These two men were suspected of giving me information, and they got rid of them in short order. They did it in a very clever way. They said that Leightner's union was behind in its dues, and that under the rules he had to go. They sent Chancey to a hospital and have got him there with heart disease, and I don't know what else. He was subpoenaed to appear before the Federal grand jury at Los Angeles, but nothing could drag him out of that hospital.

EXPLOSIVES ON TRAINS.

"Any sensible person knows that the McNamaras had no money to go riding about the country and buying and stealing dynamite and nitro glycerine. In the mere matter of transporting it they have endangered thousands of lives. They have carried cans of nitro glycerine on passenger trains from Massachusetts to California in quantities so large that if it had exploded it would not have left a trace of the train. When I told the man in Massachusetts who made it, he turned pale. He said he didn't see how it missed exploding with all the jar and rattle of the train."

DARING STATEMENT.

Asked if he supposed that Frank Buchanan, who is now a member of Congress, and who preceded Frank M. Ryan as head of the Iron Workers' Union, knew of the dynamiting that was done before the period he was in office, Burns said:

"It stands to reason that no man of common sense could be in that position and not know."

To Shrink a Fleshy, Flabby, Bloated Face

(From Happy Homes)

The woman whose face has a bloated appearance at times, particularly upon arising, as well as she whose face is permanently overfleshy or flabby, should use the saxolite solution. This is made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel, inexpensive ingredients which any druggist can supply. Use as a wash lotion. There is nothing better to reduce the face to a normal condition. The loose skin shrinks, bagginess and wrinkles are ironed out. Not only does the effect quickly show in one's improved appearance, but there follows a comfortable feeling of firmness and smugness.

This treatment is far superior to massage. The latter, as a matter of fact, can afford but temporary relief, and its continuance tends to break down the muscular tissue and aggravate the trouble.

PLEASE REMEMBER

1. The Times Bookstore has no old stock.
2. We sell cheaper than any other similar establishment. The reason we can afford to do so is because we own our own premises, and are not burdened with rent, and our other expenses are less than half of similar stores.
3. We are manufacturers of Stationery supplies and books, employing a large number of people in our bindery department, so that these lines we have at first cost.
4. Another reason why we can undersell is because we do not depend on the profits of our Bookstore alone to pay everything connected with the business. We have a wage bill of nearly $300 per week in connection with our newspaper and job printing business, and thus we are able to give our Bookstore customers genuine bargains all the year round.
5. The Times Bookstore is confident that it can give you entire satisfaction, and cordially invites you to inspect the stock before the rush begins. You only have to select what you want, and have the goods put aside for delivery when required.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Cold on the Chest

Had Suffered for Weeks—Used Fourteen Different Remedies Without Effect.

CURED QUICKLY BY 'NERVILINE'

No stronger proof of the wonderful merit of Nerviline could be produced than the letter of Miss Lucy Mosher, who for years has been a well-known resident of Windsor, N. S.

"I want to add my unsolicited testimonial to the efficacy of your wonderful liniment, Nerviline," I consider it the best remedy for a cold, sore throat, wheezing tightness in the chest, etc., and can state that for years our home has never been without Nerviline. I had a dreadful attack of cold, that settled on my chest, that fourteen different remedies couldn't break up. I rubbed on Nerviline three times a day, used Nerviline as a gargle, and was completely restored. I have induced dozens of my friends to use Nerviline, and they are all delighted with its wonderful power over pain and sickness.

Buy Early.

Among those who feel the increased burden of Christmas time, is the postman who goes patiently along with the mails in all kinds of weather. If the public would shop early in the month and get the presents away the duties of the carrier would be lightened, and he also could enjoy the Christmas holiday. Likewise early buying makes the work of the store clerk and delivery man more agreeable, and avoids that rush and hurry which is so evident before Christmas.

Baseball Talk.

The sporting editor of The Times is in receipt of a letter from Hugh A. Shannon, manager of the Newport News Baseball Association in which the writer expresses his desire to come to Peterborough and organize a team for the Canadian League, if financial backing can be secured. Ottawa has made application for membership and this will be taken up at the league meeting in Hamilton, on December 15th, and should Ottawa secure admission, it is likely that Berlin will be dropped. It is stated that the Canadian magnates favor an eight league team, allowing the entrance of Kingston and Peterborough. Mr. Shannon has had considerable experience in baseball work and being manager of several teams in the States. The Times will be pleased to let any interested parties read Mr. Shannon's letter.

T. C. HOLT, LIMITED, NORTH VANCOUVER

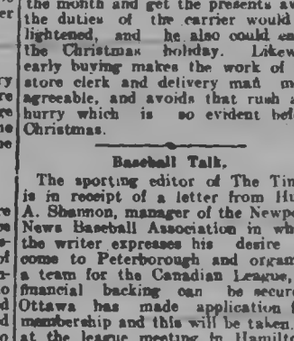
T. C. Holt, Ltd., North Vancouver, B.C.: North Vancouver is going ahead with leaps and bounds, we are going to have the biggest boom we ever had. Three railroads are rivalling to be the first to enter, so as to have the benefit of the water front, as the south side of Burrard Inlet is all taken up by the C. P. Ry. Co. and Great Northern roads, and the North shore is all that is left in private hands. Work on the second Narrows bridge is commenced, so that the public will have two ways of reaching North Vancouver from Vancouver, by Ferry in from 8 to 10 minutes and by bridge in 20 minutes. We are having graded streets, sewers, the finest water system in the country, and in fact living in North Vancouver is really living in Vancouver, some of these days it will all be one. Now is the time to invest before the boom strikes us, when property will jump up from 20 to 100 per cent., and over. You are running no risks whatever. Prices here are reasonable and cheap therefore we say invest and make money on safe investments.

If you have smaller amounts to invest and do not want to join a syndicate, send the money to us, trust us with it (don't be afraid, your money will be as safe as if you sent it to a Bank) and we will invest it for you and guarantee you a profit.

We have had a grand success forming syndicates to take hold of larger and more valuable property, which is too large for one party to handle. We have just completed a deal with an English Co. which took very near half a million to handle.

Here is one which will without doubt look allright to you and can be handled by a small syndicate. It is a large building on the very best corner in North Vancouver, Lonsdale & First Street, has 3 large stores on Lonsdale Avenue and 3 on First Street, it has eight, 4 room flats all rented which makes 32 rooms. The building is 3 storeys high, and has only been built three years. The owner wishes to move away to a warmer climate and desires to dispose of the property for One Hundred and Ten Thousand Dollars $35,000.00 cash and the balance 1, 2 and 3 years time.

This is no doubt a money-maker, and will bring in revenue right from the start, the property should be worth at least $150,000.00 by the time the last payment is made.



Refined, Delicate Skin Secured by Absorption

"No complexion can be considered beautiful if the skin is coarse in texture," writes Henrietta Cowles in Eastern Styles. "This trouble can be overcome by opening and cleansing the pores, the closing of which makes the skin rough. To open the pores and remove dirt and impurities use the mercolized wax process. The wax completely absorbs the rough, faded or discolored outer skin and unclogs the pores. The fresh, young skin underneath then in evidence is exquisitely delicate, refined and beautiful. And it is kept so, as the pores now freely expel effete matter from the body and drink in the life-giving, circulation-promoting oxygen.

"Mercolized wax, because of its wonderful absorption power, is fast superceding other treatments for coarse, pimply, yellow, muddy or blotchy skin. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off next morning. The wax, to be had at any drug store, is entirely harmless."

AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Shortly after seven o'clock, when the returns began to come in from outside points, they were shown on canvas in front of The Review and Examiner Offices. When it was known that Mr. Peck had been elected for West Peterborough, a procession was formed, led by the 57th Band, and they marched to the Opera House which was soon filled to overflowing. Mr. L. M. Hayes, K.C., was called to the chair and introduced the various speakers.

Mr. E. A. Peck, the successful candidate, was accorded a rousing reception. In a few words he thanked his friends for the splendid majority which was given him, and promised to serve them to the best of his ability.

Addresses were also given by Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, ex-M.P.P., G. Perceval Webb, Ald. Buller and others.

The meeting finally broke up with cheers for the King and Mr. Peck, as well as for Mr. James Thompson, successful Conservative candidate in East Peterborough.

WEDDING BELLS.

Southwell—Campbell.

THE home of Mrs. Wm. Campbell, Baillieboro, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, December 6, when her only daughter, Miss Alice, was united in wedlock to Mr. Oscar Southwell, Whitby, Ont. The bride was given away by Mr. H. Campbell and the young couple were unattended. The Rev. D. A. McKenzie, of Centreville Presbyterian church, officiated, only the immediate friends being present. The bride received a handsome array of presents, showing the high esteem in which she was held by her friends. The young couple left on a trip to Toronto and points west and on their return will reside in Whitby.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day: only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

VOL XXXIV NO 285 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 13 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

MADE ANNUAL INSPECTION OF THE LOCAL HOTELS

The Chief of the Fire Department, accompanied by Mr. Joseph Stewart, License Inspector, made his annual inspection of the city hotels on November 21st, and found all to be in first-class condition. Following is the Chief's letter and report to the Commissioners:

To the Chairman and Board of License Commissioners, City.

Gentlemen,—I beg leave to report to your Honorable Body the result of my annual inspection of Licensed Hotels in the City of Peterborough.

The inspection was made on November 21st, and Mrs. Joseph Stewart License Inspector for West Peterborough, accompanied me, and assisted in making the inspection, and attached you will please find the report in detail, which I trust will be of interest to your Board.

I am, Sirs,
Yours respectfully,
(Signed) W. A. HOWARD,
Chief Fire Dept.

THE REPORT.

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 12, 1911.
To the Chairman and Board of License Commissioners
City,

Gentlemen,—I beg leave to advise your Honorable Body of my annual inspection of Licensed Hotels, made November 21st, in accordance with City By-law No. 1620.

The following hotels were visited: Snowden House, White House, Grand Hotel, National Hotel, Albion Hotel Munroe House, Windsor Hotel, King George Hotel, Montgomery House, American House, Palace Hotel and Oriental Hotel.

In each of the hotels visited I found the law had been complied with relative to fire escapes, ropes in bedrooms, etc. In some of the hotels we found that the ropes in the bedrooms had been removed during house-cleaning time, and by carelessness on the part of servants had not been replaced. The attention of the proprietors was called to this state of affairs and they expressed a willingness to rectify the irregularity. A second visit was made on November 28th, and the conditions were found to be entirely satisfactory. This intelligence will no doubt be gratifying to you.

It was found that in all twelve hotels there were 375 bedrooms. Seven of the hotels have made provision for accommodating extra guests by placing cots in commission, which it is understood are only used in time of a convention or extra rush of visitors to the City. In the seven hotels mentioned a total of 95 cots were in store.

I may say that 375 bedrooms herein mentioned include the apartments of the proprietors and their families, and the servants of the hotels.

The twelve hotels in the city were found to be in a fairly good state of repair, and in every case the premises were found to be clean and nothing of an offensive nature whatsoever was found.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

I have the honor to be, Sirs,
Yours respectfully,
W. A. HOWARD.
Chief Fire Dept.

A GOOD CONCERT.

Salvation Army Band Give Delightful Entertainment.

The concert given last night in the Salvation Army Temple was largely attended, and was thoroughly enjoyable. The music was specially good and delighted those present. The following was the programme:

March, "The New England," introducing "O Canada"—Band.

Vocal solo, "Were Not," by Bandman Moynes, a song explaining S.A. bandsmen.

Selection, "Songs of Joy"—Band.

Mouthorgan solo, "Hallelujah Chorus" by Bandsman W. Pick.

Selection, "Harvest Praises"—Band.

Song, vocal, "A Soldiers' Life," by the band's male choir.

Trombone solo, "Hymns of the Old Church Choir," by Bandsman Sandford.

Marches by the band through a phonograph. This was an interesting item.

Selection, "Old Song Memories" by Band.

Recitation, "Abide With Me," by Bandsman Fred Gray.

Final Hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

Too much credit cannot be given Bandmaster Peryer for the high state of excellence which the band has attained.

BIG CHRISTMAS MAIL.

Many Christmas Presents Being Sent to Old Country.

The parcel mail for Great Britain, which closes on Saturday next, is expected to realize atotal of several hundred, according to a statement made by Postmaster Stratton to The Times yesterday. The mail, both outgoing and incoming is largely in excess of that for the Christmas season of 1910, while the parcel mail from the Old Country is fifty per cent. greater than in any previous years.

The chief feature this year has been the number of money orders which have been sent by citizens of Peterborough to relatives in Great Britain and Ireland, the amount being twice that of last year, a striking proof that this method of making Christmas gifts is increasing in popularity.

The increase in money orders, is no doubt due to the present good times in our city.

THE WEATHER.

Cloudy with a little lower temperature.

HERBERT'S LAWYERS LEAVE COURT ROOM IN DISGUST

Say That Judge's Decision to Hear Evidence in Famous Marriage Case is Illegal—Both Sides Question the Motives of the Other

Montreal, Dec. 12.—Marie Clouatre was to-day allowed by Mr. Justice Charbonneau to make proof of the legitimacy of the children born of her union with Eugene Hebert and of the validity of such marriage, pending a decision as to whether or not the evidence could be legally received before the court.

Thus the whole question of the validity of amarriage between two Catholics performed by a Protestant minister is before the courts, under reserve, however.

"I am ready to hear this case on its merits," said Mr. Justice Charbonneau, after hearing the argument that the evidence should not be heard on the merits after Hebert had withdrawn his opposition to the plaintiff's claim.

At this point, the reinforced battery of counsel for the husband, arose abruptly and without a word gathered up their books and papers, and left the court room hurriedly. Soon afterwards they said they would not take any part in the making of evidence as the hearing was illegal.

BIG LIBEL SUIT ARISES OVER THE MARRIAGE LAW

Montreal, Dec. 12.—An action claiming $10,000 damages has been commenced against La Croix, a local weekly paper, by Rebecca Chiniquy, daughter of Rev. Father Chiniquy, the famous priest who left the Roman Church. The ground of the suit is that La Croix said Chiniquy's wife was only a concubine, and, there fore, his daughter illegitimate.

The declaration of the plaintiff states that she is the legitimate daughter of Charles Chiniquy and Euphemie Allard, who were married on the 13th of January, 1864, by Rev. Desrocher, a minister of the Protestant Church, at St. Anne's of Illinois, in the State of Illinois, according to the laws of said State of the American Union; that she is the legitimate wife of Joseph L. Morin, a professor of McGill University; that defendant published in his paper La Croix, on the 16th day of November last, an article in which it said that Chiniquy, the apostle, could not be married, and that the woman who associated with him, namely, Euphemie Allard, was only a concubine; that the Chiniquy referred to in the article complained of is the legitimate father of plaintiff.

That before his marriage with the mother of plaintiff, Chiniquy had solemnly and officially repudiated the Church of Rome on the 3rd day of August 1858.

FIRE DRILL IN THE LOCAL SCHOOLS

Fire Chief Howard conducted the fire drill in the City Schools yesterday, and made his annual inspection of the buildings. According to instructions received from the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council.

It will be interesting to parents to know that the Chief conducts these fire drills without warning being given ahead of time, and the children are taught to march out of the schools on the sound of the gong. The principals and teachers have this work so well in hand that the schools are cleared without the slightest confusion. The number of scholars in attendance at each school and the time made is as follows:

School	Schlrs.	Sec
South Ward School	450	50
West Ward School	187	47
Central School	350	64
East Ward School	200	40
King Edward School	400	30

BLAZE AT GAS WORKS

Which Was Promptly Extinguished By Fire Department.

Last evening about six o'clock the gas plant was the scene of another fire, which, owing to the rapid work of the Fire Brigade, was checked before any great damage was done. A workman on his way home noticed a small blaze on the roof of the coke shed, and immediately turned in an alarm from box 22, at the corner of Queen and Simcoe streets. The Brigade was soon on the ground, and quickly had two streams playing on the blaze. Owing to the dryness of the roof, the men had considerable trouble in extinguishing the fire.

A large motor which was in the building was covered over by the fire men and thus was protected from damage. This is the fifth fire at the works in the past year.

MR. HALL A GOOD LOSER

Takes His Defeat as One of the Chances of Battle.

Mr. R. R. Hall, the defeated Liberal candidate for the Ontario Legislature, is a good loser. He is in no way cast down over the result of Tuesday's voting, and takes it as one of the fortunes of war. He says the tide, which is now flowing with the Conservatives, will in due course, turn, when the Liberal party will again come to the front. In conversation with The Times yesterday Mr. Hall expressed the Hope that the Whitney Government would recast the Workman's Compensation Act, along the lines proposed by him, as well as other suggestions made during the campaign.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

CATHOLIC PRIEST AND SISTERS MURDERED BY THE CHINESE

Shanghai, Dec. 12:—Direct reports from various points in Sze-Chuen Provinces say that the missionaries are safe and do not desire to leave their stations, notwithstanding the fact that the American consul is urging them to do so. The reports indicate that that part of the country is becoming quieter.

Mail advices from Sian-Fu, dated November 9, report that an Italian priest and all the sisters of the Catholic mission at Hanchow-Fu, Shen Si, have been murdered by the rabble The revolutionary soldiers are protecting the foreigners and missionaries as best they can. There is no safe means of escape from the interior towns, as the roads are infested with robbers.

Is your husband cross? An irritable, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach trouble by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. For sale by all dealers.

WHO WILL BE MAYOR FOR 1912?

Ald. Bradburn is the Only Candidate So Far

MR. R. J. SODEN SPOKEN OF

Ald. Buller Also a Possibility—Plenty of Good Material for the Council—Several New Men Likely to Come Out.

That the votes of women in municipal elections is becoming a factor, is more apparent every year Men who aspire to to positions at Council Boards have therefore to cultivate the ladies if they want their support. Now that the parliamentary elections are over, people will have time to devote to municipal affairs, so as to provide for good local government. The municipal pot has been simmering for some time and it will now start to boil in good earnest. It looks as though there would be some excellent timber for the Council,

The Mayoralty.

Ald. Bradburn has announced himself as a candidate for the office of Mayor, and it looked for a time as if he was likely to be unopposed. Mr. Bradburn's long experience at the Council Board qualifies him for the higher and more responsible position of Chief Magistrate. He is a large property owner in the city, and this fact alone would suggest that his policy would be to exercise the strictest economy in the administration of the government of the city. The Times, therefore is of the opinion that he would be a safe man to place in the Mayor's chair.

The other names mentioned in connection with the Mayoralty are Ald. William Buller and Mr. R. J. Soden, the well known bookseller and stationer. Mr. Buller has also had the advantage of long experience in the Council, and would also make a good and efficient chief Magistrate. He is a man who everybody knows to be honest and capable. It is understood that Mr. Buller is being urged by his many friends to stand, and is now considering the matter.

Mr. Robert J. Soden is said to be a possible candidate. Should he decide to enter the contest he will be strongly supported. Mr. Soden is a good public speaker, and a splendid man of business and would make a first rate Mayor.

For Aldermen.

Of the present Council Board, five members retain their seats by virtue of a two-year term, and Ald. Bradburn, the sixth, is running for Mayor. Of the remainder, all will probably seek re-election as aldermen, excepting any who may be looking forward to the velvet chair on the dais.

The Council of 1911 has been, we believe, one of the best the town has ever had, and we believe the ratepayers recognize this. Amongst the new aspirants to civic honors are Mr. G. N. Gordon, the well-known and successful lawyer. Mr. Gordon will run in the Centre Ward, and no doubt will be elected. It is understood that he has a few good things up his sleeve for the people, one of which is to compel the Grand Trunk Railway to purchase land in the southern or northern portion of the city for shunting ground, and thus do away with the use of Bethune street for this purpose.

Mr. W. J. Johnston, is another possible candidate in the North Ward He has had several years' experience in the Council, and is in close touch with the requirements of the city. Mr. Johnston will undoubtedly be elected, if he runs, as he is in every way qualified for the office.

There are several other names mentioned The aldermen who will retain their office for another year are Messrs. Duncan, Brown, Graham and Morgan.

Nominations will take place on December 22nd, and the elections on New Year's Day.

HE SAYS ENGLAND WAS UNPREPARED IN CRISIS

London, Dec. 12.—Lord Charles Beresford in a speech at Leicester last night referred to "England's naval unpreparedness during the Morocco crisis" and bluntly stated that Mr. McKenna was dismissed from his post of First Lord of the Admiralty. "His grotesque antics during the late crisis," said Lord Charles, "led to his dismissal, and if the facts were generally known there would be considerable excitement in foreign countries."

It is significant that when Lord Charles remarked in his speech: "I don't see why we cannot come to some agreement with Germany," the audience cheered loudly!

A PRESENTATION AT KNOX CHURCH FESTIVAL

A very large crowd attended the supper and entertainment at Knox church last night. The Scotch numbers by local Scotch talent delighted the audience, while Mr. John A. Kelly, the noted ventriloquist and vocalist furnished a splendid programme. His witty sayings were a feature and brought forth much applause. During the course of the evening, Rev. Mr. Keith and Mrs. Keith were agreeably surprised, Mr. Keith being presented with a fur lined coat and Mrs. Keith with a cheque. The ready response of the ladies with provisions was more than needed in spite of the large crowd present and the tea will be continued to-night.

A POLITICAL FUNERAL.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—We all realize that the Reform party of Peterborough is dead. All will agree that in this hour of bereavement a respectable funeral should be arranged for. Therefore, could not the undertakers arrange that one of them should look after the procession, a couple of ladies be in attendance at the house and the other drive the cab for the officiating clergyman? In this way they might save expense. I would suggest that a brass band bring up the rear, to be paid for by the "Times" and "Review." "The People's Chimes," might sound forth while the floral decorations are being placed upon the grave.

Yours, etc.,
Labor Party.

DECEMBER SESSIONS.

Carter vs. The Toronto Street Railway Case Now On.

With Judge Huycke presiding, the December Sessions of the quarterly jury sittings was opened yesterday at the Court House, at one o'clock, the court-room being well filled.

The first case was that of Carter vs. The Toronto Street Railway Co., the former bringing suit against the railway for injuries received while working for them. Carter was knocked from the running board of of an open car by a passing auto, and sustained injuries which laid him up for some time and put him to a big expense. The case was laid over until to-day.

Power To "Do Things"

Comes with a clear brain and steady nerve.

Tea contains a drug — caffeine — which fogs the brain and upsets the nerves of a great many naturally bright persons who don't suspect the cause.

If you are ambitious to "be somebody," try quitting tea for a while and go on

POSTUM

It is made of wheat, and contains nothing but pure, rich food elements, including the Phosphate of Potash (grown in the grain) which nature requires for the rebuilding of Brain and Nerves, as well as other parts of a healthy body.

There's nothing in this world quite equal to being perfectly well.

Then comfort and success are possible.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

STRONG AS STEEL
The Kind of Nerves That Can Do Things

A young athlete writes concerning the method by which he acquired steady nerves, and also of some good missionary work he has done:

"About a year ago," he says, "my nerves began to grow unsteady and I found myself troubled with sleeplessness. I set an enquiry on foot, and became convinced that the coffee I drank was the cause of the trouble" (tea contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee, and is just as injurious) "and determined to quit right there.

"So I got a package of Postum and Mother and I prepared it. We did not boil it long enough the first time and were not much impressed by it. The second time, however, we followed the directions on the package carefully and were more than pleased with the result

"I can sleep like a log now, since I am using Postum, my nerves are as strong as steel and my muscles, which used to tire easily, are hard and enduring as iron. Heavy athletics no longer give me pain in the side and chest as formerly.

"I have brought our whole family to use Postum, and it has done every one of them good. My Father has found his asthma almost entirely relieved since he gave up coffee and began to drink Postum."

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury.

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real Estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable streets were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. The present owners of this property guarantee to repurchase the property at the expiration of two years and give you 6 per cent. interest, if the purchaser is not satisfied with his investment. As further guarantee of the reliability of such an investment in Transcona Park, we invite you to fill in the coupon below addressed to the manager of the Eastern Townships Bank, Winnipeg, or address it to any bank in Winnipeg. All our statements will be investigated by the bank before any money is paid. Such an opportunity like this has never been offered to the public before. Fill in the form below and mail to-day or communicate with us direct and ask for plan of subdivision, you will be under no obligation to purchase.

The ever-increasing population will soon overflow and make Transcona part of Winnipeg—Transcona Park is only one mile from the city limits, and will be the first to receive the increase in land values. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Transcona Park, which is but a few minutes' walk from the G.T.P. shops, and nearer to Winnipeg than any other, can be purchased from

$5.00 TO $7.00 PER FOOT, ACCORDING TO LOCATION

TERMS, $15.00 CASH AND $10.00 PER MONTH, OR 1-5 CASH, BALANCE 6, 12, 18, AND 24 MONTHS.

No encumbrance on the property. Torrens title. If you are not satisfied with your investment in two years' time, the owners will refund your money and pay you six per cent. interest. Transcona Park is not an ordinary subdivision, all contracts are issued by the owners with this guarantee: There is no speculation about Transcona Park, but a guaranteed investment.

LOCATION OF TRANSCONA PARK

Transcona Park is located east of Winnipeg, one mile from the city limits and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona to the west.

The mammoth steel and concrete shops of the Grand Trunk Pacific (the first unit of which will be completed by January next) will cost $5,000,000, and will employ 5,000 men.

A network of railroads radiate in every direction.

Cheap power, available 24 hours a day.

TRANSCONA PARK WILL BE TRANSCONA'S RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT

Everything points to Transcona Park as the residential district for Transcona, away from the noise and bustle, smoke and grind of the mammoth G.T.P. shops, yet conveniently situated, making the shops accessible in a few minutes. The realty market of Transcona is very active, values are increasing daily. Buy to-day at bed rock prices; you will be able to sell in the spring at a good profit. By acting now you can "skim the cream off the milk" in Transcona Park. Transcona Park is the surest and quickest money-maker you can get to-day—BUY NOW. Street cars will run past this property.

REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie District by our Department of the Interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found there abundance of suitable food; they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of the country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Pluck pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realises that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

TWO WAR PICTURES.

Reminiscences Written by a Non-Commissioned Officer Who Served During the Napoleonic Wars.

There has recently been published a book containing reminiscences, written by a non-commissioned officer who served during the Napoleonic wars. In these reminiscences there is given this description of a scene after the British attack on the French forces in Alexandria: "After the action was over we were ordered to go and take all the wounded of both armies and carry them to the boats. . . . It was truly a horrible sight to see the French and British writhing in agonies of death, and making friendship, who had only a few minutes before been filled with rage and hatred at one another—all their fierce passions stilled, and like a hushed child, taking one another in their dying arms."

This other picture is of the scene presented by Waterloo the morning after: "When morning came I went out to see the field on which so many brave soldiers had perished. The scene which met my eyes was horrible in the extreme. The number of dead was far greater than I had ever seen on any former battlefield. The bodies were not scattered over the ground, but were lying in heaps—men and horses mixed promiscuously together. I turned away with disgust from this heart-moving spectacle. . . . I confess my feelings overcame me; I wept bitterly, and wished I had not been a witness of such a scene."

"As It Was in the Beginning."

When William Pengelly was a sailor boy, weather-bound on the coast of Devonshire, he had his earliest geological experience, and Mr. S. Baring-Gould says he was wont to relate it as is printed below:

I received my first lesson in geology at Lyme Regis very soon after I had entered my teens. A laborer, whom I was observing, accidentally broke a small stone of blue lias and thus disclosed a fine ammonite—the first fossil I had ever seen or heard of.

"What's that?" I exclaimed.

"If you read your Bible you'd know what 'tis," said the workman, somewhat scornfully.

"I have read my Bible. But what has that to do with it?"

"In the Bible we're told there was once a flood that coveled the whole world. At that time all the rocks were mud, and the different things that were drowned were buried in it, and there's a snake that was buried that way. There are lots of 'em, and other things besides, in the rocks and stones hereabouts."

"A snake! But where's his head?"

"You must read your Bible, I tell 'ee, and then you'll find out why 'tis some of the snakes ain't got no heads. We're told there that the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head; that's how 'tis."

Why a Chinese Republic?

The statement that the revolution is likely to result in the formation of a Chinese Republic has caused a good deal of surprise in the Western world. When one thinks of it, however, this seems the most natural solution of the problem that will be presented by a successful revolution. The Manchu, a foreign dynasty, which has held power in China for some centuries is, of course, impossible; as a matter of fact, the present

A Budding Mark Twain

A boy in Oklahoma City submitted the following essay on the ship of the desert:—

"A cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a dacteria, because it has bumps on its back. The cannimal is very patient, and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the hump. The shepherds of the canfilmals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called aquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebriates."

The boy is eight years old. His teacher says he is an ignoramus. His father says he is a young Mark Twain.

Franklin's Manners

Franklin collected thirteen principles to cover the small amenities of daily life. Each week he picked out one and practised it diligently, thus creating a habit. It took three months to cover them all. Each year he practised each one four full weeks. He kept this up for many years. The uncouth Franklin of early manhood who found fault with his wife for giving him a silver spoon and a china bowl for his bread and milk instead of a pewter spoon and earthenware crock, developed into the statesman and man of the world who won the respect of Englishmen, the admiration of Frenchmen, and the gratitude of Americans.

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

THE RUSH BEFORE THE WEDDING

Many Brides Attend Receptions Right Up to Last Minute.

Every bride should have the moral courage to refuse all social engagements for one week prior to her wedding; also she should refuse to shop or bother with any trousseau plants those last days. She should so arrange her fittings that all her clothes are ready at least two weeks before the date, and the last week should be given to quiet and rest, and certainly the bride that is not worn out with bother about clothes and a round of entertainments has at least some freshness and romance to take to the altar.

The elaboration of many a wedding, coming as it does upon the shopping, the house furnishing, the round of entertainments, and the packing, has caused many a girl, tired out physically, a nervous collapse that may argue ill-health all her married life, and certainly, everything considered, the tired-out lines on the bride's face as she leaves her old home, amid the rice-throwing and confetti, for the first stage of her life's new journey does not argue a happy beginning.

Treating Nervous Infants

Intelligent people are beginning to understand the importance of protecting the nervous system in infancy, and the grave dangers consequent on a shock to an infant's nerves. As a rule, during the first year of its life, the more quiet a child is kept the better its chance of health and happiness. Overbright babies do not commend themselves to physicians, who know that the first year of a child's life should be spent mainly in sleep. All efforts to arouse the dormant mind of a child at this period are attended with danger. Specially to be condemned is the practice of tossing a child in the air, causing him to scream with delight and fright. Unnatural excitements of this kind frequently lead to those mental diseases for which doctors have not yet found a cure.

Romans in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

Football Only Played by Nobles

"The Festival called Tanabata, of which the football game Kemari forms an important item, takes place on the seventh day of the seventh month. The football is presented in a forked twig of the Kaji (paper mudberry), and the game connected with it is always of a ceremonial nature, and played only by Court nobles in specially constructed enclosures and in ceremonial dress," says Mr. H. L. Joly, the well-known writer upon Japanese legends. According to the legend (as given in "Home Life in Tokyo") with which the Feast of Tanabata is associated, the night of the 7th of July is the only one in the whole year when the Weaver (the star Vega) can meet her lover the Cow-herd (the star Altair) on the other side of the Heavenly River, as the Milky Way is called by the Japanese, and on that night magpies come and spread their wings across the river to bring the lovers together."

Captain Webb's Example

Captain Webb's great swim revolutionised the art of swimming in Great Britain. Before 1875 swimming was not regarded as an achievement of much moment. Very few schools taught their boys to swim, and most of those who did learn looked upon sixty yards in a bath as the maximum distance they could hope to attain. Gradually it was realized that long distances could be accomplished under the most trying circumstances. The hope of some day attaining to the fame of Captain Webb tempted many to practise long-distance swimming, and as years went by a new race of long-distance swimmers was created, men who essayed without fear the dangers of the Channel and made light of spending a day and a night in the sea.

Football Forecasts

New football, with forward passes and restrictions, have knocked all forecasts galley west. The small school of huskies is as likely to win as the big brother with an enrollment of thousands. Brains and speed offset beef and brawn and an educated toe in the backfield discounts weight in the line.

The coach with two good ends and a punter can develop a high class eleven. The balance of the team will come along as a matter of evolution.

WHEN THE U. S. FOUGHT TURKEY

A Century Ago United States Took Turkey to Task, and After Daring Attack Work Brought Enemy to Attention.

Most people have forgotten their history to the extent of overlooking the fact that where the Italian fleet of today ships of war of the United States were operating a little over a hundred years ago.

That war was signalized by the loss of an American frigate, but also by what Lord Nelson declared to be the most bold and daring act of the age." The frigate Philadelphia was one of the vessels built for the war with France, which ended almost as soon as it began. She was in the Mediterranean station, and, under Capt. Bainbridge, went aground on an uncharted reef in the harbor of Tripoli while chasing a prize. The officers and men were captured and confined in dungeons. Thence Bainbridge managed to send word to the Americans to destroy the Philadelphia, which had been hauled off and manned by the Tripolitans.

This enterprise was conducted by Lieut. Stephens Decatur and a volunteer crew. Decatur performed his task of great danger and difficulty with complete success. The Philadelphia was captured, but, of course, it was impossible to take her out. She was set ablaze and the Americans sailed away with only one man wounded. It was a little later that the pashaw was compelled to make peace at the cannon's mouth, and since then the States has had very little interest in Tripoli, as it lies far outside the range of their commerce.

A few years ago an American artist, who was spending some months in Tripoli, hired a diver to go down and bring up some of the wreck of the Philadelphia, which is plainly visible in fair weather. Some of the wood is now in America in the shape of paper weights and the like.

WHY OUR CORNS ARE SO NAMED

Man Pays Irritating Penalty for the Invention and Use of Feet-Wear, and Titles the Outcome a Hurs.

As man finds that his unprotected feet are not very safe to use for walking upon, he invents boots and shoes and sandals to protect them. But often we have to pay a penalty for our cleverness, for boots and shoes are apt to cause pressure on the soft, thin skin of our toes just where it lies close to the bone, with scarcely any padding between. The skin, in places where it is padded, can stand occasional pressure very well without injury, but the case is different where the skin is practically just over the bone. If the skin did nothing, it would be worn through in such a case. Therefore it tries to protect itself in circumstances to which it should never have been exposed, and the result is the corn.

A corn is due to a great thickening of the thin, horny layer which is found in the skin everywhere. It can only be really cured by removing the cause which produced it. We can keep a corn in check by paring away the horny material as it gets thicker or by putting something on it which has the same result, but we shall not cure the corn until we cease to apply the pressure which excites and irritates the horny layer of the skin to thicken itself. Corns are named from the Latin word cornu, meaning a horn, and the horns of some animals are also made from the horny layer of the skin.

Man's Physical Strength

Man's capacity for work and sport varies with the temperament of the individual and the character of the task. For this very crystal reason students of physiology always will find it a puzzling problem to analyse the average man and produce authentic figures showing the amount of strength he requires in his daily duties or what he accomplishes from a physical standpoint.

One man may be a hustler, his fellow creature obviously latent in physical energy, but there must be a distinction in mental duties and those which sap brawn and muscle.

Man's physical strength generally undergoes the severest test in athletics. The more vigorous forms of sports necessitate action that will not be found in the revolving chair or, for that matter, in any class of labor that taxes the physical powers.

Graveyard Coughs and Colds

CURED QUICKLY BY CATARRHOZONE.

A cough or cold this season of the year paves the way for pneumonia or consumption. The best remedy is "Catarrhozone." It eases a cough in five minutes, and colds cannot exist but a few hours where it is used. Mrs. H. L. Chenowith, residing at Glendive, Montana, was worried by a "graveyard" cough. In the following letter she tells how Catarrhozone cured her in one week:

"I had a bad cough for several months last fall that settled on my lungs. I was worried very much to think that nothing I used could shake it off, but reading in the Halifax "Presbyterian Witness" of the wonderful cures Catarrhozone was effecting, I decided to try it. The irritability and soreness was taken out of my throat in a few days, and in less than one week it entirely cured my cough.

"It is with great gratitude and pleasure that I recommend Catarrhozone. I am sure it will benefit and cure all who use it."

(Signed) Mrs. H. L. Chenowith.

The reason Catarrhozone always cures is that it goes right to the sore spot, which it heals and makes well quickly. It is anti-septic and destroys disease germs in every part of the system. For Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, nothing compares with Catarrhozone. It is very pleasant and simple to use, contains no injurious drugs, and is warranted perfectly safe to use. Catarrhozone Inhaler is suitable to use in a street car, theatre, church, any place, at any time. Complete outfit costs but $1, and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City.—Chiefs Cloud and Washee, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov Cruce, of Oklahoma, to intervene at Washington to have the privilege of holding the gift and "willow" dances restored to the tribe.

Indian agent Asenap have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal customs. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the [illegible] a gathering of the tribes and the natives join in. Guests are invited with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

Not Meant for Both

"I know Ames comes in for a lot of praise because he hunts with a camera instead of a gun," Forbes began, in a slightly acrid tone. "It never seems to strike people that there may be more than one kind of brutality."

"What's the matter with Ames?" demanded one of the men on the clubhouse porch.

"Up in Canada last fall, Forbes readily resumed, "I went off by myself one day, when Ames was fiddling over his kodak, and I stumbled full on a black bear. Because I was the only thing in sight, very likely I became the immediate object of her attentions. I had only a slight head, but I was going pretty well when Ames poked through the brush and took in the situation.

"'Hold on there, old chap!' he yelled. 'You're too far ahead. I can't get you both in.'"

Friendship of Books

To fall in love with a good book one of the greatest events that can befall us. It is to have a new influence pouring itself into our life, a new teacher to inspire us, a new friend to be by our side always, who, when life grows narrow and weary, will take us into his wider and calmer and higher world.

Whether it be biography, introducing us to some humble life made great by duty done; or history, opening vistas into the movements and destinies of nations that have passed away; or poetry, making music of all the common things around us, and filling the fields and the skies and the work of the city and the cottage with eternal meanings—whether it be these or religious books or science, no one can become the friend even of one good book without being made wiser and better.

Cause of Rheumatism

Many physicians believe that rheumatism is the result of over-feeding, followed by putrefactive changes in the foodstuffs in the alimentary canal; that the action of certain bacteria produces specific toxic (poison) substances which, when introduced into the blood, cause a deviation from the normal oxidation process, thus causing the condition that is designated rheumatic. In the majority of instances it is probably due to eating too much of the vegetable class of foods; in other cases it is the result of eating too much meat.

His Original Sin.

In a country seat in one of the middle Western States dwelt a lawyer who, after a practice of thirty years, had accumulated a competence and retired. Being a man of much more than ordinary ability, an excellent speaker, entertaining decided political views, and enjoying the confidence of the community, he was urged by his friends to run for Congress. He refused. A man high in the political councils of the State came to see him, and added his persuasion.

"You ought to take that office," he said. "It might lead to something higher. You would make a national reputation."

"That's what I am afraid of."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well," answered the lawyer, hesitatingly, "I will tell you, but it is in strict confidence. It must not go any further. Many years ago, when I was young and inexperienced, I published a small volume of original poetry. So far as I know, there is not a copy of that book in existence now, but one would turn up in some corner of the world if I were to run for office, and the papers would print extracts from it. I wouldn't have that happen for a million dollars. No, sir, nothing doing!"

Dogs Go Wild.

Our tame dogs would all go wild if left to themselves for a few years. They tried the experiment once on Robinson Crusoe's island. They left some of their dogs there, and nobody called at the island again for about thirty years. And they found all the dogs had become quite wild. They hunted just like wolves, and they had forgotten how to bark; they could only howl. It was not till they became used to men again that they learnt to bark. A few years ago two dogs near to Nottingham lost their owners, so they made homes for themselves in a field. They hunted sheep and lambs, and did a great deal of damage, just as the wild dogs of India and Africa and Australia do. They looked just like wolves—so much had they changed during the months they had lived the life of wild dogs; and, finally, they had to be shot.

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George E. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada. Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:—

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporters. This might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to educate our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-seas business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply ruling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st. to September 30th. of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,051,467, which is $2,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $3,869,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,181,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I personally believe that our trade of 1910 with the Argentine might be duplicated in each one of the other Republics, if we put the proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that there is no doubt a large trade could be worked up, if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell us commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $6,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada. There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which subsidy would not be required after a more extensive trade had been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the greater part of manufactured goods used in South America are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and belting are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, mutton, hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government or such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south.

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from manufacturers and traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an expert association and to develop and extend our expert trade.

Chinese Have Steadily Combined Together. To Arm Themselves with an Invisible Weapon for Protection.

In order to enforce their rights by the simplest and most bloodless means, the Chinese have steadily cultivated the art of combining together and have thus armed themselves with an immaterial, invisible weapon, which simply paralyses the aggressor, and ultimately leaves them masters of the field. The extraordinary part of the Chinese boycott or strike is the absolute fidelity by which it is observed. If the boatmen or chair-coolies at any place strike, they all strike; there are no blacklegs. If the butchers refuse to sell, they all refuse, entirely confident of each other's loyalty.

Foreign merchants who have offended the Chinese guilds by some course of action not approved of by those powerful bodies, have often found to their cost that such conduct will not be tolerated for a moment, and that their only course is to withdraw, sometimes at a considerable loss, from the untenable position they had taken up.

The other side of the medal is equally instructive. Some years ago the foreign tea merchants at a large port, in order to curb excessive charges, decided to hoist the Chinese teamen, or sellers of tea, with their own petard. They organised a strict combination against the tea-men, whose tea no colleague was to buy until, by what seemed to be a natural order of events, the tea-men had been brought to their knees. The tea-men, however, remained firm, their countenances as impassive as ever. Before long, the tea merchants discovered that some of their number had broken faith, and were doing a roaring business for their own account, on the terms originally insisted on by the tea-men.

OUR WONDERFUL LANGUAGE.

How Allah Fashioned a Tongue for the Englishman.

In spite of certain undeniable disadvantages, the English language steadily makes headway. There are few tongues so hard to master. One foreigner, who has had his troubles, but has won his way to a perfect command of the language, has presented some of the humors of the difficulties which belong to this richest of living languages.

As a boy, I heard a fantastic Turkish legend, which, to my mind, aptly illustrates the actual facts concerning the origin and formation of modern English.

After creating the first parents of each of the races, the story runs, Allah took a large piece of meat, and cutting it into slices, distributed them among all the people to serve them as tongues. For some reason the Englishman was absent when the others received their share. At last he came into the presence of his Maker, and in mute humiliation begged him to put a tongue into his mouth. But nothing was left of the meat. So Allah was obliged to cut a little piece from the tongues of all the others, and joining these pieces, he fashioned a tongue for the Englishman.

The Golden Opportunity.

Among the persons who have recently made provision for old age when it comes are two sisters, aged respectively 33 and 34 years. They have purchased from the Canadian government a Last Survivor Annuity, that is an annuity which will give them together an income of $600 a year so long as they both live, and to be continued to the survivor so long as she lives. The cost of this Annuity, $3,643.65, has been invested at 5 per cent., and had brought in less than $185.00 annually, with the difficulty and annoyance of re-investment. The Annuity becomes payable when the younger sister attains the age of 55, and should both die before that time the purchase money will be refunded to their heirs with 3 per cent. compound interest. Each is now earning her own living, and the sum paid is the fruit of their labors for a number of years. They were thus able the better to appreciate their splendid opportunity. A card of enquiry addressed to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, will secure for you any information you desire on the subject.

Kingsley Would Smoke.

Archbishop Benson, when headmaster of Wellington, was a great friend of Charles Kingsley, whose rectory of Eversley was but a few miles away. A. C. Benson gives many interesting reminiscences of Kingsley as he remembers him in those days:

"My father used to tell how once he was walking with Kingsley round about Eversley, when Kingsley suddenly stopped and said, 'It is no use; I know you detest tobacco, Benson, but I must have a smoke!' and he had accordingly gone to a big furze-bush and put his arm in at the hole, and after some groping about, produced a churchwarden pipe, which he filled and smoked with great satisfaction, afterwards putting it into a hollow tree, and telling my father, with a chuckle, that he had concealed pipes all over the parish, to meet the exigences of a sudden desire to smoke.

Growth in Naval Expenditure.

Since 1902 the naval expenditure of the principal countries of the world has increased from £90,383,000 to £145,319,000. Great Britain is responsible for an increase of £13,000,000, Germany for $12,000,000, the United States for £10,000,000, France for over £4,000,000, and Russia for £3,000,000. In the last ten years the eight chief naval powers have spent the stupendous sum of upwards of one billion pounds sterling on naval defence.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs," (one in one of the last days a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Do Business in New York, Better go Back to New York. According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature pirate in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr. Rockefeller handed him his mushed and desiccated old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, once. The hat pirate looked on Mr. Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr. Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr. Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge by with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr. Rockefeller was doubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown of a new hat.

"Say," said the boy, in a confidential tone, "I thought I was doin' you a favor, because you been a good feller. But you better go back where you come from. You ain't bright enough for business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Stand of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable virtue which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone. In these times of self-assertion the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr. Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr. Edison, the British—again he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

THE CRIMINAL AMONG PLANTS

Thugs of the Vegetable World that Have No Honest Ways and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze bushes and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitrogen which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this prize store for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts will infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees, and the Toothworts and both are extremely [illegible] in beauty, being clothed in [illegible] tints, as a rule, and having [illegible] leaves. Even one of the Persicarias (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and these evil-doers by no means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the root-stock of a grafted tree for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers; such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

Worn-down Heels.

There are some women who walk very awkwardly, and wear down the heels of their shoes on one side. This may be the result of badly fitting shoes, or the heels may have been too high. As soon as the heel begins to wear in this way have it attended to at once; the cost will be but a few pence, but the result will speak for itself. If shoes are worn unbuttoned they quickly lose their shape, yet I have known girls who seem ignorant of [illegible]

Curing Cut the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

To Cure the Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

Have decided to mine a large quantity of the Very Rich Ore shown up by recent developing work, and also intend to erect a mill to crush from 20 to 25 tons a day. This will enable the Company to pay dividends next summer. In order to provide funds for this purpose the Company now offer the balance of the 50,000 shares offered to the public in the Prospectus dated 26th day of September, 1910, filed with the Provincial Secretary, Sept. 27th, 1910. These shares are now selling at $1.25 per share until Nov. 25th. They will then advance to $1.50 per share. They will continue to advance in price as developing work proceeds. Assays got from this property run from $22.00 in gold per ton to $86,-240.40 (eighty-six thousand two hundred and forty dollars and forty cents). Part of the machinery is now at the mine—the balance will be taken in on the snow roads this winter.

The Golden Rose Mine is forty miles from Markstay Station by winter roads, and in summer it is reached by boat from Temagami Station on T. & N. O. Ry.

Bankers' Hockey League.

The Bankers' Hockey League was organized last week for the coming season, nine banking institutions being represented. The games will be played at the Brock street rink on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 5 to 6 o'clock, each team consisting of six men.

The officers elected were: Hon. Presidents—The managers of the banks. President—Mr. H. W. Harper (Royal). Vice-Presidents—Mr. H. W. Walkey (Montreal). Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. E. E. Brunnell (Royal). Executive—One representative from each team.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Willie—Papa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?"

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

Fined $25.

At the Police Court on Saturday, a local bartender was fined $25, for selling to minors. The man could not pay, and unless his employer comes up with the amount, he will have 30 days in jail.

DOCTORS CONDEMN OILY LINIMENTS

The Public Are Warned to be Careful of These Strong-Smelling Oily Liniments Containing Harmful Acids, Ammonia, Etc.

Many people have clung to the old-fashioned idea that a thick, greasy liniment is the best kind. Doctors say not—and they know.

Recently a number of these white, oily liniments were analyzed, and they were found to contain an enormously high percentage of harmful acids, and such irritating chemicals as ammonia, etc. For the moment they may cause a warm sensation when first applied, but their continued use never cures rheumatism, and only deteriorates the skin, sets up inflammation and causes endless trouble.

When a doctor warns you to quit using a white, oily liniment—do so. He knows that a thick liniment can't penetrate, can't sink through the pores and reach the seat of the pain.

When asked his opinion a few days ago, Dr. Roberts stated that he considered a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing liniment, such as "Nerviline," to be superior to any of the white ammonia liniments. In his twenty-five years of practice he had witnessed cases of rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago that simply would not respond to ordinary treatment—but Nerviline cured them. The same physician also spoke of the great advantages of keeping a preparation like Nerviline in the house always, because of cramps, diarrhoea, stomach disorders, earache, toothache, headache and such minor ailments. Nerviline is a first-class cure. There is scarcely an ache or a pain, internal or external, that Nerviline won't cure. In thousands of homes no other pain-relieving medicine is used. Fifty years' continued success and the endorsement of the profession are proof that Nerviline is the liniment for the home.

Any good druggist or dealer can supply large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c.

A Hot Contest in Lakefield.

The citizens of Lakefield are having quite a warm contest over the effort to repeal the Local Option by-law which has been in force in that village for a number of years. A gentleman from the village yesterday told The Times that the chances were in favor of repeal, although the members of the churches are of a different opinion.

Open Night at Y.

The local Y.M.C.A. building last night was visited by a large number of the men of the city, it being open evening, when all were invited to use the different appliances of the institution. The chief attractions were the swimming tank, bowling alleys, billiard tables and gymnasium. All present were delighted with their many privileges and no doubt the membership will be increased by many of the visitors.

The Lakefield Burglary.

No arrests have been made in connection with the safe blowing at Lakefield on Sunday morning, when $179 was stolen. The police are endeavoring to secure information regarding a suspicious early Sunday incident. It appears that a buggy drawn by two foam-covered horses, and occupied by two men and a woman, entered the city from the north and drove direct to the C.P.R. Station on Sunday morning last, where one man and one woman took the 5.51 west bound express while the other man returned north with the outfit. The police expect to land the guilty parties in a day or two.

A LETTER

Supposed to be written by an Ontario mother to her boy in the West, and Read at the Peterborough Old Boys' Banquet at Winnipeg, last month, by Mr. W. J. Spence, B.A., of that city, a graduate of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and now filling the responsible position of Registrar of Manitoba University—Mr. Spence is a son of Mr. John Spence of 260 Mandonnell street, city.

You must write, yes write me early,
very early, Willie dear,
Of the banquet in your city, your companions and good cheer;
Since your last letter reached me, I have thought of you all the day
As never before I've done, since you have been so far away.

The news you had to tell me of a forthcoming festive spread,
At the Royal Alexandra, with Max
Dennistoun at the table's head.
Was greater joy than I can tell you,
for it proved to my anxious heart,
That the boys who go out from us can still play, the true son's part.

In that far-off frigid climate, with its struggle with winter's cold,
In the stress of its busy commerce,
where men drudge and slave for gold,
I had feared the boy I once nurtured
might soon forget the way
Back to the town and mother's hearth-stone, beloved in childhood's day.

They tell of your banks and your pavements of town lots and prairie farms,
They tell of Yankee enterprise, backed by strong Canadian arms;
But your mother, my boy, hears little of the things that touch the heart
Of a boy and keep warm his affection for the home where he made his start.

I am glad that your homebound letter is never too long delayed,
Though sometimes the brief epistle
leaves far too much unsaid;
I am glad you have not neglected
your church and Bible class,
Though sometimes, I fear, your interest is more with the work of the week that's past.

But I yearn with all the passion of a loving mother's soul
To have my boy cling fondly to the scenes and friends of old;
It is a joy unquestioned to know of
his fresh success,
But sweetest of all it is to feel that he still holds old friends best.

You can never know how bitter a struggle it cost to part
With the boy on whom I had lavished
the love of a mother's heart,
To cease to care for his wardrobe, no longer to prepare
To tempt him his favorite dishes, to gaze on his vacant chair.

Not again to hear his football, as the evening hour draws nigh,
And see him enter the hallway, and greet us he passes by,
His mother at her duties domestic,
who yet in their ceaseless round
Finds joy untold and unstinted, for their sake to whose lives she is bound.

But your father and I have settled
long ago in unwilling minds
That old things will pass in the family and for them we must not repine;
If only our lads as they leave us, and
go from the nest of home,
Still cherish a tender affection for those from whose care they have come.

I've discussed it with Charlie's mother, 'way over on Harvey Street
I've told you before how I'm drawn to her now every time we meet;
We can talk of nought else but our children and the news of our boys in the West,
Of how much money they're getting,
and to what new heights they have pressed.

Last time—it was just this morning—
we spoke of the news we had had,
Of the banquet they're preparing—an idea not too bad
For boys far from home and its comforts and too busy often to seek
The society of others than such as their business compels them to meet;
But most of all we rejoiced in the news you had given us about
The toast list and in it the item you
placed at the end to close out;
"The Old Folks at Home" ran the title,—why who in the world could that be
But the mothers and fathers and sweethearts and old friends at home, don't you see?

If our boys in their fun and their frolic, in their music and laughter and song,
Can find time and a will to remember us still, and give a bravo to help us along.
We'll take heart then once more, for the tasks that long we bore,
And move on to our rest with good cheer in our breast,
For the loved ones that honor us the living among.

My dear boy I must close,
And would bid you dispose
Of this letter of mine
As you best can design;
If by chance it should prove
That some one can move
To have it read out
To the boys round about
Your banquetting table,
Then I should be able
Thus faintly to express
My delight, ('tis nothing less)
That the boys whom we knew
Are still to home so true.

Long may it abide,
This love that is tried
So sorely by objects and interests
aside
From the old life, where still must remain
We parents with gray hairs,
Whose duty is plain—
To tarry in patience, and breathe out
our prayers,
That our boys' love for the best may always subsist
And the evil they meet with they may always resist.

—Your Mother.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day: only old persons, or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The special glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

ENGLISH SPIES GET LONG TERM IN LEIPSIC COURT

Leipsic, Germany, Dec. 13.—Heavy punishments were meted out to-day to the English spies arrested at Hamburg on March 18, and who have been on trial behind closed doors before the Imperial Court for several days.

Max Schultz, an English ship broker, was sentenced to seven years penal servitude. One of his associates, and engineer named Hipsich, was condemned to twelve years in jail, another engineer named Wulff was sent to jail for two years; a merchant named Von Maack aad Max Schultz's housekeeper received three years.

Max Schultz was accused of using his profession as ship broker as a cover for corrupting shipyard workmen and getting them to betray German naval secrets. He was for a long time closely watched by detectives during his frequent trips between Hamburg and Bremen at which port ten German warships of different types were at the time under construction.

MR. MATTHEWS IS HONORED

Presented with an Address At Murray St. Church

His Eighty-Second Birthday Remembered by the Congregation Last Night—Address Read by Mr. W. Aldridge, Which Was Followed by a Short Address by Mr. E. Eleome.

Mr. R. B. Matthews was presented with an address, beautifully gotten up by the members of the Murray street Baptist church. The presentation took place after the regular weekly prayer meeting last night, the address being read by Mr. Aldridge, one of the Deacons. Mr. E. Elcome, ex-Deacon, also added a few words of a congratulatory nature, expressing the high regard in which Mr. and Mrs. Matthews are held by those connected with the church. The following is the address:

Mr. R. R. Matthews,

Dear Brother,—The Officers—your fellow officers of Murray street Baptist church, have remembered that to-day is your eighty-second birthday and we feel that we should have the opportunity of expressing to you our affection and good wishes.

You are the Senior Officer of the church, and one who has through long years of service been most faithful in your attendance, devoted to your duties, and in every way earning the respect and love of the congregation.

Your influence, which we realize will be felt long after you are moved to another sphere and to our Father's House, is being felt every Sunday and at our prayer meetings by your very presence, while your words are an inspiration to us all. This address is intended to express in a few simple words the love which we bear towards yourself and your dear wife, and to express the hope that you may be spared to us for many days, and finally have an abundant entrance into the Kingdom of Him "Whose you are and Whom you serve."

Yours sincerely,

W. Aldridge, W. D. Scott, M. D.—R. E. Harding, Vincent Eastwood, Porter S. White, John Riddell, T. P. Distin, H. G. Webber, George Cockrane, W. G. Shiner—Deacons.

A SMALL BLAZE.

Damage of About $150 Done to a Dwelling House.

At about 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out at a building owned by Mr. Thos. Rehill, near the corner of George and Townsend streets.

The alarm was turned in by Ald. Buller at Box 18, and the fire brigade was soon on the ground with several lines of hose. Despite the work of the firemen, the loss will be $150. The damage was mostly done to the roof, which will partly have to be rebuilt.

The building was recently purchased from the Grand Trunk, and had been moved to its present location last summer. Mr. Rehill stated to The Times' reporter that the structure has not been used since it was moved and that as far as he was aware there was no fire near the premises.

A young lad about 18 years of age was noticed hanging round the building this morning, but Mr. Rehill does not place the blame for the fire on him, but believes it was tramps who may have slept in the building over night. The windows and doors have been boarded up lately, but someone persists in opening the main door, no matter how secure the fastenings are made. The owner was intending to turn the building into a double house next spring, but his plans may now be changed.

"Wet Goods" Seized.

A buggy from Northey's livery, Lakefield, visited Peterborough yesterday afternoon and loaded up with liquor which was to have been smuggled into the dry town. All went well until the outfit was crossing the bridge at Lakefield, when a constable stopped the rig and took possession of the liquor. The driver whose name is Kennedy will be obliged to explain matters to County Police Magistrate Edminson in due course. The liquor was confiscated.

Jude Charbonneau Surprised At Scope of The Ne Temere Decree

LAURENDEAU DECISION GIVES EFFECT TO CANON LAW, POINTS OUT COUNSEL FOR MRS. HEBERT.

Must Be Decided According to Quebec Code

R. C. Church Purely Voluntary and Has No Jurisdiction Over Religion, Argues Counsel for Mrs. Hebert.

Montreal, Dec. 13.—The solicitors fighting the cause of Madame Hebert in the sensational ne temere case were in a jubiland mood yesterday afternoon. Judge Charbonneau who is hearing the case, made a direct admission to Mr. George V. Cousins, one of Mme Hebert's solicitors, that for the first time in his life he had discovered that the Ne Temere decree was more than a canon law of Rome and had civil effects as well. His words were: "It never occurred to me before. I did not think the decree went that far. I believed it was only a canon law of the church."

Influence of French Law.

Mr. Cousins devoted a large portion of the afternoon to proving the unconstitutional bearing of the famous decree, showing that the jurisdiction over marriage falls within the courts entirely. Mr. Cousins referred to the influence of the old French laws upon the interpretation of the Quebec code. Such laws, he asserted, had no legitimate bearing upon a present day marriage. No doubt any pioneer people had a perfect right to bring their native laws to a new land, but they could not also bring their courts.

On Pope's Decree.

The action of the Roman Church could the Ne Temere decree be made said he, is a nullity in law. "Not anything wise than a nullity even by the ratification of the court.

"The decree Ne Temere of the Pope," he continued, "is an absolute nullity and upon it the marriage of the Heberts was dissolved. The Archbishop sites this decree as his authority and, I have had the decree put in as evidence, and I argue that no clause of it can have effect in this Province."

"I submit that this decree on the face of it is a decree of a bishop of Rome, a foreign Pope and the Archbishop of Montreal, has endeavoured to give his pronouncement effect in Canada. The decree is clearly and absolutely contrary to the public and constitutional law of the land."

TRUE BILLS RETURNED

At the Quarterly Jury Sessions Yesterday.

In the case of Carter vs. The Toronto Street Railway Company, Judge Huycke reserved judgment.

The jury in the case of King vs. Crouter brought in a true bill as they also did in the case of Gilbert Horton, who stole $115 from the Lakefield Dairy Company.

The case of Crown vs West was taken up next, the prisoner being acquitted after the evidence had been gone thoroughly into.

BAD WRECK IS AVERTED

Several Freight Cars Get Away on G.T.R.

And Start Down Hill Towards Millbrook—They Were Captured, However Before Attaining Very Great Momentum.

It was reported last evening that a serious wreck was narrowly averted just east of the city on the Grand Trunk.

It appears that the local freight from Belleville had placed several cars on the main line near the local station, and had gone away to do some switching.

The cars started down the grade towards the south, and had gained quite a speed when noticed by the engineer of the incoming freight. The engineer promptly applied the brakes and backed off, stopping the cars without much trouble. Had the night been dark, or the weather foggy, a most terrible story to tell, would have been a more serious story to tell.

A GIGANTIC TERMINAL

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Details of a plan that would involve the most comprehensive grouping of railway terminals ever contemplated are being worked out by railroad officials here, following a suggestion of President F. A. Delano, of the Wabash System. The plan provides an expenditure of from $150,000,000 to $250,000,000 and includes the abandonment of several terminals now in use.

The outlay would provide for the construction of a transcontinental railway from coast to coast.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

PETERBOROUGH'S GREATEST CHANCE.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—Situated between your city and Whitney Station on the Canada Atlantic Ry., is a country teaming with mineral and forest wealth, only requiring a railroad to bring it to your doors to be made marketable, raw material to be manufactured that would give employment to thousands of your citizens. The geological formation throughout this large area is such that by building a railroad through it, that no doubt great mineral wealth would be brought to light, and I believe from personal observation such would be a fact. Building a railroad into Northern Ontario brought untold wealth to light, and I believe building a railroad through to Whitney Station would do the same, and without question it would make available for manufacturing purposes the finest area of hardwood left in the Province of Ontario. It would also open up an ideal tourist route; it would open up the shortest route for the militia of Ontario to reach the military camp at Petawawa. This being the case, surely the Dominion Government would give substantial aid, and no doubt the Province would do the same.

If your citizens are only true to themselves, your city is destined to be in the near future the largest manufacturing city in the Dominion of Canada. Peterborough is a railroad centre; it has the canal and unlimited electric power. All it wants is raw material to manufacture. If this country was once opened up, it would not be long before factories and smelters would be erected in your city. Leave this enterprise off ten years and it will be too late. The Georgian Bay Canal will be under way and the wealth of this country will flow to Ottawa.

Stir up your citizens, Mr. Editor, to apply for a charter this coming session of Parliament, and promise of aid from both governments and get to work before it is too late.

Yours truly,
—One Who Knows.

CLOSE SEASON FOR GRITS.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—All the circumstances considered, don't you think it would be wise for both the Dominion and Ontario Governments to declare a close season for Grits, for a period covering, say, fifteen or twenty years? If the species is to be preserved from extinction, we think steps should be taken along these lines. To make assurance doubly sure, we would suggest that a few specimens be secured now, if at all possible, and domiciled in the National Park near Wainwright, Alberta along with the remnant of the once mighty Buffalo tribe.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY STILL HOLY DAY, BUT FASTING IS NOT OBLIGATORY

Rome, Dec. 13.—As a result of a decree of the Pope, issued in July in reference to holy days, St. Patrick's Day was struck off the list of obligatory holidays on which Catholics are called upon to hear mass and abstain from unnecessary work.

On the request of the Irish Catholic hierarchy, however, the Holy See has just issued another decree, which is most important for Irish people throughout the world. According to this, the feast of St. Patrick will continue as a holy day without, however, being subject to the law of fasting or abstinence.

A MAN AGED 106 YEARS VOTED LAST THURSDAY

Cobalt, Dec. 13.—Alexander Renneaud, a well-known resident of Haileybury, celebrated his 106th birthday Sunday at the home of his son. The old man went out to the polls on Monday and cast his vote along with others many times his junior. He was born near Sherbrooke, Que., Dec. 10th, 1805.

KING OF SMUGGLERS IS BEHIND THE BARS

New York, Dec. 13.—Charley Boston, now acknowledged king of the ring of Chinese who smuggled opium into this country, threw up his hands yesterday in the face of overwhelming evidence and pleaded guilty to the charges of smuggling opium, for which he was on trial in the United States Circuit Court.

Boston's Chinese name is Li Quong Jung and he is a power, not only in New York's Chinatown, but also in the Chinese colonies in the large cities of the east into which his opium trade had extended in the long years of his activity. He was sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary at Atlanta, while Lai Bake, the man who ran the store, has to serve nine months on Blackwell's Island.

WESLEY L.O.L., No. 419.

The Annual Meeting and Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Wesley L.O.L. No. 419, North Smith, was held in the lodge room on Monday night Dec. 11. After the business of the lodge had been transacted, the officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

W.M.—Albert Northey.
D.M.—P. Nichols.
Chap.—E. Blewitt.
Rec. Sec.—F. E. Pearson.
Fin. Sec.—Ciphas Northey.
Treasurer—J. Northey, Jr.
1st Lect.—J. W. Blewitt.
2nd Lect.—I. Sage.

Nugent and the business of the lodge was completed the members adjourned to the new dining room, where a sumptuous dinner had been prepared by the ladies. Toasts were delivered by the newly elected officers and a very enjoyable evening was spent after which the meeting broke up at an early hour, singing God Save the King.

A VALUABLE MINE

Splendid Showing of the Old Galway Lead Mine.

Yesterday Mr. J. S. Waldron, the hustling manager of the Galway Lead Mine, was in the city, and left with The Times a fine sample of the ore from the mine. The sample weighs about two pounds and contains about 60 per cent. of pure lead. Mr. Waldron stated that the Union Creek Mining Company, the owners of the property, have about 500 tons of pure lead ready for the smelter, which is to be installed. The assay shows, in addition to enormous quantities of lead, about 20 ounces of silver to the ton.

The smelter is being held up by the Customs authorities at Lindsay, it being apparently entitled to free entry into Canada. The Customs people, however, think differently. In the meantime, Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., is taking the matter up with the department at Ottawa, with a view to a settlement. The smelter will turn out 15 tons of pure lead per day, which sells for about $65 per ton, and is entitled to a government bounty of $15 additional. The lead will be teamed to Kinmount, a distance of about four miles, where it will be shipped by rail to all parts of Canada and the United States.

The old Galway mine was formerly owned by the late John Burnham, who did some developing work, but not sufficient to uncover the rich deposits of lead and silver.

Had Bad Sore Four Years

ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT!

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Avenue, Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half-an-inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years!

"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and, to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!

"I know a lady in the east of the city, whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworm, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie District by our Department of the Interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found there abundance of suitable food; they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of the country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Pluck pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realizes that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is not little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

FAT COUPLE WEDDED CARRIAGE TOO WEAK

Dover, N.H., Dec. 9.—Samuel Chesley Drew, the pride of the New England Fat Men's Association, who weighs 457 pounds, is back at his home to-day after a honeymoon trip with his bride, who was Miss Rose Lavigne, of Rochester, and who herself tips the scales at 278 pounds. As there was no carriage in the town capable of transporting the happy pair, they were carried from the train to their home in a hay truck.

A Hot Contest in Lakefield.

The citizens of Lakefield are having quite a warm contest over the effort to repeal the Local Option by-law which has been in force in that village for a number of years. A gentleman from the village yesterday told The Times that the chances were in favor of repeal, although the members of the churches are of a different opinion.

RUBY MINES AT DISCOUNT

Nature's Secret of Precious Stone Manufacture Said to Have Been Laid Bare and Big Slump in Prices is Promised.

Attempts to manufacture diamonds in the laboratory have drawn the attention of the public from time to time, notably in connection with a recent lawsuit. The rich harvest which awaits the successful and not too scrupulous experimenter, and the extraordinary political consequences which must follow upon any sudden collapse of the diamond market and of the diamond mining industry, are absolutely startling to think of; certainly both rewards and consequences would be out of all proportion to the scientific value of the achievement. Yet there is reason to believe that before many years have passed the "synthetic diamond" may be as much a reality as the synthetic ruby is today. But the public will not be allowed to hear of the discovery at once — the process will be kept secret as long as possible in order to maintain high prices — and it is pretty safe to prophecy that ten times as many swindles will be perpetrated with the synthetic diamond as there have been with the synthetic ruby. Even yet, although the industry has been in full swing for several years, and all the essential points of the process are known, the general public has not awakened to the fact that rubies of the finest quality and of the purest "pigeon's blood" colour, as well as sapphires, spinelles, and chrysoberyls, are being turned out in quantity from several laboratories in France and Germany. It is extremely difficult to get people to understand that these products are not imitation rubies — they are quite different from the red "paste" which masquerades as ruby in the cheaper sorts of jewellery. The new products are real rubies in every sense of the term, but they have been made by man, not by nature.

APPLES OF GOLD IN TASMANIA

Great Apple-Growing Centre Opening Up in Australia and Orchard-Owners on this Continent Will Have to Keep Awake.

Recent enlightenment has shown that Tasmania, which is one of the States of the Commonwealth, has a considerable area of splendid land suitable for agriculture and fruit-growing situated in the Great Tamar Valley, near the city of Launceston. This Tamar Valley is destined, in a few years, to be more famed for the production of apples than Oregon and Washington, or the Pacific slopes of U.S.A. Cox's "apples of gold" from [illegible] district, are among the choicest fruits, and have been selling in Great Britain recently at over $5.00 per bushel case, after over 12,000 miles in cool storage.

The River Tamar extends over 70 miles; in parts it is two miles wide, and is a great attraction for pleasure seekers. Some of the land here has recently been sold at low figures, but prices are rising owing to the greater knowledge of its value as fruit land. This locality has originally been settled by hardy pioneers from the River Tamar and the town of Launceston in Cornwall, England, from which places the local names have been derived. The climate has plenty of sunshine and no great extremes; in fact, it may be summed up in one word, "ideal"; also the rainfall is from 30 to 35 inches per annum.

The land is being readily taken up by settlers from the various countries of Great Britain, Canada, India, and other parts.

"Dorothy," said that young lady's mamma, "it seems to me that you had the gas turned rather low when young Smart was here last evening."

"It was solely for economy, mamma," answered the maiden.

"There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I have noticed that the shutting off of the gas is always followed by a corresponding increase of pressure."

"Well, that lessens the waist mamma, dear; doesn't it?" replied the artless girl. And her fond parent could find no answer.

A [illegible] made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of lengthening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a [illegible] plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for [illegible] fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was in excellent condition, a short cross-piece forming the handle. How the sword came to have been where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank that there it had entered, nor is it believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence and encircled with the growth.

A King's Branch

We often hear of [illegible] Oak, pointing to [illegible] very tree which sheltered [illegible] after the fatal [illegible] battle of Worcester. But the [illegible] oak is not the original tree; it is grown from an acorn taken from the original Boscobel tree, near by. Moreover, the very tree in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to [illegible] out of the chimney and make [illegible] into a wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, then, early in the morning, took food and drank with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath the tree searching for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

A Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China, it would appear, is a business complicated by Chinese customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old, and after it has passed one New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years of age before it is 30 days daye old according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, as elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady of Ching-tzu known to be over 100 who insisted on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a Chinese mother to give a son the name of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. This of course is another source of trouble to the enumerators.

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society — the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It seems that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 432 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of Languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the mighty devotion of workers of a past generation. There are, in fact, over ninety names marked 'S'—some of them entire Bibles — indicating them as the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen, representing New Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been reproduced in modern times. Yet, in the fear of God and in the spirit of joyous service, these versions were made by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

Romans in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. These included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

THE TONGUE OF SCOTLAND

Scottish Words Are Now Used Very Extensively in Every Day Use Though There Is No Indication to Make Serious Use of the Tongue.

Such direct imitation, however, is perhaps less important than the [illegible] of many Scottish words and [illegible] into English use, a process [illegible] deplored of late by some of the [illegible] papers. Within Scotland itself the [illegible] press is more Scottish in respect of language than it was a [illegible] of a century ago, and it is [illegible] that [illegible] writers have now [illegible] dread of allowing an occasional [illegible]cism to slip from their pen. The [illegible] weekly papers have long had a special feature of a Scottish poem in prose or verse, and have thereby done much to support the humbler levels of a vernacular literature. In special cases those columns are even valuable for the number of local words and expressions they contain, and their frequent lack of literary merit is thus atoned for by their linguistic worth. On the other hand it must be said that the newspapers have not always been sufficiently careful to distinguish the vernacular from the vulgar, and have helped to lower the popular taste in this respect.

Taken at its best the literary standing of Scottish [illegible] in many ways a satisfactory one, and in some respects has been such that certain [illegible] which to-day are apt to be overlooked. At the most, no higher position can be claimed for it than [illegible] of which [illegible] rhetoric those which have the closest relation to common, every-day life and thought. There is a great contrast here, if we look back to the days when Scottish was a real national tongue, when it was not in any way subordinate to English, but stood side by side with it, as Portuguese with Spanish, or Swedish with Danish. Before it can in any way recover its old position it must be cultivated for higher purposes than it has been in recent times. It is not enough to use it, however correctly or effectively, for the dialogue portions of tales or novels, while all the narrative and

EASY FISHING IN THIS CLASS

In Filling the Crab-Claw Market the Original Owner is More than Obliging to the Man Who Supplies the Goods.

Visitors in Seville see women carrying baskets full of crabs' claws. The claws are cooked and people nibble at them, more for fun than for sustenance, just as Russians nibble sunflower seeds. What becomes of the rest of the crustacean, especially, if he is a crawfish, of his tail?

As a matter of fact, the crabfish has no part in the business. The claws are taken from a salt water crab which lives along the shores of Morocco, Spain, and Portugal, each little crab, with its one little mate, has a cave for a home, and, adopting the Eastern estimate of the other sex, he usually keeps his wife out inside the cave, meanwhile staying about the threshold himself and making a brave show with his big claws.

When the tide runs out, the crab fishers prowl along the beach looking for crab holes. Either the crab is walking up and down seeking what he may devour, and thus showing whether he has fine claws or he is still at home, and the size of the doorway indicates the size of the householder. In one case the fisherman cuts off his retreat by blocking his front door with mud; in the other case he digs him out. Anyway, he deprives him of his pincers and sets him at liberty, to grow some more.

What there appears, the quaintest feature of the whole affair for the claw with him, and romps off home without it.

Pincers are not torn away from the crab at all. Instead, he presents them the fisherman, perhaps even with [illegible] compliments. It is a fact easily demonstrable that the crab can detach his claw by muscular effort, thus making no hemorrhage, but leaving the stump in such a condition that a new claw is soon grown. The fisherman simply takes the crab by one hand, whereupon it lets go, leaves the claw with him, and romps off home without it.

CATARRH

Remember the best Catarrh medicine that money can buy is Catarrhozone; it cures quickly and permanently when all others fail.

The remedy doesn't exist that will cure Catarrh as quickly as Catarrhozone. It relieves the most stubborn cases in a short time, and drives the disease so thoroughly from the system that it never returns.

Druggists boldly recommend Catarrhozone in preference to other remedies, because they know it is the best, and every progressive doctor prescribes it for the same good reason.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common-sense treatment that finds favor with everybody. It cures by the inhalation of medicated air, which comes into contact with the mucous surface of all the breathing organs. It gets at the source of the trouble, kills the germs and drives every vestige of catarrh right out of the system.

It doesn't matter how deep-seated or chronic your case may be, Catarrhozone can cure it. Even though a thousand other remedies have failed, don't give up hope till you have used Catarrhozone. It has cured other cases probably worse than yours, and will cure yours if it gets a chance.

Mr. Dutcher Law, a prominent citizen of Italy Cross, N. S., says: "I experimented with hundreds of catarrh remedies and found the majority to be worthless, dismal failures. Catarrhozone was the first to give lasting relief; it cured me and I am with pleasure testifying to its merits as a cure for Catarrh of the nose and throat.

(Signed) DUTCHER LAW.

You are sure to derive the most pleasant results from Catarrhozone. It has been tested many times and never found wanting. Every druggist in Canada sells it. Complete two months' treatment, guaranteed to cure costs $1, or a trial size 25c. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

INDIA'S TEEMING MILLIONS.

While the huge estimates of the population of China, which used to pass current are no longer accepted as reliable, it is a noteworthy fact that the revised figures of the census of India exceed those of the provisional estimate, and bring the total, with Burma included, up to the enormous aggregate of 316,019,846. This number, which is nearly forty-five times the population of Canada, and considerably more than three times that of the United States, is impressive in itself, and nothing short of portentous when compared with the 295,166,039 of ten years ago.

The increase of nearly 21,000,000 in the ten years would in itself make a populous nation. It is three times the population of the NetLerlands, or of Sweden, and eight times the population of Norway or Denmark. It surpasses the population of Spain by several million. During the same period the United States increased from 76,000,000 to 89,000,000, a gain of but 13,000,000, while the Dominion census of the present showed an increase of 1,711,554 over the census of 1901. Yet this is a new continent, with much land not yet in use, while in India population presses steadily upon the means of subsistence.

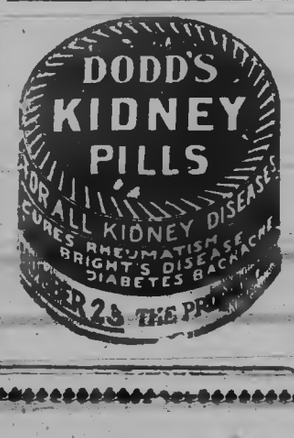
This is the most formidable problem of British rule in India, and a problem largely due to the very excellence of British government, which has checked the wars, plagues and famines by which the population was in former times precented from increasing as it is increasing now.

OPPOSED TO HOME RULE.

Bonar Law, the new Unionist leader in England, assumes at once the position predicted by the News when he declared unalterably against home rule for Ireland and says his party will fight it to the last gasp, and that it cannot be passed in the present Parliament. That last is the great point.

England itself gave a Unionist majority at the last election. The Liberal majority is made possible only through the support of the Irish Nationalist vote. Not even Gladstone could carry England for home rule. His party broke in two on that question. If the Unionists can get past this Parliament without seeing a home rule bill passed it stands a fair chance of return to power when the issue is solely home rule.

A home rule bill is promised at once and the great struggle is likely to open in the spring, whether Mr. Asquith retires or not.



SONG ASKED FOR.

There's a Mother Always Waiting You at Home.

"So you're going to leave the old home Jim, to-day you're going away,
You are going among city folks to dwell."
So spoke a dear old mother to her boy one summer day.
"If you're mind's made up that way, I wish you well;
The old home will be lonely, we will miss you when you're gone.
The birds won't sing so sweet when you're not nigh,
But if you are in trouble, Jim, just write and let us know."
She spoke these words and then she said good-bye.

Chorus:

When sickness overtakes you, when old companions shake you,
As through the world you wander all alone,
When friends you have not any, in your pocket not a penny,
There's a mother always waiting you at home, sweet home.

Ten years later to the village came a stranger no one knew.
His step was halt and ragged clothes he wore.
The little children laughed at him as down the lane he walked;
At last he stopped before a cottage door.
He gently knocked; no sound he heard.
He thought, "Can she be dead?"
But soon he heard a voice well known to him, 'Twas mother's voice
Her hair was silvered by the touch of time.
She said: "Thank God! He sent us back our Jim."

Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,045,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)

This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total isn ot less than $45,000,000 to -50,000,000.

Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced from the fact that the railroad office in Marienbad, which has a resident population of 6,279, receives from outbound passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, -400,000 annually.

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. Those figures can be multiplied by three of Carlshad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for cure purposes (Carlshad, Marienbad and Franzensbad) pay $912,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR
The Hospital for Sick Children

Dear Mr. Editor,—

Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

I make this direct appeal to the people of Ontario, for the fathers and mothers of Ontario, outside the City of Toronto, have precisely the same claim for their sick children as regards the privileges of the Hospital, as parents who reside in this city.

In brief the sick children from any place in Ontario whose parents cannot afford to pay, is, on certificate from a municipal officer of any city, town, village or township, treated free.

This is a privilege not granted by any hospital in the Dominion, or on this continent.

Let me, in a few words, state that in the last 20 years, since 1891, there have been 4,731 patients from 450 places outside of this city treated free, as the parents were unable to pay for treatment. Last year 384 patients from 234 places outside Toronto were so treated.

The Hospital is not a city but a provincial institution. The Corporation of Toronto grants $18,000, not only for sick children, but towards the maintenance of every patient in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $10,000 to the maintenance fund of the Hospital.

It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province.

Why, in the Orthopedic department in 20 years, nearly 700 children, boys and girls, have been treated for club feet, and about 600 were corrected. Two-thirds of these came from places outside of Toronto, from parents who could not afford to pay.

Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Every day is Christmas to the child whose little life is saved, or whose crippled limb is straightened with the might of money—your money—and the mercy of the Hospital.

Will you, the reader of this letter think of what your dollar will do? It helps to restore health and strength, and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

You give wealth to the Hospital, and the Hospital gives health to the children.

Yes, your money can put golden nuggets on the door of the Hospital's mercy.

Will you, kind reader, help us and send a spare dollar to Douglas Davidson the secretary-treasurer of the Hospital or

J. ROSS ROBERTSON,
Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto.

The Well-Dressed Man.

The business or professional man who neglects his clothes discards one of the most potent instruments of success.

Commenting on this obvious fact a writer on men's fashions remarks that apart from mercenary reasons, it is becoming more widely recognised that it is the duty of all men to do their best in the matter of dress to make themselves as presentable as possible.

There is also a psychological aspect of the matter which is not without interest. It is demonstrated that the average man is to some extent influenced by his own clothes, just in the same way as he is affected by his environment. Thus the same man well dressed, will talk better, will walk better, and by the same token, do better work than he would do if he were carelessly or inappropriately clad. In a word he will (more or less consciously, of course) line up to his appearance, and become less slovenly in every way. As in most other things, it is the little things that count in the matter of dress. A man should study his appearance from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet

An Emperor-Policeman

Among the Duke of Wellington's special constables was a dreamy personage, then well known, but not very well spoken of in English society, named Louis Napoleon Bonaparte. He had returned to England nearly two years before after his melodramatic escape, in workman's disguise, from the fortress of Ham. The special constable's real career was now about to open. Two months after the memorable 10th of April he was in Paris as a member of the Constituent Assembly, and in the following autumn he was elected President by an overwhelming majority. What followed belongs to history, and takes us far from the enrolment of special constables.

His Original Sin.

In a country seat in one of the middle Western States dwelt a lawyer who, after a practice of thirty years, had accumulated a competence and retired. Being a man of much more than ordinary ability, an excellent speaker, entertaining decided political views, and enjoying the confidence of the community, he was urged by his friends to run for Congress. He refused. A man high in the political councils of the State came to see him, and added his persuasion.

"You ought to take that office," he said. "It might lead to something higher. You would make a national reputation."

"That's what I am afraid of."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well," answered the lawyer, hesitatingly, "I will tell you, but it is in strict confidence. It must not go any further. Many years ago, when I was young and inexperienced, I published a small volume of original poetry. So far as I know, there is not a copy of that book in existence now, but one would turn up in some corner of the world if I were to run for office, and the papers would print extracts from it. I wouldn't have that happen for a million dollars. No, sir, nothing doing!"

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicite" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George F. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada. Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:—

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporters. This might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to educate our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-seas business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply ruling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st to September 30th of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,061,467, which is $3,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $2,869,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,191,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I personally believe that our trade of 1910 with the Argentine might be duplicated in each one proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that there is no doubt a large trade could be worked up, if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell us commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $5,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada. There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which subsidy would not be required after a more extensive trade had been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the greater part of manufactured goods used in South America are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and belting are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, mutton, hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government or such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south.

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from manufacturers and traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an export association and to develop and extend our export trade.

POWER OF CO-OPERATION.

Chinese Have Steadily Combined Together. To Arm Themselves with an Invisible Weapon for Protection.

In order to enforce their rights by the simplest and most bloodless means, the Chinese have steadily cultivated the art of combining together and have thus armed themselves with an immaterial, invisible weapon, which simply paralyses the aggressor, and ultimately leaves them masters of the field. The extraordinary part of the Chinese boycott or strike is the absolute fidelity by which it is observed. If the boatmen or chair-coolies at any place strike, they all strike; there are no blacklegs. If the butchers refuse to sell, they all refuse, entirely confident of each other's loyalty.

Foreign merchants who have offended the Chinese guilds by some course of action not approved of by those powerful bodies, have often found to their cost that such conduct will not be tolerated for a moment, and that their only course is to withdraw, sometimes at a considerable loss, from the untenable position they had taken up.

The other side of the medal is equally instructive. Some years ago the foreign tea merchants at a large port, in order to curb excessive charges, decided to hoist the Chinese teamen, or sellers of tea, with their own petard. They organised a strict combination against the tea-men, whose tea no colleague was to buy until, by what seemed to be a natural order of events, the tea-men had been brought to their knees. The tea-men, however, remained firm, their countenances as impassive as ever. Before long, the tea merchants discovered that some of their number had broken faith, and were doing a roaring business for their own account, on the terms originally insisted on by the tea-men.

OUR WONDERFUL LANGUAGE.

How Allah Fashioned a Tongue for the Englishman.

In spite of certain undeniable disadvantages, the English language steadily makes headway. There are few tongues so hard to master. One foreigner, who has had his troubles, but has won his way to a perfect command of the language, has presented some of the humors of the difficulties which belong to this richest of living languages.

As a boy, I heard a fantastic Turkish legend, which, to my mind, aptly illustrates the actual facts concerning the origin and formation of modern English.

After creating the first parents of each of the races, the story runs, Allah took a large piece of meat, and cutting it into slices, distributed them among all the people to serve them as tongues. For some reason the Englishman was absent when the others received their share. At last he came into the presence of his Maker, and in mute humiliation begged him to put a tongue into his mouth. So Allah was obliged to cut a little piece from the tongues of all the others, and joining these pieces, he [illegible] the Englishman.

The Golden Opportunity.

Among the persons who have recently made provision for old age when it comes are two sisters, aged respectively 33 and 34 years. They have purchased from the Canadian government a Last Survivor Annuity, that is an annuity which will give them together an income of $600 a year so long as they both live, and to be continued to the survivor so long as she lives. The cost of this Annuity, $3,643.65, has been invested at 5 per cent., and had brought in less than $185.00 annually, with the difficulty and annoyance of re-investment. The Annuity becomes payable when the younger sister attains the age of 55, and should both die before that time the purchase money will be refunded to their heirs with 3 per cent. compound interest. Each is now earning her own living, and the sum paid is the fruit of their labors for a number of years. They were thus able the better to appreciate their splendid opportunity. A card of enquiry addressed to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, will secure for you any information you desire on the subject.

Kingsley Would Smoke.

Archbishop Benson, when headmaster of Wellington, was a great friend of Charles Kingsley, whose rectory of Eversley was but a few miles away. A. C. Benson gives many interesting reminiscences of Kingsley as he remembers him in those days:

"My father used to tell how once he was walking with Kingsley round about Eversley, when Kingsley suddenly stopped and said, 'It is no use; I know you detest tobacco, Benson, but I must have a smoke!' and he had accordingly gone to a big furse-bush and put his arm in at the hole, and after some groping about, produced a churchwarden pipe, which he filled and smoked with great satisfaction, afterwards putting it into a hollow tree, and telling my father, with a chuckle, that he had concealed pipes all over the parish, to meet the exigences of a sudden desire to smoke.

Growth in Naval Expenditure.

Since 1902 the naval expenditure of the principal countries of the world has increased from £90,383,000 to £145,319,000. Great Britain is responsible for an increase of £18,000,000, Germany for $12,000,000, the United States for £10,000,000, France for over £4,000,000, and Russia for £3,000,000. In the last ten years the eight chief naval powers have spent the stupendous sum of upwards of one billion pounds sterling on naval defence.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

BEFRIENDING ROCKEFELLER

Not Bright Enough to Be Banished to New York, Better go Back to New York, According to the Hat Boy.

Some folks think that Percy Rockefeller is the rising hope of the Rockefeller family. He is credited with being wise and wary, equipped with a positive gush of conversation that doesn't commit, when that sort of chatter is needed, and to be so silent at other times that a dungeon in a deaf and dumb asylum would sound like the whispering gallery in St. Paul's Cathedral in comparison. He keeps a thumb on the public pulse, and knows a lot of things about popular sentiment that many other rich men do not know.

The other night he went to a restaurant with a party of friends. The restaurant is rather a favorite of his, and the immature person in charge of the hat-room had learned to know him. Mr. Rockefeller handed him his mushed and dejected old brown hat as he entered. It was a good hat, once. The hat-man looked on Mr. Rockefeller with pity in his gaze. By and by Mr. Rockefeller's little supper ended, and he returned to the coat-room to retrieve his hat. Instead of that decrepit old brown lid, the boy handed him a brand-new one, of the same general form and bearing the label of America's most expensive maker. It fitted Mr. Rockefeller perfectly, but he handed it back. "That isn't my hat," said he.

"Get wise, boss," said the hat pirate. "Nudge by with it while you can. It's worth ten of them old kettles you been wearin'."

Mr. Rockefeller said that was undoubtedly true, but he did not want to rob an unknown [illegible]

"Say," said the [illegible] thought I was down on you a little because you been a good [illegible] you better go back home [illegible] from. You ain't [illegible] to do business in Noo York."

EDISON'S ESTIMATE.

Declares the British Standard of Business Integrity the Highest in the World.

Modesty is an admirable [illegible] which may be with advantage cultivated by nations as well as individuals. But it must not be overdone; these times of self-assertion, the inhabitants of the British Islands are familiar with comparisons which suggest that the Germans and the Americans are chief of the world's good and smart men, and that the Briton is now something of a back number. Faint hearts who permit themselves belief in this uncomfortable doctrine may find relief in Mr. Edison's latest pronouncement. It is not an invention this time. He declares that the British—he calls it English—standard of business integrity is the highest in the world, and that Germans themselves admit the soft impeachment. But that is not all. In the old world, says Mr. Edison, the British—as he calls them English—are the highest type, physically, morally, and mentally. These are grateful words. The only doubt left on the subject is caused by Mr. Edison's neglect to say how we stand in relation to his own countrymen. The omission cannot be due to modesty because he predicts that the business men of the United States will some day show the Germans how to hustle in their own country. It will be a fine sight.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

THE CRIMINAL AMONG PLANTS

Thugs of the Vegetable World that Have No Honest Ways and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze, clovers, and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitrogen which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this private store for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts which infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees are like unto them; and both are singularly wanting in beauty, being clothed in dirty-brown tints, as a rule, and having no green leaves. Even one of the [illegible] (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and these evil-doers [illegible] means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the root-stock of a grafted rose for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers; such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

Have decided to mine a large quantity of the Very Rich Ore shown up by recent developing work, and also intend to erect a mill to crush from 20 to 25 tons a day. This will enable the Company to pay dividends next summer. In order to provide funds for this purpose the Company now offer the balance of the 50,000 shares offered to the public in the Prospectus dated 26th day of September, 1910, filed with the Provincial Secretary, Sept. 27th, 1910. Assays got from this property run from $22.00 in gold per ton to $86,-240.40 (eighty-six thousand two hundred and forty dollars and forty cents). Part of the machinery is now at the mine—the balance will be taken in on the snow roads this winter.

The Golden Rose Mine is forty miles from Markstay Station by winter roads, and in summer it is reached by boat from Temagami Station on T. & N. O. Ry.

The Lakefield Burglary.

No arrests have been made in connection with the safe blowing at Lakefield on Sunday morning, when $179 was stolen. The police are endeavoring to secure information regarding a suipicious early Sunday incident. It appears that a buggy drawn by two foam-covered horses, and occupied by two men and a woman, entered the city from the north and drove direct to the C.P.R. Station on Sunday morning last, where one man and one woman took the 5.51 west bound express while the other man returned north with the outfit. The police expect to land the guilty parties in a day or two.

Open Night at Y.

The local Y.M.C.A. building last night was visited by a large number of the men of the city, it being open evening, when all were invited to use the different appliances of the institution. The chief attractions were the swimming tank, bowling alleys, billiard tables and gymnasium. All present were delighted with their many privileges and no doubt the membership will be increased by many of the visitors.

An Unusual Incident.

The steamer Geneva, belonging to Mr. Wm. Thompson, of Orillia, came up from lower ports yesterday with some freight. This is an unusual occurrance at this season of the year. It is said that about the year 1878, one of Mr. Calcutt's steamers ran a trip on Christmas Day, which was regarded as phenomenal.

Caught at Toronto.

Detective Newhall was sent to Toronto yesterday by Chief Thompson to find a young man who left the service of the Bell Telephone Company here after the robbery on Sunday night. The detective effected the arrest and the young man was brought back to the city last evening and will be up at police court to-day to answer the charge of stealing the money.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

NERVILINE

Fifty years ago Nerviline was used from coast to coast and in thousands of homes this trusty liniment served the entire family, cured all their minor ills and kept the doctor's bill small. To-day Nerviline still holds first rank in Canada among pain-relieving remedies—scarcely a home you can find that doesn't use it.

From Port Hope, Ont., Mr. W. T. Greenaway, of the Guide newspaper staff, writes:

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4398 'For twenty years we have used Nerviline in our home and not for the world would we be without it. As a remedy for all pain, earache, toothache, cramps, headache and disordered stomach, I know of no preparation so useful and quick to relieve as Nerviline."

Let every mother give Nerviline a trial; it's good for children, good for old folks—you can rub it on as a liniment or take it internally.

Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse anything but Nerviline. Large size bottles 50c, or sample size, 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Ald. Buller Not a Candidate.

Out on $2,000 Bail.

The fifteen year old lad who it is alleged stole the money from the till at the Bell Telephone office, on Sunday night was brought back on Tuesday evening from Toronto and appeared before Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court yesterday. The case was remanded until Saturday, 16th, the young man being allowed out on bail of $2,000. The police recovered $77 of the stolen money.

The directors of the Protestant Home intend to hold their annual Christmas Tree on the afternoon of Christmas Day. They also wish to ask a number of poor children to attend. Any donations of clothing, toys, or candies will be gratefully received, and may be left at the home as soon as convenient.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie for Mayor.

An effort is being made by the friends of Mr. George A. Gillespie, to induce him to stand for Mayor at the approaching municipal elections. Mr. Gillespie has had experience at the Council Board, and this will be a strong argument in his favor should he consent to run. In the meantime he is considering the matter, and will announce his decision in a day or two.

Report Was False.

Great indignation is felt in Lindsay on account of an article which appeared in a Toronto paper stating that "owing to a score of cases of diptheria here the schools, churches and other public places have been ordered closed until January 1st." It appears there is no truth in the statement. There is not one case of diptheria in town, the schools have not been closed nor have any other public places been closed. As the Times published the item, we have great pleasure in giving space for the above contradiction.

Potatoes Are Soaring.

Peterborough people are complaining of the high price of potatoes, which now bring about $1.65 per bag. It is said that the crop is a failure in the United States as well as in Canada, and that prices will continue to advance. New York is importing from Europe, the main bulk of them from Ireland. Up to date this fall about 25,000 sacks have arrived. Wholesalers quote Maine potatoes in the market at $3 a sack, and say this price is just about double the price of a year ago. Since early fall the price has risen steadily and $4 a sack is expected by February. Not only is there a scarcity of potatoes in America, but from practically all the potato producing countries in the world reports show a slack crop.

Cheaper Turkeys.

"Cheaper than they have been for years," said one man of the Christmas turkey yesterday morning on the market. "Conditions all over point to cheap fowl at Christmas. That incident at Brockville the other day, when tons of turkeys were taken home because there were no buyers, is but one indication of conditions all over Ontario. In years past the United States buyer would come over here and buy turkeys by the thousand. This year it is not necessary to buy turkeys here, as there are all kinds of them in United States. The price in New York the other day was four cents per pound less than here. The price of turkeys is away up just now, simply because the farmers absolutely refuse to bring many in, thinking that by waiting until Christmas they will get a larger price. But let me tell you there are going to be a lot of sore heads amongst the farmers at Christmas when they find that they will not get the price they could now, nor anything like it. This holding back is going to create a slump. Turkeys will be cheaper than for years. It is the same with chickens."

The Best Helpmeet.

All men, as well as women, like to be understood. Sympathy is their greatest help, and no woman who is self-centred, who is vain and thinks only of herself will gain the highest regard of man. She may be exquisitely beautiful, have a crowd of admirers at her feet, but she cannot bestow that wonderful happiness a plain little woman full of sympathy gives to her husband. If she understands him, is interested in him and his life-work, whether it be planting vegetables, composing music, or building towers, she will encourage him to reach his highest aim. Being beautiful will not make up for selfish indifference.

Fun and Fresh Ideas.

To remain young one must have company and enjoy it. Not a big dinner party one day, an afternoon reception the next, a late card party the following, and so on. This, for the hostess, is hard work that will quickly bring the appearance of age in its train, and, indeed, no work is more arduous. To attend to the wants of guests, to anticipate their desires, to have the whole responsibility of the success of a party is an utterly different thing to the bright company necessary to the well-being of the woman who leads too monotonous a life.

The limiting influence of four walls is what so many women who are housewives and mothers have to fight against, and they need company as a recreation.

Hard-and-Fast Routine

More and more, as we grow older, do we become the victims of routine and slaves of the hour.

The same round of duties lies every morning waiting for the coming of the mistress of the house as she takes up the reins of government with the best heart she may.

The woman who really rules her household and assumes the responsibility of wife and mother as her own, not to be laid on the shoulders of any deputy, gradually, in too many cases, lets go the opportunities of influence and blessing which would interrupt her prescribed order of accomplishment.

Round Steak Boiled

If properly cooked boiled round steak will be rare, tender and juicy. Plunge the meat into sufficient boiling water to cover, boil rapidly for fifteen minutes, then push the kettle over a slow fire where it will simmer at one hundred and eighty degrees Fahrenheit for fifteen minutes minutes to each pound of beef. Serve the beef with cream horseradish sauce, boiled turnips or cabbage and potatoes.

An old country woman and her daughter went into a shop in town to buy a bonnet. When she had purchased the bonnet the milliner, turning to the woman, said:—"What about a sailor for your daughter?" meaning of course, a hat. The woman turning to the girl, indignantly retorted—"What about a sugar for yourself?"

Man's Physical Strength

Man's capacity for work and sport varies with the temperament of the individual and the character of the task. For this very crystal reason students of physiology always will find it a puzzling problem to analyse the average man and produce authentic figures showing the amount of strength he requires in his daily duties or what he accomplishes from a physical standpoint.

One man may be a hustler, his fellow creature obviously latent in physical energy, but there must be a distinction in mental duties and those which sap brawn and muscle.

Man's physical strength generally undergoes the severest test on athletics. The more vigorous forms of sports necessitate action that will not be found in the revolving chair or, for that matter, in any class of labor that taxes the physical powers.

Placing the Blame

Little Bertie's mother overheard him using some very strong language.

She promptly took him to task, explaining the wickedness as well as the vulgarity of such speech. She asked him where he had learned all the dreadful words. Bertie announced that Charlie, one of his playmates had taught him.

Charlie's mother was straightway informed, and Charlie himself was brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bertie, and neither threats nor tears could make him confess.

At last he burst out: "I didn't teach Bertie any bad words. Why should I know them better than he does? Hasn't his father got an automobile, too?"

HE WAS SURPRISED.

House Was Ransacked While Family Sit on Doorstep.

While Mr. Ovide Tanguay, in company with his family was enjoying the fresh air on the front doorstep of his on Gilford Street, Montreal, a nervy second story man introduced himself through a window in the rear and ransacked the place from top to bottom. When Mr. Tanguay made up his mind to retire he was dumbfounded to note the appearance of his bedroom. All the drawers had been emptied and contents were strewn pell-mell on the floor while all the jewelry and other valuable articles had been taken. Two watches, a watch chain, two stick pins and three rings are missing.

Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Forfeited Monopoly on Marriage When French Surrendered Canada

ALL MARRIAGES VALID FROM DATE OF CESSION, ARGUES MRS. HEBERT'S LAWYERS

British Law Recognizes All Ministers as Competent

Treaty Guaranteed Rights as to Religion, But Not With Reference to Marriage or Civil Law.

Montreal, Dec. 14.—Asserting that the Quebec code as it stands to-day debarred the Ne Temere decree from any civil effects whatever, and holding that mutual consent is the one great fundamental principle in marriages, whether under either canon or civil law, the solicitors conducting the fight for Madame Hebert in the celebrated Ne Temere case, placed before Mr. Justice Charbonneau yesterday afternoon the last clinching points in their contention.

THE MARRYING OF CATHOLICS.

Mr. Arnold Wainwright advanced argument along one particular question raised by the case, the right of a Protestant minister to celebrate the marriage of two Catholics. The judgments denying such competency were based, said counsel, on the view that French law, at the time of the enactment of the Quebec code, gave the Roman Catholic Church exclusive control over the marriage of its own members.

"If I show there is no warrant on the fact of the code itself for reading into it any restriction regarding the faith of the marriage officer; if I show that it is entirely immaterial what the old law was; then we shall have demonstrated that the marriage in the case is absolutely valid. We shall have destroyed also an extraordinary error which has crept into the jurisprudence of this Province."

Mr. Wainwright referred briefly to a pivotal point in the history of canon law when at the Council of Trent the abuses arising from marriages contracted only by mutual consent were discussed and a decree issued stipulating that the parish priest officiate in all unions of Catholics. Counsel entered with great detail into the state of the law respecting marriage in Canada prior to the cession of the country to Great Britain and in doing so he cited the ordinances issued by the Kings of France as proof that the decree of the Council of Trent was not generally acceptable to the French authorities.

"And," said Mr. Wainwright, "the Ne Temere decree extends far beyond that issued at Trent. The right of a priest to celebrate marriage in France was a civil ordinance naturally incident to the union of Church and State and the Proscription of the Protestant religion at that time."

One of the young counsel's strongest allegations was that the ordinance of 1697 requiring the presence of a cure of the Roman Catholic Church at a marriage was never legally in force in France nor in Canada prior to the cession of Canada to Great Britain.

"That would settle the point," commented his Lordship.

"It was not in any event published here. And where it had not been published the law of the Catholic Church is that mere mutual consent is sufficient to make a marriage valid."

At the time of the cession of Canada to Great Britain, said counsel, there was no doubt at all that the parish priest was the public officer nominally entitled to celebrate marriage. What was the effect on the law of the act of cession? The common law and the Statutory law of England were absolutely at variance with the laws of Canada, the conquered country. Applying the principles of international observance the law of England on marriage was at that time imposed upon Canada. That is the common law came into force, with Crown in supreme authority.

"The general fundamental principle underlying all marriage," continued Mr. Wainwright, "is the mutual consent of the parties against whom there is no impediment. Such was the observance of Roman law as likewise in all European countries, including France, which had followed the Roman law. That is also the rule of the common law and of the Church likewise."

ENGLISH LAW BECAME SUPREME.

With the enforcement of English law following the cession, the exclusive right of the priest to marry was terminated to some extent at least. Subsequent deliverances of Mr. Justice Jette and Mr. Justice Lemieux and others made clear the supremacy of English law.

"These judgments, however, suggested a division of authority of the churches; the right of a Catholic priest to marry other Catholics, and of a Protestant to marry Protestants On the contrary the British law, the common law, held indisputable priority.

"Yes, it wiped away the other law" agreed his Lordship.

"Exactly," pursued Mr. Wainwright, "and at best the cure only acted as witness that the common had been obeyed. The coming in of the English law superseded the French law. The assumption that the two laws came into force in part is to my mind the fundamental error in the judgment of Mr. Justice Jette and Mr. Justice Lemieux.

The treaty of Paris, said Mr. Wainwright, guaranteed the French people of Canada the right to exercise their religion, but did not preserve the public laws of the conquered country in their reference to marriage. The two factors were without connection.

"Would it not be an extraordinary proposition to say to Mme Hebert: 'You were married by an officer entitled to marry your fellow subjects, but your marriage is invalid because the rights of religious liberty were guaranteed your fellow Catholics?'"

His Lordship nodded and smiled. "You mean," said he, "that the Treaty of Paris has kept the rights, not the privileges, not the official status of the clergy."

Mr. Wainwright asked for an adjournment until this afternoon in order to complete his argument, and in consenting to it his Lordship observed: "You are obliged to do some uphill work in this case, especially where the precedents for the judgment that you now contest are so strongly entrenched." His Lordship's reference was to the decision of Mr. Justice Jette and Mr. Justice Lemieux, upon which Mr. Justice Laurendeau largely depended for his annulment of the Hebert marriage.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS ON TRENT WATERWAY

Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, informed The Times yesterday that seven lighthouses, as well as other improvements, are to be erected at the various points on Lake Simcoe, one on Cameron Lake, one on Lake Scugog, three on Sturgeon Lake, one on Buckhorn, three at Stoney Lake, one on the Otonabee river, two at the entrance of the river into Rice Lake. The number of buoys will be increased and all will be repainted. Beaverton Harbor will be made a harbor of refuge. Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., and Major Sharpe, M.P. for North Ontario have been active in having this done. Wharves at Breadfort and the entrance to Kemptfeldt Bay on Lake Simcoe, also the wharf at Belle Ernest is to have large repairs.

The work on the reservoir dams is to be proceeded with more actively than before. Lindsay river is to be dredged, in fact the Trent Waterway will be taken care of and pushed forward with progressiveness.

Mr. Sexsmith, M.P., East Peterborough is taking a great interest in the reservoir dams in his riding, also in all the canal that effects his constituency.

The co-operation of the different members whose constituencies the canal serves and the interest of the people of the respective ridings in this great waterway is being felt and every pressure is being brought to bear to make this one of the most important waterways in Canada. With an increased flow of water, improved wharves, better lighting and many other contemplated improvements will tend to make the Trent Waterway the greatest tourist and freight route on this continent.

FIRE INSPECTOR VISITS THE CITY.

Local Brigade Makes Rapid Run During Underwriters' Test.

The Canadian Underwriters' Association's inspector Mr. Norman R. Wilson, C.E., arrived in the city yesterday morning, and sent in a fire alarm from Box 23, at Hunter and George streets. The bell rang at 10.13½ o'clock, the hook and ladder truck and the hose wagon arriving at 10.15½. The men were obliged to lay one line of hose 250 feet in length and ready for water, which was accomplished in 30 seconds.

The pressure of the hydrant was then taken, the gauge showing 80 lbs. to the inch.

The inspector then ordered 10 lines of hose, each 300 feet in length, to be coupled to the different hydrants, the lines reaching from Hunter street to the Public Library. The following table will give the pressures at Hunter street hydrant as the lines were turned on two at a time. The engineer at the water works having now raised the pressure to 90 pounds —2 lines, 88 pounds; 4 lines, 76 pounds; 6 lines, 68 pounds; 8 lines 64 pounds; 10 lines, 60 pounds.

During the afternoon the inspector accompanied by the Chief, examined the fire hydrants throughout the city.

The steam fire engine will receive its test this morning at the fire station.

SUFFRAGETTES WELCOME OBLIGATORY WAR SERVICE

Duesseldorf, Germany, Dec. 14.—The introduction of obligatory military service for women was proposed at a meeting to-day of the Patriotic Women's Union here by Privy Medical Councillor Witzell, professor of the Medical Academy at Duesseldorf.

The lecturer, who is a well known physician, suggested that women should be enrolled in the military hospital, transport, provisioning and clothing services, and should be mobilized with the other auxiliary troops in case of war.

The proposition has been taken up enthusiastically by the suffragettes, as it is regarded by them as eliminating any argument against the granting of the franchise to women.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Mrs. Robert Eagan.

The death occurred yesterday morning in the House of Providence, of Mrs. Robert Eagan of Lindsay, aged 69 years. The deceased was born in Smith and on her marriage to Mr. Eagan, went to reside at Downeyville. From there she went to Lindsay, living there for a considerable number of years. She has been ill for some three or four months; her end, therefore, was not altogether unexpected.

Mrs. Eagan is survived by a son, Michael, three brothers, John Calvin of Smith, James of Peterborough and Matthew of Campbellford, and one sister, Mrs. James Duffus of Otonabee.

The remains will be conveyed this morning per the 8.25 G.T.R. train to Lindsay, where interment will take place.

BURNS BOY AT STAKE,

Playmates Leave Lad in a Dying Condition.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 14.—Orar Eversole, the 11 year old son of Wm. Eversole, of this city, was so badly burned Saturday when he was tied to astake by playmates, that his condition is critical.

Several boy companions claimed they had been playing cowboys and tied Eversole to the stake to incarcerate him to reproduce a moving picture they had seen. Both of his legs were so badly burned that it is thought they will have to be amputated. The body was rescued by persons hearing his screams.

FAMILY MURDERED AND BODIES HORRIBLY MUTILATED

ITALIAN FARM HAND BLAMED FOR FIENDISH CRIME PERPETRATED NEAR ALBANY, NEW YORK.

THE MOTIVE IS LACKING

Mother and Her Two Daughters and One Son are the Victims—Murderer Escaped.

Albany, N.Y., Dec. 14.—Sometime between last Tuesday noon and evening an Italian farm hand employed by the Morner family, of DeFreestville, a hamlet six miles from Albany is believed by the police to have slain Mrs. Conrad Morner, her two daughters, Edith, 20 years, and Blanche, aged 17 years, and her 28 year old son, Arthur. The bodies of the three women were discovered late last evening in the gloomy cow barn on the Morner farm, where they had been so hacked with a hatchet and battered with a balestick that the murderer aad been able to crush all three of them into a small manure pit on one side of the stable.

The body of Arthur Morner, mutilated and with throat cut, was found under another part of the barn floor at 9 o'clock this morning by Sheriff Cottrell's searchers. The farm hand who was known as Ed. Dennis, is missing.

BODIES TERRIBLY MUTILATED.

A blood-stained hatchet and a four foot balestick were found in the pit near the three bodies, and with these the police believe the murderer first felled and then mutilated his victims. The three bodies were almost naked when found, the clothes having been ripped from them. What garments remained were frayed and blood-stained. Mrs. Morner had received a blow from the hatchet on the right side of her head. It cut a great gash in her skull, which was fractured in several places.

MOTIVE LACKING.

The body of the elder girl, Edith, also was badly cut and bruised. One of her arms was broken, and when the body was found both arms were in front of her face, as though she had raised them for protection. The younger girl's body was the least lacerated.

Motive for the crime seems to be lacking. What money there was in the house before the murder was found intact early to-day and all the furnishings appeared to be in their places.

Indications, the authorities say point to the murderer being insane. A note found in one of the rooms of the house read "Italian meat and American made sausage imported from Rome, Italy." Neighbors can in no way account for such an outbreak on the part of the suspected Italian, as they say he was quiet and attended strictly to his own business.

HOW CRIME WAS DISCOVERED.

The discovery of the crime was brought about by Horatio Mould, a milk dealer to whom Arthur Morner usually brought a supply of milk every night. Tuesday night Morner failed to appear and Mould thought he might be ill. When he failed to come last evening with the milk, however, Mould decided to investigate and drove out to the Morner farm. Arriving there about eight o'clock he went towards the house, which stands, perhaps, a hundred feet from the road. There was no light and repeated knockings failed to get a response. Mould decided something was wrong and notified Chester Ostrander, whose home is directly across the road from the Morner house. A hurried search of the premises convinced Ostrander that things were not as they should be and he immediately notified Jesse Morner, another son of the dead woman, whose farm is about two miles away. Equipped with lanterns they began a systematic search of the house and barn, finally discovering the bodies in the manure pit.

Don't waste your money buying strengthening plasters. Chamberlain's Liniment is cheaper and better. Dampen a piece of flannel with it and bind it over the affected parts and it will relieve the pain and soreness. For sale by all dealers.

LIFEBOAT WITH ROYAL PARTY WAS CAPSIZED IN THE SURF

Gibraltar, Dec. 14.—The P. and O. steamer Delhi, on which the Princess Royal and the Duke of Fife her husband were passengers when she was wrecked yesterday, carried gold bullion to the value of $500,000, silver bars to the value of $1,000,000, while the value of the cargo is estimated at $500,000.

The experiences suffered by the royal party could not have been more thrilling. Stories conflicting considerably in detail are told, but it appears that the ship struck during the fog and in a heavy sea about one o'clock in the morning, that tremendous waves dashed over the vessel, and not until long after day light was there any chance to escape. In the meantime wireless messages for help were sent, and the passengers all put on life preservers. Water poured into the cabins and the waves ran mast high.

The London Times' Tangier correspondent says:

"The royal party had not even time to dress. Some wore nightdresses, with such coats as they were able to pick up in the hurry of the moment. The vessel listed shortly after striking. Water entered the lower cabins. Great difficulty was experienced in getting into the boats the royal ladies had to be literally dropped and caught. When the boat was still some way from the shore the breakers began to fill her in spite of the fact that the Duke himself baled as hard as possible.

"Before reaching the beach, she filled and sank. The whole party had strapped on life belts, and they floated to the surface, where they were terribly buffeted by the waves. The Princess Alexandra disappeared for a moment under the towering waves, but she was seized by a friendly hand, and with others, after all had been washed off their feet several times, here dragged to safety up the shore.

FARMER'S TEAM RUNS AWAY.

Automobile Scares Horses Which Were Left Untied on Water St.

A lively runaway on Water street yesterday afternoon, caused a little excitement in the North End.

A farmer had left his team of horses in front af a residence and had gone in with a bag of potatoes, when an auto came along and frightened the animals, which were soon going north at a reckless clip.

The few women on the street scattered right and left to the verandahs allowing the frightened horses the road and sidewalk.

The team slowed down after a few blocks and were easily caught by a man who stepped into the road. No damage was done to the outfit.

You will find that druggists everywhere speak well of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. They know from long experience in the sale of it that in cases of coughs and colds it can always be depended upon, and that it is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers.

FESTIVAL OF NATION AND SALE OF WORK

The Festival of Nation and Sale of Work now being held in the Market Hall by the Ladies' Aid of St. James church, continues to-day. Dinner served at noon hour for 25c. Luncheon during the day at all hours. Supper and concert in the evening.

HORTON NOT GUILTY.

Horton, the Lakefield cheesemaker, who was charged at the quarter sessions with theft, was acquitted yesterday. It will be remembered that some time ago Gilbert Horton, was arrested on a charge of stealing $115 and a quantity of butter from Lakefield Dairy Co. He was arraigned in the police court and did not plead nor elect, but sufficient evidence was taken to send the accused up for trial.

The charge was read to the prisoner and he pleaded not guilty. He was represented by Mr. G. N. Gordon.

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury.

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable street were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. The present owners of this property guarantee to repurchase the property at the expiration of two years and give you 6 per cent. interest, if the purchaser is not satisfied with his investment. Fill in the form below and mail to-day or communicate with us direct and ask for plan of subdivision, you will be under no obligation to purchase.

The ever-increasing population will soon overflow and make Transcona part of Winnipeg—Transcona Park is only one mile from the city limits, and will be the first to receive the increase in land values. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Transcona Park, which is but a few minutes' walk from the G.T.P. shops, and nearer to Winnipeg than any other, can be purchased from

REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie District by our Department of the Interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found here abundance of suitable food; they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of this country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Pluck pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realizes that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

Bankers' Hockey League.

The Bankers' Hockey League was organized last week for the coming season, nine banking institutions being represented. The games will be played at the Brock street rink on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 5 to 6 o'clock, each team consisting of six men.

The officers elected were:—Hon. Presidents—The managers of the banks. President—Mr. H. W. Harper (Royal). Vice-President—Mr. H. W. Walkey (Montreal). Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. E. E. Brummell (Royal). Executive—One representative from each team.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Willie—Papa, what does the meaning of the expression "touch and go" mean?

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme [illegible] refers to the professional [illegible] a touch and go [illegible] you seldom see them at [illegible]

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A Startling Revelation

The friends of Miss Mary McKenzie, of London, were astonished to hear that she had gone into consumption.

This sad intelligence came as a shock to Miss McKenzie's many friends. In the early fall she contracted a heavy cold which developed rapidly into Catarrh, and finally made such rapid advances that the bronchial tubes and lungs became affected.

Although the doctors said nothing short of a change of residence to the south would benefit, on the advice of a Dundas Street druggist Miss McKenzie decided to thoroughly test Catarrhozone, which is warranted to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes.

Miss McKenzie says: "After my druggist had recommended Catarrhozone I spoke to my friends about it and they all said it was such a good remedy that I commenced forthwith to inhale it five or six times each day. I breathed it deeply into my lungs, and felt its beneficial action very quickly. It seemed to go where other remedies did not reach, and was so pleasant and convenient that I did not mind using it very frequently, which, probably, was the cause of it curing my obstinate case so quickly. Certainly no case of Catarrh or Bronchitis should go uncured if the sufferer can get Catarrhozone, which is a sovereign remedy, worthy of the highest recommendations.

Miss McKenzie's case needs no enlargement. She was in a critical condition, apparently beyond the aid of doctors' medicines.

Catarrhozone has cured her, and others in her condition should no longer experiment with uncertain, untried treatments, but should turn at once to catarrhozone, and in it they will find relief and cure unobtainable by other means. Remember the name, Catarrhozone. Complete outfit guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00. Small size 25 cents. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A LETTER

Republished by request.

Supposed to be written by an Ontario mother to her boy in the West, and Read at the Peterborough Old Boys' Banquet at Winnipeg, last month, by Mr. W. J. Spence, B. A., of that city, a graduate of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and now filling the responsible position of Registrar of Manitoba University—Mr. Spence is a son of Mr. John Spence of 260 Mandonnell street, city.

You must write, yes write me early,
very early, Willie dear,
Of the banquet in your city, your
companions and good cheer;
Since your last letter reached me, I have thought of you all the day
As never before I've done, since you have been so far away.

The news you had to tell me of a forthcoming festive spread,
At the Royal Alexandra, with Max
Dennistoun at the table's head,
Was greater joy than I can tell you,
for it proved to my anxious
heart,
That the boys who go out from us
can still play, the true son's
part.

In that far-off frigid climate, with its struggle with winter's cold,
In the stress of its busy commerce,
where men drudge and slave for
gold,
I had feared the boy I once nurtured
might soon forget the way
Back to the town and mother's hearth-stone, beloved in childhood's day.

They tell of your banks and your pavements of town lots and
prairie farms,
They tell of Yankee enterprise, backed by strong Canadian arms;
But your mother, my boy, hears little of the things that touch the heart
Of a boy and keep warm his affection for the home where he made his start.

I am glad that your homebound letter is never too long delayed,
Though sometimes the brief epistle
leaves far too much unsaid;
I am glad you have not neglected
your church and Bible class,
Though sometimes, I fear, your interest is more with the work of the week that's past.

But I yearn with all the passion of a loving mother's soul
To have my boy cling fondly to the scenes and friends of old;
It is a joy unquestioned to know of
his fresh success,
But sweetest of all it is to feel that he still holds old friends best.

You can never know how bitter a struggle it cost to part
With the boy on whom I had lavished
the love of a mother's heart,
To cease to care for his wardrobe, no
longer to prepare,
To tempt him his favorite dishes, to
gaze on his vacant chair.

Not again to hear his foothall, as the evening hour draws nigh,
And see him enter the hallway, and greet as he passes by,
His mother at her duties domestic,
who yet in their ceaseless round
Finds joy untold and unstinted, for their sake to whose lives she is bound.

But your father and I have settled
long ago in unwilling minds
That old things will pass in the family and for them we must not repine;
If only our lads as they leave us, and
go from the nest of home,
Still cherish a tender affection for those from whose care they have come.

I've discussed it with Charlie's mother, 'way over on Harvey Street
I've told you before how I'm drawn
to her now every time we meet;
We can talk of nought else but our children and the news of our boys in the West.
Of how much money they're getting,
and to what new heights they have pressed.

Last time—it was just this morning—
we spoke of the news we had had,
Of the banquet they're preparing—an idea not too bad
For boys far from home and its comforts and too busy often to seek
The society of others than such as their business compels them to meet.

But most of all we rejoiced in the news you had given us about
The toast list and in it the item you
placed at the end to close out;
"The Old Folks at Home" ran the title,—why who in the world
could that be
But the mothers and fathers and sweethearts and old friends at home, don't you see?
If our boys in their fun and their frolic, in their music and laughter and song,
Can find time and a will to remember us still, and give a bravo to help us along,
We'll take heart then once more, for the tasks that long we bore,
And move on to our rest with good cheer in our breast. H
For the loved ones that honor us the living among.
My dear boy I must close,
And would bid you dispose
Of this letter of mine
As you best can design;
If by chance it should prove
That some one can move
To have it read out
To the boys round about
Your banquetting table,
Then I should be able
Thus faintly to express
My delight, ('tis nothing less)
That the boys whom we knew
Are still to home so true.

Long may it abide,
This love that is tried
So sorely by objects and interests
aside
From the old life, where still must remain
We parents with gray hairs,
Whose duty is plain—
To tarry in patience, and breathe out
our prayers,
That our boys' love for the best may always subsist
And the evil they meet with they may always resist.

—Your Mother.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR The Hospital for Sick Children

Dear Mr. Editor,—

Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

I make this direct appeal to the people of Ontario, for the fathers and mothers of Ontario, outside the City of Toronto, have precisely the same claim for their sick children as regards the privileges of the Hospital, as parents who reside in this city.

In brief the sick children from any place in Ontario whose parents cannot afford to pay, is, on certificate from a municipal officer of any city, town, village or township, treated free.

This is a privilege not granted by any Hospital in the Dominion, or on this Continent.

Let me, in a few words, state that in the last 20 years, since 1891, there have been 4,731 patients from 450 places outside of this city treated free, as the parents were unable to pay for treatment. Last year 384 patients from 234 places outside Toronto were so treated

The Hospital is not a city but a Provincial Institution. The Corporation of Toronto grants $18,000, not only for city children, but towards the maintenance of every patient in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $10,000 to the maintenance fund of the Hospital.

It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province.

Why, in the Orthopedic department in 20 years, nearly 700 children, boys and girls, have been treated for club feet, and about 600 were corrected. Two-thirds of these came from places outside of Toronto, from parents who could not afford to pay.

Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Every day is Christmas to the child whose little life is saved, or whose crippled limb is straightened with the might of money—your money—and the mercy of the Hospital.

Will you, the reader of this letter, think of what your dollar will do? It helps to restore health and strength, and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

You give wealth to the Hospital, and the Hospital gives health to the children

Yes, your money can put golden hinges on the door of the Hospital's mercy.

Will you, kind reader, help us and send a spare dollar to Douglas Davidson, the secretary-treasurer of the Hospital, or

J. ROSS ROBERTSON,
Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto.

LUNCHES SERVED IN DRUG STORES

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Oklahoma City is dry and the saloon free lunch has disappeared. Now every drug store in town has a lunch counter in addition to a stamp, city directory and public telephone departments. Lunch signs are displayed prominently on drug stores. One druggist explains it this way:

"When the saloons closed, folks tried to get their drinks in drug stores. But these went dry, too, and there was a boom in soft drinks. In cool weather, crackers were served with hot drinks. Folks found this a substitute for free lunch. Finally the free lunch became too elaborate and we put in lunch counters. Now every drug store in Oklahoma City is selling sandwiches, chili con carne, cake and pie."

RIOTING IN MEXICO.

Striking Mill Hands Clashed With Rurales.

TORREON, Mex.—Rioting at Gomez Palacio, six kilometres north of here, was reported. Striking mill hands are said to have clashed with rurales in the streets. No casualties have been reported. Fifty cavalrymen and forty rurales were sent from here to assist in restoring order.

Strike conditions in this city appeared to have improved Many of the employers have agreed to the eight-hour day, but the strikers refuse to return to work until all have adopted it.

The city water supply is threatened through idleness of the electric power plant which operates the pumps, but it is possible that it will resume operations under military protection.

"Were you introduced to the count last night, Marie?"

"Yes; we talked together for an hour."

"What did you talk about?"

"I haven't the remotest idea. We spoke in French."

The Time of Long Sermons.

Those who like long sermons should have lived in the seventeenth century. The manner in which the Rev. John Howe, Minister of Great Torrington, in Devonshire, conducted Divine service on a public fast day is thus described by a contemporary: "Mr. Howe said that upon these occasions he began about nine in the morning with a prayer for about a quarter of a hour, in which he begged a blessing upon the work of the day, and afterwards read and expounded a chapter or psalm, in which he spent three-quarters of an hour; then prayed for about an hour, preached for another hour, and prayed for about half an hour. After this he retired and took some little refreshment for about a quarter of an hour (the people singing all the time) and then came into the pulpit and prayed for another hour; and gave them another sermon of about an hour's length; and so concluded the service of the day . . . "

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George F. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:—

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporters. This might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to educate our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-sea business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply ruling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st to September 30th of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,051,467, which is $2,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $2,899,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,151,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I personally believe that our trade of 1910 with the Argentine might be duplicated in each one of the other Republics, if we put the proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that there is no doubt a large trade could be worked up, if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell us commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $8,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada. There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which subsidy would not be required after a more extensive trade had been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the greater part of manufactured goods used in South America are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are, used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and belting are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, mutton, hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government of such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south.

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from manufacturers and traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an export association and to develop and extend our export trade.

Out on $2,000 Bail.

The fifteen year old lad who it is alleged stole the money from the till at the Bell Telephone office, on Sunday night, was brought back on Tuesday evening from Toronto and appeared before Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court yesterday. The case was remanded until Saturday, 16th, the young man being allowed out on bail of $2,000. The police recovered $77 of the stolen money.

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicite" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

POWER OF CO-OPERATION.

Chinese Have Steadily Combined Together, To Arm Themselves with an Invisible Weapon for Protection.

In order to enforce their rights by the simplest and most bloodless means, the Chinese have steadily cultivated the art of combining together and have thus armed themselves with an immaterial, invisible weapon, which simply paralyses the aggressor, and ultimately leaves them masters of the field. The extraordinary part of the Chinese boycott or strike is the absolute fidelity by which it is observed. If the boatmen or chair-coolies at any place strike, they all strike; there are no blacklegs. If the butchers refuse to sell, they all refuse, entirely confident of each other's loyalty.

Foreign merchants who have offended the Chinese guilds by some course of action not approved of by those powerful bodies, have often found to their cost that such conduct will not be tolerated for a moment, and that their only course is to withdraw, sometimes at a considerable loss, from the untenable position they had taken up.

The other side of the medal is equally instructive. Some years ago the foreign tea merchants at a large port, in order to curb excessive charges, decided to hoist the Chinese teamen, or sellers of tea, with their own petard. They organised a strict combination against the tea-men, whose tea no colleague was to buy until, by what seemed to be a natural order of events, the tea-men had been brought to their knees. The tea-men, however, remained firm, their countenances as impassive as ever. Before long, the tea merchants discovered that some of their number had broken faith, and were doing a roaring business for their own account, on the terms originally insisted on by the tea-men.

OUR WONDERFUL LANGUAGE.

How Allah Fashioned a Tongue for the Englishman.

In spite of certain undeniable disadvantages, the English language steadily makes headway. There are few tongues so hard to master. One foreigner, who has had his troubles, but has won his way to a perfect command of the language, has presented some of the humors of the difficulties which belong to this richest of living languages.

As a boy, I heard a fantastic Turkish legend, which, to my mind, aptly illustrates the actual facts concerning the origin and formation of modern English.

After creating the first parents of each of the races, the story runs, Allah took a large piece of meat, and cutting it into slices, distributed them among all the people to serve them as tongues. For some reason the Englishman was absent when the others received their share. At last he came into the presence of his Maker, and in mute humiliation began him to put a tongue into his mouth. But nothing was left of the meat. So Allah was obliged to cut a little piece from the tongues of all the others, and joining these pieces, he fashioned a tongue for the Englishman.

The Golden Opportunity.

Among the persons who have recently made provision for old age when it comes are two sisters, aged respectively 33 and 34 years. They have purchased from the Canadian government a Last Survivor Annuity, that is an annuity which will give them together an income of $600 a year so long as they both live, and to be continued to the survivor so long as she lives. The cost of this Annuity, $3,643.65, has been invested at 5 per cent., and had brought in less than $185.00 annually, with the difficulty and annoyance of re-investment. The Annuity becomes payable when the younger sister attains the age of 55, and should both die before that time the purchase money will be refunded to their heirs with 3 per cent. compound interest. Each is now earning her own living, and the sum paid is the fruit of their labors for a number of years. They were thus able the better to appreciate their splendid opportunity. A card of enquiry addressed to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, will secure for you any information you desire on the subject.

Kingsley Would Smoke.

Archbishop Benson, when headmaster of Wellington, was a great friend of Charles Kingsley, whose rectory of Eversley was but a few miles away. A. C. Benson gives many interesting reminiscences of Kingsley as he remembers him in those days:

"My father used to tell how once he was walking with Kingsley round about Eversley, when Kingsley suddenly stopped and said, 'It is no use; I know you detest tobacco, Benson, but I must have a smoke!' and he had accordingly gone to a big furze-bush and put his arm in at the hole, and after some groping about, produced a churchwarden pipe, which he filled and smoked with great satisfaction, afterwards putting it into a hollow tree, and telling my father, with a chuckle, that he had concealed pipes all over the parish, to meet the exigences of a sudden desire to smoke.

Growth in Naval Expenditure.

Since 1902 the naval expenditure of the principal countries of the world has increased from £90,333,000 to £145,119,000. Great Britain is responsible for an increase of £13,000,000, Germany for $12,000,000, the United States for £10,000,000, France for over £4,000,000, and Russia for £3,000,000. In the last ten years the eight chief naval powers have spent the stupendous sum of upwards of one billion pounds sterling on naval defence.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian, and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thompson's Sarsaparilla."

Two Good Reasons

"Dorothy," said that young lady's mamma, "it seems to me that you had the gas turned rather low when young Smart was here last evening."

"It was solely for economy, mamma," answered the maiden.

"There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I have noticed that the shutting off of the gas is always followed by a corresponding increase of pressure."

"Well, that lessens the waist manma, dear; doesn't it?" replied the artless girl. And her fond parent could find no answer.

De Ruyter: "You see, I drop into poetry occasionally."

Editor: "Yes, so I see! You appear to drop clear through to"

Mr. G. A. Gillespie for Mayor.

An effort is being made by the friends of Mr. George A. Gillespie, to induce him to stand for Mayor at the approaching municipal elections. Mr. Gillespie has had experience at the Council Board, and this will be a strong argument in his favor should he consent to run. In the meantime he is considering the matter, and will announce his decision in a day or two.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

THE CRIMINAL AMONG PLANTS

Thugs of the Vegetable World that Have No Honest Ways and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze, clovers, and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitrogen which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this private store for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts which infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees are like unto them, and both are singularly wanting in beauty, being clothed in dirty-brown rags, as a rule, and having no green leaves. Even one of the Persicarias (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and these evil-doers by no means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the root-stock of a grafted rose for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers; such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

Highest on Earth

The Lee Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

A Hot Contest in Lakefield.

The citizens of Lakefield are having quite a warm contest over the effort to repeal the Local Option by-law which has been in force in that village for a number of years. A gentleman from the village yesterday told The Times that the chances were in favor of repeal, although the members of the churches are of a different opinion.

It seemed impossible that four men could be mistaken; but then it seemed strange that four men could permit a criminal to escape as they had done; they could explain it only by the fact that the man who robbed the bank was a professional criminal of the greatest cleverness, and that he had been too slick for them.

But they were certain of the man.

This testimony, however strong as it was, served only to anger the rather than to convince the crowd for everybody realized how complete a formidable was the defense.

Even the judge who had presided at the former trial was in the courtroom, to help prove an alibi.

It seemed as though the prosecution's case was about at an end; but during the latter portion of the testimony of the county detective there was a lull in the proceedings caused by the fact that the defendant's counsel had raised an objection to the admission of a certain line of testimony.

The district attorney, the bank's private counsel, and the counsel were grouped with their heads together about the judge's bench, discussing with the judge's the particular question before the court and its possibility.

Many in the courtroom had warned the prisoner, and had commented on his jaunty air. Apparently he was a man without a care in the world.

Periodically he turned toward his friends in the audience with a smile upon his face. Few noticed that as he turned thus he glanced furtively but regularly, over the heads of the crowd and at the door which closed the main entrance beyond.

He did this not once, but twenty times, and each time turned back with an inaudible sigh — of relief or disappointment.

On one occasion he looked steadily at the door for a minute, or a minute and a half. Suddenly he changed color, and turned again and faced the judge.

A tall, dark man had been standing at the entrance—he had just arrived. This man now forced his way through the crowd and up the center aisle, and, leaning over, addressed the prisoner.

The prisoner looked up, saw who it was, and immediately engaged the man in conversation. They talked long and earnestly, but in low tones.

There seemed to be protests on the one side—entreaties on the other. The facts of both men became flushed with anger and excitement.

Finally the prisoner raised his voice so that it was audible in all parts of the room.

"... go ahead and do it then," he exclaimd in a loud voice, "you white livered hound."

There was a hubbub in the audience immediately. The attention of the crowd, which had been upon the judge and counsel, immediately became focused on these two men.

The lawyers on both sides started back in protest at this unseemly interruption. The judge, angry at the unaccustomed disorder, started up and raised his gavel to pound it for silence.

When half way up the gavel dropped from his hand and fell to his desk with a great crash.

He sprang up in astonishment. The lawyers, the officers, the crowd, were transfixed with surprise.

There was a universal gasp of astonishment from every man and woman in the court room. Their gaze was glued to the spectacle before them.

And it was no wonder!

For there, in front of the judge and facing the court and jury, were two men, like as two peas—two H. Stanleigh Stormes!

THE POSTMASTER SICK FOR YEARS

BUT HE FOUND PERMANENT RELIEF IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mr. John Nolan had Backache, Nervousness, and Rheumatism But Cured Them So They Didn't Come Back.

Point La Nim, Restigouche Co., N. B., Dec. 8—(Special)—That as a renewer of youth Dodd's Kidney Pills has no equal is the experience of John Nolan, the veteran postmaster of this place. Sixty years of age but still strong and healthy, Mr. Nolan declares he owes his health to the great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For ten years I was a sufferer with Backache, Nervousness and Rheumatism," says the Postmaster. "I was so bad at times that I was confined to my bed. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals, had flashes of light before my eyes and had difficulty in collecting my thoughts. After using several medicines without benefit I began to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, taking in all fifteen boxes. That was four years ago, and though I stopped taking the pills two years ago I have had no return of my trouble."

Backache, Nervousness and Rheumatism are all caused by diseased Kidneys. To cure them to stay cured you must cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Thos. Isbister returned to his home in the village last week after spending the past three months at Indian Head, Sask.

On Dec. 12th, 1911, the auction sale of farm stock and implements, was held on the farm of Edgar Fallis

Sword in a Plank.

A curious discovery has been made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of heightening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a fresh plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for at least fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was an old-fashioned type, a short cross piece forming the handle. How the sword could have got where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank where it had entered, and it is believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence and encircled with the growth.

A King's Retreat.

We often hear of Boscobel Oak, while pointing to it as the very tree which sheltered Charles II. after the Royalist forces had been shattered at the battle of Worcester. But the Boscobel Oak is not the original tree; it has grown from an acorn taken from the original tree. Boscobel House, near by, is, however, the very house in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to crawl out of the chimney and make his way into a wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, then, early in the morning, took food and drink with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath in their searchings for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China, it would appear, is a business complicated by Chinese customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old, and after it has passed one New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years of age before it is 30 days days old according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, as elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady of Ching-tzu known to be over 100 who insisted on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a Chinese mother to give a son the name of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. This of course is another source of trouble to the enumerators.

INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City. — Chiefs Cloud and Washee, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov. Cruse, of Oklahoma, to intervene at Washington to have the privilege of holding the gift and "willow" dances restored to the tribes.

Indian agents at Segar have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal customs. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the conclusion.

The gift dance is the occasion for a gathering of the tribes and the squaws join in it. Guests are loaded with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

WIND ON THE STOMACH

A Well-Known Westerner Tells of Suffering, Misery and Pain That He Cured With "Nerviline."

"A few weeks ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It first brought on a fit of indigestion, but unfortunately it developed into hiccoughs, accompanied by nausea and cramps. I was dreadfully ill for two days—my head ached and throbbed; I belched gas continually, and I was unable to sleep at night. A neighbor happened in to see me and urged me to try Nerviline. Well, I wouldn't have believed that any preparation could help so quickly. I took half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in hot sweetened water, and my stomach felt better at once. I used Nerviline several times, and was completely restored."

NERVILINE STRENGTHENS WEAK STOMACHS

The above is from a letter written by G. E. Braun, a well-known stockman and farmer near Lethbridge, Alta. Mr. Braun's favorably opinion of the high merit of Nerviline is shared by thousands of Canadians who have proved Nerviline is simply a marvel for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, nausea and stomach disorders. Safe to use, guaranteed to cure—you can make no mistake in keeping Nerviline for your family remedy. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. Purer Maple Syrup.

It will be interesting to many in Peterborough to learn that the Government proposes to insist on purer maple syrup hereafter. For we learn that during last season 456 samples of maple syrup collected in different parts of the country were examined at the laboratory of the inland revenue department. Of these 31, while undoubtedly genuine, according to a bulletin just issued, were below the legal requirements, and 15 others below that of the Winton method of analysis. The advisory board consisting of Chief Analist McGill, Dr. W. H. Ellis and Dr. J. T. Donald have recommended changing the old regulations and adopting new ones. The latter prescribe that the syrup shall contain not more than 10 per cent of water, not less than sixtenths of one per cent of ash, not less than three-tenths of one per cent of malic acid. Technical methods of analysis are explained at length in the work entitled "A Study of Maple Syrup."

While still holding this office, Mrs. Wright was elected president of the London Union, an active organization of some three hundred members.

In 1898 Mrs. Wright was again advanced, being appointed recording secretary of the Province of Ontario. Two years later she was elected to the office of corresponding secretary for the same Union. This position she filled with conspicuous success, her management of difficult correspondence with influential bodies displaying a genius for this work, which made her a valued member of the provincial sub-executive for a number of years. Mrs. Wright also acted for some time as editor of the Canadian White Ribbon Tidings.

In 1903 Mrs. Wright was further honored by being elected to the vice-presidency of the Dominion. Two years later she was raised to the highest position in the gift of the Union, that of Dominion President.

Mrs. Gordon Wright is a typical Canadian — a woman of culture and charm. Her winning personality, her natural gifts as an executive officer and public speaker, her devotion to all temperance, missionary and philanthropic causes, combine to place her in the front rank of Canadian womanhood.

HON. A. G. MACKAY

Who resigned Ontario Liberal Leadership.

The hon. gentleman who resigned the Leadership of the Liberal party in the Ontario House of Legislature a few days ago, is an M.A. and a K.C., Born at Sydenham, Grey County Ont., on 7th March 1860, his early educational days were spent at Sydenham Public school, Owen Sound High School, the High School of Mount Forest, and finishing at Toronto University from which he graduated B. A. in 1883 and M.A. in 1885. With such an array of instructional influences it is no surprise if the young Sydenham Scot was pointed in early life as a man who knew things, a man who was likely to go to the front in whatever direction he might decide to devote his abilities. That results have justified the faith of those prophets, is known today of all men who give attention to public affairs in Ontario.

Finishing his university career, Mr. Mackay was during four years Principal of Port Rowan High School, following which, he went in for law study and was called to the bar in May 1891, and three years later had the honor of being elected Crown Attorney for Grey County, a position he held until 1901.

Switching into the political arena at the 1902 general election, success came his way at the first venture, being returned representative for North Grey, a constituency that has continued its confidence right along to the present time.

Hon Mr. Mackay is a director of the Imperial Cement Co., and president of the Owen Sound Dredging and Construction Company. He takes a live interest in military matters and is captain of the 31st Regt of Militia.

MOHAMMEDAN WITNESS

New York. — The Criminal Courts building was searched in vain today for a copy of the Koran, a demand for which arose when Mohammed Ali, a Turk, refused to be sworn on the Bible to testify in a grand larceny case. "To be sworn on the Bible means nothing to me," declared the witness, and court attendants searched high and low for a copy of the volume sacred to the Turk. When the book of Mohammed could not be found Ali was allowed to take oath after the fashion of those of his creed, holding up the index finger of his right hand, he said:

"I swear by the great Allah and by the beard of his only prophet Mohammed, to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing bu the truth. In failing, may I be swept off the face of the earth."

Ali was then permitted to give testimony favorable to the character of the defendant in the case.

NO DEFAULT ON LOANS

London. — The Pekin correspondent of the Times says that China's failure to pay the monthly interest on the Anglo-German loan need not cause anxiety. The half-yearly coupon is not due until April and all loans secured by the maritime customs will undoubtedly be paid punctually. The revolutionaries are as anxious as the Government to avoid foreign interference and are nowhere attempting to hinder the collection of the customs revenues.

However desperate China's internal finances, the foreign bondholders need have no fear of default in payment of any interest similarly secured.

REBELS HOLD THEIR OWN

Hankow. — The rebels are holding their own on the banks of the Han river. Sharp fighting and bombarding are daily occurring. The revolutionary forces are now awaiting the fall of Nanking, which will permit the fleet to come to their assistance. In such event, the Imperialist forces certainly will not be able to hold Station Kilometer Ten, which can be covered easily from the river.

BRUCE JOHNSTON,

Twixt Bull and Bear.

Lincoln stories are common, and the tellers of them are not as accurate in ascertaining their genuineness as they are prolific in producing them. The following tale may or may not be a real Lincoln." It is, in any event, a good story:

Two farm-hands, Lincoln used to say, were set upon by a huge bull while crossing a rocky field. One managed to gain a tree. The other took refuge in a hole in the tree that proved to have an exit in the rear.

The man who had chosen the hole was no sooner in at one end than he was out at the other. With a bellow, the bull made for him. He turned and again shot through the hole. The bull once more bore down upon him, and once more he was in and out of his hole.

The strange pursuit kept up some minutes. At first it mystified the farm-hand up in the tree. Then it angered him.

"Hey," he shouted, "you idiot! Why don't you stay in the hole?"

The bull was dashing from one end of the hole to the other at great speed, and the man was bobbing in and out desperately. He heard, however, his comrade's shout, and for a time before his next brief disappearance to shout back:

"Idiot yourself! There's a bear in the hole."

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society — the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It seems that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 452 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of Languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the mighty devotion of workers of a past generation. There are, in fact, over ninety entries marked 'S'—some of them entire Bibles — indicating them as the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen representing New Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been republished in modern times. Yet, in the heat of God and in the spirit of generous service, these versions were made by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day: only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

ROOSEVELT WON'T REFUSE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION

New York, Dec. 15.—A statement that Col. Roosevelt is "ready to run for the Presidency" is printed today by the Herald, which explains that the announcement comes from an "authentic source." The statement, which is prefaced by the announcement that Col. Roosevelt held a secret conference last night with William L. Ward, New York member of the Republican National Committee says in part:

"Theodore Roosevelt will neither seek nor decline the Republican nomination for the presidency next year. Those who are working to bring about the defeat of President Taft by making Mr. Roosevelt the nominee at the Chicago convention are satisfied that their plans will not be upheld by an eleventh hour statement from Mr. Roosevelt declining to permit the use of his name.

"There will be no formal announcement of the candidacy of Mr. Roosevelt, but if he is chosen as the party's standard bearer in the national contest next year, he will not decline the nomination.

Christian Science Practitioner Freed from Blame

Was Charged With Violation of the Medical Statute of Ohio Which Court Had Upheld — Defense of Fees.

Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—After a trial which consumed two days, Mrs. Eva Earl, a Christian Science practitioner of Columbus, was acquitted of the charge of violating the medical practise act of the state. Ohio has a statute which as interpreted by the supreme court of the state makes the practise of Christian Science healing without a license a crime where a fee is charged or accepted.

Mrs. Earl was arrested for the alleged violation of the state law on complaint of Dr. Watson, the secretary of the state medical board.

The trial took place in the police court before Judge Osborne. The state was represented by City Solicitor Kerr and Clarence Laughlin, and Charles Follette, assistants to the attorney-general, while the defense was looked after by Judge David F. Pugh and Attorneys Wilkes, Wilkes & Hume, leading members of Ohio's bar.

WHEN AILING ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS

THAT'S HOW MAGNUS JOHNSON GOT RELIEF FROM KIDNEY TROUBLES.

They told him to use Dodd's Kidney Pills—He did and his Backache and other sickness speedily vanished.

Lac La Nonne, Alta., Dec. 15.—(Special)—If you have Kidney trouble of any kind, from Backache to Bright's Disease, and don't know how to cure it, ask your neighbors. They'll tell you to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Such is the experience of Magnus Johnson, a well-known farmer residing near here. In an interview Mr. Johnson says:

"In the year 1907 I took a pain in my back, due to a strain and hard work. I kept getting worse. In the fall of 1908 I was unable to do any hard work, and began to suffer a great deal. I did not know what to do, and told one of my neighbors. He handed me a Dodd's Almanac. After reading it I concluded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after using five boxes I feel fine and able to do any kind of hard work. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Kidneys, and I cannot praise them too much."

You don't experiment when you use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have cured the Kidney ills of thousands of people all over Canada. If you have Kidney Disease in any form they will cure you.

MANY POWER BY-LAWS.

Votes Will be Taken in at Least Twenty-Eight Municipalities.

In twenty-eight municipalities in the province, at least the ratepayers will vote in January upon by-laws authorizing the Councils to negotiate for a supply of electric power, with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Three of these — Brockville, Prescott and Kingston—are in the eastern district in which the commission has options on power from three sources. Peterborough and Lakefield in the Trent district, where power concessions have been secured from the Dominion Government, will also vote on by-laws. The commissioners say that they can have 35,000 horse-power of electric energy available for distribution in the eastern and Trent districts.

It is a striking indication of the success of the Ontario Government power policy that the commission commenced operations with fourteen municipalities as its customers and a demand for 26,000 horse-power of electricity. Now it has already 34 such customers and a sale of 38,000 horse power.

A Des Moines man had an attack of muscular rheumatism in his shoulder. A friend advised him to go to Hot Springs. That meant an expense of $150.00 or more. He sought for a quicker and cheaper way to cure it and found it in Chamberlain's Liniment. Three days after the first application of this liniment he was well. For sale by all dealers.

The Secret of Keeping The Skin Wrinkle-Free

(From American Family Journal)

The great secret of keeping the face smooth, wrinkle-free and refined in texture is to use an effective astringent when the skin shows a tendency to become loose or the pores to enlarge. The best thing of the kind is a simple solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch-hazel. Used as a wash lotion, this promptly tightens the skin, which of course smooths out the lines and wrinkles and reduces too-large pores.

Large pores, by the way, are responsible for blackheads, being so easily clogged with dirt and grime. The lotion referred to is therefore an effectual blackhead preventive. It is also valuable in cases of sagging cheeks and chin, the astringent action of course serving to "draw in" the folds and obliterate the creases. Saxolite now being sold by druggists generally in this country, any woman can make this lotion herself.

Sir Edward Carson, in a war-like speech, said that his north of Ireland Orange army "is ready to march from Belfast to Cork, and take the consequences," in the war against Home Rule. Cork will never see this Orange army, for the good and sufficient reason that it would first have to pass through Tipperary where a "quare ould" kibosh would be put on it.

MR. THOMPSON'S BIG MAJORITY

The returns for East Peterborough are now complete—the last of the out lying polls having been heard from at a late hour Wednesday night. Mr. James Thompson, the Liberal-Conservative candidate, is re-elected by a majority of 514 over Mr. Edward Hawthorne, the Liberal candidate, and has a plurality of 394 over Mr. Hawthorne and Mr. David Andrews, the Independent candidate.

The total vote polled at Monday's election was 2762.

At the recent Dominion election Mr. Sexsmith received 1922 votes and Mr. Kerr 1540 votes, making a total of 3462 or 700 more than were polled at this election. The total number of votes polled at the 1908 election exceeded the number polled this election by 473. The decrease Monday may be attributed to the disagreeable weather and the bad condition of the roads as well as to a seeming lack of interest.

INTEND TO STOP IT

Police Magistrate Dumble and Chief Thompson Propose to Put a Stop to Men Purchasing Liquor for Blacklisters.

Police Magistrate Dumble stated at the Police Court yesterday that he intended, with the assistance of Chief Thompson, to put a check, if possible, on the abominable practice of liquor being given to blacklisters. The frequency of such offences has become so alarming that stiff penalties will invariably be meted out to all offenders, who, in future are apprehended and found guilty.

Yesterday a fine of $50 was imposed upon a young man at police court who was found guilty of buying three bottles of beer for a blacklister named Fallon.

"You ought to be flogged," was His Worship's comment, for trying to destroy another man, who may be weaker than you are."

Fallon was fined $20, and as he did not have the collateral, he was sent up for 20 days.

USED DYNAMITE BY WHOLESALE

The U. S. Government After Many Witnesses

AWFUL MURDER CAMPAIGN

In Which the McNamaras Were Only a Couple of Units — Many Labor Leaders Will Be Involved in the Terrible Plots—Ton of Dynamite Used.

Indianapolis, Dec. 16.

WHAT there was a wholesale conspiracy to murder and destroy property, in which the McNamara brothers were the chief actors, there can be no doubt. Who besides the two brothers handled or had knowledge of the interstate shipment of the ton or more of dynamite and nitro-glycerine used in blowing up iron and steel structures erected by firms employing non-union men in the last five years?

This question was inquired into by government officials preparatory to the resumption yesterday of the federal grand jury's investigation of an alleged nation-wide dynamite conspiracy. Clerks who wrote letters, baggagemen, shippers and all those who are supposed to have had even the remotest knowledge of the movement of the explosives or where and how they were stored, are among the several hundred witnesses who have been summoned to testify before the grand jury.

Dynamite Wholesale.

Fourteen hundred and ninety pounds of dynamite discovered in a padlocked box in a barn in the rear of Ortie E. McManigal's father's home at Tiffin, Ohio, April 23, 1911.

Ninety pounds of dynamite sticks found in the basement of a building in Indianapolis in which were located the offices of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers on April 22, 1911, a few hours after the arrest, here, of J. J. McNamara, the secretary-treasurer of the association.

The instances of the finding of the explosives about which special inquiry was made are the following:

Twenty-five pounds of nitro-glycerine dynamite found in a piano box in the western outskirts of Indianapolis a few days later.

Thirty-eight quarts of nitro-glycerine buried in a shed near Rochester, Penna.

Who Paid the Bills?

The points upon which enlightenment was sought in connection with these instances were: Who wrote the correspondence relative to the purchase and shipment of the explosives? Who paid the bills and kept the accounting of expense? By what means were the explosives transported?

To all appearances the headquarters of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers were closed to-day. The shades were drawn, the door was locked and the whereabouts of Herbert S. Hockin, the acting secretary, became a mystery. Even Hockin's attorney professed not to know where he was. The sudden closing up of the place followed closely upon the announcement that books and letters at the headquarters had been secured without resistance by detectives acting for the National Erectors Association.

Men High Up.

It is an open secret that men high up in the labor unions will be brought within the scope of the enquiry, and will be severely punished if found guilty. Honest labor men will, no doubt, see to it that their body is purged of the anarchist element, no matter at what cost.

Missionaries in Danger

Amoy, China, Dec. 15.—Extreme anti-foreign feeling prevails at the present moment at Chang Pu. A large number of placards threatening foreigners have been posted all over the town.

Yuan Hung Kwach, the military Governor of Southern Be-Kien, has sent a request to the foreign consuls, asking them to recall all the missionaries in the Province to Amoy. The authorities say that they cannot assume any responsibility for the lives of these missionaries in the interior.

HANGED NEGRO PREACHER IN THE OPERA HOUSE

Jackson, Ga., Dec. 15.—Rev. Wm. Turnet, a negro preacher, was hanged in the opera house here yesterday for having incited a race riot in which Jesse Singley, a prominent planter was shot to death.

The sheriff had planned to hang the negro in the jail yard, but he feared the crowd would break in. The weather was also very disagreeable, so he decided to hang the negro in whites.

Kinks' Opera House, so that the residian newspapers which were distriwished to see the hanging would not have to stand in the rain.

Before the trap was sprung the negro confessed that he incited the riot, and that he also fired the shot which killed Singley. He warned the members of his race to let whiskey alone, and to be advised by the

AMERICAN PACKERS ARE EXCLUDED

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—Postage will be collected on campaign issues of Canadian newspapers which were distributed to other than regular subscribers prior to the recent election.

However, Mr. Pelletier takes a different view and proposes to collect the postage. The Toronto Globe's bill is understood to be the largest.

London Excited Over Assassination Story

London, Dec. 15.—Rumors that King George had been assassinated at Delhi in India, spread like wildfire through London this morning. Nobody knew where it first arose, but it created immense excitement in the city and West End.

This was only allayed when a despatch from Delhi, times 11.45, midday, was received, simply announcing the carrying out of the Royal programme and not mentioning any untoward incident.

The report of fires in the Delhi Durbar Camp had been so grossly exaggerated and the disaffection among a small section of the Indian natives had been brought so prominently to public notice in the newspapers recently that Britons were prepared for almost anything that might happen during the sojourn of the King-Emperor in India.

COULDN'T ACCOUNT FOT IT.

Officials at the India Office could not account for the rumor. They had had no intimation of any incident of any kind and declared that the fire which occurred last night in a tent close to that of the King was of slight importance and was of a purely accidental nature, a bicycle lamp falling against a tent. It was only when these soothing announcements were made public that the general excitement relaxed.

King George reviewed yesterday 50,000 British and native troops. He held an investiture in the royal camp at night, bestowing orders on ninety-three knights and two hundred companions. The Queen witnessed both the review and bestowal of orders.

"MURDER IS MURDER" SAYS COL. ROOSEVELT

New York, Dec. 15.—Denouncing the McNamara brothers as "depraved criminals, who have on their seared souls the murder of so many innocent persons," Theodore Roosevelt in an editorial entitled "Murder is Murder," gives his views on the famous dynamiting case in the current issue of the Outlook.

A MONSTROUS PLEA.

Col. Roosevelt decries any expression of sympathy for the confessed dynamiters "because they thought they acted in what they regarded as a war on behalf of their class," as a plea "monstrous in its folly and its wickedness." He says in part:

"The murders committed by the McNamaras, although nominally in the interest of organized labor, differ not one whit in moral culpability from those committed by the Black Hand, or by any band of mere cut throats, and are fraught with an infinitely heavier menace to society. Yet, great though the menace is to the community, the menace to the cause of organized labor is still greater."

The associate editor bitterly scores the labor leaders, who championed the cause of the McNamaras, "as they did that of Moyer and Haywood declaring they have rendered an evil service to the union cause." He insists that he believes in unions, but all workers must "set their faces like flint against any effort to identify the cause of organized labor, directly or indirectly, with any movement which in any way benefits by the commission of crimes of lawless and murderous violence."

FORTY FISHERMEN MAY HAVE BEEN DROWNED

Emden, Germany, Dec. 15.—Three fishing luggers belonging to this port, carrying crews totalling forty men, have, it is feared, foundered during the recent storms in the North Sea.

The Maritime Exchange is investigating a rumor to-day that the British steamer East Point, which sailed from London on December 2 with a cargo of freight for Philadelphia, has foundered at sea. The Maritime officials said they did not know where the rumor had started, and telegraphed to Philadelphia for information. The East Point is a freight carrier, and has a crew of about 30 or 40 men.

MUST PAY THE POSTAGE

London, Dec. 15.—The British Government has decided to exclude all the American meat packers against whom prosecutions have been instituted in the United States, from tendering for contracts for the supply of meat to the British Army and Navy, pending the settlement of the suits.

The following notice has been posted by the War Office:

"Pending the ultimate result of the legal proceedings in the United States against certain meat packing firms, it has been decided by the British Government that none of the firms involved shall be invited to tender for army supplies."

The contracts are now expected to go to Argentina packers.

TERRIBLY SUDDEN DEATH

Mrs. James Campbell Passes Away as the Result of a Fall.

The death of Mrs. James Campbell, 334 Water street, will come with a great shock to her many friends in this city and neighborhood. The deceased lady, who was 71 years of age, had been in her usual health, and was in the act of descending the stairs, when she slipped and fell, her head coming in contact with the hard wood post of the stairs. She at once became unconscious, and her physician, Dr. Eastwood, was quickly summoned. He arrived as she was breathing her last, never having regained consciousness.

The late Mrs. Campbell, whose maiden name was Annie Marie Melville, was esteemed and beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She was a consistent member of St. Johns Church, where she worshipped ever since coming to Peterborough.

These are Mr. James Campbell, Peterborough; Thomas, Cleveland, Ohio; Miss Hattie, Weyburn, Sask., and Miss Katie, of this city. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Samuel White of Peterborough.

REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie District by our Department of the Interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found there abundance of suitable food; they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of the country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Pluck pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realises that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of [illegible]

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the dirt full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. IRISH HOME RULE TO GO THROUGH

It Is a Foregone Conclusion that the Irish Bill Will Be Passed Next Parliament.

(Special Cable Service.)

When parliament assembles again the last battle for Home Rule will be on. For it is a foregone conclusion that Home Rule will win.

For now all liberal England has been won over to the side of the Irish. Indeed Ireland and the Irish have become actually popular with the English majority. Not since the days of Gladstone and Parnell has the cause of Ireland been accorded such sympathetic support among English people. Wherever the Irish Home-rule speakers, Redmond, "Tay Pay" O'Connor and the rest have spoken in their recent campaigning in England they have been enthusiastically received.

The recess will be devoted largely to informal discussion of the proposed home rule bill. The Liberal and Irish leaders will get together and go over the tentative draft of the bill in detail with a view to solving some of the major difficulties before the bill finally goes before parliament.

The measure has already been roughed out. A cabinet committee has been working upon the bill in general while a committee of financial experts has been working on the specific question of the financial relation between Ireland and England —one of the knottiest problems to be solved.

Just what form the bill will assume can't well be forecasted. Some of the papers are publishing what purport to be outlines of the bill, but none of these is regarded as more than a guess.

THE POSTMASTER SICK FOR YEARS

BUT HE FOUND PERMANENT RELIEF IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mr. John Nolan had Backache, Nervousness, and Rheumatism But Cured Them So They Didn't Come Back.

Point La Nim, Restigouche Co., N. B., Dec. 8—(Special)—That as a renewer of youth Dodd's Kidney Pills has no equal is the experience of John Nolan, the veteran postmaster of this place. Sixty years of age but still strong and healthy, Mr. Nolan declares he owes his health to the great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For ten years I was a sufferer with Backache, Nervousness and Rheumatism," says the Postmaster. "I was so bad at times that I was confined to my bed. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals, had flashes of light before my eyes and had difficulty in collecting my thoughts. After using several medicines without benefit I began to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, taking in all fifteen boxes. That was four years ago, and though I stopped taking the pills two years ago I have had no return of my trouble."

Backache, Nervousness and Rheumatism are all caused by diseased Kidneys. To cure them to stay cured you must cure the Kidneys with Sword in a Plank.

A curious discovery has been made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of heightening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a fresh plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for at least fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was an old-fashioned type, a short cross piece forming the handle. How the sword could have got where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank where it had entered, and it is believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence and encircled with the growth.

A King's Retreat.

We often hear of Boscobel Oak, people pointing to it as the very tree which sheltered Charles II. after the Royalist forces had been shattered at the battle of Worcester. But the Boscobel Oak is not the original tree; it has grown from an acorn taken from the original tree. Boscobel House, near by, is, however, the very house in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to crawl out of the chimney and make his way into a wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, and, early in the morning, took food and drink with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath the tree searching for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China, it would appear, is a business complicated by some customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old, and after it has passed one New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years of age before it is 30 days days according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady (supposed known to be over 100 years) visited on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a parents mother to give a son the name of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. Age of course is another source of difficulty to the enumerators.

INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City. — Chiefs Cloud and Washee, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov. Cruse, of Oklahoma, to intervene at Washington to have the privilege of holding thought and "willow" dances restored to the tribes.

Indian agents at Segar have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal customs. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the conclusion.

The gift dance is the occasion for a gathering of the tribes and the squaws join in it. Guests are loaded with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

Creeps like a Serpent

Catarrh is an insidious disease, scarcely noticeable at first, but horribly relentless if not checked.

No disease makes such inroads into weak constitutions as Catarrh. It spreads from the place of beginning to the lungs, bronchial tubes, stomach, intestines, and before long all the organs of the body are affected.

A splendid remedy, attended with remarkable success in curing Catarrh has lately come prominently to the front. Its name is Catarrhozone, and no case is recorded where it failed to quickly relieve and cure.

The strong points about Catarrhozone are that it is both a local and constitutional treatment. It not only affords quick relief to the local symptoms, but also purifies the blood of all Catarrhal poisons, builds up and strengthens the system.

Catarrhozone Inhaler supplies an abundance of medicated air which is breathed in at the mouth, and after passing through every air cell and air passage of the breathing organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

This penetrating, volatile antiseptic at once kills the germs that cause Catarrh, and prevents the disease spreading when once established. It is so healing and soothing that the inflamed membranes, and sore spots are restored to normal and healthy condition in a few days.

Catarrhozone cleanses the nose and throat and keeps them entirely free of mucous discharge. It prevents dropping in the throat, cures headache and makes breathing easy and the breath pure and sweet.

To build up and invigorate the system, a blood purifier and tonic called Ferrozone should be taken after each meal. In conjunction with Catarrhozone it is a valuable aid in establishing such a healthy condition of the body that Catarrh cannot exist.

Other remedies have been known to give relief, but to permanently eradicate every trace of Catarrh you must use Catarrhozone. It is a commonsense, convenient, clean method of cure that is endorsed by the profession.

You are sure to be benefited quickly and positively cured by Catarrhozone. The complete outfit costs only $1.00. Trial size, 25c. Sold by Druggists, and The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

CHINA'S REVOLUTION.

Very interesting is the news from China continuing the capture of Nankin; and it must cause considerable speculative thought, and an amount of wonderment. China seems to have been advancing toward enlightenment faster than the rest of the world supposed. When the historic city was taken, no slaughter of the Tartar element of the population followed, although only a few weeks before General Chang's Manchus had ruthlessly massacred many of the native Chinese.

This control of the revolutionary forces is extensively noticed. Much care has been taken for the safety of foreigners, who in earlier times were in danger in every case of public commotion. In most of the cities which have declared independence of the Pekin government, order is maintained and business proceeds in the usual manner. The insurrectionary movement appears to be in spirit and method different from the Tai-Ping rebellion or the more recent Boxer rising.

It must widely appear a surprising fact that the revolutionary armies are so well disciplined, and so effectively supplied with arms and ammunition. The facts all indicate that the movement must have been a long while in secret yet very thorough preparation. Indeed, China seems developing a national spirit of which its people were generally supposed incapable.

Heretofore presumed to be above everything peaceful, the Chinese are showing capacity for thorough military organization and operation. Their country is at a turning-point. Perhaps it may go to pieces; and again, there seems a possibility of powerful unification and great future achievement. Railroad communication between Shanghai and Nankin has been reopened, and with the subjugation of the latter city the entire great and populous Yang-ste region from the sea to Hankow is in the revolutionists' hands.

Face Peeling Habit Becoming Fashionable

(From Broadway Weekly)

Women of fashion and refinement in this country as in Europe seem to have been acquiring the mercolized wax habit, depending less and less upon cosmetics for their complexion difficulties. It does seem a lot saner to just peel off the wornout skin when it loses its youthful color and appearance—now that this can be done so easily, safely, painlessly and economically. There's no trouble getting mercolized wax at any drug store, since its virtues have become generally known here, and there's no trouble using it—just as you use cold cream, applying at night, washing it off next morning.

The wax takes off the old scarf skin, in tiny flakes, a little each day. The new under-skin, which gradually appears, is velvety soft and beautifully white, radiant with girlish loveliness. Any serious trouble like blackheads, pimples, red or yellow patches, freckles, chaps, etc., vanishes of course with the discarded article.

COMPANY IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

The Company was incorporated in 1906, and has made steady progress. Their Real Estate holdings are chiefly in and around Calgary and will so continue, but latterly they have been paying a little attention to Saskatoon, where such remarkable progress is being made. It will be the policy of the Company to purchase judiciously in and near Towns and Cities which have passed the uncertain stage of development and whose future is assured. The Company, with its expert knowledge of values is better able to handle such business than any individual, however well equipped he may be for the work

While the Company has been, and will continue to be, conservative in the matter of dividends, it would appear probable that before very long a distribution of Assets, either in the shape of a Stock Bonus or substantial Cash Dividend, might be made If not, however, the Shareholders will still benefit by holding a security of constantly increasing value, which will be reflected in the market price of the stock.

The remarkable progress of the City of Calgary is perhaps without precedent in Canada. Building permits issued during the ten months ended 31st October, 1911, reached the enormous total of $11,064,138.00

HIGHER DIVIDEND PROSPECTS

Mr. H. A. MacLean, President of the Company, in a letter dated 15th November, 1911, makes the following reference to Dividend and Reserve Fund: "While I can say nothing official at this time, I may mention that at the Company's Annual Meeting, following its year-end at 31st December, it is my intention to recommend that the Dividend for 1911 be declared at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, which will be an advance of 1 per cent. over the Dividend for 1910. I consider it safe to say in this connection, also, that the Dividend for 1912 will be at the rate of 12 per cent.

"The Asset and Liability Return covering the ten months ended 31st October shows, after allowing for all expenses and outlays of every kind, except the 1911 Dividend, a surplus of Assets over Liabilities of $311,736.72. The 1911 Dividend will amount to approximately $40,000.00, leaving a net surplus of approximately $271,736.72, equal to 90 per cent. of the Company's paid-up Capital. This amount may be fairly considered as a Reserve fund in its present shape, and the Company might continue with safety along its present lines. It is my intention, however, at the approaching Annual Meeting, to propose that a portion equal to 25 per cent. of the Real Estate forming this surplus, be set aside, and advantageously sold—the proceeds of such sale to be invested in high grade listed Railroad Bonds, yielding the Company about 5 per cent. This operation, repeated from year to year, will give the Company a reserve fund of pretty much the same nature as is carried by the Banks and other conservatively managed institutions."

COMPANY'S DIVIDEND RECORD

The Company has paid Dividends every year since its incorporation as follows:

1907	6 per cent.
1908	8 per cent.
1909	9 per cent.
1910	10 per cent.

FINANCIAL POSITION STRONG

The Company's statement of assets and liabilities as of October 31st, 1911, attested to by Messrs. Webb, Read & Hegan, appears in full in the prospectus. It shows the value of the Company's real estate and buildings, as valued by Mr. V. J. L. Eccles, to stand at $564,111, and balance of profit and loss account $311,736. Of the Company's authorized capital of $1,000,000, $398,380 is subscribed, $30[illegible]57.50 of which is paid up, leaving $86,522.50 of unmatured and unpaid calls.

Inquiries as to the Company's standing and the integrity and ability of the directors (of whom the President, Managing Director and Secretary-Treasurer devote their time exclusively to the Company's business) may be made of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Montreal.

It is the intention to make application in due course to have the stock listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Copies of prospectus and application forms for shares may be obtained from the undersigned, and in cases where the request for application forms states the number of shares desired it will be considered that application has been received at that date. The right is reserved, however, to allot a smaller number of shares than applied for.

Acquitted by Jury

The jury was composed of some of the best citizens of Columbus.

The case on both sides was ably presented. The state contended that Christian Science practise was by the law a practise of medicine and that the acceptance of compensation rendered the practitioner liable to penalty. The defense claimed, in the face of the statutes and the supreme court decision, that Christian Science practise was not medical practise, but the practise of a religion.

Under the rules of evidence it was impossible to offer the testimony of men and women who were present and eager to tell of the healings accomplished by them through Christian Science. Consequently the proceedings consisted largely of a discussion of the dominant features of Christian Science.

Counsel for the defense declared that an attempt to separate religious practise in this instance from a religion and to bring it within the domain of medicine and further to render one who engages therein a criminal on the acceptance of a gratuity was not reasonable.

The judge was fair and impartial in his rulings. The jury deliberated for an hour and a half and then reported a verdict of acquittal.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

Notice is hereby given that, owing to a change in the law requiring a report from the City Engineer, which takes considerable time to prepare, before local improvement works can be undertaken, petitions for sewers sidewalks or pavements to be constructed as local improvements must be received before February 1st, 1912, to be acted upon in 1912.

BY-LAW NUMBER 644

A By-law to authorize the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan to execute an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company for the right to use a Highway in the Township of North Monaghan as therein mentioned.

Passed 17th day of November, 1911.

WHEREAS The Peterborough Radial Railway Company has applied to the Council of the Township of North Monaghan for the franchise and right for a period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the public highway or road, which may be better known as "The Monaghan Road" extending Southerly from Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turn-outs and other appliances for the purposes of the said Railway, and the Council and Company have agreed on the terms and conditions on which in the opinion of the Council the said right should be given, which terms and conditions have been reduced to writing, and are fully set out herein, and it is necessary that the said terms and conditions and the period for which said right is to be granted should be submitted to the vote of the Electors of the Municipality in the manner provided in the Consolidated Municipal Act (1903) and the Ontario Railway Act 1906 with respect to By-laws requiring the assent of the Electors.

THEREFORE the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan by the Council thereof, enacts as follows:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2. The Council of the Township of North Monaghan are hereby authorized to enter into an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company in the words and figures following, namely:

THIS AGREEMENT made in duplicate the 17th day of November, 1911, between THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTH MONAGHAN, hereinafter called the "Corporation," of the FIRST PART and THE PETERBOROUGH RADIAL RAILWAY COMPANY, hereinafter called the "Company," of the SECOND PART

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto and dated the Fourteenth day of March, 1904, the Corporation did grant unto the Company a franchise and right for the period of thirty years, therein set forth, together with the exemption therein referred to, and

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto, and dated the Nineteenth day of September, 1904, the Corporation did further grant unto the Company an extension of said Franchise to the Boundary Line running along the Western limit of the City of Peterborough from Charlotte Street to the Northern boundary of the Township of North Monaghan, and

WHEREAS the parties have further agreed to further extend the said Franchise from the north side of Charlotte Street southerly along the highway known as the Monaghan Road (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan), to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan.

1. WITNESSETH that the Corporation doth hereby upon and subject to the terms, provisoes and conditions hereinafter referred to and contained, and subject to the Special Statute incorporating the Company, and of the Sections of the Railway Act applying to the said Company, grant to the said Company the Franchise and right for the period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the Public Highway or Road, which may be known as "The Monaghan Road" extending southerly from the north side of Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee, in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turnouts and other appliances thereon for the purpose aforesaid. BRUCE JOHNSTON, Township Clerk.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS SHOT.

Booth, Taking Advantage of Guard's Temporary Neglect, Rushed Through the Box Entrance and Accomplished His Deed.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln and their party sat down in their box at Ford's Theatre the fateful night the President was shot, the guard who was acting as substitute for Col. McCook, took his position at the rear of the box, close to an entrance leading into the box from the dress circle of the theatre. His orders were to stand there, fully armed, and to permit no unauthorized person to pass into the box. His orders were to stand there and protect the President at all hazards. From the spot where he was thus stationed, this guard could not see the stage or the actors; but he could hear the words the actors spoke, and he became so interested in them that, incredible as it may seem, he quietly deserted his post of duty, and, walking down the dimly lighted aisle, deliberately took a seat in the last row of the dress circle. It was while the President was thus absolutely unprotected through this guard's amazing recklessness—to use no stronger words—that Booth rushed through the entrance to the box, just deserted by the guard, and accomplished his foul deed. Realization of his part in the assassination so preyed upon the mind of the guard that he finally died as a result of it.

MOHAMMEDAN WITNESS

New York. — The Criminal Courts building was searched in vain today for a copy of the Koran, a demand for which arose when Mohammed Ali, a Turk, refused to be sworn on the Bible to testify in a grand larceny case. "To be sworn on the Bible means nothing to me," declared the witness, and court attendants searched high and low for a copy of the volume sacred to the Turk. When the book of Mohammed could not be found Ali was allowed to take oath after the fashion of those of his creed, holding up the index finger of his right hand, he said:

"I swear by the great Allah and by the beard of his only prophet Mohammed, to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing bu the truth. In failing, may I be swept off the face of the earth."

Ali was then permitted to give testimony favorable to the character of the defendant in the case.

NO DEFAULT ON LOANS

London. — The Pekin correspondent of the Times says that China's failure to pay the monthly interest on the Anglo-German loan need not cause anxiety. The half-yearly coupon is not due until April and all loans secured by the maritime customs will undoubtedly be paid punctually. The revolutionaries are as anxious as the Government to avoid foreign interference and are nowhere attempting to hinder the collection of the customs revenues.

However desperate China's internal finances, the foreign bondholders need have no fear of default in payment of any interest similarly secured.

REBELS HOLD THEIR OWN

Hankow. — The rebels are holding their own on the banks of the Han river. Sharp fighting and bombarding are daily occurring. The revolutionary forces are now awaiting the fall of Nanking, which will permit the fleet to come to their assistance. In such event, the Imperialist forces certainly will not be able to hold Station Kilometer Ten, which can be covered easily from the river.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR The Hospital for Sick Children

Dear Mr. Editor,—

Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

I make this direct appeal to the people of Ontario, for the fathers and mothers of Ontario, outside the City of Toronto, have precisely the same claim for their sick children as regards the privileges of the Hospital, as parents who reside in this city.

In brief the sick children from any place in Ontario whose parents cannot afford to pay, is, on certificate from a municipal officer of any city, town, village or township, treated free

This is a privilege not granted by any Hospital in the Dominion, or on this Continent.

Let me, in a few words, state that in the last 30 years, since 1891, there have been 4,731 patients from 460 places outside of this city treated free, as the parents were unable to pay for treatment. Last year 384 patients from 234 places outside Toronto were so treated.

The Hospital is not a city but a Provincial institution. The Corporation of Toronto grants $18,000, not only for city children, but towards the maintenance of every patient in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $10,000 to the maintenance fund of the Hospital.

It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province.

Why, in the Orthopedic department in 20 years, nearly 700 children, boys and girls, have been treated for club feet, and about 500 were corrected. Two-thirds of these came from places outside of Toronto, from parents who could not afford to pay.

Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Every day is Christmas to the child whose little life is saved, or whose crippled limb is straightened with the might of money—your money—and the mercy of the Hospital.

Will you, the reader of this letter, think of what your dollar will do? It helps to restore health and strength, and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

You give wealth to the Hospital, and the Hospital gives health to the children.

Yes, your money can put golden hinges on the door of the Hospital's mercy.

Will you, kind reader, help us and send a spare dollar to Douglas Davidson, the secretary-treasurer of the Hospital, or

J ROSS ROBERTSON, Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto

TO HELP THE EXPORT TRADE

Well Known Business Man of Montreal Urges Canadian Manufacturers To Wake Up and Get After Foreign Trade

Mr. George E. Johnston, the well-known financier is urging the manufacturers and traders of Canada to consolidate and form an association through which authentic information of the wants of other countries—particularly South America—could be secured for the benefit of Canada. Mr. Johnston's appeal, in part, is:—

Has not the time arrived when we should put forth some concerted action whereby we would render valuable aid to our Canadian exporters. This might be accomplished by following the example of our neighbors to the south of us by the formation of a Canadian Export Association. Our export trade is growing at a remarkably rapid rate and the work of such an association would be to educate our expanding manufacturers and traders who may be anxious to participate in profitable over-seas business. It would be the purpose of the suggested association to establish an intelligence department and through the agency of accredited correspondents who would supply ruling prices, point out new markets and fresh sources for the purchase of our raw material.

It may be news to many Canadians to know that there is scarcely a country in the world where Canadian merchandise does not find a ready market, both in the countries of the Old and New World. We have now a direct steamship service to Australia, New Zealand and the Far East and we have lately turned our attention to the development of trade to Latin South America and with most promising results.

From January 1st. to September 30th. of last year, the exports and imports between Canada and Argentine aggregated $5,051,467, which is $3,000,000 more than the previous year. During the nine months above mentioned, Canada sent to Argentine $2,869,913 worth of goods and bought from that republic $2,181,554.

In looking over all the countries' trade with each of the Republics of South America, I personally believe that our trade of 1910 with the Argentine might be duplicated in each one of the other Republics, if we put the proper trade machinery into operation. Canada in the last few years, has been developing her export trade at a very rapid rate.

I would like to see our government assist in establishing a direct line of steamships with South America. This would facilitate the work of an energetic and patriotic Canadian Export Association. In many ways South America presents a very attractive field for Canadian business men and I believe, as one personally acquainted with South America and its business, that there is no doubt a large trade could be worked up, if proper attention were paid to cultivating the republics of South America. As everyone knows, South Americans for the most part, are not competitors of Canada. They buy what we have to sell and sell us commodities which we require. The only exception to this statement is the Argentine Republic and even with this republic our export trade last year was over $5,000,000. Canada should have, next to Great Britain, the first claim upon South American trade, because of the fact that the chief commercial houses of South America are English and would naturally give a preference to Canada. There is invested in South American enterprises at the present time, over two billions dollars of British money and as a result of this large amount of British capital invested, Canada, as a part of the British Empire, would receive a cordial welcome should she energetically seek closer trade relations with South American countries.

As a Canadian much interested in Canadian enterprises, I would like to see a system of organized effort to extend and enlarge our export trade and for that purpose, I would suggest the formation of a powerful league, known as the Canadian Export Association, which league ought to secure diplomatic influence for the successful exploitation of Canadian commerce. In order to secure a remunerative business for a direct steamship line, the government might grant a subsidy, which subsidy would not be required after a more extensive trade had been developed, as it would soon be apparent that Canadian steamships would soon have a paying cargo each way.

It might be pointed out that the greater part of manufactured goods used in South America are imported and that there is hardly an article manufactured in Canada which would not find a ready and profitable sale in the south. Implements are used there in enormous quantities. Cement is used in millions of tons. Leather goods, including saddles, boots and belting are everywhere in great demand owing to the agricultural nature of the country. The bulk of this trade is now going to Americans, Germans and the Belgians. We in turn need their asphalt, nuts, mutton, hides, mahogany, rice, rubber, wool, etc. Our Canadian government has neglected putting a live, energetic Canadian representative in each one of the Republics of South America and I think the time has arrived for either the government or such an association as I have indicated to take immediate steps towards the development of our Canadian trade in the south.

Mr. Johnston invites correspondence from manufacturers and traders of the Dominion on the subject and if there is sufficient interest manifested, necessary steps will be taken to organize an export association and to develop and extend our export trade.

Out on $2,000 Bail.

The fifteen year old lad who it is alleged stole the money from the till at the Bell Telephone office, on Sunday night, was brought back on Tuesday evening from Toronto and appeared before Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court yesterday. The case was remanded until Saturday, 16th, the young man being allowed out on bail of $2,000. The police recovered $77 of the stolen money.

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicite" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

POWER OF CO-OPERATION.

Chinese Have Steadily Combined Together, To Arm Themselves with an Invisible Weapon for Protection.

In order to enforce their rights by the simplest and most bloodless means, the Chinese have steadily cultivated the art of combining together and have thus armed themselves with an immaterial, invisible weapon, which simply paralyses the aggressor, and ultimately leaves them masters of the field. The extraordinary part of the Chinese boycott or strike is the absolute fidelity by which it is observed. If the boatmen or chair-coolies at any place strike, they all strike; there are no blacklegs. If the butchers refuse to sell, they all refuse, entirely confident of each other's loyalty.

Foreign merchants who have offended the Chinese guilds by some course of action not approved of by those powerful bodies, have often found to their cost that such conduct will not be tolerated for a moment, and that their only course is to withdraw, sometimes at a considerable loss, from the untenable position they had taken up.

The other side of the medal is equally instructive. Some years ago the foreign tea merchants at a large port, in order to curb excessive charges, decided to hoist the Chinese teamen, or sellers of tea, with their own petard. They organised a strict combination against the tea-men, whose tea no colleague was to buy until, by what seemed to be a natural order of events, the tea-men had been brought to their knees. The tea-men, however, remained firm, their countenances as impassive as ever. Before long, the tea merchants discovered that some of their number had broken faith, and were doing a roaring business for their own account, on the terms originally insisted on by the tea-men.

OUR WONDERFUL LANGUAGE.

How Allah Fashioned a Tongue for the Englishman.

In spite of certain undeniable disadvantages, the English language steadily makes headway. There are few tongues so hard to master. One foreigner, who has had his troubles, but has won his way to a perfect command of the language, has presented some of the humors of the difficulties which belong to this richest of living languages.

As a boy, I heard a fantastic Turkish legend, which, to my mind, aptly illustrates the actual facts concerning the origin and formation of modern English.

After creating the first parents of each of the races, the story runs, Allah took a large piece of meat, and cutting it into slices, distributed them among all the people to serve them as tongues. For some reason the Englishman was absent when the others received their share. At last he came into the presence of his Maker, and in mute humiliation begged him to put a tongue into his mouth. But nothing was left of the meat. So Allah was obliged to cut a little piece from the tongues of all the others, and joining these pieces, he fashioned a tongue for the Englishman.

The Golden Opportunity.

Among the persons who have recently made provision for old age when it comes are two sisters, aged respectively 33 and 34 years. They have purchased from the Canadian government a Last Survivor Annuity, that is an annuity which will give them together an income of $600 a year so long as they both live, and to be continued to the survivor so long as she lives. The cost of this Annuity, $3,642.65, has been invested at 5 per cent., and had brought in less than $185.00 annually, with the difficulty and annoyance of re-investment. The Annuity becomes payable when the younger sister attains the age of 55, and should both die before that time the purchase money will be refunded to their heirs with 3 per cent. compound interest. Each is now earning her own living, and the sum paid is the fruit of their labors for a number of years. They were thus able the better to appreciate their splendid opportunity. A card of enquiry addressed to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, will secure for you any information you desire on the subject.

Kingsley Would Smoke.

Archbishop Benson, when headmaster of Wellington, was a great friend of Charles Kingsley, whose rectory of Eversley was but a few miles away. A. C. Benson gives many interesting reminiscences of Kingsley as he remembers him in those days:

"My father used to tell how once he was walking with Kingsley round about Eversley, when Kingsley suddenly stopped and said, 'It is no use; I know you detest tobacco, Benson, but I must have a smoke!' and he had accordingly gone to a big furze-bush and put his arm in at the hole, and after some groping about, produced a churchwarden pipe, which he filled and smoked with great satisfaction, afterwards putting it into a hollow tree, and telling my father, with a chuckle, that he had concealed pipes all over the parish, to meet the exigences of a sudden desire to smoke.

Growth in Naval Expenditure.

Since 1902 the naval expenditure of the principal countries of the world has increased from £90,383,000 to £145,319,000. Great Britain is responsible for an increase of £13,000,000, Germany for $12,000,000, the United States for £10,000,000, France for over £4,000,000, and Russia for £3,000,000. In the last ten years the eight chief naval powers have spent the stupendous sum of upwards of one billion pounds sterling on naval defence.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian, and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C P R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thomson's Sarsaparilla."

Two Good Reasons

"Dorothy," said that young lady's mamma, "it seems to me that you had the gas turned rather low when young Smart was here last evening."

"It was solely for economy, mamma," answered the maiden.

"There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I have noticed that the shutting off of the gas is always followed by a corresponding increase of pressure."

"Well, that lessens the waist mamma, dear; doesn't it?" replied the artless girl. And her fond parent could find no answer.

De Ruyter: "You see, I drop into poetry occasionally."

Editor: "Yes, so I see! You appear to drop clear through it."

Mr. G. A. Gillespie for Mayor.

An effort is being made by the friends of Mr. George A. Gillespie, to induce him to stand for Mayor at the approaching municipal elections. Mr. Gillespie has had experience at the Council Board, and this will be a strong argument in his favor should he consent to run. In the meantime he is considering the matter, and will announce his decision in a day or two.

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting, at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

Many Students Will Attend.

At the Ministerial Association yesterday the proposed invitation to the Missionary Students to meet here was approved of. This, it is understood, practically assures the conference for this city. There are over 300 students to attend from the universities and colleges of Ontario and Quebec. The conference is to be held in November.

THE CRIMINAL AMONG PLANTS

Thugs of the Vegetable World that Have No Honest Ways and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze, clovers, and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitrogen which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this private store for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts which infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees are like unto them; and both are singularly wanting in beauty, being clothed in dirty-brown flats, as a rule, and having no green leaves. Even one of the Persicarias (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and these evil-doers by no means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the root-stock of a grafted rose for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers, such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Willie—Papa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?"

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

Horses Leg Swelled

Animal Was Too Sore and Lame to Work—Quickly Cured by Nerviline.

"I have had a long experience in treating horses, and I can safely say that I know of no liniment for strains sprains, and swelling that is so useful around the stable as Nerviline." Thus writes Mr. Joshua E. Murchison, from his home, Crofts Hill P. O. I had a fine young mare that wrenched her right fore leg. NERVILINE IS A TRUSTY LINIMENT and from the shoulder down she was still sore and swollen. I applied Nerviline and it worked like a charm; in fact, that mare was in shape to work a day after I used Nerviline.

"We have used Nerviline on our farm for twenty-five years and never found it wanting. For man or beast it is a wonderful liniment."

We have received nearly five thousand letters recommending Nerviline as a general household liniment, as an all-round cure for aches and pains. One million bottles used each year. Try it yourself. Football Date Played by Nobles

"The Festival called Tannbata, of which the football game Kemari forms an important item, takes place on the seventh day of the seventh month. The football is presented in a forked twig of the Kaji (paper mudberry), and the game connected with it is always of a ceremonial nature, and played only by Court nobles in specially constructed enclosures and in ceremonial dress," says Mr. H. L. Joly, the well-known writer upon Japanese legends. Acording to the legend (as given in "Home Life in Tokyo") with which the Feast of Tanabata is associated, the night of the 7th of July is the only one in the whole year when the Weaver (the star Vega) can meet her lover the Cow-herd (the star Altair) on the other side of the Heavenly River, as the Milky Way is called by the Japanese, and on that night magpies come and spread their wings across the river to bring the lovers together."

Captain Webb's Example

Captain Webb's great swim revolutionised the art of swimming in Great Britain. Before 1875 swimming was not regarded as an achievement of much moment. Very few schools taught their boys to swim, and most of those who did learn looked upon sixty yards in a bath as the maximum distance they could hope to attain. Gradually it was realized that long distances could be accomplished under the most trying circumstances. The hope of some day attaining to the fame of Captain Webb tempted many to practise long-distance swimming, and as years went by a new race of long-distance swimmers was created, men who essayed without fear the dangers of the Channel and made light of spending a day and a night in the sea.

Football Forecasts

New football, with forward passes and restrictions, have knocked all forecasts galley west. The small school of huskies is as likely to win as the big brother with an enrollment of thousands. Brains and speed offset beef and brawn and an educated toe in the backfield discounts weight in the line.

The coach with two good ends and a punter can develop a high class team. The balance of the team will come along as a matter of evolution.

Good Eggless Doughnuts

Two cupfuls of warm mashed potatoes, two cupfuls of sugar, one cup full of sweet milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, five level teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Flour to make soft dough. Roll out half an inch thick. Fry in hot grease. The potatoes keep the doughnuts soft and they keep fresh much longer than those made with eggs.

The first camera-obscura was invented by Giambattista Della Porta, an Italian philosopher, during the latter half of the sixteenth century.

An Unusual Incident.

The steamer Geneva, belonging to Mr. Wm. Thompson, of Orillia, came up from lower ports yesterday with some freight. This is an unusual occurrence at this season of the year. It is said that about the year 1878, one of Mr. Calcutt's steamers ran a trip on Christmas Day, which was

WEDDING BELLS

Hipperson—Gumpricht.

The George Street Methodist Church was the scene of a very interesting event yesterday afternoon, when Miss Wilhelmina Gumpricht, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Gumpricht, 535 Aylmer street, was joined in marriage to Mr. William S. Hipperson, of this city, by the Rev. Isaac Couch.

Promptly at two o'clock the bride, who was charmingly attired in white satin, with pearl trimmings and wearing the customary bridal veil, was led to the altar, gracefully, leaning on the arm of her grandfather, Mr. E. Mundy, publisher of The Reformer Oshawa.

The bride was attended by her youngest sister, Miss Grace Gumpricht, who was also handsomely attired in pale blue, wearing a white veil and carrying pink roses. The bride carried a beautiful shower bouquet of cream roses and lilies-of-the-valley, and wore a necklace of costly pearls with cross. The groom was supported by Mr. Chas. Mundy, of Oshawa.

As the bride entered, the beautiful and appropriate strains of Lohengrin were played by Miss May Dillon of Oshawa, followed by Mendelsohn's wedding march. Mrs. Charles Mundy of Oshawa, contributed in a most harmonious manner, the solo "Because God Made Thee Mine."

At the conclusion of the nuptial ceremony, the wedding party, adjourned to the residence of the bride's mother, where a delightful reception was tendered to the guests and friends, after which the bride and groom left on the 4.28 C.P.R. on a wedding tour. Mr. and Mrs. Hipperson will return to Peterborough for a couple of months, before leaving for Regina, their future abode.

The groom's gift to the groomsman was a pretty pearl stick pin, and to the bridesmaid, the soloist and organist, dainty lace pearl stick pins.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

PRESIDENT TAFT CALLS A SPECIAL CABINET MEETING, AND THE NEWS CAUSED A DECIDED SENSATION

Photographs Show How Buildings were Blown Up

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 16.—Bundles of photographs showing how bridges, viaducts, derricks, and buildings had been wrecked by dynamite and nitro-glycerine were taken before the Federal grand jury to-day.

They were part of the evidence in the Government's investigation of the dynamite conspiracy and were gathered by a detective employed by the National 'Erectors' Association, which investigated the entire series of more than one hundred explosions beginning with one at Miller's Falls, Mass., in 1905, and continuing down until October 16, 1911, when dynamite was found beneath a bridge at San Barbara, Calif., just before a special train bearing President Taft passed.

ALL INDIA PLEASED WITH THE NEW CAPITAL

London, Dec. 16.—The Times' correspondent at Delhi, in a despatch printed this morning, says:

"All my enquiries tend to show that the King's Durbar announcement (of the transfer of the capital from Calcutta to Delhi) is producing rising enthusiasm. I think it may be said that the general success of the declaration is absolutely assured and that the remainder of the Imperial visit will be one long triumph Grave political risks were taken, but apparently the danger is past."

A SPLENDID SUCCESS

The Cantata Given in the Murray Street Church.

Lack of space on Saturday, prevented our giving a well deserved notice of the splendid cantata gipen in the Murray street Baptist church. The entertainment was a success in every way, and was most creditable to those who took part. The cantata was entitled "The Other Wise Man," and every part was well taken, each player performing their part with wonderful correctness.

The leading characters were clothed in gorgeous costumes with headdress consistent with that worn in the Biblical age, with sandals on their feet. They presented a truly striking picture.

The work of the little children who were called upon to play minor parts at various stages of the play, was excellent. It evidenced to a marked degree the careful training which they had undergone during the preparatory stage, and reflected great credit upon the painstaking work of Mrs. Petitt, who had charge of the rehearsals. A kindly recognizance of her services, in this respect, was manifested during the evening, in a touching manner, when little Miss Doughty amid enthusiastic applause, walked across the stage, and presented Mrs. Petitt with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Mr. Walter Batley, in the role of Ariofbraund, displayed remarkable skill in the interpretation of difficult passages. His mannerisms and clear articulation were the outstanding features of his work.

A pleasing variation was the rendition of the "Holy City," by Miss Clara Kidd. Delicacy of tone and fullness of volume were the predominating features of Miss Kidd's singing.

Miss Bessie Elcome presided at the piano. A very pleasant evening was concluded by the singing of a verse of that well known hymn "All Hail the Power of Jesus' name."

The event was, without doubt, the best of its kind produced in Peterborough for many years, and fully sustains the reputation which has been built up by the members of the Murray street Baptist church, as regards church functions.

ANOTHER LIQUOR CASE

Two Lakefield Men Charged With Illicit Selling.

Otter Northey and Albert Kennedy two men residing at Lakefield, have been charged by License Inspector Williams, of Norwood, with having had a quantity of liquor in their possession, with intent to sell, without having the proper license. On Wednesday last, it will be remembered, Constable Webster of Lakefield, confiscated a quantity of liquor, in the possession of the two men, in the vicinity of Lakefield.

The case will be heard before County Magistrate Edmison next Saturday.

Daring Attempt by a Burly Burglar in H. A. Wilson's Cigar Store.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—A daring but not very resourceful attempt at a daylight burglarizing of the H. A. CZAR'S AMBASSADOR THREATENS TO SEVER ALL FRIENDLY RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES

Think that "The Hand of Japan" Figures in the Case

ADMITS THAT THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS

It Has Been Rumored That Japan Might Seek to Evolve an Alliance With Russia Out of the Pending Difficulties.

Washington, Dec. 16.—What in diplomatic language is interpreted as practically a threat by Russia to sever all friendly relations with the United States in the event that Congress goes ahead with its plan to abrogate the treaty of 1832 with that country was made to-day to Secretary of States Knox, by the Russian Ambassador, George Bashmetoff.

Owing to the reticence of all concerned in the negotiations it was impossible to-day to learn the exact nature of the protest. It is believed however, to have been directed principally against the language of the Sulzer resolution, which boldly declared that Russia has violated the terms of the treaty of 1832.

IS JAPAN TO BLAME?

Numerous interpretations were put on Russia's action this afternoon, one being that "the hand of Japan" figured in the case. It has been rumored for some time that Japan might seek to evolve an alliance with Russia out of the pending differences between Russia and the United States.

CREATES SENSATION.

News of Russia's protest spread through the city this afternoon and caused a decided sensation. Little else was talked of at the capital and there were numerous informal conferences among the national legislators. The Senate was not in session.

SPECIAL CABINET CALLED.

Washington, Dec. 16.—President Taft this afternoon called a special Cabinet meeting on the Russian situation. Secretary Knox, Meyer, MacVeagh, Nagel and Attorney-General Wickersham arrived shortly after 4 o'clock and went into executive session with the President.

GERMANY WANTS WAR

New York, Dec. 16.—John Norton Griffiths, Conservative member of Parliament for Wednesbury, believes that within the next six years England and Germany will be at war and all of Europe will feel the effect of the conflict. He made his prophecy without qualification following his arrival in New York from the Canadian Northwest. In saying it, he gave what he believed to be the reason for Canada's refusal to accept reciprocity at the recent elections.

"I believe that there is no doubt," Mr. Griffiths continued, "but that within the next six years—maybe much sooner—England and Germany will be at war and all Europe will be shaken by the conflict. Yes, and America, too; for America could not help feeling keenly the existence of so great a conflict as that will assuredly be. Why do I think this? Because the whole German nation is seeking a war with us at every turn of the road, and when a whole nation is behind a thing like this there is no stopping it. The bankers stopped war at the time of the recent crisis, but war was very near and the bankers cannot always stand in the way of a whole people."

KING GEORGE GOES HUNTING

Delhi, India, Dec. 16.—The great Durbar with its round of festivities lasting since the arrival of the King-Emperor and Queen-Empress on December 7, was brought to a conclusion to-day.

Their Majesties left the camp in State procession, the road to the station being lined with British and native troops.

The King has departed for Nepal on a shooting expedition, while the Queen has gone to Agra.

FOR THE COUNCIL

Several New Names Are Mentioned As Candidates.

It would appear as though Ald. Bradburn is likely to be unopposed in his efforts to reach the Mayor's chair. Ald. Butler has retired and Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie has refused to run. Mr. R. J. Soden is yet to be heard from, and he may decide to yield to the wishes of his friends and become a candidate. He will have to decide quickly, as Friday is nomination day.

For the Council.

The new candidates for Aldermen, so far as The Times has heard, are Messrs. G. N. Gordon, W. J. Johnston, H. C. Hill and Wm. Kempt. Mr. Jos. Wolstenholm, contractor, is also likely to be a candidate in the Third Ward. He is well spoken of, and would no doubt poll a large vote. All the members of last year's council will seek re-election, except of course, Ald. Bradburn, who is a Mayoralty candidate.

MARTIN PLANS A FLIGHT ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Liverpool, Dec. 16.—The Cunard liner Campania, which sailed to-day for New York, took apassenger Jas. V. Martin, who proposes to make a trip across the Atlantic in a bi-plane next August. The project has aroused great interest among British aeronauts. Mr. Martin says that his trip, which will start from St. Johns Nfld., will be made under the auspices of the Royal Aero Club of the United Kingdom. He anticipates that the journey from St. John's to Ireland will occupy 40 hours.

FARMERS PLOUGHING.

THE MINISTER OF MILITIA

Hon. Sam Hughes Making Excellent Beginning

IS HELD IN HIGH REGARD

And Winning Golden Opinions From Military Men as Well as From Civilians—A Progressive Policy Which Will Place Our Militia on a New Footing.

In a well written article on the Minister of Militia, our talented contemporary, the Mail and Empire pays a well deserved tribute to Col. the Hon. Sam. Hughes. By the excellent beginning he has made at the head of the Department of Militia and Defence, Hon. Sam. Hughes is winning golden opinions, even in quarters where praise is grudgingly rendered for progressive policy in relation to military matters. He is showing a conception of the duties of his office that is creditable to him both as a soldier and as a statesman If he goes on as he has begun, he will make his mark in the history of this country, and on the people of Canada as a whole.

He proceeds upon the idea that the defensive organization of the country is the people's business in every sense of the word. As it is to be manned by from such of the male population as are capable of bearing arms, it ought to be so administered as to bring home the greatest benefit to all. There is no doubt that the constitutionally-governed countries whose defensive force is most nearly co-extensive with the population of able-bodied men are the ones in which democracy is producing the best results, both social and economic. Men who have received any military training that is worthy of the name are there by made not only more serviceable as national guards, but also more efficient and exemplary as citizens. They learn respect for order, and carry it into civil life. As workers they will be more punctilious in conforming to rules, in adhering to time tables, in carrying out instructions, in observing the forms of business, and the ordinary courtesies than they would generally be if they had not undergone any military discipline. Unquestionably one of the weaknesses of democracy is its tendency to fix the citizens' regard on his rights rather than on his duties. If military training formed a part of the education of all our boys, and if opportunities to drill were placed within the reach of all our young men, the moral and material benefit for the country would be enormous. We believe that Col. Hughes has the true idea of the part that military training should play in the building up of this nation, not as a war power, but as a population of self-controlled, lawabiding, progressive men. If the means of military training are sufficiently extended to give the great mass of the youth of this country the advantage of them, the defensive system will grow of itself. There is nothing more spontaneous that the "coming on" of the lads in our schools as incipient soldiers.

Col. Hughes' arrangement for spreading military instruction so as to enable officers and non-commissioned officers further to qualify themselves for their duties without leaving home is a long step in the right direction. There will be other steps, all taken with the approval of the people, and well designed to promote the public advantage. Col. Hughes' showed how broadly based upon the people's will he means his reforms to be when he brought together representatives of so many interests in conference at Ottawa a short time ago. The number and nature of the subjects discussed at that notable gathering give an idea of the enlightened spirit in which the defensive service of the country is to be administered.

FOUGHT WILD BEAR IN AN EXPRESS CAR

Hornell, N.Y., Dec. 16.—J. A. Rose a Wells-Fargo Express Messenger, is to-day congratulating himself that his person is intact. A wild bear in a cage in the express car escaped and attacked the messenger, who, bare-handed, grasped the savage animal by the throat and held it while he called for help. The claws of the animal tore open his trouser legs, but he hung on until help arrived. He was nearly overcome.

DARING THIEVES DRUGGED SALOON MAN AND CARRIED AWAY SAFE

Dunkirk, N.Y., Dec. 16.—Three men entered the saloon of Alexander Matuschiwiz here early to-day, called for drinks, asked Matuschiwiz to join them, put knock-out drops in the glass, when his back was turned, moved his safe with dynamite, secured $2,500 in cash and escaped.

Neighbors attracted by the explosion got medical assistance for him, and was later revived. There is no clue to the identity of the trio.

Lac La Nonne, Alta., Dec. 15.—(Special)—If you have Kidney trouble of any kind, from Backache to Bright's Disease, and don't know how to cure it, ask your neighbors. I did not know what to do, and told one of my neighbors. He handed me a Dodd's Almanac. After reading it I concluded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after using five boxes I feel fine and able to do any kind of hard work. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Kidneys, and I cannot praise them too much."

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie District by our Department of the Interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found there abundance of suitable food; they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of the country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Pluck, pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realises that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

It is certainly a growing time for Orangeism.

Not only will the hull be renewed, but the boilers and machinery will be thoroughly overhauled.

Romans in Britain

The Roman galley found during the excavations in connection with the new County Hall for London was moved from Westminster Bridge to the new London museum at Kensington Place the other day. When the oaken beams were hoisted from the Thames mud a quantity of decayed bones was discovered. They included the rib of a man and other human remains, and also the jaw of a dog. Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City. — Chiefs Cloud and Washee, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov. Cruse, of Oklahoma, to intervene at Washington to have the privilege of holding the gift and "willow" dances restored to the tribes.

Indian agents at Segar have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal customs. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the conclusion.

The gift dance is the occasion for a gathering of the tribes and the squaws join in it. Guests are loaded with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

IRISH HOME RULE TO GO THROUGH

It Is a Foregone Conclusion that the Irish Bill Will Be Passed Next Parliament.

(Special Cable Service.)

When parliament assembles again the last battle for Home Rule will be on. For it is a foregone conclusion that Home Rule will win.

For now all liberal England has been won over to the side of the Irish. Indeed Ireland and the Irish have become actually popular with the English majority. Not since the days of Gladstone and Parnell has the cause of Ireland been accorded such sympathetic support among English people. Wherever the Irish Home-rule speakers, Redmond, "Tay Pay" O'Connor and the rest have spoken in their recent campaigning in England they have been enthusiastically received.

The recess will be devoted largely to informal discussion of the proposed home rule bill. The Liberal and Irish leaders will get together and go over the tentative draft of the bill in detail with a view to solving some of the major difficulties before the bill finally goes before parliament.

The measure has already been roughed out. A cabinet committee has been working upon the bill in general while a committee of financial experts has been working on the specific question of the financial relation between Ireland and England—one of the knottiest problems to be solved.

Just what form the bill will assume can't well be forecasted. Some of the papers are publishing what purport to be outlines of the bill, but some of these is regarded as more than a guess.

Man's Physical Strength

Man's capacity for work and sport varies with the temperament of the individual and the character of the task. For this very crystal reason students of physiology always will find it a puzzling problem to analyse the average man and produce authentic figures showing the amount of strength he requires in his daily duties or what he accomplishes from a physical standpoint.

One man may be a hustler, his fellow creature obviously latent in physical energy, but there must be a distinction in mental duties and those which sap brawn and muscle.

Man's physical strength generally undergoes the severest test in athletics. The more vigorous forms of sports necessitate action that will not be found in the revolving chair or, for that matter, in any class of labor that taxes the physical powers.

THE ORIGIN OF OPIUM

The Cultivation of Poppies which was only Begun in China 200 Years Ago was Imported from the West Into India.

The same political development is to be seen in the East as in the West, but in a lesser degree, and to affirm that the West has outstripped the East, or that the East has lagged behind the West, is to affirm things about which nothing certain can be said. It is curious that the vice which is regarded as most distinctly Asiatic should have originated in Europe. Seven thousand years ago, in the so-called Stone age, the lake dwellers of Switzerland were cultivating poppies, apparently for the oil in the seed.

In the South of Europe and on the Mediterranean shores of Africa the opium poppy—or rather the wild poppy of which the opium poppy is a cultivated variety—was grown perhaps two thousand years ago. The Greeks were acquainted with the somniferous properties of the sap, which was used as medicine, but chiefly it was cultivated for the oil. Now this variety of poppy does not grow wild in Asia; it was apparently introduced into Persia, India, and China by Arab traders, as the narcotic juice seems to have been largely used by the Arabians for the pleasurable effects produced. It appears to have reached India about a thousand years ago, although no doubt the drug was imported before that time, and five hundred years ago it was an article of trade between India and China.

The cultivation of poppies, however, apparently was only begun in China some two hundred years ago, when the Chinese hit upon the plan of inhaling the fumes by burning the drug—the so-called opium smoking. Here we see the introduction of a narcotic from the West to the East, and the question arises why the West has been able to escape from its influence while so many Eastern nations have succumbed? This is more especially curious when we remember that tobacco, also introduced to the East from the West, is now as popular in Europe as in Asia and other parts of the world.

Whatever be the cause of this comparative indifference to opium in Europe, it remains a fact that its use and cultivation were imported from the West, and thus an Asiatic vice turns out to be not peculiarly Asiatic at all.

SUPERTITIONS ROUND 'OPALS'

Sir Walter Scott Started the Idea that Opals Were Unlucky in one of his Books.

The idea that opals were unlucky is thought by many to be on account of the unfortunate part Sir Walter Scott assigned to it in his "Anne of Geierstein." The opal is also associated with misfortune by Russians of both sexes, who, should they chance to see an opal amongst the goods displayed for purchase, will buy nothing more that day, and it is a curious fact that the Japanese, being under the sign that this stone belongs to, should be the nation to bring such ill-luck to the Russians during the disastrous war between these two countries. The Romans of old loved the opal so well that they bestowed upon it the name of "lovely youth." It never occurred to them that it was a gem which carried ill-luck to its possessor. In the Middle Ages there were not wanting men who shared the Romans' weakness, for opals did not lose their popularity as time went on. Each century brought its own joys and sorrows, luck and ill-luck, to the human race; and each age brought its fashions in jewellery as in clothing, but the opal remained high in favour and entered largely into the adornment of both sexes.

NO LYNCHING IN THIS CASE

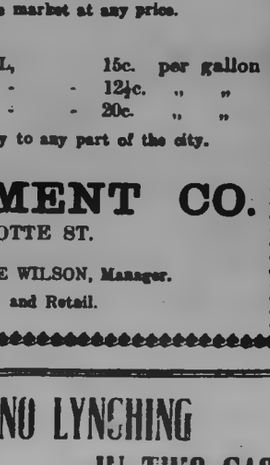
Texans Who Didn't Lynch Youth Who Murdered Defenceless School Teacher Are Now Wondering If It Pays.

(By special cable)

Pecos, Texas — Reeves-co passed up an excellent chance for a lynching one last June, when hundreds of the citizens were itching to string up a young Mexican who confessed murdering Miss Brown, a white school teacher.

The murderer isn't hanged yet.

Emma Brown, pretty and 25, left the general store at Saragosa last July 22 and drove out over the prairie



with a supply of groceries for her sister's ranch, 10 miles away. Half an hour later Leon Martinez, a young Mexican clerk in the store, left on a pony. Later Martinez returned. Miss Brown never reached the ranch.

Next morning a stray horse and buggy were found. Four bullet marks were on the buggy. Pink Harbert, a cowboy deputy sheriff, was hastily summoned. Some distance from the buggy he found the corpse of Emma Brown, scarred with two bullet holes and six stab wounds. Worst of all, Emma Brown had been stabbed in the back!

Reeves-co heard the news and boiled. But it agreed with Dist. Atty. Will Brady before the murderer was discovered, that there would be no lynching. Reeves-co would let legal justice be done for this terrible murder.

Then Leon Martinez was arrested and he confessed.

Mace feeling and horror almost brought a lynching. But they held in. A telegram summoned Judge S. A. Isaacs from Midland, 70 miles away.

Twixt Bull and Bear.

Lincoln stories are common, and the tellers of them are not so accurate in ascertaining their genuineness as they are prolific in producing them. The following tale may or may not be a real Lincoln." It is, in any event, a good story:

Two farm-hands, Lincoln used to say, were set upon by a huge bull while crossing a rocky field. One managed to gain a tree. The other took refuge in a hole in the tree that seemed to have an exit in the rear.

The man who had chosen the hole was no sooner in at one end than he was out at the other. With a bellow, the bull made for him. He turned and again shot through the hole. The bull once more bore down upon him, and once more he was in and out of his hole.

The strange pursuit kept up some minutes. At first it mystified the farm-hand up in the tree. Then it angered him.

"Hey," he shouted, "you idiot! Why don't you stay in the hole?"

The bull was dashing from one end of the hole to the other at great speed, and the man was bobbing in and out desperately. He heard, however, his comrade's shout, and found time before his next brief disappearance to shout back:

"Idiot yourself! There's a bear in the hole."

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 837 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that; I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

SONG ASKED FOR.

There's a Mother Always Waiting You at Home.

"So you're going to leave the old home Jim, to-day you're going away,
You are going among city folks to dwell."
So spoke a dear old mother to her boy one summer day.
"If you're mind's made up that way, I wish you well;
The old home will be lonely, we will miss you when you're gone.
The birds won't sing so sweet when you're not nigh,
But if you are in trouble, Jim, just write and let us know."

She spoke these words and then she said good-bye.

Chorus:

When sickness overtakes you, when old companions shake you,
As through the world you wander all alone,
When friends you have not any, in your pocket not a penny,
There's a mother always waiting you at home, sweet home.

Ten years later to the village came a stranger no one knew,
His step was halt and ragged clothes he wore.
The little children laughed at him as down the lane he walked;
At last he stopped before a cottage door.

He gently knocked; no sound he heard.
He thought, "Can she be dead?"
But soon he heard a voice well known to him, 'Twas mother's voice.
Her hair was silvered by the touch of time,
She said: "Thank God! He sent us back our Jim."

Reminiscences Written by a Non-Commissioned Officer Who Served During the Napoleonic Wars.

There has recently been published a book containing reminiscences written by a non-commissioned officer who served during the Napoleonic wars. In these reminiscences there is given this description of a scene after the British attack on the French forces in Alexandria: "After the action was over we were ordered to go and take all the wounded of both armies and carry them to the boats. . . . It was truly a horrible sight to see the French and British writhing in agonies of death, and making friendship, who had only a few minutes before been filled with rage and hatred at one another—all their fierce passions stilled, and like a hushed child, taking one another in their dying arms."

This other picture is of the scene presented by Waterloo the morning after: "When morning came I went out to see the field on which so many brave soldiers had perished. The scene which met my eyes was horrible in the extreme. The number of dead was far greater than I had ever seen on any former battlefield. The bodies were not scattered over the ground, but were lying in heaps—men and horses mixed promiscuously together. I turned away with disgust from this heart-moving spectacle. . . . I confess my feelings overcame me; I wept bitterly, and wished I had not been a witness of such a scene."

"As It Was in the Beginning."

When William Pengelly was a sailor boy, weather-bound on the coast of Devonshire, he had his earliest geological experience, and Mr. S. Baring-Gould says he was wont to relate it as is printed below:

I received my first lesson in geology at Lyme Regis very soon after I had entered my teens. A laborer, whom I was observing, accidentally broke a small stone of blue lias and thus disclosed a fine ammonite—the first fossil I had ever seen or heard of.

"What's that?" I exclaimed.

"If you read your Bible you'd know what 'tis," said the workman, somewhat scornfully.

"I have read my Bible. But what has that to do with it?"

"In the Bible we're told there was once a flood that covered the whole world. At that time all the rocks were mud, and the different things that were drowned were buried in it, and there's a snake that was buried that way. There are lots of 'em, and what things they've made in the rocks and stones hereabouts."

"A snake! But where's his head?"

"You must read your Bible, I tell 'ee, and then you'll find out why 'tis some of the snakes ain't got no heads. We're told there that the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head; that's how 'tis."

BY-LAW NUMBER 644

A By-law to authorize the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan to execute an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company for the right to use a Highway in the Township of North Monaghan as therein mentioned.

Passed 17th day of November, 1911.

WHEREAS The Peterborough Radial Railway Company has applied to the Council of the Township of North Monaghan for the franchise and right for a period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the public highway or road, which may be better known as "The Monaghan Road" extending Southerly from Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turn-outs and other appliances for the purposes of the said Railway, and the Council and Company have agreed on the terms and conditions on which in the opinion of the Council the said right should be given, which terms and conditions have been reduced to writing, and are fully set out herein, and it is necessary that the said terms and conditions and the period for which said right is to be granted should be submitted to the vote of the Electors of the Municipality in the manner provided in the Consolidated Municipal Act (1903) and the Ontario Railway Act 1906 with respect to By-laws requiring the assent of the Electors.

THEREFORE the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan by the Council thereof, enacts as follows:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2. The Council of the Township of North Monaghan are hereby authorized to enter into an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company in the words and figures following, namely:

THIS AGREEMENT made in duplicate the 17th day of November, 1911, between THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTH MONAGHAN, hereinafter called the "Corporation," of the FIRST PART and THE PETERBOROUGH RADIAL RAILWAY COMPANY, hereinafter called the "Company," of the SECOND PART.

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto and dated the Fourteenth day of March, 1904, the Corporation did grant unto the Company a franchise and right for the period of thirty years, therein set forth, together with the exemption therein referred to, and

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto, and dated the Nineteenth day of September, 1904, the Corporation did further grant unto the Company an extension of said Franchise to the Boundary Line running along the Western limit of the City of Peterborough from Charlotte Street to the Northern boundary of the Township of North Monaghan, and

WHEREAS the parties have further agreed to further extend the said Franchise from the north side of Charlotte Street southerly along the highway known as the Monaghan Road (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan), to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan.

1. WITNESSETH that the Corporation doth hereby upon and subject to the terms, provisoes and conditions hereinafter referred to and contained, and subject to the Special Statute incorporating the Company, and of the Sections of the Railway Act applying to the said Company, grant to the said Company the Franchise and right for the period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the Public Highway or Road, which may be known as "The Monaghan Road" extending southerly from the north side of Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee, in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turnouts and other appliances thereon for the purpose aforesaid. Provided, however, that the rails shall be laid along the centre of the road allowance as far South as Cameron Street and that from the North side of Cameron Street South to the River Otonabee the rails shall be laid on the portion of the highway designated by the Township Council.

2. AND it is expressly declared and agreed by and between the parties hereto that wherever in this agreement the parties of the First Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Corporation, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns, and wherever in this agreement the parties of the Second Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Company, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns.

3. AND the Company do hereby covenant, promise and agree with the Corporation in manner following, that is to say:

4. THAT the propelling power of such railway will be horses, electricity, or any other power except steam as the Company wish to adopt and put in operation.

5. THAT the Company will lay the rails flush with the road, and so as to cause the least possible impediment to ordinary traffic, that the same will be laid in accordance with the existing level or grade of the road at the time of laying the same or as near thereto as is compatible with a proper execution of the work.

6. THAT the Company will so construct and maintain the railway that the same will not interfere with their roadbed between their rails and the water tables and drainage, and devilstrip in the same manner as the remainder of the Highway is maintained.

7. THAT the Corporation shall not be liable to the Company for any damage the Company may incur or sustain from the breakage of any sewer or water pipe or for any damage or delay that may be caused by the construction of sewers, laying of water pipes or repairing the same or from any delay that may be caused by fresbets or fires.

THAT it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation to lay down or permit to be laid down in the road water pipes and gas pipes, and to alter and repair or permit to be altered and repaired the same respectively, and also subject to Section 5 here of to grade, alter, improve and repair the road whenever public convenience may so require without cost or claim for damages against the Corporation for interruption or interference with the traffic of the Company or its railway.

THAT the fares to be charged by the Company will be the same as those charged in the City of Peterborough, and the payment of fare upon any part of the line hereinbefore provided for will entitle the passenger to be carried to any part of the railway line in the City of Peterborough without additional fare.

13. IT shall be the duty of the Company when removing snow from its tracks to spread the same evenly upon the Highway so that the same will not injuriously affect the travel on that part of the Highway outside the Company's tracks.

14. SHOULD the Company forfeit its Franchise in the City of Peterborough the Township Council may declare this Franchise to be forfeited and cancelled.

15. IT is understood and agreed that the Company is to put the highway on each side of the track in as good a condition for general travel as the travelled part of the road was before the laying of the tracks.

Bad Tempers

"A woman who is truly amiable, meek, and sweet-tempered rarely has any cause for resentment," says a doctor.

The woman who governs her temper is the woman who wins in this life. She is certainly the most successful woman in business and society, and where is the person who will deny that she is the best wife, mother, and friend?

Experience teaches one that the average woman with a naturally irritable temper often encourages it, fosters it. But perhaps they wouldn't if they knew that anger curdles the blood, hinders circulation, and, consequently, makes the complexion bad and dulls the eyes. It also weakens a woman's wits, making her less attractive physically and mentally. Bad temper does not destroy the mind, but it renders one unable to work mentally.

H. R. H. THE DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT.

Since her arrival in Canada the Duchess has ingratiated herself with every one she has come into contact with simply by her sweet and gracious manners. She is delighted with Canadian ladies.

A Beauty Sleep

A grandmother who still possesses the freshness of complexion and youthfulness of eye that a woman of 50 would have, boasts that it is due to the daily siesta which she has taken all her life. She undresses every day after luncheon and sleeps for 30 minutes. She insists that one should put on a nightdress and really go to bed if one is to get the full advantage of the afternoon's sleep, and that it should not exceed 20 minutes.

A prolonged sleep in the afternoon makes one heavy and stupid, and keeps one wakeful when night comes, but 30 minutes' sleep will renew and refresh immensely.

This method is only possible to the woman of leisure, and utterly beyond the woman of business. But she can strive to get a sufficient amount of sleep at night.

Dogs Go Wild.

Our tame dogs would all go wild if left to themselves for a few years. They tried the experiment once on Robinson Crusoe's island. They left some of their dogs there, and nobody called at the island again for about thirty years. And they found all the dogs had become quite wild. They hunted just like wolves, and they had forgotten how to bark; they could only howl. It was not till they became used to man again that they learnt to bark. A few years ago two dogs near to Nottingham lost their owners, so they made homes for themselves in a field. They hunted sheep and lambs, and did a great deal of damage, just as the wild dogs of India and Africa and Australia do. They looked just like wolves—so much had they changed during the months they had lived the life of wild dogs; and, finally, they had to be shot.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR The Hospital for Sick Children

Dear Mr. Editor,—

Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

I make this direct appeal to the people of Ontario, for the fathers and mothers of Ontario, outside the City of Toronto, have precisely the same claim for their sick children as regards the privileges of the Hospital, as parents who reside in this city.

In brief the sick children from any place in Ontario whose parents cannot afford to pay, is, on certificate from a municipal officer of any city, town, village or township, treated free.

This is a privilege not granted by any Hospital in the Dominion, or on this Continent.

Let me, in a few words, state that in the last 20 years, since 1891, there have been 4,731 patients from 450 places outside of this city treated free, as the parents were unable to pay for treatment. Last year 344 patients from 234 places outside Toronto were so treated.

The Hospital is not a city but a Provincial institution. The Corporation of Toronto grants $18,000, not only for city children, but towards the maintenance of every patient in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $10,000 to the maintenance fund of the Hospital.

It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province.

Why, in the Orthopedic department in 20 years, nearly 700 children, boys and girls, have been treated for club feet, and about 600 were corrected. Two-thirds of these came from places outside of Toronto, from parents who could not afford to pay.

Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Every day is Christmas to the child whose little life is saved, or whose crippled limb is straightened with the might of money—your money—and the mercy of the Hospital.

Will you, the reader of this letter, think of what your dollar will do? It helps to restore health and strength, and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

You give wealth to the Hospital, and the Hospital gives health to the children.

Yes, your money can put golden hinges on the door of the Hospital's mercy.

Will you, kind reader, help us and send a spare dollar to Douglas Davidson, the secretary-treasurer of the Hospital, or

J ROSS ROBERTSON, Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto

WOOD PULP AND PAPER TRADE MEET

Home Market Club Against Its Free Importation Into American Markets Especially from Canada.

(Special Cable Service.)

BOSTON. — Just before adjournment of its meeting here, the Home Market Club went on record as against the free importation of wood pulp and print paper from Canada, and the possibility of the extension of this policy to other pulp and paper exporting countries. The resolution, which was adopted unanimously, was as follows:

"Whereas, wood pulp and print paper have been placed on the free list so far as Canada is concerned, notwithstanding that the expected concessions on the part of Canada have been denied us, and whereas demands are now being made under the favored nation clause by all paper exporting countries for the same tariff privileges which have been extended to Canada:

"Be it resolved, that we protest against this unjust treatment of American paper manufacturers and respectfully petition Congress to repeal this legislation."

Secretary Marvin, after the adoption of the resolution, pointed out that in 1906 and 1907 the paper producing countries of Europe, held by Norway, Germany, the Netherlands, Austria and Great Britain, had a surplus for export amounting to $337,127,000, or nearly twice as large as the entire paper and wood pulp production of the United States.

Madame Michaelis seems to think that the dangerous age is along about 40.

Nagsby: "You did, a moment ago."

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

DISMISSAL OF KING'S CHAPLAIN

Charges of Drunkenness and Immorality Against Rev. Frederick P. Farrar. — Bishop Investigating Case.

(By special cable)

London. — The first court scandal in King George's reign exploded with violence, when The Gazette announced officially the dismissal of the Rev. Frederick Percival Farrar, the King's domestic chaplain, and also honorary chaplain to Queen Alexandra.

Charges of drunkenness and immorality have been made against the deposed King's chaplain, and they are now being investigated by the Bishop of Norwich. The disgraced clergyman has been rector of Sandringham, where the favorite residence of the late King Edward and of Queen Alexandra was situated. It is understood that he has resigned his rectorship in consequence of the charges against him, and a startling report is abroad that the Rev. Farrar is missing and that search is being made for him.

He is a son of the late Dean Farrar, and only last July he married Miss Nora Davis, a sister of Richard Harding Davis, the author, and a daughter of the late Clarke Davis, of Philadelphia. The wedding was attended by many prominent society people of London. Members of the Royal family sent wedding gifts, those of King George, Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra being especially handsome.

GERMANY AND MOROCCAN CRISIS

Many People Are Sore on the Supposed Laxity of German Government in Allowing Britain to Dictate.

Berlin. — The official report of the secret sitting of the budget committee of the Reichstag in November, when Foreign Minister von Kiderlin-Waechter made a report on Anglo-German relations as affected by the Moroccan dispute with France, is now published.

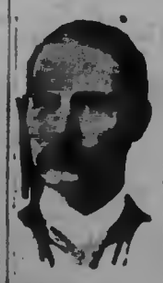
The Foreign Minister's account of the interviews between the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, and the German Ambassador at London, Count Wolff-Metternich, and of the communications that passed between Germany and England, show that the situation was most tense from July 21 to July 27, and the language used on both sides was so sharp that a peaceful outcome of the affair under the circumstances is considered most fortunate.

Great Britain, according to Herr von Kiderlin-Waechter, after receiving on July 1 an individual, as well as a general, explanation of the objects of the despatch of the German warship Panther to Agadir, remained silent until July 21.

Sir Edward Grey then had a conversation with the German ambassador, in which he declared that the time had come for Great Britain to intervene in the Franco-German negotiations, since these apparently were about to be broken off owing to Germany's unacceptable proposals, which would raise the question of the future of Morocco, whereby British interests would be affected. He requested an explanation of the German designs at Agadir.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

London.—The unionist forces in the British parliament have called upon a Canadian to lead them against the assaults of the progressive liberal forces. Andrew Bonar Law, born in New Brunswick and who removed to Glasgow, and was from there sent to the House of Commons, has been chosen leader of the British standpatters to succeed former Premier A. J. Balfour. Law is one of the ablest conservative debaters; also, he is the best chess player in parliament.



BONAR LAW

THE EMPIRE AND CANADA

London. — The London Chamber of Commerce tonight discussed "Canada" in its relation to the Mother Country. Faithfull Begg, treasurer, who presided, said that no country could show such a remarkable advance in progress as Canada during the past five years. Canada had done its part nobly in the recent elections and it was for the United Kingdom now to do hers and show appreciation of the efforts of the Dominion in the cause of imperial unity.

A. W. Smithers, chairman of the G. T. R., thought the British Government was discreditable for investigating the emigration question so unscientifically. The Dominion doesn't want the riffraff of our cities, and he appealed to the Government to transform unemployed casual labor into citizens acceptable to Canada.

She: "Oh, yes, I quite believe there's a fool in every family, don't you?"

He: "Well — er — my opinion is rather biased. You see, I am the only member of our family!"

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a better welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

"I know Ames comes in for a lot of praise because he hunts with a camera instead of a gun," Forbes began, in a slightly acrid tone. "It never seems to strike people that there may be more than one kind of brutality."

"What's the matter with Ames?" demanded one of the men on the clubhouse porch.

"Up in Canada last fall, Forbes readily resumed, "I went off by myself one day, when Ames was fiddling over his kodak, and I stumbled full on a black bear. Because I was the only thing in sight, very likely I became the immediate object of her attentions. I had only a slight lead, but I was going pretty well when Ames poked through the brush and took in the situation.

"'Hold on there, old chap!' he yelled. 'You're too far ahead. I can't get you both in.'"

LUNCHES SERVED IN DRUG STORES

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Oklahoma City is dry and the saloon free lunch has disappeared. Now every drug store in town has a lunch counter in addition to a stamp, city directory and public telephone departments. Lunch signs are displayed prominently on drug stores. One druggist explains it this way.

"When the saloons closed, folks tried to get their drinks in drug stores. But these went dry, too, and there was a boom in soft drinks. In cold weather, crackers were served with hot drinks. Folks found this a substitute for free lunch. Finally the free lunch became too elaborate and we put in lunch counters. Now every drug store in Oklahoma City is selling sandwiches, chili con carne, cake and pie."

RIOTING IN MEXICO.

Striking Mill Hands Clashed With Rurales.

TORREON, Mex. — Rioting at Gomez Palacio, six kilometres north of here, was reported. Striking mill hands are said to have clashed with rurales in the streets. No casualities have been reported. Fifty cavalrymen and fifty rurales were sent from here to assist in restoring order.

Strike conditions in this city appeared to have improved. Many of the employers have agreed to the eight-hour day, but the strikers refuse to return to work until all have adopted it.

The city water supply is threatened through idleness of the electric power plant which operates the pumps, but it is possible that it will resume operations under military protection.

"Were you introduced to the count last night, Marie?"

"Yes; we talked together for an hour."

"What did you talk about?"

"I haven't the remotest idea. We spoke in French."

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian, and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the small stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But more greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine, conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thomas' Sarsaparilla."

THE CRIMINAL AMONG PLANTS

Thugs of the Vegetable World that Have No Honest Ways, and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze, clovers, and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitroken which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this private store for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts which infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees are like unto them, and both are singularly wanting in beauty, being clothed in dirty-brown tints, as a rule, and having no green leaves. Even one of the Persicarias (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and these evil-doers by no means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the root-stock of a grafted rose for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers; such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

Highest on Earth

The Lon Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

The church stands upon the site of the old edifice, which was torn down to make room for it. The building is of cut Longford stone, 66 x 102 feet in size, and presents a handsome appearance.

Graveyard Coughs and Colds

CURED QUICKLY BY CATARRHOZONE.

A cough or cold this season of the year paves the way for pneumonia or consumption. The best remedy is "Catarrhozone." It eases a cough in five minutes, and colds cannot exist but a few hours where it is used. Mrs. H. L. Chenowith, residing at Glendive, Montana, was worried by a "graveyard" cough. In the following letter she tells how Catarrhozone cured her in one week:

"I had a bad cough for several months last fall that settled on my lungs. I was worried very much to think that nothing I used could shake it off, but reading in the Halifax "Presbyterian Witness" of the wonderful cures Catarrhozone was effecting, I decided to try it. The irritability and soreness was taken out of my throat in a few days, and in less than one week it entirely cured my cough.

"It is with great gratitude and pleasure that I recommend Catarrhozone. I am sure it will benefit and cure all who use it."

(Signed) Mrs. H. L. Chenowith.

The reason Catarrhozone always cures is that it goes right to the sore spot, which it heals and makes well quickly. It is antiseptic and destroys disease germs in every part of the system. For Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, nothing compares with Catarrhozone. It is very pleasant and simple to use, contains no injurious drugs, and is warranted perfectly safe to use. Catarrhozone Inhaler is suitable to use in a street car, theatre, church, any place, at any time. Complete outfit costs but $1, and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. Trial size 25c, sold by druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

There are seventy-five qualified instructors on the staff of the permanent corps and it is intended that these will do most of the travelling to all important centres, where provisional schools for the qualification of officers will be established. The first of them will open at St. John, N.B., on January 1st. Peterborough, no doubt, will be one of the centres for military instruction.

COMPANY IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

The Company was incorporated in 1906, and has made steady progress. Their Real Estate holdings are chiefly in and around Calgary and will so continue, but latterly they have been paying a little attention to Saskatoon, where such remarkable progress is being made. It will be the policy of the Company to purchase judiciously in and near Towns and Cities which have passed the uncertain stage of development and whose future is assured. The Company, with its expert knowledge of values is better able to handle such business than any individual, however well equipped he may be for the work.

While the Company has been, and will continue to be, conservative in the matter of dividends, it would appear probable that before very long a distribution of Assets, either in the shape of a Stock Bonus or substantial Cash Dividend, might be made. If not, however, the Shareholders will still benefit by holding a security of constantly increasing value, which will be reflected in the market price of the stock.

The remarkable progress of the City of Calgary is perhaps without precedent in Canada. Building permits issued during the ten months ended 31st October, 1911, reached the enormous total of $11,664,138.00

HIGHER DIVIDEND PROSPECTS

Mr. H. A. MacLean, President of the Company, in a letter dated 15th November, 1911, makes the following reference to Dividend and Reserve Fund: "While I can say nothing official at this time, I may mention that at the Company's Annual Meeting, following its year-end at 31st December, it is my intention to recommend that the Dividend for 1911 be declared at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, which will be an advance of 1 per cent. over the Dividend for 1910. I consider it safe to say in this connection, also, that the Dividend for 1912 will be at the rate of 12 per cent.

"The Asset and Liability Return covering the ten months ended 31st October shows, after allowing for all expenses and outlays of every kind, except the 1911 Dividend, a surplus of Assets over Liabilities of $311,736.72. The 1911 Dividend will amount to approximately $40,000.00, leaving a net surplus of approximately $271,736.72, equal to 90 per cent. of the Company's paid-up Capital. This amount may be fairly considered as a Reserve fund in its present shape, and the Company might continue with safety along its present lines. It is my intention, however, at the approaching Annual Meeting, to propose that a portion equal to 25 per cent. of the Real Estate forming this surplus, be set aside, and advantageously sold—the proceeds of such sale to be invested in high grade listed Railroad Bonds, yielding the Company about 5 per cent. This operation, repeated from year to year, will give the Company a reserve fund of pretty much the same nature as is carried by the Banks and other conservatively managed institutions."

COMPANY'S DIVIDEND RECORD

The Company has paid Dividends every year since its incorporation as follows:

1907	6 per cent.
1908	6 per cent.
1909	9 per cent.
1910	10 per cent.

FINANCIAL POSITION STRONG

The Company's statement of assets and liabilities as of October 31st, 1911, attested to by Messrs. Webb, Read & Hegan, appears in full in the prospectus. It shows the value of the Company's real estate and buildings, as valued by Mr. V. J. L. Eccles, to stand at $584,111, and balance of profit and loss account $311,736. Of the Company's authorized capital of $1,000,000, $398,380 is subscribed, $301,857.50 of which is paid up, leaving $96,522.50 of unmatured and unpaid calls.

Inquiries as to the Company's standing and the integrity and ability of the directors (of whom the President, Managing Director and Secretary-Treasurer devote their time exclusively to the Company's business) may be made of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Montreal.

It is the intention to make application in due course to have the stock listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Copies of prospectus and application forms for shares may be obtained from the undersigned, and in cases where the request for application forms states the number of shares desired it will be considered that application has been received at that date. The right is reserved, however, to allot a smaller number of shares than applied for.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.

A. Years ago th science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

ANGLOPHOBIA POSTPONES THE INTERNATIONAL FAIR

STRAINED FEELING BETWEEN NATIONS CAUSES POSTPONEMENT OF ANGLO-GERMAN EXHIBITION.

Espionage Mania in Both Countries —Far More Bitter Than During the Boer War.

Berlin, Dec. 18.—The postponement in London of the great Anglo-German Exhibition, which was to have been held here in 1913, is regarded in Berlin as highly symptomatic of the strained state of Anglo-German relations.

The exhibition has been put off only one year, but the impression prevails here that the promoters actually mean to bury the project, in view of the bad blood which now exists on both sides of the channel.

Competent observers agree that the Anglophobism at present prevailing in Germany is far more bitter even than that which raged during the Boer war.

The alleged discovery of a British plot to blow up the naval harbor at Wilhelmshaven published in the Rhinish Westphalian Gazette is regarded in official circles in the light of newspaper nonsense. While the Essen newspaper's story is not denied, it is considered as the product of the prevailing espionage mania in Germany and England.

Espionage certainly existed, but it took less fanastic forms than that related in the Gazette.

THINKS POPE AND JESUITS WOULD USE TORTURE AGAIN

Rev. Manly Benson Illustrates by a Reference to the Marriage Decree—A Sermon in Welland.

St. Catharines, Ont., Dec. 18.—"The Pope and the Jesuits would do the same thing again to-day, if they had the power," declared Rev. Dr. Manly Benson, at Welland avenue Methodist church on Sunday night, in a sermon to which he denounced the ne temere decree.

Dr. Benson had referred to the practice of the Roman Catholic Inquisition in sticking iron hooks in the backs of the martyrs, and holding them over slow fires because they refused to renounce their religion. "You can easily understand that the Pope would sanction such acts when to-day he will issue a decree which will tear man and wife apart and disrupt homes."

LAST COUNCIL MEETING FOR YEAR 1911

The City Fathers met in special session last night. There were present Mayor Morrow, Aldermen Duncan, Metheral, Edgar, Brown, Graham, Anderson, Kerneghan and Morgan.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The tender for advertising [illegible] between now and the end of the year, provided they are passed by the Finance Committee —Carried.

The tender for the small pox cottage was left with the property committee with power to act.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From F. H. Dobbin, of The Review suggesting that the power by-law, being such an important one, should be given wider publicity by being printed in the Examiner and Review.

Ald. Kerneghan moved, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That they be published in the evening papers.—Carried.

From J. H. Burnham, M.P., enclosing a letter from the Minister of Railways and Canals.—Received.

TRANSFER OF SNOW PLOUGHING CONTRACT.

A by-law entitled "A By-law to Amend By-law No. 1635," was passed. It provided for the transfering of the Doig snow ploughing contract to McWilliams.

THE POWER QUESTION.

Ald. Duncan said that he thought that the City Clerk should get in touch with Hon. Adam Beck and get him to address a meeting here re the power question. He contended that the report was now going that Council would have to take the power from the Hydro Electric Commission, no matter what the charge, and he thought the people should be enlightened on this matter.

The Mayor suggested the appointment of a committee on this question.

Aldermen Metheral and Duncan agreed and Ald. Graham moved seconded by Ald. Edgar, that the City Clerk, Mayor Morrow and Ald. Duncan be a committee to arrange for a public meeting in the interests of promoting a favorable vote on the question of obtaining electric power from the Hydro-Electric Commission, and to take such other action for this purpose that they deemed advisable.—Carried.

Ald. Anderson moved that the City Treasurer be authorized to pay all

FAREWELL!

The Mayor thanked the members of the council for the kindness showed him throughout his term and for their hearty co-operation in business matters. He thought the citizens generally, owed considerable to council for its efficiency and the clean business-like manner in which they had conducted the affairs of the city. In conclusion, he wished all a merry Christmas and happy New Year.

Ald. Morgan replied that Mayor Morrow was the best Mayor the city had ever had and he had thoroughly enjoyed working with him.

Ald. Anderson agreed with Ald. Morgan and added that this year's council had been less criticised than that of any previous year. He hoped the incoming Chief Magistrate would follow in the footsteps of the retiring Mayor, and subsequently leave office with as high a reputation for efficiency as Mayor Morrow has earned the past two years.

Lisbon, Dec. 18.—The Portuguese government has informed the Catholic patriarch of Lisbon, Mgr. Anthony Meades Bello, that it will not pay any salary to the clergy unless the clergy submit to the law separating church and state.

This announcement was made in consequence of the receipt of advices from Rome that the pope had authorized destitute Portuguese priests to accept stipends from the republic on the condition that they did not allow the government to interfere in ecclesiastical matters.

"Nerviline" Cures Rheumatism

And Here is the Proof — A Solemn Statement From a Four-years' Cripple, Who Says "Nerviline" Did It.

"If I had lived through my sufferings another year it would have been a miracle." This is the opening sentence of the declaration made by Mr. J. Eccles Squires, member of one of the best-known families for twenty miles round Sydney. "My hands were drawn out of shape, even my fingers were gnarled and crooked—my lameness, stiffness and inability to get about all showed the havoc Rheumatism made with my health. The blessing of it all is that I have heard of Nerviline, and now I am able to tell and advise others how they may get well, too. My system was so weakened that I had to build up with a good tonic, so I took Ferrozone at meals. But I never stopped rubbing on Nerviline—it had a magic influence on my stiff, painful joints, and bottle after bottle was rubbed on the painful parts. Nerviline cured me. I am well to-day—have been well for 4½ years."

CURED 4 1-2 YEARS.

You also can cure Rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints—to do so use Nerviline. Don't let your druggist substitute. Get Nerviline only; large size bottle 50c, sample size 25c; sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE TEMERE DECREE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It cannot be denied that the decrees of the Council of Trent are no part of the Canadian law which by the Imperial Statute of 1744 was made the law of Quebec as regards property and civil rights.

The law of Canada at that time was based on the old French law, and it is well known that the decrees of the Council of Trent were never received in France or recognized as part of the civil law of that country, because they were regarded as attempting to encroach on the temporal rights of the Sovereign. See Pothier, Traite de contrat de marriage, Part IV. Ch. 55.

Roman Catholic priests have not inherent right to solemnize marriage in Canada. They derive their authority so to do like the priests and ministers of the rest of the Christian Church from the civil authorities. In Quebec, sec 129 of the Code Civil gives them this power to solemnize matrimony in that Province. This power is given by a Legislature which is representative of all religious bodies in Quebec: it is obviously not intended to be given to any person for the purpose of being used as a means for imposing his religious views on the persons coming to him to be married, and when a priest or any other person authorized to solemnize marriage makes use of his position, to effect some collateral object, as for instance to make it a means of propagating Romanism or Calvinism or any other "ism," he is doing something which the law never authorized him to do.

As Archbishop Bruchesi has candidly admitted, this was what was done at the late marriage of Mr. Shaughnessy and Miss Graham when the lady was unlawfully required to make some promise or engagement which she ought not to have been required to make as a condition of the priest executing his function of solemnizing her marriage. If Roman priests may lawfully presume to refuse to solemnize marriage unless the parties agree to conditions which Roman priests have no right to impose, then every other person authorized to solemnize marriage may also refuse to exercise his office unless some other unlawful conditions are complied with which they see fit to impose, with the result that no one could get married in Canada unless he was prepared to consent to some condition or enter into some agreement which the persons authorized to solemnize marriage chose to propose to them, without any legal authority.

The interest of society requires that there should be reasonable facilities for marriage, that the prohibition against marriages of persons within prohibited degrees should be observed and that a due record should be kept of all marriages. But the interests of society do not require that those authorized to solemnize matrimony should make use of their office as a sort of screw for propagating their religious opinions. And those who so misuse their functions, ought to be deprived of right to solemnize matrimony altogether.

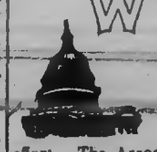
MAY PLAN FOR THE FUTURE

Legislation Regarding Cities and Towns

Will be Sought by Ontario Union of Municipalities — Would Control Outside Land Which Would Eventually be Incorporated—Will Also Seek Authority to Buy Land for Parks Without Payment of Sinking Fund for 25 Years.



WHEN the Ontario Union of Municipalities was first organized, Peterborough, along with the other towns and cities interested, took an active interest in the effort. The Association has now developed strength, and progress to use it for the general good. As an instance of this it is announced that important legislation will be sought at the next session of the Ontario legislature. A meeting of the executive of the union was held this week at which the program of legislation that will be asked for was thoroughly discussed.

Probably the most far-reaching legislation that will be sought is that relative to the future planning of towns and cities. The union will ask that legislation be passed to enable towns and cities which are rapidly growing to have a definite plan laid out for their future boundaries, and to have control of the laying out of additional land that will eventually be incorporated within their borders.

Land for Parks.

An amendment to the assessment act, giving municipalities authority, to purchase land for park purposes without payment of sinking fund for a period of 25 years, will be sought. The idea of this item is to overcome a situation that often occurs at the present day. Vacant lands that in future will be required for park purposes cannot be purchased by cities while the land is cheap and not really necessary for present day use. What the union wants is power to purchase these lands, that will be required for parks in future, and issue 50 year debentures in payment therefor, on which for the first 25 years interest only would be paid, the sinking fund being paid in the last 25 years of the life of the debentures.

In this connection also the Union will ask that mubicipalities be given power to serve notice of expropriation where there are buildings on properties required for park purposes. In the case of a fire the municipality would have first opportunity to secure the right of purchase.

For Small Outlays.

Another important amendment to the Municipal Act that will be asked for is one that will give council the right on atwo-thirds vote, with consent of the Ontario and Railway and Municipal Board, to spend small amounts necessary in improving of public buildings, without having to apply for legislation. The amounts will be limited to a certain fraction on the total assessments of the municipality spending the money.

The Land Tax.

The question of the amendment to the Assessment act, giving municipalities the right on majority vote of the ratepayers to assess improvements at a lower rate than land values was also discussed. Representatives of Hamilton and Toronto while approving the principle, did not favor the optional clause. It has not yet been definitely decided whether legislation will be asked for in this connection.

NEW WELLAND CANAL TO COST FORTY MILLIONS

Ottawa, Dec. 18.—It is understood that the reports of the engineers who have been investigating the question of the deepening of the Welland Canal show that the project will cost $40,000,000.

This was more than was originally expected.

The project is developing into an enormous one and will take serious consideration by the Government before it commits itself to the undertaking.

Searching Farm for Donato's Clothing

Fingerprint Experts Visits Scene of Four Murders in Hope of Clearing Mystery.

Albany, N.Y., Dec. 18.—The authorities of Rensselaer County to-day are making further and more minute search of the Morner farm and barns in the hope of discovering the working clothes of Edward Donato, the Italian farmhand for whom they are hunting in connection with the murder last Tuesday of the four members of the Morner family. Some persons even ventured the opinion that the body of the man will be found.

At the request of the local authorities, William T. Powers, a finger-print expert in the prison department continued his search to-day for telltale finger prints that may aid in solving the mystery. A number of such prints in blood were found yesterday on a post in the barn.

HANGING TOO GOOD FOR THIS MURDERER

Jury Wanted Him Placed in a Dungeon on Every Anniversary of the Woman's Death.

Geneva, Ill., Dec. 18.—One of the most remarkable verdicts ever found by a jury in Illinois, it was learned to-day, was returned by the one which fixed the punishment of Henry W. Morris at life imprisonment for the murder of Mrs. Estelle Dumas, of Pontiac.

The verdict stipulated that on each anniversary of the slaying of Mrs. Dumas the prisoner be placed in a dungeon and put on bread-and-water diet. It was further stipulated that no board of pardons should ever parole the prisoner.

Judge Carnes told the jury that the verdict could not be carried out, and sent them back to bring in one differently worded.

One of the jurors said that it was the opinion of the members that hanging was too good for him.

SIR C. TUPPER STILL IN CRITICAL STATE

MR. BURNHAM SUCCEEDS

In Awakening an Interest in Reforestration of the Immense District in Counties of Peterborough, Hastings and Victoria.

Readers of The Times will remember that Mr. J. H. Burnham, our energetic parliamentary representative last autumn took the world's greatest expert on reforestry to a lengthy trip through the northern portion of Peterborough County, and had his report published. It was also sent to the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, where the matter of reforestry was looked into. The result of Mr. Burnham's efforts is now bearing fruit, judging from the following letter received by him:

Sir,—The Forestry Branch has been gathering information during the past two or three months, concerning the large, rocky, non-agricultural tract of land which lies between Perth and Peterborough, with a view to having an examination made next summer to learn what are the possibilities for the reforestation of this tract with valuable species of trees.

This investigation was prompted by information which has been collected by the Forestry Branch during the past two or three years, showing that the large manufacturing industries of Canada are now chiefly dependent upon the United States for their supply of the higher grades of timber suitable for manufacturing purposes. This tract of which I have spoken, is naturally a hardwood region, capable of producing, under good management, great quantities of valuable timber. It is expected that a full examination of the tract will be made by employes of the Forestry Branch in a few months which will show that this land is at present producing nothing and supporting a very small population; that it could, under wise management, with a reasonable expenditure of money, be reforested with valuable species of timber, and that if it were reforested it would annually produce large quantities of high grade timber, which would be of great value to the manufacturers of Ontario, and would lead to the building up of the small towns and villages through the region.

The Dominion Government has large interests in this region on account of the expenditure on the Trent Valley Canal, a public work which must be more or less influenced by the deforestation of a portion of its watershed. I have learned from Dr. Fernow that you are interested in having a forest examination made of this region, and I would be very glad to have an opportunity of talking the question over with you.

Your obedient servant,
R. H. CAMPBELL,
Director.

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury.

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real Estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable street were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

DUN'S, BRADSTREET'S or ANY BANK

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs' officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie district by our Department of the Interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found here abundance of suitable food; they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of the country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Pluck pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realises that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech" from the Throne.

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

Their condition was such that it was found necessary to enclose them in wire netting to prevent them falling to pieces.

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society — the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It shows that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 43 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the noble devotion of workers of a past generation. There are, in fact, over ninety entries marked S — some of them extensive — indicating them as the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen, representing New Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been reproduced in modern times. Yet, in the year of God and in the spirit of joyous service, these versions were made by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

Mrs. GORDON WRIGHT, Prominent in Temperance

Mrs. Gordon Wright, W. C. T. U. president of the Dominion of Canada, possesses many brilliant talents and her advancement in the W. C. T. U. ranks has been phenomenal. Beginning fifteen years ago as Local Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics in London, Ont., her home city, the following year she became provincial head of the same department, and a year later was placed in charge of the Dominion superintendency. While still holding this office, Mrs. Wright was elected president of the London Union, an active organization of some three hundred members.

In 1898 Mrs. Wright was again advanced, being appointed recording secretary of the Province of Ontario. Two years later she was elected to the office of corresponding secretary for the same Union. This position she filled with conspicuous success, her management of difficult correspondence with influential bodies displaying a genius for this work, which made her a valued member of the provincial sub.-executive for a number of years. Mrs. Wright also acted for some time as editor of the Canadian White Ribbon Tidings.

In 1903 Mrs. Wright was further honored by being elected to the vice-presidency of the Dominion. Two years later she was raised to the highest position in the gift of the Union, that of Dominion President.

Mrs. Gordon Wright is a typical Canadian — a woman of culture and charm. Her winning personality, her natural gifts as an executive officer and public speaker, her devotion to all temperance, missionary and philanthropic causes, combine to place her in the front rank of Canadian womanhood.

HON. A. G. MACKAY Who resigned Ontario Liberal Leadership.

The hon. gentleman who resigned the Leadership of the Liberal party in the Ontario House of Legislature a few days ago, is an M.A. and a K.C. Born at Sydenham, Grey County Ont., on 7th March 1860, his early educational days were spent at Sydenham Public school, Owen Sound High School, the High School of Mount Forest, and finishing at Toronto University from which he graduated B. A. in 1883 and M.A. in 1885. With such an array of instructional influences it is no surprise if the young Sydenham Scot was pointed in early life as a man who knew things, a man who was likely to go to the front in whatever direction he might decide to devote his abilities. That results have justified the faith of those prophets, is known today of all men who give attention to public affairs in Ontario.

Finishing his university career, Mr Mackay was during four years Principal of Port Rowan High School, following which, he went in for law study and was called to the bar in May 1891, and three years later has the honor of being elected Crown Attorney for Grey County, a position he held until 1901.

Switching into the political arena at the 1902 general election success came his way at the first venture, being returned representative for North Grey, a constituency that has continued its confidence right along to the present time.

Hon Mr. Mackay is a director of the Imperial Cement Co., and president of the Owen Sound Dredging and Construction Company. He takes a live interest in military matters and is captain of the 31st Reg't of Militia.

INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City. — Chiefs Cloud and Whistler, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov. Cruse, of Oklahoma, to intercede at Washington to have the privilege of holding the gift and "willow" dances restored to the tribes.

Indian agents at Separ have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal sessions. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the conclusion.

The gift dance is the occasion for a gathering of the tribes and the squaws join in it. Guests are loaded with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

PATRON SAINT OF FOOTBALL

The Patron "Sir Hugh" was Killed for Kicking a Ball Through a Window of a Jews-House.

Footballers may be interested in the following piece of folk-lore about the game. Although it is not generally known, football has a patron saint. In 1520 a boy named Hugh, who was one if the champions of his day, had the misfortune to kick a ball through the window of a Jew's house. Whether the ball struck the man or any member of his family is not known, but certain it is he was very much incensed about the affair. Determined on revenge, he enticed the unsuspecting Hugh into his home and plunged a knife in the youth's back. The English people were very much cut up about the loss of their champion, albeit not as much so as was Hugh. They severely punished his slayer, made the young football player a saint, and gave him a big and expensive funeral. They even wrote verses; bad verses, but still verses, describing the virtues of "sweet Sir Hugh" and his prowess as a football player.

Football was forbidden in Elizabeth's reign under pain of imprisonment, the reason being the extreme brutality of the game, we are told. And James I. debarred "all rough and violent exercises like football" from his Court. In spite, however, of the prohibition against the game, the London apprentices often kicked a football about the streets to keep themselves warm in winter, and it is on record that in the severe frost of 1665 the London streets were "full of footballs."

Long Distance Runners

Long distance runners require a great amount of stamina, wonderfully strong legs, a strong heart and powerful lungs; boxers must have strength and a supple constitution; football players, strength and the wearing activities that are distinctly antithetic to the ordinary companions of labor, or tasks or duties, as the term may apply.

Snugly ensconced in a soft cushioned chair, the public — that part of it which breathes the virulent vaudevillian atmosphere — clape its hands and thunderously applauds physical wonders.

The giants of the stage, wondrously developed with their coils of muscles transparently playing beneath whitened cuticle replenish the coffers of thought which revert to Atlas afoot with the world upon his broad shoulders.

The phenomenally strong man who tosses five hundred pound weights with the ease of the wind lifting a feather creates admiration, albeit not a little envy.

THE RUSH BEFORE THE WEDDING

Many Brides Attend Receptions Right Up to Last Minute.

Every bride should have the moral courage to refuse all social engagements for one week prior to her wedding, also she should refuse to shop or bother with any trousseau plants these last days. She should so arrange her fittings that all her clothes are ready at least two weeks before the date, and the last week should be given to quiet and rest, and certainly the bride that is not worn out with bother about clothes and a round of entertainments has at least some freshness and romance to take to the altar.

The elaboration of many a wedding, costing as it does upon the shopping, the house furnishing, the round of entertainments, and the packing, has caused many a girl, tired out physically, a nervous collapse that may argue ill-health all her married life, and certainly everything considered, the tired-out lines on the bride's face as she leaves her old home, amid the good-byes and confetti, for the first stage of her life's new journey does not argue a happy beginning.

Treating Nervous Infants

Intelligent people are beginning to understand the importance of protecting the nervous system in infancy, and the grave dangers consequent on a shock to an infant's nerves. As a rule, during the first year of its life, the more quiet a child is kept the better its chance of health and happiness. Overbright babies do not commend themselves to physicians, who know that the first year of a child's life should be spent mainly in sleep. All efforts to arouse the dormant mind of a child at this period are attended with danger. Specially to be condemned is the practice of tossing a child in the air, causing him to scream with delight and fright. Unnatural excitements of this kind frequently lead to those mental diseases for which doctors have not yet found a cure.

Race Dying Out.

There is at least one native race that is not dying out. This is the Maori, of New Zealand. According to statistics obtained in the census of Maoris taken in last March, the total native population of New Zealand is said to be 49,750, an increase for five years of 1617. In addition there are 235 Maoris on the Chatham Islands. It is a matter of difficulty to ascertain the number of half-castes living as Maoris. Probably all half-castes, and a large proportion of the Maoris as well in the South Island, now live a European fashion. The health of the natives has been generally good. There has been a great advance in the observance of sanitary laws, and the Maoris are beginning to realise that the excessive mortality amongst their children was due to unsanitary conditions.

NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the foregoing is a true copy of a proposed By-law, which has been taken into consideration and which will be finally passed by the Council of the Township of North Monaghan (in the event of the assent of the electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication hereof in the Peterborough Weekly Times Newspaper, the date of which publication is the 30th day of November, 1911, and that at the hour, day and places thereby fixed for the taking of the votes of the electors the polls will be held.

BRUCE JOHNSTON, Township Clerk.

The Well-Dressed Man

The business or professional man who neglects his clothes does so at one of the most potent instruments of success.

Commenting on this obvious fact a writer on men's fashions remarks that apart from mercenary reasons it is becoming more widely recognised that it is the duty of all men to do their best in the matter of dress to make themselves as presentable as possible.

There is also a psychological aspect of the matter which is not without interest. It is demonstrated that the average man is to some extent influenced by his own clothes, just in the same way as he is affected by his environment. Thus the same man well dressed, will talk better, walk better, and by the same token, do better work than he would do if he were careless in or inappropriately clad. He will (more or less consciously, of course) live up to his appearance, and become less the cad in every way. As in most other things, it is the little things that count in the matter of dress. A man should study his appearance from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet.

An Emperor-Policeman

Among the Duke of Wellington's special constables was a dreamy personage, then well known, but not very well spoken of in English society, named Louis Napoleon Bonaparte. He had returned to England nearly two years before after his melodramatic escape, in workman's disguise, from the fortress of Ham. The special constable's real career was now about to open. Two months after the memorable 10th of April he was in Paris as a member of the Constituent Assembly, and in the following autumn he was elected President by an overwhelming majority. What followed belongs to history, and takes us far from the enrolment of special constables.

The Best Helpmeet.

All men, as well as women, like to be understood. Sympathy is their greatest help, and no woman who is self-centred, who is vain and thinks only of herself will gain the highest regard of man. She may be exquisitely beautiful, have a crowd of admirers at her feet, but she cannot bestow that wonderful happiness a plain little woman full of sympathy gives to her husband. If she understands him, is interested in him and his life-work, whether it be planting vegetables, composing music, or building towers, she will encourage him to reach his highest aim. Being beautiful will not make up for selfish indifference.

Fun and Fresh Ideas.

To remain young one must have company and enjoy it. Not a big dinner party one day, an afternoon reception the next, a late card party the following, and so on. This, for the hostess, is hard work that will quickly bring the appearance of age in its train, and, indeed, no work is more arduous. To attend to the wants of guests, to anticipate their desires, to have the whole responsibility of the success of a party is an utterly different thing to the bright company necessary to the well-being of the woman who leads too monotonous a life.

The limiting influence of four walls is what so many women who are housewives and mothers have to fight against, and they need company as a recreation.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR The Hospital for Sick Children

Dear Mr. Editor,—

Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

I make this direct appeal to the people of Ontario, for the fathers and mothers of Ontario, outside the City of Toronto, have precisely the same claim for their sick children as regards the privileges of the Hospital, as parents who reside in this city.

In brief the sick children from any place in Ontario where parents cannot afford to pay, is, on certificate from a municipal officer of any town, village or township, treated free.

This is a privilege not granted by any Hospital in the Dominion, or on this Continent.

Let me, in a few words, state that in the last 20 years, since 1891, there have been 4,731 patients from 450 places outside of this city treated free, as the parents were unable to pay for treatment. Last year 384 patients from 234 places outside Toronto were so treated.

The Hospital is not a city but a Provincial institution. The Corporation of Toronto grants $18,000, not only for city children, but towards the maintenance of every patient in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $10,000 to the maintenance fund of the Hospital.

It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province.

Why, in the Orthopedic department in 20 years, nearly 700 children, boys and girls, have been treated for club feet and about 600 were corrected. Two-thirds of these came from places outside of Toronto, from parents who could not afford to pay.

Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Every day is Christmas to the child whose little life is saved, or whose crippled limb is straightened with the aid of money—your money—and the means of the Hospital.

Will you, the reader of this letter, think of what your dollar will do? It helps to restore health and strength, and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

You give wealth to the Hospital, and the Hospital gives health to the children.

Yes, your money can put golden stirges on the door of the Hospital's mercy.

Will you, kind reader, help us and send a spare dollar to Douglas Davidson, the secretary-treasurer of the Hospital, or

J ROSS ROBERTSON, Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto

A Dangerous Disease

Owing to its tendency to spread to all parts of the system, Catarrh should be checked in its incipient stages.

Catarrh commences generally with a slight cold, and because slight, it is often neglected. But the seed that has been sown brings forth a dangerous harvest—perhaps it is the harvest of consumption, which is the harvest of death.

Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic, antiseptic remedy that is breathed in through the mouth, and, after permeating all the respiratory organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical—so prompt and efficient. Relief is instantaneous, throat and nose cleared in a few moments by the penetrating vapor from the Inhaler. Ferrozone, taken in conjunction with Catarrhozone, purifies the blood, cleanses it of all poisons, and builds up the system so that Catarrh cannot exist.

You are sure to receive lasting benefit from Catarrhozone if bothered by Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Trouble, and used for Coughs and Colds in the head it has no equal.

Remember that Catarrhozone is both a local and constitutional treatment, and is warranted under all circumstances to give satisfaction. Money refunded if it fails.

Two months' treatment, consisting of a beautiful polished hard rubber Inhaler and large bottle of liquid for recharging, costs but $1; trial size, 25c. Sold by all druggists and The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Peterborough has had its share of the prizes given at the Guelph Poultry exhibition. Mr. James Baptie, of Springville succeeded in landing 21 prizes, while Mr. Harry Lush, who also had a fine bunch of birds on exhibition, also had good luck. Over 5000 birds were on exhibition in the poultry department.

The Knights of Pythias won the library contest and wish to thank their friends, who so generously aided by contributing votes. They also extend to them a hearty invitation to be present at the K.P. rooms on Simcoe street, Tuesday evening, when the Knights will present the library to the Protestant Home.

Mischievous Boys.

The attention of The Times has been called to the fact that the school children are destroying property at Victoria Park. The wire flower stands are being used for play things, the boys rolling them down hill. The sod is being ripped up and destroyed with coasting. The police should drop around and put a stop to it.

Locked in Police Cells.

A man hailing from Sault Ste Marie, is lodging in the police cells for a day or two, till he gets his bearings. He says he was injured in the lumber camps near the Soo and after being released from the hospital where he was sent for repair, had the misfortune to fall and break his shoulder blade. He says he has a brother in Kingston, and wants to be sent there.

Open Night For Ladies.

A very enjoyable evening is being looked for to-night at the armouries, when there will be an open night for ladies. All the members of the regiment are invited to bring their lady friends, as there has been an excellent program arranged. Bugler E. Lebar will be chairman. On the first open night of the new year, the Y.M.C.A. boys will put on a very interesting concert.

Municipal Nominations.

The nomination of candidates for the offices of Mayor, Aldermen, Water Commissioners and members of the Board of Education, will take place on Friday at 10 a.m., in the different wards of the city, as follows:—

South Ward—At L. Spry's.
Centre Ward—City Council Chamber.
West Ward—N. Routley's.
North Ward—W. Lee's shop.
East Ward—Old Village Hall.

Only One Freight Sunday.

For a period of three months only one freight train will be allowed to run on Sunday over subdivision lines of the G.T.R. This action follows an order issued by the Dominion Alliance. The "Moonlight" made her regular trip last night, and was several hours late, having been delayed at Port Hope. The delay was caused by the shunting engine crashing into the rear end of the train, and wrecking the caboose.

No Trains at Present.

No regular train service will be put on the new line between Peterborough and Orillia for some little time to come. Although it was announced officially a month ago that they would commence their regular service on December 1, it seems that the roadbed, which was built later, owing to the soft weather, is not in shape, as it has sagged considerably, and will have to be ballasted up again. This work will take time, and a regular passenger service is not, therefore, likely to be in operation for some weeks.

The King's Daughters.

The King's Daughters of Peterborough will put into worthy practice, this Christmas time, the truth contained in the old axiom, "that it is more blessed to give than to receive" when they will disseminate Christmas cheer to poor but deserving folks of the city, regardless of denomination. Supplies of good things such as money, candy and other means of relief, will be distributed for the alleviation of suffering of any nature and the brightening of Christmas generally for those not so well fixed in wordly goods. To this end they thankfully will receive contributions of the above nature, to be left at St. John's school house on Wednesday afternoon, and wish to specially remind prospective donators that the giving will be of an entirely undenominational character.

WAR AT ARMOURIES.

57th Regiment to Be Bloodless Battle in January.

Orders have been issued by the officers, commanding the 3rd Division to hold what is called a war game in Peterborough in the month of January next under the control of the G.S.O. of the 3rd Division Major Hordern, and it is expected to prove a most interesting and instructive feature in the military training of the officers of the local garrison. The nature of the scheme is not yet known, but it is expected that two bodies of troops of all arms of the service will be at certain points and will be manoeuvred under the command of the officers taking part, and under conditions as near as possible as might be met with in actual warfare. The officers will be divided into two parties, each having command of one body of troops, and will be in separate rooms, and the umpire in the third room will note and criticize the manoeuvres of the opposing forces.

The game will occupy two evenings of three or four hours, each, and will require from twelve to fifteen officers.

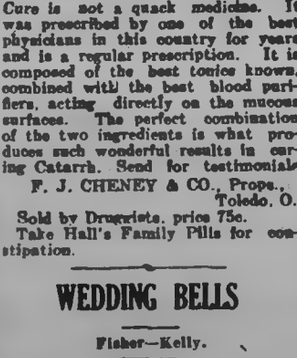
WEDDING BELLS

Fisher—Kelly.

"The Maples," the home of Mr. T. A. and Miss Kelly, Cavan, was the scene of a very interesting event on Tuesday afternoon of last week, when their youngest sister, Miss Ethel, was united in marriage to Mr. T. E. Fisher, Collingwood. Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Millbrook, performed the ceremony. The bride was given away by her brother. She was charmingly attired in a beautiful gown of tan broadcloth, veiled with gold embroidered chiffon and coral applique trimming, and also wore a topaz necklet, the gift of the groom and carried an armful of American beauty roses.

The table in the tea room was tastefully decorated with pink and white carnations and smilax. After the wedding dejeuner, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher left by the C.P.R. for a trip to Toronto, Guelph and other points. Upon their return they will reside in Collingwood, Ont.

The young couple were unattended and were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents.



BURNT RIVER.

Much excitement prevails in this locality over the disappearance of John Taggart, a young man, who previous to his disappearance, had been for some time in the employ of Mr. Jos. Phillips, who resides a couple of miles south of this station. On the evening of Nov. 27th, he, in company with Mr. Thomas Burton, another employee of Mr. Phillips took the latter's horse, saying they would drive up to Burnt River for the mail. On their arrival at Burnt River they were joined by a third party, Mr. M. Morgan, and after telephoning Mr. Phillips to the effect that they would attend a dance at the home of Mr. John Morgan, of this place, left for Coboconk, some six miles distant, where all three became the worse of liquor and remained until a late hour. On the way home a quarrel arose between Taggart and Burton as to who would do the driving, the result being that Taggart parted company with the others and made off, taking the railroad track leading to Fenelon Falls, where his home is. This is the last seen of the young man. Not far from where he left his companions the railroad crosses the Burnt River which is spanned by an iron bridge with open sides. It is feared that in crossing this bridge Taggart stepped over the edge in the darkness. No notice was taken of the young man's disappearance until Thursday of this week when Mr. Phillips received a letter from a friend enquiring the whereabouts of Taggart. Mr. Phillips immediately telephoned Chief Constable Jones of Fenelon Falls, who made a trip to Burnt River, and will return to-morrow with parties who will make a thorough search of the river and its surroundings.

Cause of Rheumatism

Many physicians believe that rheumatism is the result of over-feeding, followed by putrefactive changes in the foodstuffs in the alimentary canal; that the action of certain bacteria produces specific toxic (poison) substances which, when introduced into the blood, cause a deviation from the normal oxidation process, thus causing the condition that is designated rheumatic. In the majority of instances it is probably due to eating too much of the vegetable class of foods; in other cases it is the result of eating too much meat.

COMPANY IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

The Company was incorporated in 1906, and has made steady progress. Their Real Estate holdings are chiefly in and around Calgary and will so continue, but latterly they have been paying a little attention to Saskatoon, where such remarkable progress is being made. It will be the policy of the Company to purchase judiciously in and near Towns and Cities which have passed the uncertain stage of development and whose future is assured. The Company, with its expert knowledge of values is better able to handle such business than any individual, however well equipped he may be for the work.

While the Company has been, and will continue to be, conservative in the matter of dividends, it would appear probable that before very long a distribution of Assets, either in the shape of a Stock Bonus or substantial Cash Dividend, might be made. If not, however, the Shareholders will still benefit by holding a security of constantly increasing value, which will be reflected in the market price of the stock.

The remarkable progress of the City of Calgary is perhaps without precedent in Canada. Building permits issued during the ten months ended 31st October, 1911, reached the enormous total of $11,664,138.00.

HIGHER DIVIDEND PROSPECTS

Mr. H. A. MacLean, President of the Company, in a letter dated 15th November, 1911, makes the following reference to Dividend and Reserve Fund: "While I can say nothing official at this time, I may mention that at the Company's Annual Meeting, following its year-end at 31st December, it is my intention to recommend that the Dividend for 1911 be declared at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, which will be an advance of 1 per cent. over the Dividend for 1910. I consider it safe to say in this connection, also, that the Dividend for 1912 will be at the rate of 12 per cent.

"The Asset and Liability Return covering the ten months ended 31st October shows, after allowing for all expenses and outlays of every kind, except the 1911 Dividend, a surplus of Assets over Liabilities of $311,736.72. The 1911 Dividend will amount to approximately $40,000.00, leaving a net surplus of approximately $271,736.72, equal to 90 per cent. of the Company's paid-up Capital. This amount may be fairly considered as a Reserve fund in its present shape, and the Company might continue with safety along its present lines. It is my intention, however, at the approaching Annual Meeting, to propose that a portion equal to 25 per cent. of the Real Estate forming this surplus, be set aside, and advantageously sold—the proceeds of such sale to be invested in high grade listed Railroad Bonds, yielding the Company about 5 per cent. This operation, repeated from year to year, will give the Company a reserve fund of pretty much the same nature as is carried by the Banks and other conservatively managed institutions."

COMPANY'S DIVIDEND RECORD

The Company has paid Dividends every year since its incorporation as follows:

1907 ..... 6 per cent.
1908 ..... 8 per cent.
1909 ..... 9 per cent.
1910 ..... 10 per cent.

FINANCIAL POSITION STRONG

The Company's statement of assets and liabilities as of October 31st, 1911, attested to by Messrs. Webb, Read & Hegan, appears in full in the prospectus. It shows the value of the Company's real estate and buildings, as valued by Mr. V. J. L. Eccles, to stand at $584,111, and balance of profit and loss account $311,736. Of the Company's authorized capital of $1,000,000, $388,360 is subscribed, $201,857.50 of which is paid up, leaving $86,522.50 of unmatured and unpaid calls.

Inquiries as to the Company's standing and the integrity and ability of the directors (of whom the President, Managing Director and Secretary-Treasurer devote their time exclusively to the Company's business) may be made of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Montreal.

It is the intention to make application in due course to have the stock listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Copies of prospectus and application forms for shares may be obtained from the undersigned, and in cases where the request for application forms states the number of shares desired it will be considered that application has been received at that date. The right is reserved, however, to allot a smaller number of shares than applied for.

ARCH. McGOUN, K.C.
Professor of Civil Law at McGill

School and at McGill University, at the latter of which he attached the B.A. and gold medal honors in mental and moral philosophy of the year 1876, that of M. A. coming in 1880. Here he also graduated B.C.L. in 1876, was called to the Bar in course of the same year, and for considerable period was associated in business with Mr. F. L. Beique, Q.C. Mr. McGoun, it should be added spent portion of his educational years at the L'Ecole de Droit, Paris, France.

Appointed professor of Civil Procedure, and afterwards of Legal Bibliography in the Faculty of Law of his Alma Mater, he was, in 1896, on the resignation of the then Dean, conferred the further honor of being chosen lecturer on constitutional law, and about the same time was recommended for Q. C. by the Tupper administration.

Mr. McGoun was long prominently identified with the Imperial Federation movement, was, indeed, one of the founders of the Canadian League and is now vice-president of the British Empire League in Canada. Forming one of the deputation to the Imperial Federation Conference in London in 1886, he it was who drafted and moved in Council the resolution upon which the League acted, in inviting Lord Salisbury to call the Colonial conference of 1887. The professor now lectures at McGill on Corporations and on Agency and Partnership, and in addition to a close personal attention to all the details of his extensive legal business, takes a real life interest and share in public matters generally. He was for a number of years a member of the Council of Westmount, of which delightful city he is a resident. Politically he is a Liberal, but separated from the party many years ago on the policy of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States.

Professor McGoun has contributed much to the literature of his time, his publications covering such subjects as "Federation of the Empire," "Commercial Union with the U. S. with a word on Imperial Reciprocity," "A Federal Parliament of the British People"; "Imperial Reciprocity"; "Revenue Tariff within the Empire," and a host of newspaper contributions on many subjects of Imperial and local interest. He worships among the Presbyterians.

NEWTON WESLEY ROWELL

Ontario's New Liberal Leader

The new Liberal Leader of the Ontario Legislature recently chosen to succeed Hon. A. G. McKay, is a native of Middlesex County, where he was born on 1st November 1867, his father being Mr. Joseph Rowell, of London Township. He entered upon the study of law in London and moved to Toronto in 1891, where he was called to the Bar the same year. He has been practising law in that city for twenty years; was made a King's Counsel in 1903 and elected a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada at the last election in May of this year.

Reared in the Liberal faith Mr. Rowell is not without political experience, having contested, though unsuccessfully, the seat for East York in the Dominion House of Commons in 1900.

He has been active and prominent in religious affairs, and particularly in the Laymen's Missionary Movement, with which he has been connected intimately from its inception. He was elected chairman of the Canadian Council of the movement in 1907, and continued so till 1910, when he retired. On most of the general boards and committees of the Methodist Church Mr. Rowell holds a seat.

The new leader is a member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, and also of the Senate and of the Board of Regents of Victoria University.

His social proclivities are indicated by his membership in St. George's Society and the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, while he is also a member of the National Club, the Ontario Club, and the Queen City Curling Club. Mrs. Rowell is a daughter of Rev. Dr. Alexander Langford.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" stormed demanded Lord Roberts. "No. I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicite" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

GENERAL MILES PRAISES CHINESE

War Always Unpopular with the Chinese but they are a Brave People but Nothing Can Stop Revolution.

(Special Cable Service.)

In some respects, China was to me the most interesting country I have ever had the pleasure of visiting. In their ancient civilization we find much that we could adopt with benefit, and still more that has been obsolete for centuries.

Ages ago China passed through some of the experiences that now interest or agitate our people. The controversies between capital and labor and the unequal distribution of wealth were problems in which they were concerned thousands of years ago. As a race they have encouraged industry, art, science and literature

GENERAL MILES

Compared with some other people their integrity has been proverbial.

It was my good fortune, in 1902, to have the opportunity of seeing the different sections of China, as well as visiting the principal cities of Hong Kong, Canton, Tsiensin, Pekin and other important places. A marked contrast is noticeable between that and our country.

During my sojourn in that country nine years ago I found the leading men greatly exercised concerning the threatened dismemberment of their country. Ostensibly for the purpose of obtaining spheres of commercial influence, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan had all acquired control of certain portions of Chinese territory, and it seemed only a question of time when their nation would disappear from the map of the world.

China owes her existence today partly to the fact that two of the aggressive powers became involved in war over a certain portion of her territory.

To realize how far the absorption of that country had extended, one needed only to visit Hong Kong and see the formidable fortification defending the entrance to the harbor—the powerful fleet of battleships, the palace of the governor general and the 5,000 trained, disciplined, veteran (English) troops, all under a foreign flag. Similar occupation could be observed in other parts of the empire.

For hundreds of years war and the military profession has been unpopular with the Chinese people. They abhor the first and if possible would always avoid the latter. Their army now consists of approximately 160,000 men, and the government has recently been endeavoring to increase this number to 350,000.

That great empire of 430,000,000 people is now quaking like the tremors of the earth. From the center to the remotest quarter of that vast territory a political convulsion and revolution is affecting all its conditions and attracting the attention of the world. What will be the result — how far reaching will be its influence, or to what extent it will affect the 400,000,000 of the human race in other countries of the orient, it is impossible now to determine.

GERMANY AGAIN AFTER TERRITORY

PARIS — It is learned from an authoritative source that Germany is negotiating with Spain for the acquisition of territory in Rio Muni, or Spanish Guinea, where it is proposed to establish warehouses and factories. Rio Muni is in Western Equatorial Africa, between Kamerun and the Muni river. A German commission will be sent to Rio Muni shortly to engage in topographical work.

MADRID. — Prime Minister Canalejas denies the statement that Spain was about to sell her Guinea colony to Germany or any other power. He added that Spain was willing to use great moderation in her negotiations with France about Spanish vested rights and interests in Morocco.

CANADA FOR MANUFACTURERS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Hon J. G. Henderson, commissioner of industries of Hamilton, Ont., declared "Annexation sentiment in Canada is absolutely nil," while addressing the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association convention on the subject, "Canada, the manufacturers' opportunity."

"As a budding nation our loyalty is intense and practical, and our position as one of the leaders of the Empire compels us to maintain our tariff wall," he asserted.

The speaker stated that Canada is a firm believer in the home market and that there was no possibility in the very near future of any reduction in duties levied on articles manufactured this side of the line.

Not Room for Both

"I know Ames comes in for a lot of praise because he hunts with a camera instead of a gun," Forbes began, in a slightly acrid tone. "It never seems to strike people that there may be more than one kind of brutality."

"What's the matter with Ames?" demanded one of the men on the clubhouse porch.

"Up in Canada last fall, Forbes readily resumed, "I went off by myself one day, when Ames was fiddling over his kodak, and I stumbled full on a black bear. Because I was the only thing in sight, very likely, I became the immediate object of her attentions. I had only a slight lead, but I was going pretty well when Ames popped through the brush and took in the situation.

"'Hold on there, old chap!' he yelled. 'You're too far ahead. I can't get you both in.'"

LUNCHES SERVED IN DRUG STORES

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Oklahoma City is dry and the saloon free lunch has disappeared. Now every drug store in town has a lunch counter in addition to a stamp, city directory and public telephone departments. Lunch signs are displayed prominently on drug stores. One druggist explains it this way:

"When the saloons closed, folks tried to get their drinks in drug stores. But these went dry, too, and there was a boom in soft drinks. In cool weather crackers were served with hot drinks. Folks found this a substitute for free lunch. Finally the free lunch became too elaborate and we put in lunch counters. Now every drug store in Oklahoma City is selling sandwiches, chili con carne, cake and pie."

RIOTING IN MEXICO.

Striking Mill Hands Clashed With Rurales.

TORREON, Mex. — Rioting at Gomez Palacio, six kilometres north of here, was reported. Striking mill hands are said to have clashed with rurales in the streets. No casualities have been reported. Fifty cavalrymen and six officers were sent from here to assist in restoring order.

Strike conditions in this city appeared to have improved. Many of the employers have agreed to the eight-hour day, but the strikers refuse to return to work until all have adopted it.

The city water supply is threatened through idleness of the electric power plant which operates the pumps, but it is possible that it will resume operations under military protection.

"Were you introduced to the count last night, Marie?"

"Yes; we talked together for an hour."

"What did you talk about?"

"I haven't the remotest idea. We spoke in French."

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian, and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map. Then the one was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys, and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the railway stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is opening the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another designs of doing honour to the white man's institutions conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of calling her Ann Thomson's Sarsaparilla."

THE CRIMINAL AMONG PLANTS

Thugs of the Vegetable World that Have No Honest Ways, and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze, clovers, and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitrogen which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this private store, for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts which infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees are like unto them; and both are singularly wanting in beauty, being clothed in dirty-brown rags, as a rule, and having no green leaves. Even one of the Persicarias (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and these evil-doers by no means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the root-stock of a grafted rose for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers; such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

Highest on Earth

The Lea Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

Cutting Out the Tobacco.

The heads of the provincial Civil Service throughout British Columbia, have issued a circular to their various offices prohibiting smoking during office hours. The Canadian Pacific Railway long ago tabood the use of tobacco by their employees during working hours and its example has been generally followed by other large corporations.

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The ones you pay for us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

VOL XXXIV NO 289 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 20 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

POSSIBLY SIR CHARLES TUPPER MAY RECOVER

Further Improvement Noted in Condition of Canada's Ex-Premier.

London, Dec. 19.—The physicians in charge of Sir Chas. Tupper, formerly Prime Minister of Canada, and at one time Canadian High Commissioner in London, report to-day that there is a further improvement in his condition

It is stated now that there are distinct hopes of his recovery.

BRITAIN TAKES LEADING PART IN ARRANGING PEACE

PLAYS THE PART OF FRIEND TOWARDS THE GOVERNMENT AND THE REBELS.

Yuan Is China's Hope—He Will Be Regent if Monarchy Stays, and President if Republic.

Shanghai, Dec. 19.—Promise of peace in China became more definite to-day with the announcement that all six of the great powers—Great Britain, Japan, the United States, Russia, France and Germany—were united in a co-operative effort to assist Dr. Wu Ting Fang and Tang-Shao-Yi in their negotiations. It is clearly understood that this action by the powers is taken in the most friendly manner.

The pourparlers between Wu Ting Fang and Tang-Shao-Yi opened with surprising smoothness. It is unmistakably evident, however, that the continuation of Manchu rule, even as concerns the imperial throne at Pekin, is considered unlikely by either side. It is believed, even though the present dynasty is ousted, the Premier evidently hopes to retain the imperial form of Government, possibly with the present Emperor designated as the first ruler of a new Chinese dynasty, and with Yuan Shi Kai as regent.

IMPERIAL OR REPUBLICAN?

The personality of Yuan Shi Kai dominates the convention. The great fight among the delegates will be as to whether the form of Government is to be Imperial or Republican. In an Empire, Yuan Shi Kai will be regent. If a Republic, Yuan will be the first president. The revolutionary delegates believe that they will be victorious in their demands for a republic.

Well Known Baptist Clergyman and Philanthropist a Victim of Smallpox.

Toronto, Dec. 19. The death of Rev. Dr. Elmore Harris from smallpox is announced in a brief cable from India, received by Mr. J. N. Shenstone, of the Massey-Harris Co., this morning.

The news came as a great shock to his many friends in theological and educational circles where he is widely known.

INTENDED TO STAY A YEAR.

It was the intention of the party to spend a year abroad. No details as to how Dr. Harris contracted the fatal malady are available. He was in splendid health when he left Toronto.

Dr. Harris was about sixty years of age Most of his life work was done in Toronto. He took a keen interest in all church and college work and was a particularly warm supporter of McMaster University and Walmer road Baptist church and the Toronto Bible Training School.

FOUND DEAD ON DESERTED TRAIL

Mistatim, Sask., Dec. 19.—Kenneth Kingston, the young Ottawa civil engineer, lost in the woods since Friday, was found dead to-day on a deserted trail. Foul play is suspected and mounted police are investigating.

RIOTS IN DUNDEE

Dundee, Dec. 19.—The dockers and carters of this port, who are on strike, have suddenly got out of hand and are causing disturbances in the vicinity of the quays. Rioting became so serious to-day that the Lord Provost sent a requisition to headquarters for a detachment of troops.

The rioters threw a number of wagons and a quantity of goods into the water and demolished property. The police are powerless to repress the disorders. A large number of strikers and policemen were seriously injured.

TORONTO SHOULD SECURE PROPOSED ENLARGED SHOPS

Montreal, Dec. 14.—It is learned on fairly good authority that the Canadian Locomotive Company are likely to build their enlarged works in Montreal. A tract of land on the south bank of the Lachine Canal immediately opposite the Canada Car and Foundry Company's plant, has been secured. It is recorded as standing in the name of Aemilius Jarvis, Toronto.

The Canadian Locomotive Company is prospectively one of the great industries of Canada. It is understood that the enlarged plant will employ 2,500 hands. Why should Toronto not try for this gigantic enterprise? The city's representatives in the Council and the gentlemen of the Board of Trade may have an opportunity here to do a big stroke of business for the city.

OTONABEE DAM IS NOW WANTED

HON. ADAM BECK AFTER DAM OF OTONABEE COMPANY.

Electric Commission Seek Right to Purchase Power Privilege—It will Mean a Whole Lot to Peterborough.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Ottawa was a meeting place for the powers-that-be yesterday. To begin with there were Hon. Adam Beck, of London, and G. Lynch Staunton, K.C., of Hamilton, representing the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. Then there were also sundry other gentlemen representing the Otonabee Power Company The crux of the whole matter is the desire to purchase the dam on the Trent Canal at present owned by the Otonabee Company, and, with other powers on the same waterway, to develop power for Peterborough, Lakefield and surrounding municipalities. On the occasion of Mr. Beck's last visit here he was accompanied by a number of members of the Peterborough Council, and the Government was requested to sanction the taking over of the power by the commission. This, it is understood, the power company is opposing, and the matter is to come before the Government to-morrow.

There were sundry conferences, but none of the representatives of either side was very communicative

GIVEN TWO YEARS FOR LETTERS HE WROTE

RE THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—I notice that a by-law is to be submitted to the electors on first of New Year in the following words:

"Are you in favor of obtaining from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, a supply of electric power?"

This certainly is a very innocent and harmless looking question, and if it is as harmless as it looks, I think it should be carried unanimously—BUT IS IT SO HARMLESS?

If this question is answered in the affirmative, by the electors, are we not giving power to any succeeding council of our city, to enter into a contract with the said commission, regardless of cost, and witgout any furthet submission of the question to the ratepayers? I am in favor of the cheapest power we can secure, but I am not in favor of buying a pig in a poke, nor will I vote for this by-law, nor do I think many others will vote for it, unless we have the most positive assurance that NO CONTRACT CAN BE ENTERED INTO by any council, until after the details of such contract has been again submitted to the ratepayers. A letter from our city solicitor would be timely

If you can enlighten me on the above point, you will confer a great favor on many ratepayers, as well as myself

Thanking you for the space.

Ratepayer.

THE WEATHER.

MUST NOT BE PERMITTED

The Times believes that the French, or any other foreign language should not be permitted in any of the Public Schools of the Province. Those who plead for allowing French to be spoken in order to teach the children in the junior forms English, is only a means of assisting in the French propaganda, which is the policy of the French heirarchy in Canada to-day. It should not be allowed at all.

In the Highlands of Scotland nothing but Gaelic was heard or spoken at their firesides or in their market places, or even in their churches, when the children went to school they were taught in the English tongue. And old Scotchmen tell us, and our belief is, that this did more to wed the Scotch and English than all the battles ever fought or the blood shed between the two countries.

The United States, with its scores of foreign languages, permits none but the English language. There is Maine, the Philippines (100,000 Spanish), Glengarry County, Waterloo County, (German), Renfrew county and others as cases where English alone had been taught.

While their native tongue was in use in their homes, with their playmates and about the settlements where they lived, the children were taught English in the schools without any difficulty.

That seems to The Times to be ample evidence to prove that it is practicable to confine the school instruction to the English language.

Bi-lingualism emphasizes race distinction and militates against assimilation, and must not be longer permitted in Ontario.

NEW NAVIGATION COMPANY PROCESS OF ORGANIZATION

Lindsay Post: A representative of the Post, had a conversation with a gentleman from Peterboro', regarding the new navigation Co., that is being formed to take the place of the Peterboro'-Lake Simcoe, which has gone into liquidation. The Post has it on good authority, that a strong company is being organized for the purpose of operating a first class line of passenger and freight boats on the canal. The Post's informant was not at liberty to yet make public the names of the gentlemen behind the scheme, but it is understood that they are thoroughly reliable persons, who have given the matter considerable study during the past two months.

"There will be plenty of capital behind the new Company," said the Post's informant, "and a much better service will be put on the Lindsay river. A larger boat than the Manita will be on the Lindsay-Sturgeon Point run."

Asked as to whether any new boats would be built, it was intimated that the gentlemen behind the new Company realized that a new and fast boat must be placed on Lake Simcoe. They purpose, therefore, to build a boat that will make from 18 to 20 miles per hour, and having all modern equipment, including dining-room etc.

It is expected that an official announcement, regarding the completion of the new Company and its policy will be made early in January.

THE HYDRO ELECTRIC BYLAW

There seems to be a difference of opinion amongst the ratepayers in regard to the Hydro-Electric By-law which is to be voted on by the ratepayers on January 1st, it being maintained by not a few, that should the by-law carry, the council will be clothed with all the necessary authority to go ahead with the proposition. Mr. E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor, when spoken to by The Times yesterday, stated that the city would not in any way be committed to the proposition by the passage of the by-law or would it be prevented from entering into a contract with the Seymour Company, or any other party or parties for the supply of electric power.

A THOUSAND GUESTS HURRY FROM CHICAGO HOTELS CARRYING GRIPS AND CLAD IN NIGHT ROBES

FIFTEEN MINUTES AFTER THE ALARM WAS GIVEN THE ROOF FELL IN.

Loss Is Estimated at About $100,000—Three Furnace Stokers are Missing.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Nearly a thousand guests were routed from their beds in the Kaiserhof and New Victoria Hotels shortly before three o'clock this morning when fire broke out in the open Board of Trade building at 323 South La Salle Street. ENGINES TO BE INSPECTED RIGID RULES TO BE STRICTLY ENFORCED.

Railway Commission to Hold Railways Responsible — Object is to Safeguard Human Life and Property.

Ottawa, Dec. 18. OR some time it has been apparent that more stringent regulations were likely to be forthcoming in regard to the inspection of railway locomotives It is now announced that on January 1st, 1912, inspection and testing of locomotives on all railways under the jurisdiction of the railway commission of Canada will be governed by new and rigid rules, which the board has issued to every board affected.

The new rules, which are the result of careful consideration and discussion of the subject, are designed for the safety and protection of the public, fixing as they do the responsibility for accidents caused by defective boilers on those directly responsible for the condition of these. They provide that the companies are to be responsible for the general design and construction of locomotive boilers under their control, that a safe working pressure is to be fixed by the chief mechanical official of the company or a competent mechanical engineer under his supervision, and that the mechanical officer in charge at each point where boiler work is done will be held responsible for inspection and repairs of all locomotive boilers. Rules governing every detail of this inspection were given, and it is ordered that not less than once each month or fifteen days after inspection a report of such inspection is to be filed with the chief operating officer of the company for each locomotive used.

In case of accident from failure of a locomotive boiler or its appurtenances resulting in serious injury or contravention of any of the clauses death, the carrier owning or operating of the new order [illegible] ing the board's operating officer regarding the accident, and the complete list of killed and injured. MURDERED THREE AND THEN TRIED TO SUICIDE

Polish Miner Took Revenge on the Family Which Harbored His Daughter.

Cannonsburg, Pa., Dec. 19.—John Ricoric, a Polish miner, last night shot and killed Michael Novac and his wife Mary Novac, with whom he boarded, and Frank Stevanjo, a fellow-boarder. He then shot himself, and is in a hospital dying.

Ricoric, who is about 45 years old, rented rooms in the upper part of the Novac house, where his 20 year old daughter, Toniyo Ricoric, kept house for him. Several days ago the daughter is said to have appealed to the Novacs for protection from her father's cruelty, and the reason for Ricoric's shooting of the Novacs is said to be because they sheltered his daughter.

GOOD MAN" OF ST. ELZEAR STOLE TO SATISFY HIS ARTISTIC NATURE.

Women All Loved Him—Half a Dozen Appeared in Court and Pleaded For His Release.

Montreal, Dec. 19.—Jos. Desjardins "The Good Man" of St. Elzear, Que. the idol of the women of that district, was given thirty months in jail by Judge Leet this morning.

Desjardins is "The Gang of Burglars," for whom the police have been searching in St. Elzear for two years. There were countless robberies in the town and it was thought that a big gang was at work. It develops this morning that Desjardins did it all. He did not rob for love of gain, however, but just to satisfy his artistic nature.

He gave away everything he stole. Consequently he was the most popular man in the village.

When he appeared in court this morning half a dozen women from the town made almost pathetic plea for him, saying he was a philanthropist.

TRANSCONA PARK

It is easy to find irrefutable evidence that land near the swiftly growing city of Winnipeg and immediately adjoining the town of Transcona, presents the safest and most profitable opportunity for the steady manipulation of the idle dollar. Opportunities in TRANSCONA PARK are practical certainties to the man with clear, deliberate judgment and courage to buy NOW at the earliest moment. The man who allows prejudice to influence his judgment will often find that prejudice an expensive luxury.

If for any reason you have been prejudiced against Real Estate as an investment, it will pay you to investigate the facts about TRANSCONA PARK with an OPEN MIND. Getting in right is the first and greatest consideration in any investment—any man who has been successful in Real Estate will tell you that he got in EARLY, when the property was cheap, and the choicest locations were open, when corner lots on the most desirable street were bought at a price later paid for inside lots on back streets—Get in EARLY and buy to-day.

TRANSCONA MUST EVENTUALLY BE PART OF WINNIPEG

DUN'S, BRADSTREET'S or ANY BANK

will give you any information you may require as to the financial standing of this concern. The ever-increasing population will soon overflow and make Transcona part of Winnipeg—Transcona Park is only one mile from the city limits, and will be the first to receive the increase in land values. Transcona Park will have increased in value considerably by next spring, are you going to take advantage of this now?

Lots are being sold in Transcona's business section as high as $200.00 per foot, and cannot be purchased for less than $20.00 a foot.

Transcona Park, which is but a few minutes' walk from the G.T.P. shops, and nearer to Winnipeg than any other, can be purchased from Mining in Galway.

Mr. J. S. Waldron, manager of the Union Creek Mining Co., was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. Mr. Waldron states that his Company has struck very rich veins of almost pure lead, and has on the dumps ready for smelting, hundreds of tons of ore. A 15-ton smelter has been shipped from the United States and is now in Lindsay, where it is being held up by the Customs officials on account of the wording of the Customs' regulations in regard to duty on smelters not being clear. The matter is being taken up with the Department at Ottawa by Mr. Burnham, and there is no doubt the trouble will be speedily settled.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS SHOT.

Booth, Taking Advantage of Guard's Temporary Neglect, Rushed Through the Box Entrance and Accomplished His Deed.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln and their party sat down in their box at Ford's Theatre the fateful night the President was shot, the guard who was acting as substitute for Col. McCook, took his position at the rear of the box, close to an entrance leading into the box from the dress circle of the theatre. His orders were to stand there, fully armed, and to permit no unauthorized person to pass into the box. His orders were to stand there and protect the President at all hazards. From the spot where he was thus stationed, this guard could not see the stage or the actors; but he could hear the words the actors spoke, and he became so interested in them that, incredible as it may seem, he quietly deserted his post of duty, and, walking down the dimly lighted aisle, deliberately took a seat in the last row of the dress circle. It was while the President was thus absolutely unprotected through this guard's amazing recklessness—to use no stronger words—that Booth rushed through the entrance to the box, just deserted by the guard, and accomplished his foul deed. Realization of his part in the assassination so preyed upon the mind of the guard that he finally died as a result of it.

His Original Sin.

In a country seat in one of the middle Western States dwelt a lawyer who, after a practice of thirty years, had accumulated a competence and retired. Being a man of much more than ordinary ability, an excellent speaker, entertaining decided political views, and enjoying the confidence of the community, he was urged by his friends to run for Congress. He refused. A man high in the political councils of the State came to see him, and added his persuasion.

"You ought to take that office," he said. "It might lead to something higher. You would make a national reputation."

"That's what I am afraid of."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well," answered the lawyer, hesitatingly, "I will tell you, but it is in strict confidence. It must not go any further. Many years ago, when I was young and inexperienced, I published a small volume of original poetry. So far as I know, there is not a copy of that book in existence now, but one would turn up in some corner of the world if I were to run for office, and the papers would print extracts from it. I wouldn't have that happen for a million dollars. No, sir, nothing doing!"

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

Many New Lodges.

Mr. McCartney, Organizer for Eastern Ontario of the Grand Orange Lodge, was in the city this week and gave The Times a fraternal visit. Mr. McCartney reports many new lodges having been organized during 1911. The development of the Orange Order has never been so rapid or so great as it is at present. It is certainly a growing time for Orangeism.

North King to be Rebuilt.

From a reliable source we learn that the steamer North King, which plys between Port Hope, Cobourg, and Rochester, is to be rebuilt at Kingston during the coming winter. The North King is still in pretty good shape, but as she is advancing in years the Bay of Quinte and Lake Ontario Navigation Company think it advisable to put the boat in a thoroughly seaworthy condition. Not only will the hull be renewed, but the boilers and machinery will be thoroughly overhauled.

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society — the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It seems that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 452 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of Languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the mighty devotion of workers of a past generation. There are, in fact, over ninety entries marked "S" — some of them earlier Bibles — indicating them as the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen representing New Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been reproduced in modern times. Yet, in the fear of God and in the spirit of joyous service these versions were made, by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

Mrs. GORDON [illegible]
Prominent in Temperance

Mrs. Gordon Wright, W. C. T. U. president of the Dominion of Canada, possesses many brilliant talents and her advancement in the W. C. T. U ranks has been phenomenal. Beginning fifteen years ago as Local Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics in London, Ont., her home city, the following year she became provincial head of the same department, and a year later was placed in charge of the Dominion superintendency. While still holding this office, Mrs. Wright was elected president of the London Union, an active organization of some three hundred members.

In 1898 Mrs. Wright was again advanced, being appointed recording secretary of the Province of Ontario. Two years later she was elected to the office of corresponding secretary for the same Union. This position she filled with conspicuous success, her management of difficult correspondence with influential bodies displaying a genius for this work, which made her a valued member of the provincial sub.-executive for a number of years. Mrs. Wright also acted for some time as editor of the Canadian White Ribbon Tidings.

In 1903 Mrs. Wright was further honored by being elected to the vice-presidency of the Dominion. Two years later she was raised to the highest position in the gift of the Union, that of Dominion President.

Mrs. Gordon Wright is a typical Canadian — a woman of culture and charm. Her winning personality, her natural gifts as an executive officer and public speaker, her devotion to all temperance, missionary and philanthropic causes, combine to place her in the front rank of Canadian womanhood.

Who resigned Ontario Liberal Leadership.

The hon. gentleman who resigned the Leadership of the Liberal party in the Ontario House of Legislature a few days ago, is an M.A. and a K.C. Born at Sydenham, Grey County Ont., on 7th March 1860, his early educational days were spent at Sydenham Public school, Owen Sound High School, the High School of Mount Forest, and finishing at Toronto University from which he graduated B. A. in 1883 and M.A. in 1885 With such an array of instructional influences it is no surprise if the young Sydenham Scot was pointed in early life as a man who knew things, a man who was likely to go to the front in whatever direction he might decide to devote his abilities. That results have justified the faith of those prophets, is known today of all men who give attention to public affairs in Ontario.

Finishing his university career, Mr. Mackay was during four years Principal of Port Rowan High School, following which, he went in for law study and was called to the bar in May 1891, and three years later had the honor of being elected Crown Attorney for Grey County, a position he held until 1901.

Switching into the political arena at the 1902 general election, success came his way at the first venture, being returned representative for North Grey, a constituency that has continued its confidence right along to the present time.

Hon Mr. Mackay is a director of the Imperial Cement Co., and president of the Owen Sound Dredging and Construction Company. He takes a live interest in military matters and is captain of the 31st Reg't of Militia

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City. — Chiefs Cloud and Washee, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov. Cruse, of Oklahoma, to intervene at Washington to have the privilege of holding the gift and "willow" dances restored to the tribes.

Indian agents at Segar have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal customs. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the conclusion.

The gift dance is the occasion for a gathering of the tribes and the squaws join in it. Guests are loaded with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

Strength of Character

There are no circumstances so poor but that character may display itself and make itself therein. Strength of character lies not in demanding special circumstances, but in mastering and using any that may be given. PATRON SAINT OF FOOTBALL

The Patron "Sir Hugh" was Killed for Kicking a Ball Through a Window of a Jews-House.

Footballers may be interested in the following piece of folk-lore about the game. Although it is not generally known, football has a patron saint. In 1520 a boy named Hugh, who was one if the champions of his day, had the misfortune to kick a ball through the window of a Jew's house Whether the ball struck the man or any member of his family is not known, but certain it is he was very much incensed about the affair. Determined on revenge, he enticed the unsuspecting Hugh into his home and plunged a knife in the youth's back. The English people were very much cut up about the loss of their champion, albeit not as much so as was Hugh. They severely punished his slayer, made the young football player a saint, and gave him a big and expensive funeral. They even wrote verses; bad verser, but still verses, describing the virtues of "sweet Sir Hugh" and his prowess as a football player.

Football was forbidden in Elizabeth's reign under pain of imprisonment, the reason being the extreme brutality of the game, we are told. And James I. debarred "all rough and violent exercises like football" from his Court. In spite, however, of the prohibition against the game, the London apprentices often kicked a football about the streets to keep themselves warm in winter, and it is on record that in the severe frost of 1665 the London streets were "full of footballs."

Long Distance Runners

Long distance runners require a great amount of stamina, wonderfully strong legs, a strong heart and powerful lungs; boxers must have strength and a supple constitution; football players, strength and the wearing activities that are distinctly antithetic to the ordinary companions of labor, or tasks or duties, as the term may apply.

Snugly ensconced in a soft cushioned chair, the public — that part of it which breathes the virulent vaudevillian atmosphere — claps its hands and thunderously applauds physical wonders.

The giants of the stage, wondrously developed with their coils of muscles transparently playing beneath whitened cuticle replenish the coffers of thought which revert to Atlas afoot with the world upon his broad shoulders.

The phenomenally strong man who tosses five hundred pound weights with the ease of the wind lifting a feather creates admiration, albeit not a little envy.

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

THE RUSH BEFORE THE WEDDING

Many Brides Attend Receptions Right Up to Last Minute.

Every bride should have the moral courage to refuse all social engagements for one week prior to her wedding; also she should refuse to shop or bother with any trousseau duties these last days. She should so arrange her fittings that all her clothes are ready at least two weeks before the date, and the last week should be given to quiet and rest. Then certainly the bride that is not worn out with bother about clothes and a round of entertainments has at least some freshness and romance to take to the altar.

The elaboration of many a wedding, owing as it does upon the shopping, the house furnishing, the round of entertainments, and the packing, has caused many a girl, tired out physically, a nervous collapse that may argue ill-health all her married life, and certainly everything considered, the tired-out lines on the bride's face as she leaves her old home, amid the good-byes and confetti, for the first stage of her life's new journey does not argue a happy beginning.

Treating Nervous Infants

Intelligent people are beginning to understand the importance of protecting the nervous system in infancy, and the grave dangers consequent on a shock to an infant's nerves. As a rule, during the first year of its life, the more quiet a child is kept the better its chance of health and happiness. Overbright babies do not commend themselves to physicians, who know that the first year of a child's life should be spent mainly in sleep. All efforts to arouse the dormant mind of a child at this period are attended with danger. Specially to be condemned is the practice of tossing a child in the air, causing him to scream with delight and fright. Unnatural excitements of this kind frequently lead to those mental diseases for which doctors have not yet found a cure.

Revival of These Dainty Old World Accessories.

CHARMING FICHU DESIGNS.

The most distinctive of the new fichus is the model with jabot ends. This dainty accessory is of sheer handkerchief linen and suggests a Dutch neck at the back. A slide of lace takes the place of a brooch fastening.

Another charming fichu is the Charlotte Corday of handkerchief linen trimmed with real cluny lace. A sailor collar almost reaches the waist in the back, and the little tabs in front are modestly folded under a huge breast pin.

A Nursery Romance.

Much has been written anent a suitable bride for the Prince of Wales, but no one who has discussed the subject in print seems to be aware of the nursery romance which started when the little Grand Duchess Olga, eldest daughter of the czar and czarina, was at Balmoral with her parents. The Prince of Wales, a baby, too, took a violent fancy to his small second cousin. In those days the Grand Duchess could not talk, so she only laughed and put her tongue out at her would be suitor. A few years ago, when the czar and czarina brought over their family in the imperial yacht to Cowes, Prince Edward again met the grand duchess, who is growing up to be a tall girl, the image of her mother, and his royal highness, boylike, fought rather shy of her. But onlookers, as usual, seeing most of the game, noted that he cast many admiring glances at his pretty cousin and she at him.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR The Hospital for Sick Children

Dear Mr. Editor,—

Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children Toronto.

I make this direct appeal to the people of Ontario, for the fathers and mothers of Ontario, outside the City of Toronto, have precisely the same claim for their sick children as regards the privileges of the Hospital, as parents who reside in this city.

In brief the sick children from any place in Ontario whose parents cannot afford to pay, is on certain a municipal officer of any city, village or township, treated free, a privilege not granted [illegible] in the Dominion, or Continent.

In fine, in a few words, [illegible] over 20 years, since 1891, there [illegible] 4,731 patients from 450 places outside of this city treated free, as the parents were unable to pay for treatment. Last year 384 patients from 23 places outside Toronto were so treated.

The Hospital is not a city but a Provincial institution. The Corporation of Toronto grants $18,000, not only for sick children, but towards the maintenance of every patient in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $10,000 to the maintenance fund of the Hospital.

It would take more space than I can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province.

Why, in the Orthopedic department in 20 years, nearly 700 children, boys and girls, have been treated for club feet and about 600 were corrected. Two-thirds of these came from places outside of Toronto, from parents who could not afford to pay.

Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Every day is Christmas to the child whose little life is saved, or whose crippled limb is straightened with the might of money—your money—and the magic of the Hospital.

Will you, the reader of this letter, think of what your dollar will do? It means to restore health and strength, and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

You give wealth to the Hospital, and the Hospital gives health to the children.

Yes, your money can put golden markers on the door of the Hospital's mercy.

Will you, kind reader, help us and send a spare dollar to Douglas Davidson, the secretary-treasurer of the Hospital, or

J ROSS ROBERTSON, Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto.

CATARRH

Remember the best Catarrh medicine that money can buy is Catarrhozone; it cures quickly and permanently when all others fail.

The remedy doesn't exist that will cure Catarrh as quickly as Catarrhozone. It relieves the most stubborn cases in a short time, and drives the disease so thoroughly from the system that it never returns.

Druggists boldly recommend Catarrhozone in preference to other remedies, because they know it is the best, and every progressive doctor prescribes it for the same good reason.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common-sense treatment that finds favor with everybody. It cures by the inhalation of medicated air, which comes into contact with the mucous surface of all the breathing organs. It gets at the source of the trouble, kills the germs and drives every vestige of catarrh right out of the system.

It doesn't matter how deep-seated or chronic your case may be, Catarrhozone can cure it. Even though a thousand other remedies have failed, don't give up hope till you have used Catarrhozone. It has cured other cases probably worse than yours, and will cure yours if it gets a chance.

Mr. Dutcher Law, a prominent citizen of Italy Cross, N. S., says: "I experimented with hundreds of catarrh remedies and found the majority to be worthless, dismal failures. Catarrhozone was the first to give lasting relief; it cured me and I am with pleasure testifying to its merits as a cure for Catarrh of the nose and throat.

(Signed) DUTCHER LAW.

You are sure to derive the most pleasant results from Catarrhozone. It has been tested many times and never found wanting. Every druggist in Canada sells it. Complete two months' treatment, guaranteed to cure costs $1, or a trial size 25c. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

DARROW'S LABOUR OF LOVE.

Attorney Darrow who defended the McNamara's at Los Angeles says: "All my life I have tried to be on the side of those who lose in the unequal fight between the rich and poor. Here was a man who, whether in the right or wrong tried in his own grim way to be a soldier on the same side, the side of the poor. I couldn't see him go down without giving what help I could." Fine. Touching enough to bring tears. Incidentally the gentleman took one hundred thousand dollars as his fee, out of the two hundred thousand subscribed by the Unions, for the defence of the dynamiters.

Christmas Rush at Post Office.

The usual Christmas-tide rush and its consequent extra work for the post office and express company employees is now on in earnest and for the balance of this week those hard working individuals will have their hands full. So far there are no special indications that the rush and amount of shipping will excel that of previous years, and a great deal of the responsibility for the proper handling of the Christmas matter as usual, will rest upon the general public. If they will govern themselves in the matter of shipping their presents and parcels in time, much annoyance and anxiety will be averted by shippers and receivers alike.

Older Boys' Conference.

The Times is requested to state that an Older Boys' Conference is to discuss "the boy problem," at Orillia on the last three days of the year Friday, Saturday and Sunday, December 29, 30, and 31. The Conference, is to be held under the joint auspices of the Ontario Sunday School Association and the Provincial Young Men's Christian Association. It is expected that there will be three hundred delegates in attendance, for whom the people of Orillia have undertaken to provide hospitality. Each Sunday School and each Troop of Boy Scouts or High School Club is entitled to two delegates, and each Y.M.C.A. to five. A strong programme has been prepared, including such speakers as Albert E. Roberts, of the International Committee of the Y.M.C.A., New York; F. A. Crosby, Boys' Work Director of the Chicago Y.M.C.A.; E. W. Halpenny, Secretary of Ontario Sunday School Association; G. A. Warburton, General Secretary Toronto Y.M.C.A.; Frank Yeigh, Mrs. Jean Blewett, and others. Orillia is a particularly interesting town to visit at the present juncture, nearly half a million dollars worth of building having been done there during the past season. Among the buildings erected is an addition to the Y.M.C.A., which is now said to be the best Association building in any town on the continent. It will be one of the buildings used for the Conference, the new $20,000 Methodist Sunday School being another. Orillia's population has been growing so fast of late that the available accommodation is taxed to the uttermost, but the townspeople have opened their homes to provide for the delegates. Full particulars as to credentials, programmes, railway fares, &c., can be secured on application to the Secretary, Mr. Taylor Statten, 15 Toronto St., Toronto.

COMPANY IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

The Company was incorporated in 1906, and has made steady progress. Their Real Estate holdings are chiefly in and around Calgary and will so continue, but latterly they have been paying a little attention to Saskatoon, where such remarkable progress is being made. It will be the policy of the Company to purchase judiciously in and near Towns and Cities which have passed the uncertain stage of development and whose future is assured. The Company, with its expert knowledge of values is better able to handle such business than any individual, however well equipped he may be for the work.

While the Company has been, and will continue to be, conservative in the matter of dividends, it would appear probable that before very long a distribution of Assets, either in the shape of a Stock Bonus or substantial Cash Dividend, might be made. If not, however, the Shareholders will still benefit by holding a security of constantly increasing value, which will be reflected in the market price of the stock.

The remarkable progress of the City of Calgary is perhaps without precedent in Canada. Building permits issued during the ten months ended 31st October, 1911, reached the enormous total of $11,664,138.00

HIGHER DIVIDEND PROSPECTS

Mr. H. A. MacLean, President of the Company, in a letter dated 15th November, 1911, makes the following reference to Dividend and Reserve Fund: "While I can say nothing official at this time, I may mention that at the Company's Annual Meeting, following its year-end at 31st December, it is my intention to recommend that the Dividend for 1911 be declared at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, which will be an advance of 1 per cent. over the Dividend for 1910. I consider it safe to say in this connection, also, that the Dividend for 1912 will be at the rate of 12 per cent.

"The Asset and Liability Return covering the ten months ended 31st October shows, after allowing for all expenses and outlays of every kind, except the 1911 Dividend, a surplus of Assets over Liabilities of $311,736.72. The 1911 Dividend will amount to approximately $40,000.00, leaving a net surplus of approximately $271,736.72, equal to 90 per cent. of the Company's paid-up Capital. This amount may be fairly considered as a Reserve fund in its present shape, and the Company might continue with safety along its present lines. It is my intention, however, at the approaching Annual Meeting, to propose that a portion equal to 25 per cent. of the Real Estate forming this surplus, be set aside, and advantageously sold—the proceeds of such sale to be invested in high grade listed Railroad Bonds, yielding the Company about 5 per cent. This operation, repeated from year to year, will give the Company a reserve fund of pretty much the same nature as is carried by the Banks and other conservatively managed institutions."

COMPANY'S DIVIDEND RECORD

The Company has paid Dividends every year since its incorporation as follows:

1907..... 6 per cent.
1908..... 8 per cent.
1909..... 9 per cent.
1910..... 10 per cent.

FINANCIAL POSITION STRONG

The Company's statement of assets and liabilities as of October 31st, 1911, attested to by Messrs. Webb, Read & Hegan, appears in full in the prospectus. It shows the value of the Company's real estate and buildings, as valued by Mr. V. J. L. Eccles, to stand at $584,111, and balance of profit and loss account $311,736. Of the Company's authorized capital of $1,000,000, $388,380 is subscribed, $301,857.50 of which is paid up, leaving $86,522.50 of unmatured and unpaid calls.

Inquiries as to the Company's standing and the integrity and ability of the directors (of whom the President, Managing Director and Secretary-Treasurer devote their time exclusively to the Company's business) may be made of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Montreal.

It is the intention to make application in due course to have the stock listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Copies of prospectus and application forms for shares may be obtained from the undersigned, and in cases where the request for application forms states the number of shares desired it will be considered that application has been received at that date. The right is reserved, however, to allot a smaller number of shares than applied for.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Bad Tempers

"A woman who is truly amiable, meek, and sweet-tempered rarely has any cause for resentment," says a doctor.

The woman who governs her temper is the woman who wins in this life. She is certainly the most successful woman in business and society, and where is the person who will deny that she is the best wife, mother, and friend?

Experience teaches one that the average woman with a naturally irritable temper often encourages it, fosters it. But perhaps they wouldn't if they knew that anger curdles the blood, hinders circulation, and, consequently, makes the complexion bad and dulls the eyes. It also weakens a woman's wits, making her less attractive physically and mentally. Bad temper does not destroy the mind, but it renders one unable to work mentally.

H. R. H. THE DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT.

Since her arrival in Canada the Duchess has ingratiated herself with every one she has come into contact with simply by her sweet and gracious manners. She is delighted with Canadian ladies.

A Beauty Sleep

A grandmother who still possesses the freshness of complexion and youthfulness of eye that a woman of 30 would have, boasts that it is due to the daily siesta which she has taken all her life. She undresses every day after luncheon and sleeps for 20 minutes. She insists that one should put on a nightdress and really go to bed if one is to get the full advantage of the afternoon's sleep, and that it should not exceed 20 minutes.

A prolonged sleep in the afternoon makes one heavy and stupid, and keeps one wakeful when night comes, but 20 minutes' sleep will renew and refresh immensely.

This method is only possible to the woman of leisure, and utterly beyond the woman of business. But she can strive to get a sufficient amount of sleep at night.

Placing the Blame

Little Bertie's mother overheard him using some very strong language.

She promptly took him to task, explaining the wickedness as well as the vulgarity of such speech. She asked him where he had learned all those dreadful words. Bertie announced that Charlie, one of his playmates, had taught him.

Charlie's mother was straightway informed, and Charlie himself was brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bertie, and neither threats nor tears could make him confess.

At last he burst out: "I didn't teach Bertie any bad words. Why should I know them better than he does? Hasn't his father got an automobile, too?"

THE TONGUE OF SCOTLAND

Scotish Words Are Now Used Very Extensively in Every Day Use Though There Is No Indication to Make Serious Use of the Tongue.

Such direct imitation, however, is perhaps less important than the passage of many Scottish words and phrases into English use, a process largely fostered of late by some of the daily papers. Within Scotland itself the newspaper press is more Scottish in respect of language than it was a quarter of a century ago; and it is clear that few writers have now much dread of allowing an occasional Scotticism to slip from their pen. The leading weekly papers have long made a special feature of a Scottish column in prose or verse, and have thereby done much to support the humbler levels of a vernacular literature. In special cases these columns are even valuable for the number of local words and expressions they contain, and their frequent lack of literary merit is thus atoned for by their linguistic worth. On the other hand, it must be said that the newspapers have not always been sufficiently careful to distinguish the vernacular from the vulgar, and have helped to lower the popular taste in this respect

Taken at its best, the literary standing of Scottish is thus in many ways a satisfactory one, and in some respects has been so high that certain limitations attaching to it are apt to be overlooked At the most, no higher position can be claimed for it than that of a dialect, the use of which is confined to certain spheres, chiefly those which have the closest relation to common everyday life and thought There is a great contrast here, if we look back to the days when Scottish was a real national tongue, when it was not in any way subordinate to English, but stood side by side with it, as Portuguese with Spanish, or Swedish with Danish. Before it can in any way recover its old position it must be cultivated for higher purposes than it has been in recent times. It is not enough to use it, however correctly or effectively, for the dialogue portions of tales [illegible]

[illegible]

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

FIRST LOVE OF KAISER WILHELM

The Stern Necessities of Politics Cast a Cloud Over Two Young Lives and Compelled a Prince to Desert His Love Who Died.

The touching story of the romantic attachment of the Emperor William I. to Princess Eliza Radziwill when he was a young man and she a girl, and of the obstacles that arose to prevent their union, is related in detail in a book just written by Dr. Bruno Hennig, of Berlin. The stern necessities of politics cast a cloud over these two young Royal lovers, and compelled Prince William — as he then was — to desert the girl he loved to contract a union based on prudence instead of on personal inclination.

Towards the end of the eighteenth century Prussia had absorbed a portion of the ancient kingdom of Poland, and was engaged in the difficult task — still only imperfectly accomplished — of assimilating the conquered Poles, who regarded their German masters with repugnance.

The hopes of Prussia in those days were largely centred in Prince Antony Radziwill, one of the Polish magnates, who accepted Prussian supremacy over his native land in a friendly spirit, and married Princess Louise, a niece of Frederic the Great, after which he was appointed Viceroy of Prussian Poland, with his seat of government at Posen. His real home, however, was in Berlin, and it was here that his daughter, Princess Eliza, who as a Hohenzollern on the maternal side associated freely with the Prussian Royal Family, met Prince William, the second son of the reigning King, Frederic William III.

Prince William and Princess Eliza grew up from childhood together, and it was not until 1820, when he was 23 and she three years younger, that their friendship ripened into love. The first words of love were spoken at a pic-nic in the forest round Berlin, at which Prince Antony and Princess Louise Radziwill and the King's remaining children, the Crown Prince, Prince Charles, and Princess Alexandra, were also present. "Dear, dear Lulu," wrote little Princess Eliza to her friend, Countess Stosch, "how happy, how supremely happy I was with William."

A Shadow

During the next two years the young couple saw one another constantly, but a shadow had fallen across their happiness owing to the degree of difference in their respective ranks, which constituted a bar to their marriage. When Princess Eliza's mother — a Hohenzollern Princess — married Prince Radziwill, her inferior in birthright, she descended to his rank, and their children were not Royal Princes and Princesses, but merely the descendants of a Polish noble family, with Royal blood in their veins.

A marriage between Prince William and Princess Eliza would thus have been a morganatic union, and the right of their children to inherit the Prussian Throne would, according to the "House Laws" of the Hohenzollern dynasty, have been open to doubt. The question was raised whether Princess Eliza could not be raised to the rank of "Royal Highness" either by the King of Prussia or by the Tsar, and the two lovers went through an anxious time, which extended into several years, while this matter remained undecided.

But Prince William was obliged by what he considered his duty to the State to desert the girl of his heart, and in February 1829 his engagement to Princess Augusta of Weimar was announced.

Princess Eliza did not live long after the marriage of William to Princess Augusta of Weimar.

HOW VANDERBILT SQUEEZED

Many are the battles royal fought between the "Bulls" and "Bears." Those who read money articles in newspapers have often seen the phrase, "Such and such a share rose sharply on what is believed to be a 'bear' squeeze." What is a "bear squeeze?" The uninitiated might be pardoned for thinking that the "Bears" must have caught the "Bulls" and were proceeding to hug them. Whereas it is in reality a painful operation inflicted upon the "Bear." The best illustration of it is the classic instance of how a big railroad magnate "squeezed" a whole Legislature in America a long time ago. It was in the days when American Legislatures were rather corrupt. It appeared that this body promised Commodore Vanderbilt certain railroad concessions which inflated the value of his stock. They then formed themselves into a "Bear" clique, and sold it heavily. The "Bears" kept on selling until they had sold a good deal more stock than there was actually in existence. When they thought they had made millions they repealed their grant of the concession. The stock had come down very little despite all the selling, but they thought that when their decision was announced it would slump. It did not. Some of them then decided to "cover." The price they sold at was 75, and it had dropped to only 73. If they could close their deal at that figure they would have a profit of two points on each share. But when they came into the market there was no stock to be had. They started bidding, and the price rose with amazing rapidity to 179. The Commodore had all the stock! He allowed the "Bears" to settle at 179. They lost millions, and he raked in millions as the result of his great "corner."

Not Room for Both

"I know Ames comes in for a lot of praise because he hunts with a camera instead of a gun," Forbes began, in a slightly acrid tone. "It never seems to strike people that there may be more than one kind of brutality."

"What's the matter with Ames?" demanded one of the men on the clubhouse porch.

"Up in Canada last fall, Forbes readily resumed, "I went off by myself one day, when Ames was fiddling over his kodak, and I stumbled full on a black bear. Because I was the only thing in sight, very likely, I became the immediate object of her attentions. I had only a slight lead, but I was going pretty well when Ames poked through the brush and took in the situation.

"'Hold on there, old chap!' he yelled. 'You're too far ahead. I can't get you both in.'"

LUNCHES SERVED IN DRUG STORES

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Oklahoma City is dry and the saloon free lunch has disappeared. Now every drug store in town has a lunch counter in addition to a stamp, city directory and public telephone department. Lunch signs are displayed prominently on drug stores. One druggist explains it this way:

"When the saloons closed, folks tried to get their drinks in drug stores. But these went dry, too, and there was a boom in soft drinks. In cool weather, crackers were served with hot drinks. Folks found this a substitute for free lunch. Finally the free lunch became too elaborate and we put in lunch counters. Now every drug store in Oklahoma City is selling sandwiches, chili con carne, cake and pie."

RIOTING IN MEXICO.

Striking Mill Hands Clashed With Rurales.

TORREON, Mex. — Rioting at Gomez Palacio, six kilometres north of here, was reported. Striking mill hands are said to have clashed with rurales in the streets. No casualties have been reported. Fifty cavalrymen and fifty rurales were sent from here to assist in restoring order.

Strike conditions in this city appeared to have improved. Many of the employers have agreed to the eight-hour day, but the strikers refuse to return to work until all have adopted it.

The city water supply is threatened through idleness of the electric power plant which operates the pumps, but it is possible that it will resume operations under military protection.

"Were you introduced to the count last night, Marie?"

"Yes; we talked together for an hour."

"What did you talk about?"

"I haven't the remotest idea. We spoke in French."

Two Spur Tracks.

The Board of Railway Commissioners at its meeting at Ottawa this afternoon will hear this case: Application, C.P.R., under Sec. 237, for authority to construct its two proposed spur tracks to freight shed (proposed) on the corner of Water and Sherbrooke streets, across Sherbrooke street and along the Government reservation for road along the northwest bank of the Otonabee river in the City of Peterborough, Ont.

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine conferred upon her firstborn the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thompson's Sarsaparilla."

Sword in a Plank.

A curious discovery has been made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of heightening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a fresh plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for at least fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was an old-fashioned type, a short cross piece forming the handle. How the sword could have got where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank where it had entered, and it is believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence and encircled with the growth.

A King's Retreat.

We often hear of Boscobel Oak, people pointing to it as the very tree which sheltered Charles II after the Royalist forces had been shattered at the battle of Worcester. But the Boscobel Oak is not the original tree. It has grown from an acorn taken from the original tree. Boscobel House, near by, is, however, the very house in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to crawl out of the chimney and make his way into a wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, then, early in the morning, took food and drink with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath the tree searching for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China, it would appear, is a business complicated by Chinese customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old, and after it has passed one New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years of age before it is 30 days days old according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, as elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady of Ching-tsu known to be over 100 who insisted on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a Chinese mother to give a son the name of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. This of course is another source of trouble to the enumerators.

Friendship of Books

To fall in love with a good book is one of the greatest events that can befall us. It is to have a new influence pouring itself into our life, a new teacher to inspire us, a new friend to be by our side always, who, when life grows narrow and weary, will take us into his wider and calmer and higher world.

Whether it be biography, introducing us to some humble life made great by duty done; or history, opening vistas into the movements and destinies of nations that have passed away; or poetry, making music of all the common things around us, and filling the fields and the skies and the work of the city and the cottage with eternal meanings — whether it be these, or religious books or science, no one can become the friend even of one good book without being made wiser and better.

HAPPINESS IS FOUND

In helping others.
In friendly letters.
In pleasant words.
In little courtesies.
In little kindnesses.
In unselfish service.
In social intercourse.
In a clean conscience.
In work that we love.
In mutual confidences.
In healthful recreation.
In cultivating the mind.
In doing duty cheerfully.
In making others happy.
In facing life with a smile.
In achieving worthy ambitions.
In the companionship of books.
In ding one's best regardless of reward.

Orillia's New Catholic Church.

The new church of the Guardian Angel at Orillia was opened on Wednesday by Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, in the presence of a large assemblage of people, and many priests from the diocese of Toronto London and Peterborough. The church stands upon the site of the old edifice, which was torn down to make room for it. The building is of cut Longford stone, 66 x 162 feet in size, and presents a handsome appearance.

Illegal Trapping

Bobcaygeon Independent's Last Wednesday an old man named Alex. Boyce passed through the village in care of two constables, charged with illegal trapping of fur in the Algonquin Park. This is the third time Mr. Boyce has been charged with illegal trapping. He is 72 years of age, and has been trapping in the back country for over forty years. As trapping in the Algonquin Park is looked upon in Haliburton as about as disgraceful as smuggling Bibles from England the sympathy of most people will be with the old poacher, and if he is found guilty many hope he will get off with a light sentence.

Judge Got the Baby.

A few years ago an Iowa county court judge tried to imitate King Solomon in his well-known decision respecting the child that was claimed by two women. In the Iowa Court two women claimed to be the mother of a child that was produced before the judge. Thinking that history might repeat itself, the judge asked for the infant. Then, opening his knife, he announced his intention of cutting the child in half. Whereupon one of the mothers exclaimed, "Oh, no! If it comes to that you may keep the child yourself," and both women left the court.

"It appears to me that Solomon was a very over-rated man," murmured the judge.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day: only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
BY J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

PERSIAN CABINET RESIGNS OVER THE SHUSTER AFFAIR

FOLLOWING THE ACTION OF PARLIAMENT IN REFUSING TO PERMIT DISMISSAL.

The Russians Advance—A Cordon Will Be Thrown Around Shuster's Home to Keep Him From His Office.

Teheran, Dec. 20.—The Persian Cabinet resigned to-day, following the action of Parliament in refusing to permit the dismissal of W. Morgan Shuster, the American Treasurer-General.

Members of the ministry have violently opposed the course of Parliament in retaining Shuster, and have been accused of "selling out" to Russia. The formation of the new ministry of ultra-democratic character and the members, of which will be ardent supporters of Shuster is predicted.

A despatch from Kasbin says the Russian troops are preparing to advance on Teheran to-morrow. Shuster has received a warning that a cordon of the Czar's soldiers will be thrown about his home to prevent him from going to his office and performing his official duties.

BRITISH SEA CAPTAIN COMMITTED SUICIDE

After His Vessel Had Been Pulled Off The Barbadoes Shoals.

Barbadoes, West Indies, Dec. 20.—Captain Lorains of the British steamer Jacob Bright shot himself yesterday after the British armoured cruiser Berwick had pulled his vessel off the shoals.

The Jacob Bright which left Norfolk, Virginia, for Barbadoes on Dec 1, went ashore at North Point on Dec. 11. The steamer, which is of 1,734 tons burden, is safe.

REV. C. V. T. RICHESON CUT HIMSELF WITH PIECE OF TIN

BAPTIST CLERGYMAN, ACCUSED OF MURDER OF AVIS LINNELL, MUTILATED HIMSELF.

Doctors Had to Operate—He Is In a Serious Condition—Was Accused of Giving Girl Poison to Take.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 20.—Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, accused of the murder of Avis Linnell, his former sweetheart and choir singer in his church, while in his cell in the Charles street jail this morning severely mutilated himself with a piece of tin. The county medical examiner and other physicians who were called into the prison, fear that the accused minister may not live to face his trial, which is scheduled to begin on Jan. 15. To save his life, if possible, they performed an operation on him.

CONVICT SOLD STORY.

When Richeson was found in his cell, in a pool of blood, writhing in pain, he was carried immediately into the hospital ward, and all the guards and attendants sworn to secrecy. The story leaked out late in the morning when a short term prisoner, who had seen the wounded man on his way to the hospital, went to a newspaper office and sold the information.

Later it was denied by the prison officials, but even as they were denying it there came ringing through the prison corridors Richeson's wild voice:

"My God, I'm dying," he shrieked, again and again. "My God, I'm dying." It was only then that the officials would confirm the story of Richeson's sensational attempt to kill himself.

Medical examiners for the county, and a number of physicians were hurried to the jail to attend to Richeson's injuries. They declared that the wounds could not have been inflicted by a normal-minded man.

MAY BE BLOOD POISONING.

At 10.30 o'clock District Attorney Lavelle, who was hastily summoned to the jail, declared the physicians believed that the wounded pastor might live, but that his condition at that hour was very critical the nature of his self-inflicted wounds being of such a nature that blood poisoning might result at any time.

Richeson timed his attempted suicide well, and carried out all his plans with a fiendish ingenuity. How he secured the piece of jagged tin with which he tortured himself may never be known.

Can't Trifle With Nature

Sleeplessness, shaky nerves, stomach trouble, weak heart, headaches, etc., are effects often caused by tea and coffee drinking.

There can be no relief until the cause—if it . . ea or coffee—is removed.

Then Nature will repair the damage and the return to health can be hastened by using well-boiled

POSTUM

—the pure liquid food drink containing the nourishing elements of wheat, including the phosphate of potash (grown in the grain) which Nature requires in rebuilding body and brain.

TORONTO MISSIONARIES ESCAPED CANNIBALS

Were Captured, But Persuaded Natives Not to Eat Them for Christmas Dinner.

New York, Dec. 20.—The Rev. W. T. Currie and Mrs. Currie, of Toronto, who have been stationed in the Portugeuse Province of Angola, on the west coast of Africa, told of having been surrounded by man-eating natives, arrived here yesterday.

"We were making a fourteen-month trip into the interior," Dr. Currie explained, "when on one occasion armed cannibals surrounded us and made preparations to serve us up for a Christmas dinner. It looked very serious for a time, but I called the chief over, and finally talked him out of his intention of eating Mrs. Currie and myself.

"It ended up by the cannibals giving us a pig and a gourd of native beer."

TRIES TO ANNUL MARRIAGE BECAUSE BUT ONE WITNESS

STRIKING CASE BEING TRIED BEFORE A SPECIAL JURY IN DUBLIN.

A Secret Midnight Marriage to Mother's Servant—What Counsel Declares—Ne Temere Decree the Cause of Another Lawsuit.

London, Dec. 20.—The Ne Temere Decree is now before Justice Kenny and a special jury in Dublin, in a case where an Irish Catholic farmer seeks a declaration that his midnight marriage with aCatholic servant in his mother's employment, is null and void, because, though celebrated by the parish priest, it was performed before one witness instead of two, as required by the decree of the Council of Trent and the Ne Temere decree.

A large array of leading counsel on each side are arguing for and against the validity of the decrees in relation to the common law of Ireland.

The respondent's counsel's contention is that, while as a Catholic he has every respect for the decrees of the Church, they are absolutely without legal force or effect in an English governed country.

NORTH MONAGHAM SHOULD SEE THAT BY-LAW IS CARRIED

The Council of North Monaghan has submitted a By-Law to a vote of the ratepayers on January 1st, authorizing the Peterborough Radial Railway to extend its present C. G. E. line to the corner of Romaine street, and Monaghan Road. This is a most important matter, not only for those who reside in close proximity to the city in North Monaghan, but to the city as well, as it will bring a considerable section of the township within easy distance of the business section, which will have the effect of greatly increasing the value of the property in that important district. A large tract of desirable building lots will also be brought into close contact with the city by this extension, and greater activity is already manifest in real estate in that portion of the township, in consequence of the construction of the proposed road.

When interviewed as to when cars would be operating over the line, Mr. Munro, the manager of the company stated that if the By-Law was confirmed by North Monaghan ratepayers on Jan. 1st, the line would be in operation by June next, as the material is already on the ground, and work would be started as soon as the snow leaves. Mr. Munro expresses very optimistic views in regard to the development of the south and southwest districts, and had no hesitation in stating that a further extension of the system will be necessary within a couple or three years. In proof of this we may add that the Company has already made application to the municipality for the use of the road for this purpose.

It will be pleasing to the general public to learn that the Company has two new suburban or rural routes in contemplation, one of which will probably be completed and in operation next fall.

The ratepayers should therefore see that the by-law is carried by a substantial majority on January 1st.

SIX MEN WAITING FOR THE CALL TO THE PRISON DEATH CHAMBER

White Plains, N.Y., Dec. 20.—To the company of five men in the death house at Sing Sing prison awaiting electrocution for the murder of Mrs. Mary Hall, at Croton Lake, last month, a sixth has been added.

This man is Salvatore Di Marco, who was found guilty by a jury here yesterday of having participated in the killing of the woman. Justice Tompkins set the week beginning January 29th as the time for his execution. The other five are sentenced to die during the week of January 15th.

ROBBERS SANDBAGGED THE STATION-MASTER

Niagara Falls, Dec. 20.—In a condition which would indicate sandbagging, Ross Hall, stationmaster at the Michigan Central Station, St. David's was found unconscious by the roadside near the village last night. The man was delirious and demanding where his money was. By custom, Mr. Hall had carried home the money with him at nights, and it is not known how much he had upon him when he was attacked. It is supposed he was followed from the station by thugs.

COTTON-WORKERS MAY BE LOCKED OUT

Liverpool, Dec. 20.—A lockout affecting 100,000 cotton operatives is threatened on Christmas Day. The trouble between the employers and the workers has arison over the question of the employment of non-unionists.

The weavers employed in one of the mills in Accrington intend to strike to-night unless two non-unionists employed there consent to join the union. The employers threaten to retaliate by a general lockout.

DUNDEE IS PARALYZED.

Dundee, Scotland, Dec. 20.—The troops requisitioned by the Lord Provost of this city to repress the disturbances caused by the dockers and carters of the port, who are on strike, have arrived, and their presence has had a salutory effect on the rowdies. These had taken advantage of the strike to create disorder in the city, and had thrown several wagons and a quantity of goods into the docks.

The strike of the carters has necessitated the closing of a number of mills which are unable to obtain coal for their furnaces.

Twenty thousand workers are idle, and the business of the is almost paralyzed.

REPUBLIC IS A FIRST ESSENTIAL TO PEACE

Shanghai, Dec. 20.—After the meeting of the peace conference at the town hall had adjourned this afternoon, an official statement initialed by Tang-shao-Yi and Dr. Wu Ting Fang, the leaders of the Imperialists and revolutionaries respectively, was issued to the press. It says in substance that after Dr. Wu Ting Fang had lengthily presented the case in favor of a Republic as an indispensable condition of peace, Tang-Shao-Yi in replying "expressed his readiness to accept Dr. Wu Ting Fang's views, but the matter was so important that he must first communicate with Pekin."

The armistice between the opposing forces has no wbeen extended to December 30th.

Dying of Cholera

Local Physician Says Thousands Dying in Europe Can Be Saved With Proper Medicine.

What is it that keeps down cholera cramps, and summer complaints in America? Ask any doctor or live druggist and he will tell you "Nerviline." Just fancy, a million bottles are sold every year to people who use Nerviline for stomach disorder, cramps, flatulence, and summer complaint. For fifty years in most Canadian homes no other pain-relieving medicine but Nerviline is kept. Nothing cures the aches, pains and sickness of the entire family so quickly as Nerviline.

LETTER NO. 4672

"As far back as I can remember, at least 50 years ago, there was never a time that our house was without 'Nerviline.' In the summer time, when the children ate green apples and got sick with diarrhoea and cramps, it was Nerviline that cured them. My father used Nerviline frequently to cure gas on his stomach and acute indigestion. There are but few minor ailments that Nerviline does not cure, and I know of no medicine so useful; in fact, so indispensable around the home as Nerviline."

This letter, written by Mrs. N. C. Butcher, a well known resident in Battersea, shows the high opinion entertained of Nerviline by those who have used it constantly for nearly half a century.

You'll never regret using Nerviline. Get it to-day, keep it on hand for an accident or sudden case of sickness in your home. Refuse anything else offered you instead of Nerviline. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

CREW WAS TERRORIZED BY A DEADLY COBRA

The Reptile Secreted Itself in Ship's Hold After Causing the Death of One Man.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 20.—A constant guard was provided for to-day during the unloading of the German steamer Kattenturn, to prevent fatality among the longshoremen and Stevedores, because of a poisonous cobra, which was on the voyage from Calcutta killed one member of the crew and reduced the remainder to a state of abject terror, was still loose aboard the ship. The reptile one of 24 consigned to a New York animal dealer, measures eight feet long. Although the crew, after the reptile had escaped and bitten asailor, who died a few hours after in agony, hunted with weapons about the vessel, the cobra could not be found, and was believed to have secreted himself among the cargo.

BANDITS GAGGED WIFE AND MURDERED HUSBAND

A Cleveland Man, Frank Gillette, Is Stabbed to Death By Mexicans.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 20.—Frank Gillette, a former business man of Cleveland, Ohio, was murdered by Mexican bandits December 10, on his coffee plantation near Rosa Morada, territory of Tepic, Mexico, according to advices received here.

The marauders entered the house, bound and gagged Mrs. Gillette, and stabbed her husband to death, then rifled the house, taking away $10,000 in money and silverware.

THINKS TURKEY IS DESIROUS OF PEACE

A Despatch From Rome to London Says That Turkey Will Make Proposals—Germany is Sending Aid.

London, Dec. 20.—According to a despatch from Rome it is believed that Turkey is about to make peace proposals.

The British Foreign Office has issued a statement that Turkey was informed in 1904 that Sollum in Barcel the eastern division of Tripoli was included in Egyptian territory and that its occupation by Egyptian troops no wis a mere formality.

It is believed, however, that Turkey never formally admitted this view.

GERMANY HELPS TURKS.

London, Dec. 20.—A Sofia despatch to The Times says that a special special train conveying war material from Germany has passed Zibeftche, on the Turco-Servian frontier on its way to Salonika. Another similar train is reported to be following. The greatest secrecy is being observed.

The correspondent adds that the Turkish Government has conveyed its thanks to the German Emperor through the Ambassador, for this convincing proof of German friendship.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC PROGRESS ON THE TRENT WATERWAY

Will Probably Acquire the Otonabee Power Company's Generating Plant at Once.

The negotiations at Ottawa between representatives of the Hydro-Electric Commission and the Otonabee Power Company, for the acquiring by the commission of the company's generating plant and distributing system is another step toward the introduction of a public power service into the Trent Valley. Since the changeof Government at Ottawa every encouragement has been given the commission to extend its system by the utihization of power sites that had been held to be under Federal jurisdiction, and there will be no delay in the implementing of Sir James Whitney's pre-election promise to give central and eastern Ontario cheap hydro-electric power.

Two dams on the Trent waterway system have already been leased by the Dominion Government to the commission. These are No. 4, about 5 miles north of Peterborough, and No. 8, about 25 miles southeasterly. No. 4 has agenerative capacity, under its own head, of 1,100 horse-power; and No. 8 a capacity of 6,000 horse power. These two heads however, are not alone capable of yielding the quantity of power the commission wants. Not only have municipalities in the Peterborough and Lakefield districts to be provided for, but Hydro-Electric power has been promised to the lake shore municipalities. The commission wants dam No. 5 owned and developed by the Otonabee company, to combine with No. 4, and thus add 3,000 horse-power to the public battery. Dam No. 5 is wanted particularly, because while No. 4 and 5 can single develop only 1,100 or 1,200 horse-power, combined under one head, they can develop 4,000 horse-power. The Otonabee company sought No. 4 dam for some years, intending to combine the two heads, but was blocked by the City of Peterborough. The Otonabee company which was for years an independent competing company in Peterborough, is now controlled by the Electric Power Company interests, that have avirtual monopoly of water power in the Trent district. If the commission secures dam No. 5 the power from the combined development will probably be held for Peterborough and Lakefield. Dam No. 8, being below Rice Lake, and a larger dam, may be used to serve the more southerly municipalities. However, the expressed intention of the commission is to acquire other dams, enlarging its battery at every opportunity, until eventually there are units with an aggregate capacity of nearly 20,000 horse-power, which is considered ample to meet the need of the district for years, especially as there are few large municipalities in it.

A Freight Wreck.

Conductor Jobbitt, of the Lakefield train, proceeded to Blezard's Otonabee, on Monday night, to assist in clearing away the wreck of a freight train, when four cars left the track. The track was cleared yesterday forenoon.

Boots and Shoes.

Shoes are one of the expenses of a toilet that may be reduced by care alone. A worn-out shoe cannot be renovated; no amount of skill will make it pass as new. The only possible way to save in shoe leather is to care properly for the shoes while wearing them. When they are taken off they should be wiped at once, and if wet filled with paper and put in a dry place (nor near the first) for some hours. We do not advise putting shoes into a bag, for the sake of neatness. If boot-trees are not convenient the boots or shoes should be stood where the air can get to them, as this will tend to harden the soles.

They will be in perfect state until time gooseberries will come again — in other words will keep a year.

WANTED BACK THE PRESENTS

Thrifty Young Man of Massachusetts Makes a Legal Effort to Recover the Price of Presents Made to a Sweetheart.

New Bedford, Mass., seems to have the unenviable distinction of owning the meanest man who has come into the light of publicity in recent times. He is a well-to-do-young man, and he can now claim to be prominent as well.

For three years he "paid considerable attention" to a young school teacher. He waited too long before attempting to clinch matters, for before he got around to talk matrimony a rival had appeared, and his offer was refused.

Although unfortunate in love, he was thrifty, for he demanded the return of the presents he had made. "This," says the teacher, "I was only too glad to do, giving him back a ring a bracelet, a neck-chain and several other articles. I thought that ended the affair."

It did not, for the thrifty young man found that he was still out on presents exactly $39.16, and in order to recover that amount he instituted legal proceedings and had the teacher's salary attached.

The man who can calculate the value of presents to a sweet-heart down to sixteen cents has a soul of about that size.

A Budding Mark Twain

A boy in Oklahoma City submitted the following essay on the ship of the desert:—

"A cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a bacteria, because it has bumps on its back. The cannimal is very patient, and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the hump. The shepherds of the cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called aquiducts. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebrates."

The boy is eight years old. His teacher says he is an ignoramus. His father says he is a young Mark Twain.

Franklin's Manners

Franklin collected thirteen principles to cover the small amenities of daily life. Each week he picked out one and practised it diligently, thus creating a habit. It took three months to cover them all. Each year he practised each one four full weeks. He kept this up for many years. The uncouth Franklin of early manhood who found fault with his wife for giving him a silver spoon and a china bowl for his bread and milk instead of a pewter spoon and earthenware crock, developed into the statesman and man of the world who won the respect of Englishmen, the admiration of Frenchmen, and the gratitude of Americans.

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

BEWARE OF SELFISHNESS

One of the Dangers of a Happy Life Is Want of Thought for Others.

The bachelor girl, especially at the outset of her career, is usually bright, jolly, in love with life and the good times she is having. Everyone likes her because she has such good spirits, because her outlook on life is so ch[illegible] She is welcomed everywhere. Her social calendar is usually full.

But if she wants to continue popular, if she wants her life to remain interesting, she should, as the years slip by, keep strict watch and ward upon herself. For this gay, care-free life of the bachelor girl is apt to make her self-centred, self-absorbed. She grows selfish. She is apt to be concerned only with herself and her own affairs. And gradually, little by little, lovableness slips out of her character. And before she knows it life still be less full of bloom and fragrance. There will be barren spots. It will begin to take on the ue of the desert. And unless she heeds these signs of the times she will come to a rather desolate old age.

Harvey's Long Walk

Walter J. Harvey recently started from Baltimore to walk to San Francisco on a wager of $500 to complete the trip in six months. The principal requirement is that Harvey must make his money for the necessaries of life as a Lootblack.

Spruce for British Admiralty

The British Admiralty has recently placed an order for 200,000 feet of white spruce to be used in the manufacture of oars for the rowboats of warships. It is perhaps not generally known that the superior quality of the white spruce grown in the Queen Charlotte Islands, off the coast of British Columbia, was discovered years ago by British naval officers of the North Pacific station. The wood of timber was found to be ideally adapted for making oars, and it is now used exclusively for that purpose by His Majesty's vessels throughout the world. The timber will be shipped direct by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Light from Sugar

This phenomenon, the cause of which has not yet been satisfactorily explained, may be observed when pieces of loaf sugar are mounted on a needle and rapidly rotated while a hammer plunges briskly against them. An almost [illegible] radiation of light may be thus produced from the sugar. It has been shown that the light does not arise from heating of the sugar, and it is believed to be caused by some change taking place in the sugar crystals. The act of pulverization is known to be sometimes accompanied by flashes of light. The practical bearing of these experiments is on the question of the cheap method of obtaining artificial light, which is as yet untried.

MOHAMMEDAN WITNESS

New York. — The Criminal Courts building was searched in vain today for a copy of the Koran, a demand for which arose when Mohammed Ali, a Turk, refused to be sworn on the Bible to testify in a grand larceny case. "To be sworn on the Bible means nothing to me," declared the witness, and court attendants searched high and low for a copy of the volume sacred to the Turk. When the book of Mohammed could not be found Ali was allowed to take oath after the fashion of those of his creed, holding up the index finger of his right hand, he said:

"I swear by the great Allah and by the beard of his only prophet Mohammed, to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing bn the truth. In failing, may I be swept off the face of the earth."

All was then permitted to give testimony favorable to the character of the defendant in the case.

NO DEFAULT ON LOANS

London. — The Pekin correspondent of the Times says that China's failure to pay the monthly interest on the Anglo-German loan need not cause anxiety. The half-yearly coupon is not due until April and all loans secured by the maritime customs will undoubtedly be paid punctually. The revolutionaries are as anxious as the Government to avoid foreign interference and are nowhere attempting to hinder the collection of the customs revenues.

However desperate China's internal finances, the foreign bondholders need have no fear of default in payment of any interest similarly secured.

REBELS HOLD THEIR OWN

Hankow. — The rebels are holding their own on the banks of the Han river. Sharp fighting and bombarding are daily occurring. The revolutionary forces are now awaiting the fall of Nanking, which will permit the fleet to come to their assistance. In such event, the Imperialist forces certainly will not be able to hold Station Kilometer Ten, which can be covered easily from the river.

INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City. — Chiefs Cloud and Washee, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov. Cruse, of Oklahoma, to intervene at Washington to have the privilege of holding the gift and "willow" dances restored to the tribes.

Indian agents at Segar have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal customs. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the conclusion.

The gift dance is the occasion for a gathering of the tribes and the squaws join in it. Guests are loaded with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

REINDEER FOR THE NORTH LAND

Recent Importation to Northern Canada Promises Splendid Results, Being Much More Useful than the Dog.

The importation of reindeer into Northern Canada is not altogether an experiment, because in the neighboring territory of Alaska imported reindeer and their off-spring have now for some time flourished and proved their usefulness. They were imported into Alaska by the United States Government, just as they are being imported into the Mackenzie district by our Department of the Interior.

In Alaska the reindeer have increased rapidly; they have found there abundance of suitable food; they have proved useful as beasts of burden, especially for prospectors and travellers visiting remote parts of the wild country; and they have supplied a needy class of the population with a most valuable article of food — reindeer milk, not to take into account the meat always available by killing an animal.

The traveller in the North has had to depend upon a dog-train. These dogs are difficult to manage, and their food almost invariably has to be carried — a serious drawback where transportation facilities are so limited. In hauling power one reindeer is equal to several dogs. In the natural mosses of the country the reindeer can almost everywhere find its own food; and in case of dire distress the slaughtered reindeer can save the traveller from starvation.

His Original Idea.

In a country seat in one of the middle Western States dwelt a lawyer who, after a practice of thirty years, had accumulated a competence and retired. Being a man of much more than ordinary ability, an excellent speaker, entertaining decided political views, and enjoying the confidence of the community, he was urged by his friends to run for Congress. He refused. A man high in the political councils of the State came to see him, and aided his persuasion.

"You ought to take that office," he said. "It might lead to something higher. You would make a national reputation."

"That's what I am afraid of."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well," answered the lawyer, hesitatingly, "I will tell you, but it is in strict confidence. It must not go any further. Many years ago, when I was young and inexperienced, I published a small volume of original poetry. So far as I know, there is not a copy of that book in existence now, but one would turn up in some corner of the world if I were to run for office, and the papers would print extracts from it. I wouldn't have that happen for a million dollars. No, sir, nothing doing!"

A WOMAN BUILDS HER OWN HOME

Eight Years Ago Mrs. Klingebiel Started Out to Build a House on $10 Per Week's Wages — Which is Now Worth $5000.

(By special cable)

Des Moines. Eight years ago Mrs. Nettie Klingebiel of Des Moines started out with a lot of courage and one dollar.

She owns her own home today and a tract of land valued at $5,000.

Mrs. Klingebiel is a widow and eight years ago was working in an office at $10 per week.

One day when the future looked unusually dull she made a resolve. She took five dollars from her week's salary to a real estate man, bought a fifty-foot lot, and made weekly payments of $5 until the lot was paid for. She bought $40 worth of lumber in the same way.

To avoid paying rent, she then had a little shed built and lived in it until the lot was paid for. Then she borrowed $200 and put up a two-room cottage. Soon after there was a boom in another suburban section. She traded her property for a better lot and borrowed $400 to build a four-room cottage.

After office hours Mrs. Klingebiel slapped paint on her house, or cemented the cellar floor and the sun's early rays found her setting out trees and vines.

While she was paying for her home SHE NEVER EARNED OVER $10 A WEEK.

Again there come a boom in another suburban district. Mrs. Klingebiel looked at her neat little home, and plunged again. This trade brought her a beautiful property valued at $5,000. She built another cozy little home and vows she will never leave it.

I am willing to do all in my power to help those laboring to reach a successful issue in the coming sessions next year which provides a supreme opportunity and nothing but unwise handling of what can compass failure."

THE ORIGIN OF OPIUM

The Cultivation of Poppies which was only Begun in China 200 Years Ago was Imported from the West into India.

The same political development's [illegible] to be seen in the East as in the [illegible], but in a lesser degree, and to [illegible]rm that the West has outstripped the East, or that the East has lagged behind the West, is to affirm things about which nothing certain can be said. It is curious that the vice which is regarded as most distinctly Asiatic should have originated in Europe. Seven thousand years ago, in the so-called Stone age, the lake dwellers of Switzerland were cultivating poppies, apparently for the oil in the seed.

In the South of Europe and on the Mediterranean shores of Africa the opium poppy—or rather the wild poppy of which the opium poppy is a cultivated variety—was grown perhaps two thousand years ago. The Greeks were acquainted with the somniferous properties of the sap which was used as medicine, but chiefly it was cultivated for the oil. Now this variety of poppy does not grow wild in Asia; it was apparently introduced into Persia, India and China by Arab traders, as the narcotic juice seems to have been largely used by the Arabians for its pleasurable effects produced. It appears to have reached India about a thousand years ago, although no doubt the drug was imported before that time, and five hundred years ago it was an article of trade between India and Cathay.

The cultivation of poppies, however, apparently was only begun in China some two hundred years ago, when the Chinese hit upon the plan of inhaling the fumes by burning the drug—the so-called opium smoking. Here we see the introduction of a narcotic from the West to the East, and the question arises why the West has been able to escape from its influence while so many Eastern nations have succumbed? This is more especially curious when we remember that tobacco, also introduced to the East from the West, is now as popular in Europe as in Asia and other parts of the world.

Whatever be the cause of this comparative indifference to opium in Europe, it remains a fact that its use and cultivation were imported from the West, and thus an Asiatic vice turns out to be not peculiarly Asiatic at all.

SUPERTITIONS ROUND 'OPALS'

Sir Walter Scott Started the Idea that Opals Were Unlucky in one of his Books.

The idea that opals were unlucky is thought by many to be on account of the unfortunate part Sir Walter Scott assigned to it in his "Anne of Geierstein." The opal is also associated with misfortune by Russians of both sexes, who, should they chance to see an opal amongst the goods displayed for purchase, will buy nothing more that day, and it is a curious fact that the Japanese, being under the sign that this stone belongs to, should be the nation to bring such ill-luck to the Russians during the disastrous war between these two countries. The Romans of old loved the opal so well that they bestowed upon it the name of "lovely youth." It never occurred to them that it was a gem which carried ill-luck to its possessor. In the Middle Ages there were not wanting men who shared the Romans' weakness, for opals did not lose their popularity as time went on. Each century brought its own joys and sorrows, luck and ill-luck, to the human race; and each age brought its fashions in jewellery as in clothing, but the opal remained high in favour and entered largely into the adornment of both sexes.

Man's Physical Strength

Man's capacity for work and sport varies with the temperament of the individual and the character of the task. For this very crystal reason students of physiology always will find it a puzzling problem to analyse the average man and produce authentic figures showing the amount of strength he requires in his daily duties or what he accomplishes from a physical standpoint.

One man may be a hustler, his fellow creature obviously latent in physical energy, but there must be a distinction in mental duties and those which sap brawn and muscle.

Man's physical strength generally undergoes the severest test in athletics. The more vigorous forms of sports necessitate action that will not be found in the revolving chair or, for that matter, in any class of labor that taxes the physical powers.

At the Court of Sindamos'.

But it is not everybody who realizes that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

Alone Under the Tree With a Green Froggie.

A sad little girl sat under a tree
"I'm so lonely, so lonely, so lonely!" sighed she.
"Oh, why won't somebody play with me?"
But no one came but a green froggie.
"Doncher grump, doncher grump, doncher grump!" said he.

The sad little girl sat under the tree.
"But what shall I do to be gay?" sighed she.
"I wish somebody would please tell me!"
And no one did—but a bumblebee.
"Be bizzee, be bizzee, be bizzee!" said he.
—Youth's Companion.

Farmer Game.

For this game all pretend to be farmers. The players are divided into two equal sides. One of the sides goes off at a distance to determine upon what fruit or vegetable to bring to town and how to show the manner in which it was raised. Then the acting side marches in a line to the guessing side, which says, "Who are you?" The acting side announces "Farmers." "What do you sell?" "Products from our farm." "How did you raise them?" "This way." And the acting side goes through some motion agreed upon which shows how the potatoes were dug or put into bags. If corn is chosen the planting may be shown, or the cutting, the shocking or the husking. When fruits are chosen the players may pretend to be planting, pruning, picking or packing.

As soon as the guessing side guesses the product the acting side runs, for the players on the other side try to capture as many actors as possible. If the product is not guessed, but is given up, the acting side chooses another product and has another turn at acting. The object of the game is not only to guess the product, but to capture farmers. The first side capturing half of the farmers of the other side wins the game. If the game starts out with eight players on each side, the side which grows to have twelve players first wins the game.

Stung on the Tongue.

Ever get stung by a bee? It is not pleasant. If there are plenty of bees they sting you in the most convenient place, but if there is only one you are pretty sure to get it on the nose, quite as if the bee understands that it could not do much worse for you. One bee that lived down south in Indiana went a little further than that. The man that it was having a difference of opinion with had his mouth open, and it stung him on the tongue. It is bad enough to be stung on the nose, but there is all outdoors for the nose to swell into. The tongue has not so much room, and the man was nearly suffocated before the swelling went down. You see, the real cure for a bee sting is a poultice of mud, but the man said that he did not like the taste of mud, and so his tongue had to stay swollen for awhile.—Chicago News.

Cradle Song.

Here is a little cradle song the Italian mother sings when bedtime comes and the little ones are sleepy:

A long vee and a short one!
Do you wish me to tell you a long one?
This is the finger, and this is the nail.
Do you wish me to tell you a short one?
This is the finger, and this is the end of it.

Here is another short one:

Once upon a time there was a king
Who ate more than you.
He ate bread and cheese.
Pull, pull his nose.

Then the mother pulls the baby's nose.

Japanese Tag.

This makes an amusing variation on the old game of tag. When a player is tagged he must place his left hand on the spot tagged and keep it there until he has caught some other victim. The game works out in this way: If one who is "it" endeavors to tag a runner on the knee or foot, so that his efforts to tag any one with his hand on this part of the body will be awkward and amusing.

Plumduff—Here's a man mentioned in this paper who is 105 years old and can walk ten miles at a stretch.

The time was long past midnight.

"What was that terrific noise upstairs, darling?" exclaimed the nervous young man.

"I think it must have been papa dropping a hint," she replied.—Philadelphia Record.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 197 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that; I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

1—Pain in the back.
2—Too frequent desire to urinate.
3—Scalding or obstruction of urine.
4—Pain or soreness in the bladder.
5—Prostatic trouble.
6—Gas or pain in the stomach.

Worm-Gatherers.

A little known and seldom heard of trade is that of "the worm-gatherer, who flourishes greatly at Nottingham, England. The worm-gatherer does not have a particularly easy job, neither does he earn what might be termed a "high salary."

His duties consist of collecting worms from out of the ground and selling them to the fishing depots.

The prices paid for worms are at the rate of about 50 cents per 1,000.

The "wormers'" busiest time is during wet weather, for then the worms crawl out of the earth, and are easier to "trap." During the recent drought the "wormers" of Nottingham have had a rough time, and they have been agitating for higher prices for their "catches."

They have demanded an extra 25 cents per 1,000 worms from the fishing-tackle dealers. A compromise has been arrived at by the dealers agreeing to pay from 60 to 75 cents per 1,000, according to the quality of the worms.

Thus was a strike of "wormers" averted.

Immortal.

Mr. Fred. Terry, who went from a sick bed and, propped up amongst a heap of cushions in one of the boxes, watched the triumph of his daughter, Miss Neilson Terry at the New Theatre, London, in "Romeo and Juliet," recently, tells a story which, while amusing, illustrates the popular actor's thoroughness. "One day," he says, "we were rehearsing the death scene in "The Heel of Achilles," and a member of my company came in from the street and asked the call-boy how far the rehearsal had gone. 'Mr. Terry's just dying,' replied the boy. 'Good; I've time to smoke a cigarette before my entrance.' Presently the actor returned, and repeated the question. 'Still dying,' answered the boy. 'Oh, I'll go and have another cigarette then.' Back he came, but only got the same reply from the call-boy. Finally, after smoking five cigarettes, he asked, a little wearily, how far the rehearsal had gone. 'Still dying,' answered the call-boy. 'Great heavens!' gasped the actor, 'he must be immortal!'"

Romance of Self-Help.

The romantic career of Sir William Hall-Jones—who is retiring from the High Commissionership of New Zealand—is an example of what hard work can do. He was born in Folkestone, where his father was a carver and turner in quite a small way. When he left school he was apprenticed to a cabinet-maker in London, but his health broke down, and the doctors advised him to emigrate to New Zealand to save his life. There he worked as a carpenter, and eventually entered Parliament, where he greatly distinguished himself as a member of the late "Dick" Seddon's Cabinet.

It's Plain, but Very Smart.

If this attractive suit, which is the creation of a famous French dressmaker, is to be taken as a harbinger of fall styles all women will rejoice in the tailored trimness and grace that are theirs. The lines of the suit are smart and distinctive. The coat is so admirable length and is just loose enough to be comfortable for everyday wear. The skirt is particularly good looking and, while narrow enough to suggest slenderness, is not extreme. This natty little suit is built of novelty mohair, which has all the appearance of shevriot, but sheds dust more readily.

WHEREAS The Peterborough Radial Railway Company has applied to the Council of the Township of North Monaghan for the franchise and right for a period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the public highway or road, which may be better known as "The Monaghan Road" extending Southerly from Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee, in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turn-outs and other appliances for the purposes of the said Railway, and the Council and Company have agreed on the terms and conditions on which in the opinion of the Council the said right should be given, which terms and conditions have been reduced to writing, and are fully set out herein, and it is necessary that the said terms and conditions and the period for which said right is to be granted should be submitted to the vote of the Electors of the Municipality in the manner provided in the Consolidated Municipal Act (1903) and the Ontario Railway Act 1906 with respect to By-laws requiring the assent of the Electors.

THIS AGREEMENT made in duplicate the 17th day of November, 1911, between THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTH MONAGHAN, hereinafter called the "Corporation," of the FIRST PART and THE PETERBOROUGH RADIAL RAILWAY COMPANY, hereinafter called the "Company," of the SECOND PART.

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto and dated the Fourteenth day of March, 1904, the Corporation did grant unto the Company a franchise and right for the period of thirty years, therein set forth, together with the exemption therein referred to, and Provided, however, that the rails shall be laid along the centre of the road allowance as far South as Cameron Street and that from the North side of Cameron Street South to the River Otonabee the rails shall be laid on the portion of the highway designated by the Township Council.

2. 3. AND the Company do hereby covenant, promise and agree with the Corporation in manner following, that is to say:

4. THAT the propelling power of such railway will be horses, electricity, or any other power except steam as the Company wish to adopt and put in operation.

5. THAT the Company will lay the rails flush with the road, and so as to cause the least possible impediment to ordinary traffic, that the same will be laid in accordance with the existing level or grade of the road at the time of laying the same or as near thereto as is compatible with a proper execution of the work.

6 THAT the Company will so construct and maintain the railway that the same will not interfere with that the Company will maintain their roadbed between their rails and the water tables and drainage, and devilstrip in the same manner as the remainder of the Highway is maintained.

7. THAT the Corporation shall not be liable to the Company for any damage the Company may incur or sustain from the breakage of any sewer or water pipe or for any damage or delay that may be caused by the construction of sewers, laying of water pipes or repairing the same or from any delay that may be caused by freshets or fires.

12. THAT the fares to be charged by the Company will be the same as those charged in the City of Peterborough, and the payment of fare upon any part of the line hereinbefore provided for will entitle the passenger to be carried to any part of the railway line in the City of Peterborough without additional fare.

13. IT shall be the duty of the Company when removing snow from its tracks to spread the same evenly upon the Highway so that the same will not injuriously affect the travel on that part of the Highway outside the Company's tracks.

14. SHOULD the Company forfeit its Franchise in the City of Peterborough the Township Council may declare this Franchise to be forfeited and cancelled.

15. IT is understood and agreed that the Company is to put the highway on each side of the track in as good a condition for general travel as the travelled part of the road was before the laying of the tracks.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR The Hospital for Sick Children

Dear Mr. Editor,—

Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

I make this direct appeal to the people of Ontario, for the fathers and mothers of Ontario, outside the City of Toronto, have precisely the same claim for their sick children as regards the privileges of the Hospital, as parents who reside in this city.

In brief the sick children from any place in Ontario whose parents cannot afford to pay, is, on certificate from a municipal officer of any city, town, village or township, treated free.

This is a privilege not granted by any Hospital in the Dominion, or on this Continent.

Let me, in a few words, state that in the last 20 years, since 1891, there have been 4,731 patients from 450 places outside of this city treated free, as the parents were unable to pay for treatment. Last year 384 patients from 234 places outside Toronto were so treated.

The Hospital is not a city but a Provincial Institution. The Corporation of Toronto grants $18,000, not only for city children, but towards the maintenance of every patient in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $10,000 to the maintenance fund of the Hospital.

It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province.

Why, in the Orthopedic department in 20 years, nearly 700 children, boys and girls, have been treated for club feet, and about 600 were corrected. Two-thirds of these came from places outside of Toronto, from parents who could not afford to pay.

Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Every day is Christmas to the child whose little life is saved, or whose crippled limb is straightened with the might of money—your money—and the mercy of the Hospital.

Will you, the reader of this letter, think of what your dollar will do? It helps to restore health and strength, and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

You give wealth to the Hospital, and the Hospital gives health to the children.

Yes, your money can put girls on hinges on the door of the Hospital's mercy.

Will you, kind reader, help? Send a spare dollar to Dougl... son, the secretary-treasurer ... Hospital, or

J ROSS ROBERTSON, Chairman of the Trustees.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

GENERAL MILES PRAISES CHINESE

War Always Unpopular with the Chinese but they are a Brave People but Nothing Can Stop Revolution.

(Special Cable Service.)

In some respects, China was to me the most interesting country I have ever had the pleasure of visiting. In their ancient civilization we find much that we could adopt with benefit, and still more that has been obsolete for centuries.

Ages ago China passed through some of the experiences that now interest or agitate our people. The controversies between capital and labor and the unequal distribution of wealth were problems in which they were concerned thousands of years ago. As a race they have encouraged industry, art, science and literature

Compared with some other people their integrity has been proverbial.

It was my good fortune, in 1902, to have the opportunity of seeing the different sections of China, as well as visiting the principal cities of Hong Kong, Canton, Talensin, Pekin and other important places. A marked contrast is noticeable between that and our country.

During my sojourn in that country nine years ago I found the leading men greatly exercised concerning the threatened dismemberment of their country. Ostensibly for the purpose of obtaining spheres of commercial influence, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan had all acquired control of certain portions of Chinese territory, and it seemed only a question of time when their nation would disappear from the map of the world.

China owes her existence today partly to the fact that two of the aggressive powers became involved in war over a certain portion of her territory.

To realise how far the absorption of that country had extended, one needed only to visit Hong Kong and see the formidable fortification defending the entrance to the harbor—the powerful fleet of battleships, the palace of the governor general and the 5,000 trained, disciplined, veteran (English) troops, all under a foreign flag. Similar occupation could be observed in other parts of the empire.

For hundreds of years war and the military profession has been unpopular with the Chinese people. They abhor the first and if possible would always avoid the latter. Their army now consists of approximately 160,000 men, and the government has recently been endeavoring to increase this number to 350,000.

That great empire of 430,000,000 people is now quaking like the tremors of the earth. From the center to the remotest quarter of that vast territory a political convulsion and revolution is affecting all its conditions and attracting the attention of the world. What will be the result — how far reaching will be its influence, or to what extent it will affect the 400,000,000 of the human race in other countries of the orient, it is impossible now to determine.

GERMANY AGAIN AFTER TERRITORY

PARIS. — It is learned from an authoritative source that Germany is negotiating with Spain for the acquisition of territory in Rio Muni, or Spanish Guinea, where it is proposed to establish warehouses and factories. Rio Muni is in Western Equatorial Africa, between Kamerun and the Muni river. A German commission will be sent to Rio Muni shortly to engage in topographical work.

MADRID. — Prime Minister Canalejas denies the statement that Spain was about to sell her Guinea colony to Germany or any other power. He added that Spain was willing to use great moderation in her negotiations with France about Spanish vested rights and interests in Morocco.

CANADA FOR MANUFACTURERS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Hon. J. D. Henderson, commissioner of industries of Hamilton, Ont., declared "Annexation sentiment in Canada is absolutely nil," while addressing the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association convention on the subject, "Canada, the manufacturers' opportunity."

"As a budding nation our loyalty is intense and practical, and our position as one of the leaders of the Empire compels us to maintain our tariff wall," he asserted.

The speaker stated that Canada is a firm believer in the home market and that there was no possibility in the very near future of any reduction in duties levied on articles manufactured this side of the line.

DISMISSAL OF KING'S CHAPLAIN

Charges of Drunkenness and Immorality Against Rev. Frederick P. Farrar. — Bishop Investigating Case.

(By special cable)

London. — The first court scandal in King George's reign exploded with violence, when The Gazette announced officially the dismissal of the Rev. Frederick Percival Farrar, the King's domestic chaplain, and also honorary chaplain to Queen Alexandra.

Charges of drunkenness and immorality have been made against the deposed King's chaplain, and they are now being investigated by the Bishop of Norwich. The disgraced clergyman has been rector of Sandringham, where the favorite residence of the late King Edward and of Queen Alexandra was situated. It is understood that he has resigned his rectorship in consequence of the charges against him, and a startling report is abroad that the Rev. Farrar is missing and that search is being made for him.

He is a son of the late Dean Farrar, and only last July he married Miss Nora Davis, a sister of Richard Harding Davis, the author, and a daughter of the late Clarke Davis, of Philadelphia. The wedding was attended by many prominent society people of London. Members of the Royal family sent wedding gifts, those of King George, Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra being especially handsome.

GERMANY AND MOROCCAN CRISIS

Many People Are Sore on the Supposed Laxity of German Government in Allowing Britain to Dictate.

Berlin. — The official report of the secret sitting of the budget committee of the Reichstag in November, when Foreign Minister von Kiderlin-Waechter made a report on Anglo-German relations as affected by the Moroccan dispute with France, is now published.

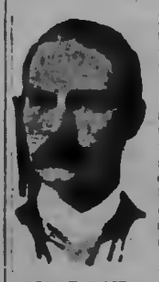
The Foreign Minister's account of the interviews between the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, and the German Ambassador at London, Count Wolff-Metternich, and of the communications that passed between Germany and England, show that the situation was most tense from July 21 to July 27, and the language used on both sides was so sharp that a peaceful outcome of the affair under the circumstances is considered most fortunate.

Great Britain, according to Herr von Kiderlin-Waechter, after receiving on July 1 an individual, as well as a general, explanation of the objects of the despatch of the German warship Panther to Agadir, remained silent until July 21.

Sir Edward Grey then had a conversation with the German ambassador, in which he declared that the time had come for Great Britain to intervene in the Franco-German negotiations, since these apparently were about to be broken off owing to Germany's unacceptable proposals, which would raise the question of the future of Morocco, whereby British interests would be affected. He requested an explanation of the German designs at Agadir.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

London.—The unionist forces in the British parliament have called upon a Canadian to lead them against the assaults of the progressive liberal forces. Andrew Bonar Law, born in New Brunswick and who removed to Glasgow, and was from there sent to the House of Commons, has been chosen leader of the British standpatters to succeed former Premier A. J. Balfour. Law is one of the ablest conservative debaters; also, he is the best chess player in parliament.



BONAR LAW

THE EMPIRE AND CANADA

London. — The London Chamber of Commerce tonight discussed "Canada" in its relation to the Mother Country. Faithfull Begg, treasurer, who presided, said that no country could show such a remarkable advance in progress as Canada during the past five years. Canada had done its part nobly in the recent elections and it was for the United Kingdom now to do hers and show appreciation of the efforts of the Dominion in the cause of imperial unity.

A. W. Smithers, chairman of the G. T. R., thought the British Government was discreditable for investigating the emigration question so unscientifically. The Dominion doesn't want the riffraff of our cities, and he appealed to the Government to transform unemployed casual labor into citizens acceptable to Canada.

She: "Oh, yes, I quite believe there's a fool in every family, don't you?"

He: "Well — er — my opinion is rather biased. You see, I am the only member of our family!"

Highest in Earth.

The Loa Bridge in the Chilian Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing as it does point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

"I know Ames comes in for a lot of praise because he hunts with a camera instead of a gun," Forbes began, in a slightly acrid tone. "It never seems to strike people that there may be more than one kind of brutality."

"What's the matter with Ames?" demanded one of the men on the club-house porch.

"Up in Canada last fall, Forbes readily resumed, "I went off by myself one day, when Ames was fiddling over his kodak, and I stumbled full on a black bear. Because I was the only thing in sight, very likely, I became the immediate object of her attentions. I had only a slight lead, but I was going pretty well when Ames poked through the brush and took in the situation.

"'Hold on there, old chap!' he yelled. 'You're too far ahead. I can't get you both in.'"

LUNCHES SERVED IN DRUG STORES

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Oklahoma City is dry and the saloon free lunch has disappeared. Now every drug store in town has a lunch counter in addition to a stamp, city directory and public telephone departments. Lunch signs are displayed prominently on drug stores. One druggist explains it this way:

"When the saloons closed, folks tried to get their drinks in drug stores. But these went dry, too, and there was a boom in soft drinks. In cool weather, crackers were served with hot drinks. Folks found this a substitute for free lunch. Finally the free lunch became too elaborate and we put in lunch counters. Now every drug store in Oklahoma City is selling sandwiches, chili con carne, cake and pie."

Strike conditions in this city appeared to have improved. Many of the employees have agreed to the eight hour day, but the strikers refuse to return to work until all have adopted it.

"Yes; we talked together for an hour."

"What did you talk about?"

"I haven't the remotest idea. We spoke in French."

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian, and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map. Often the cue was taken from the appearance of nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys. And latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the smaller stations, the officials or pioneers of the railway. Such a name brings the town into being.

But even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with amusing results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the late Lord Strathcona and straightway named her youngster "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's custom, conferred upon her [illegible] the surprising distinction of [illegible] Ann Thompson's [illegible]

Sword in a Bog.

A curious discovery has been made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of heightening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a fresh plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for at least fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was an old-fashioned type, a short cross piece forming the handle. How the sword could have got where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank where it had entered, and it is believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence and encircled with the growth.

A King's Retreat.

We often hear of Boscobel Oak, people pointing to it as the very tree which sheltered Charles II. after the Royalist forces had been shattered at the battle of Worcester. But the Boscobel Oak is not the original tree. It has grown from an acorn taken from the original tree. Boscobel House, near by, is, however, the very house in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to crawl out of the chimney and make his way into a wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, then, early in the morning, took food and drink with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath the tree searching for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China, it would appear, is a business complicated by Chinese customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old, and after it has passed one New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years of age before it is 30 days days old according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, as elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady of Ching-tzu known to be over 100 who insisted on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a Chinese mother to give a son the name of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. This of course is another source of trouble to the enumerators.

Friendship of Books

To fall in love with a good book is one of the greatest events that can befall us. It is to have a new influence pouring itself into our life, a new teacher to inspire us, a new friend to be by our side always, who, when life grows narrow and weary, will take us into his wider and calmer and higher world.

Whether it be biography, introducing us to some humble life made great by duty done; or history, opening vistas into the movements and destinies of nations that have passed away; or poetry, making music of all the common things around us, and filling the fields and the skies and the work of the city and the cottage with eternal meanings — whether it be these, or religious books or science, no one can become the friend even of one good book without being made wiser and better.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Plain pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small geography when a 'good sound one' was due you."

WHEN LINCOLN WAS SHOT.

Booth, Taking Advantage of Guard's Temporary Neglect, Rushed Through the Box Entrance and Accomplished His Deed.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln and their party sat down in their box at Ford's Theatre the fateful night the President was shot, the guard who was acting as substitute for Col. McCook, took his position at the rear of the box, close to an entrance leading into the box from the dress circle of the theatre. His orders were to stand there, fully armed, and to permit no unauthorized person to pass into the box. His orders were to stand there and protect the President at all hazards. From the spot where he was thus stationed, this guard could not see the stage or the actors; but he could hear the words the actors spoke, and he became so interested in them that, incredible as it may seem, he quietly deserted his post of duty, and, walking down the dimly lighted aisle, deliberately took a seat in the last row of the dress circle. It was while the President was thus absolutely unprotected through this guard's amazing recklessness—to use no stronger words—that Booth rushed through the entrance to the box, just deserted by the guard, and accomplished his foul deed. Realization of his part in the assassination so preyed upon the mind of the guard that he finally died as a result of it.

Mrs. W. J. Brown and Mr. Brown, of Ottawa, and formerly of the Bank of Nova Scotia here, are in the city, guests at the Oriental.

A few [illegible] ago a county court judge tried to emulate King Solomon in his well-[illegible] decision respecting the child that was claimed by two women. In the Police Court two women claimed to be the mother of a child that was produced before the judge. Thinking that history might repeat itself, the judge asked for the infant. Then, opening his knife, he announced his intention of cutting the child in half. Whereupon one of the mothers exclaimed, "Oh, no! If it comes to that you may keep the child yourself," and both women left the court.

"It appears to me that Solomon was a very over-rated man," murmured the judge.

A Dangerous Disease

Owing to its tendency to spread to all parts of the system, Catarrh should be checked in its incipient stages.

Catarrh commences generally with a slight cold, and because slight, it is often neglected. But the seed that has been sown brings forth a dangerous harvest—perhaps it is the harvest of consumption, which is the harvest of death.

Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic, antiseptic remedy that is breathed in through the mouth, and, after permeating all the respiratory organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical—so prompt and efficient. Relief is instantaneous, throat and nose cleared in a few moments by the penetrating vapor from the Inhaler. Ferrozone, taken in conjunction with Catarrhozone, purifies the blood, cleanses it of all poisons, and builds up the system so that Catarrh cannot exist.

You are sure to receive lasting benefit from Catarrhozone if bothered by Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Trouble, and used for Coughs and Colds in the head it has no equal.

Remember that Catarrhozone is both a local and constitutional treatment, and is warranted under all circumstances to give satisfaction. Money refunded if it fails.

Two months' treatment, consisting of a beautiful polished hard rubber Inhaler and large bottle of liquid for recharging, costs but $1; trial size, 25c. Sold by all druggists and The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE MORNING TIMES

THE LAW BEING OBEYED.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see the Examiner states that the law is not being obeyed by the bartenders. I think, Mr. Editor, this is hardly correct, for I have occasion to visit the hotels on business daily, and I happen to know for a fact that the young men who serve the public at the bars are extremely careful and well-behaved. If your contemporary is anxious to get a slap at inspector Stewart it should be done in some other way than by hitting innocent men

Fair Play.

THE MONAGHAN STREET RAILWAY BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I hope the ratepayers of North Monaghan will see to it that the by-law which is to be voted on by the ratepayers of North Monaghan on the day the municipal elections are to be held, will not fail to record their votes in its favor. They have all to gain and nothing to lose by the passage of the by-law. I am told there is some opposition being developed, but cannot for the life of me see how any ratepayer can be so lost to reason as to oppose getting a railway brought nearer to his home.

Will Run in Smith.

The Times is requested to state that Mr. Fred Cann will be a candidate for the Council in Smith Township. Mr. Cann, who resides on the old Stevenson farm, is a level-headed cultivator, and would make a good councillor.

Yesterday's Market.

There were several loads of beef on the market yesterday, but it was selling very slowly. The usual price of 7 and 8 cents was asked. Five loads of hay were also on sale. The price asked was $14 and $15, but none sold at this figure.

The Price of Fowl.

There was not a large attendance at the market yesterday, although considerable fowl was offered at 16c per pound. The chances are that a further decline is likely, as it is said fowl market is in a glutted condition all over the country.

Canadian Club To-Night.

The members of the Canadian Club of Peterborough are asked to be present in good numbers to-night at the Oriental Hotel. The meeting will be addressed by Principal Peterson, of McGill University, Montreal. Dinner will be served at 8 o'clock sharp.

Not a Candidate.

Mr. J. S. Knapman called on the Times yesterday to state that he is not a candidate for the position of Postmaster of Peterborough, as stated by a correspondent of The Times. It looks after all as if there are a few in the city who have not applied for this particular office.

Meeting With Success.

Mr. E. Skitch, who is working in the interests of the Royal Templars of Temperance, is meeting with good success. A number of new members for the order have been secured. The executive of Dan Spence Council No. 26, Peterborough, are gratified with results obtained. Mr. Skitch will be here until the end of the week.

Christmas Dinner.

TheSt. George's Society announce a Christmas dinner and concert in the S.O.E. Hall, on the evening of Christmas Day. Tickets for the dinner and concert are 50c, and for the concert alone 25c. The society hopes to see every Englishman in the city present, and as many of their friends as can come.

Cutting Down Shade Trees.

Complaints have been made to The Times that parties are cutting down the shade trees on the roads leading into the city, for the purpose of securing Christmas decorations, which is being hauled to town and sold. attention of the police has been called to the matter with the result that prosecution may follow if the practice is continued.

Fined $25.

At the police court yesterday morning the bartender of one of the leading hotels of the city was charged with selling liquor to a minor, came up. The mother of the lad gave evidence, proving that the boy was 18 years of age. The Magistrate held that the case was proven and imposed a fine of $25 on the bartender. The fine was paid.

Shooting for Geese.

A shooting match has been arranged to be held at the farm of Edward Trennum, lot 18, con. 5, Smith, on Tuesday, December 26th. The shooting commences at one o'clock sharp for the prizes which are good fat geese, duck and turkeys. Good accommodation is being provided for horses, and the committee would like to see a large attendance.

Tighe Again Remanded.

Edward Tighe, of Dummer, who appeared before Magistrate Edmison a few days ago, on a charge of seduction, was brought up in the County Police Court again yesterday and was remanded until to-morrow afternoon. Several witnesses will be called, and it was because of their not being subpoenaed that the case could not be proceeded with yesterday.

Christmas Tree.

The Children's Aid Society are making their annual appeal to the citizens, for donations to the Christmas tree, which will be held at the Shelter on the afternoon of Christmas Day, for the seven children now in their charge. Gifts of toys, games, clothing, candies and fruit may be left at the newspaper offices, where they will be forwarded, but the better way is to have the article or articles sent direct to the Shelter.

A Big Rush.

The Times' Bookstore never enjoyed a larger Christmas trade than it is having just now. This is due almost wholly to the fact that the Times' advertising columns are used to advertise the splendid bargains which are being offered at this progressive store. It always pays to advertise in The Times, as it reaches the class of people who have the money to pay for what they purchase. The store is open nights.

Weather to Continue Cold.

The weather will probably be considerably colder for the remainder of December. Some of the business men throughout the province who have been enjoying more or less leisure during business hours because of the unseasonable weather may prepare to put in their usual happy-and-busy Christmas. The "Old inhabitant" would have a rather difficult task to recollect a December as contrary to the recognized rules of etiquette for December as this month has been so far. The average temperature has been over 35 degrees or nearly 7 degrees above normal. December this year has been warmer than the average for the same month in any one of the last ten years.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. I. Couch. The couple were unattended. Little Miss Margaret Storey acted as flower girl. After the ceremony was sumptuous wedding dejeuner was served, after which the young couple left on the 4.28 train for Toronto and western points, and on their return will reside in Springville.

COMPANY IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

The Company was incorporated in 1906, and has made steady progress. Their Real Estate holdings are chiefly in and around Calgary and will so continue, but latterly they have been paying a little attention to Saskatoon, where such remarkable progress is being made. It will be the policy of the Company to purchase judiciously in and near Towns and Cities which have passed the uncertain stage of development and whose future is assured. The Company, with its expert knowledge of values is better able to handle such business than any individual, however well equipped he may be for the work

While the Company has been, and will continue to be, conservative in the matter of dividends, it would appear probable that before very long a distribution of Assets, either in the shape of a Stock Bonus or substantial Cash Dividend, might be made If not, however, the Shareholders will still benefit by holding a security of constantly increasing value, which will be reflected in the market price of the stock.

The remarkable progress of the City of Calgary is perhaps without precedent in Canada. Building permits issued during the ten months ended 31st October, 1911, reached the enormous total of $11,664,138.00

HIGHER DIVIDEND PROSPECTS

Mr. H. A. MacLean, President of the Company, in a letter dated 15th November, 1911, makes the following reference to Dividend and Reserve Fund: "While I can say nothing official at this time, I may mention that at the Company's Annual Meeting, following its year-end at 31st December, it is my intention to recommend that the Dividend for 1911 be declared at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, which will be an advance of 1 per cent. over the Dividend for 1910. I consider it safe to say in this connection, also, that the Dividend for 1912 will be at the rate of 12 per cent.

"The Asset and Liability Return covering the ten months ended 31st October shows, after allowing for all expenses and outlays of every kind, except the 1911 Dividend, a surplus of Assets over Liabilities of $311,736.72. The 1911 Dividend will amount to approximately $40,000.00, leaving a net surplus of approximately $271,736.72, equal to 90 per cent. of the Company's paid-up Capital. This amount may be fairly considered as a Reserve fund in its present shape, and the Company might continue with safety along its present lines. It is my intention, however, at the approaching Annual Meeting, to propose that a portion equal to 25 per cent. of the Real Estate forming this surplus, be set aside, and advantageously sold—the proceeds of such sale to be invested in high grade listed Railroad Bonds, yielding the Company about 5 per cent. This operation, repeated from year to year, will give the Company a reserve fund of pretty much the same nature as is carried by the Banks and other conservatively managed institutions."

COMPANY'S DIVIDEND RECORD

The Company has paid Dividends every year since its incorporation as follows:

1907..... 6 per cent.
1908..... 8 per cent.
1909..... 9 per cent.
1910..... 10 per cent.

FINANCIAL POSITION STRONG

The Company's statement of assets and liabilities as of October 31st, 1911, attested to by Messrs Webb, Read & Hegan, appears in full in the prospectus. It shows the value of the Company's real estate and buildings, as valued by Mr. V. J. L. Eccles, to stand at $584,111, and balance of profit and loss account $311,736. Of the Company's authorized capital of $1,000,000, $388,380 is subscribed, $301,857.50 of which is paid up, leaving $86,522.50 of unmatured and unpaid calls.

Inquiries as to the Company's standing and the integrity and ability of the directors (of whom the President, Managing Director and Secretary-Treasurer devote their time exclusively to the Company's business) may be made of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Montreal.

It is the intention to make application in due course to have the stock listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Copies of prospectus and application forms for shares may be obtained from the undersigned, and in cases where the request for application forms states the number of shares desired it will be considered that application has been received at that date. The right is reserved, however, to allot a smaller number of shares than applied for.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

GERMANY LOSES TO U. S. AS 2ND NAVAL POWER

HER BUILDING PROGRAMME FOR 1912 HAS BEEN REDUCED TO TWO BIG SHIPS INSTEAD OF FOUR AS FORMERLY

Supplemental Estimates are probable —Reduction Considered Electioneering Dodge.

Berlin, Dec. 21.—The German naval budget for 1912, published last night provides for the laying down of only two big ships, a battleship and an armoured cruiser.

For the past four years four big ships have been built annually. The reduction of the construction program causes the military and naval organ, the Taglische Rundschau, to point out that the American navy will in January, 1912, usurp the place latterly held by Germany, as second naval power of the world.

The Taglische Rundschau asserts that the United States navy with 31 battleships of a gross tonnage of 496,200 will rank immediately after the British fleet of 51 battleships with a gross tonnage of 840,100.

The paper calls earnestly for a "supplementary" program designed to keep Germany in the place she has recently held as second mightiest sea power.

The newspapers explain that the modest character of the military and naval estimates whilst the Government is issuing in the midst of the Reichstag campaign is an electioneering manoeuvre. The country is warned that "supplementary" estimates are altogether likely when the elections are over.

WON'T ALLOW EMPIRE TO BE BROKEN UP

GOVERNMENT AND REPUBLICAN DELEGATES AGREE THAT IT BE HELD INTACT.

Will Pension Royalty—Imperial Family to Be Protected, and Manchus Put on an Equality.

Shanghai, Dec. 21.—Tang Shao-Yi demands on behalf of Premier Yuan Shi Kai that the integrity of China be maintained, including the three Provinces of Chihli, Shantung, and Kiang-Su, and Mongolia and Thibet. To this the Republican delegates to the Peace Conference replied in the affirmative.

Tang demands the safety of the Imperial family and ample provision for their maintenance and dignity. Wu Ting Fang has replied, consenting to this and guaranteeing ample pensions and the absolute equality of al. Manchus with Chinese.

During the conference Tang said that he was prepared for "mutual consideration as to the best method of securing an effective Republican Government."

The Republican delegates propose the immediate organization of a provisional government, for which a temporary constitution has already been adopted at Nanking. This provides that "the representatives of the provinces shall elect a provincial president, who will control the provisional republic with the aid of a provisional assembly, the delegates to be appointed by provisional governors. After six months, the president shall call a convention which shall draw up a constitution, upon approval of which the provisional presidency and the provisional constitution shall become void.

If Yuan Shi Kai consents, he will be named as the first president; otherwise Dr. Sun Yat Sen will have that office.

A MONARCHY IMPOSSIBLE.

Tang says: "I am convinced that the abdication of the Emperor and the establishment of a republic is the only thing that will satisfy the people and prevent the further wholesale shedding of blood."

Continuing, he said

"Pekin is not aware of the depth or the extent of the popular feeling in the south. Even I myself, although somewhat prepared, am astonished to find such a change from an attitude of patient forbearance to dogged patriotic determination. It now appears certainly too late to save the dynasty.

"It will be difficult to persuade Yuan Shi Kai to abandon his plan for a limited monarchy, but we must use every endeavor to secure peace and end this awful bloodshed and the suffering among my people."

THE WEATHER.

AN OCEAN ROMANCE ENDS IN TRAGEDY

New York, Dec. 21.—Driven from his bride by her family's threats to have him arrested because they declared she was too young to be a wife, Louis Segratta re-entered his own home in Williamsburg after a three-days' absence last night, and after firing ineffectively at his mother-in-law, and his wife's sister, wheeled in anger or desperation as his bride suddenly appeared, and shot her dead. Then Segratta turned the revolver on himself and inflicted mortal wounds.

A Startling Revelation

The friends of Miss Mary McKenzie, of London, were astonished to hear that she had gone into consumption.

This sad intelligence came as a shock to Miss McKenzie's many friends. In the early fall she contracted a heavy cold which developed rapidly into Catarrh, and swiftly made such rapid advances that the bronchial tubes and lungs became affected.

Although the doctors said nothing short of a change of residence to the south would benefit, on the advice of a Dundas Street druggist Miss McKenzie decided to thoroughly test Catarrhozone, which is warranted to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes.

Miss McKenzie says: "After my druggist had recommended Catarrhozone I spoke to my friends about it and they all said it was such a good remedy that I commenced forthwith to inhale it five or six times each day. I breathed it deeply into my lungs, and felt its beneficial action very quickly. It seemed to go where other remedies did not reach, and was so pleasant and convenient that I did not mind using it very frequently, which, probably, was the cause of it curing my obstinate case so quickly. Certainly no case of Catarrh or Bronchitis should go uncured if the sufferer can get Catarrhozone, which is a sovereign remedy, worthy of the highest recommendations.

Miss McKenzie's case needs no enlargement. She was in a critical condition, apparently beyond the aid of doctors' medicines.

Catarrhozone has cured her, and others in her condition should no longer experiment with uncertain, untried treatments, but should turn at once to catarrhozone, and in it they will find relief and cure unobtainable by other means. Remember the name, Catarrhozone. Complete outfit guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00. Small size 25 cents. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

LEFT WIFE AND CHILDREN

Peterborough Domestic Gets Into Serious Trouble

MARRIES A MARRIED MAN

Came to Peterborough From Scotland, and Ran Away With John Lennox, a Young Scotchman Who Came to Canada a Couple of Years Ago—Lennox and Girl Under Arrest.

THE police of Toronto have arrested John Lennox, a young Scotchman, who came to Peterborough last spring and ran away with a domestic named Margaret Cummings, who was brought from Scotland by a Peterborough family. The girl, it is believed, knew that Cummings had a wife and young family in the old country at the time. The girl was brought to Canada by an institution which makes a business of advancing the passage money of domestics, which they bring to Canada for service.

Lennox was arrested in Toronto on Wednesday afternoon by Morality Officer Bloodworth on a charge of bigamy. The warrant was sworn out some time ago, but the police had some difficulty in locating the man.

Lennox came to Canada from Scotland in May, 1910, and subsequently Miss Cummings landed in Peterborough. She at once notified Lennox. They had been friends in Scotland, and some time after the departure of Miss Cummings and Lennox the latter's wife communicated with the police officials here. At the time she only made the charge of desertion.

Inspector Kennedy sent for Lennox, and he agreed to send his wife in Scotland a monthly allowance. He did this for a short time, and afterwards notified the inspector that he had decided to discontinue it. Letters came from Scotland hinting a possible second marriage, and Inspector Kennedy started out to look for Lennox.

The man had left his previous position, and was also said to have left the city, but was located yesterday by Constable Bloodworth. Lennox and Miss Cummings were married in Cooke's Church a year ago, and she will be summoned as a witness when Cummings appears in court to-day. The man had children by both wives, and the family in Scotland is said to be destitute.

SIX HUNDRED GIRLS ON MARKET FOR SALE

But Russian Girl in Los Angeles Refuses to Wed a Stranger—Would Marry Another.

Los Angeles, Dec. 21.—Declaring that the local Russian colony was a marriage market wherein young girls were bartered like cattle by their parents, Elsie Taviok Navikoff, 17 years old, while in the juvenile court yesterday on a charge of delinquency, screamed that she would bare the secrets of her race rather than to marry a stranger to whom she alleges her parents were trying to sell her.

She declared that in the Russian quarter, with a population of about 4,000 there were six hundred young girls for sale, at an average price of $500.

"They have sold me to a man I have never seen," the girl cried, "I will die before I will marry him. I love another, and he loves me, and we will be married as soon as I can get away from my people."

ANXIETY FELT FOR THE AGED MONARCH

Complete Absence of All News at Vienna Is Not at All Reassuring —Lacks Sleep, Cough is Bad.

Vienna, Dec. 21.—The feeling of disquietude in Hungary and Bohemia respecting the health of the Emperor is shared by Vienna. The complete absence of all news is not reassuring. The newspapers print no particulars as to the progress of the aged monarch's serious cold, but merely detail a number of persons, all connected with the court, who have been received in audience.

Doctors are in close attendance on the Emperor, who is greatly troubled by lack of sleep owing to a hacking cough. Precautions have been taken to keep the temperature of his room even and to prevent the aggravation of his symptoms through exposure to draughts. The Emperor is not feverish, and his condition has been stationary for some days.

The entire Royal family is expected at the palace here for the Christmas festivities, and this fact tends to reassure the public to some extent.

THE HYDRO POWER BY-LAW

AN APPEAL TO THE RATEPAYERS SIGNED BY MAYOR AND COUNCIL

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—We, the members of the City Council who are responsible for the submission to the electors of the question whether they desire to obtain power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, desire to address the electors through your columns in regard to it.

The Council has had under consideration for several years, the matter of obtaining power for the city. In 1907 application was made to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission for advice, and the Commission, after its engineers had enquired into the power situation here, reported in 1908 that Burleigh Falls would be the best power for the City's purpose. Negotiations were opened with the Central Ontario Power Co. and carried on for some time, but a price could not be obtained from the company that the Council deemed low enough to make the project feasible. This year, again, the Council applied to the Commission, and a report was made recommending the purchase of the Otonabee Power Co.'s property on certain terms, but the Otonabee Co. refused to sell to the City. The Council then procured an option on the Lakefield power property, and had reports made upon it, including one from the Commission, but were advised that the price asked was too high for acceptance by the City.

After having reached this stage, we were informed by the Chairman of the Commission that if the people of Peterborough so desired the Commission would obtain power for the city. The Commission has larger powers of expropriation than the City, and is in a better position to undertake and carry out the object in view as power matters stand in this district at this time.

We believe it is in the interest of the City to have the Commission undertake this work for us, and have submitted to a vote of the ratepayers the question: "Are you in favor of obtaining from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, a supply of electric power?"

If the ratepayers, by their votes, say that they are, the Commission will take steps to prepare a contract and an estimate of the sum the City will require to raise for a distribution system, etc., and if these are favorable, a By-law will be submitted to the ratepayers to raise the sum required.

The City Council cannot borrow money for this purpose without again submitting the matter to the ratepayers, and so far as those of us who will be in the Council next year are concerned, a contract binding on the City will not be entered into until the ratepayers sanction it.

We believe it will be in the interest of the City to have a majority vote in favor of obtaining power from the Commission. The City will then have all the great powers of the Commission and the wealth of the Province to assist in obtaining municipal power. With water powers in and near the city, as we have, electric power and light should be as cheap here as any place, and much cheaper than most places. We believe it will be cheaper if the ratepayers vote favorably on this question.

In addition, the revenues will be used to pay for the system so that the City will at the end of the borrowing term have still lower rates.

If we do not do this, all the western cities, which use Niagara power from the Commission, and other places that take advantage of such an offer as we have now, will have much cheaper power when the first term is up and the initial debt paid off. The future of the City demands that this condition must not arise.

If a householder by paying the same sum as a purchaser, as he paid in rent, can become an owner, and in a term of years own the house free of debt, it certainly would be good business for him to do so. And the City would be foolish to continue paying rent for power if it can purchase it in a similar way.

A favorable vote will give us the aid of the Commission to procure power owned and controlled by the Municipality.

An unfavorable vote will reject that offered aid and tie the City up to the power monopoly.

We urge the ratepayers in their own interests, to vote in favor of obtaining power from the Commission.

THE GLOATING TORIES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In your issue of Dec. 14th, I see a letter from "Anxious Enquirer" which I think is uncalled for, and in bad taste. Now, Sir I am not a hide-bound politician, as I have voted as the different policies appealed to me, and I think it will be high time for Anxious Enquirer to toot his horn when the Whitney Government has held its job for 32 years, as the Liberal Government has done. I for one cannot see how we are to get along without either party. Now as far as the closed season for parties goes there was a closed season for Tories for 32 years in the Province of Ontario, and also 15 in the Dominion, which accounts for the Tories being so plentiful at present, but the time is coming when they will be in the dark shades of opposition, and I hope the Grits will have more sense and better taste than to twit the fallen. But some men are so small-souled and so mean that they would kick the under dog every time, while there are others who are too generous to gloat over a fallen foe. The latter is, by far, the most ideal spirit in a contest of any kind.

PERSIAN PATRIOTS ATTACK ARMY RUSSIAN INVADERS

Hostilities Break Out Near Tabriz, Where Serious Clash Has Occurred—War is Not Declared.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 21.—Serious fighting between the Persian Constitutionalists and the Russian troops has occurred according to a telegram from Tabriz. No details are given.

The 4,000 Russian troops concentrated at Kasbin reached there from Resht Nov. 29, after an ultimatum had been delivered to Persia by Russia, demanding Mr. Shuster's dismissal and the payment of an indemnity. The ultimatum was to expire on Dec. 1, but was extended indefinitely.

Kasbin lies about 96 miles northwest of Teheran, which could be reached by forced marches of all arms in about three days. A determined dash by a strong force of Cossacks, might, however, placed Teheran, awalled city with ancient defences, in Russian hands in 24 hours.

PERSIA MAY YIELD TO-DAY.

London, Dec. 21.—It is understood according to a news agency despatch from St. Petersburg, that unless Persia decides to-day to accept the terms of the Russian ultimatum, demanding the dismissal of W. Morgan Shuster, as Treasurer-General, the commander of the Russian troops now concentrated at Kasbin, has been ordered to advance on Teheran.

TURKEY FINDS A WAY TO SETTLE THE WAR?

Despatch from Saloniki Says So, But There Are Certain Conditions.

London, Dec. 21.—A Saloniki despatch to The Times says it is believed that the Government has found the means to settle war, but that complete independence and dissolution of the Chamber are indispensible for the carrying out of the scheme.

The Bulgarians have begun a campaign against the committee of Union and Progress, influential members of which have been receiving letters threatening them with death. Two leading members of the committee at Kratovo have been assassinated.

COUNTY POLICE COURT

A Couple of Liquor Cases Before the Police Court.

At a special session of the County Police Court yesterday, presided over by Magistrate Edmison, Mr. A. G. Lawless, of Lakefield, was charged with selling liquor without a license. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defence and Mr. R Ruddy for the prosecution. Mr. Gordon stated that he had only been advised of the facts of the case about an hour previous to the trial and was not prepared to go on.

The case of Northey and Kennedy, of Lakefield, charged with having 30 bottles of liquor in their possession, intended for sale, was brought up and Mr. Ruddy was not prepared to go on, so both cases had to be adjourned to Lakefield, where they will be tried at one o'clock Dec. 27th.

Several witnesses were present and in the latter case, everything was in readiness to proceed, but Mr. Ruddy offered no objection and the witnesses not wishing to have to again come to the city for the trial, it was arranged to try it in Lakefield.

SAW REYNOLDS CHASE CULVER WITH AN AXE

London, Ont., Dec. 21.—Damaging evidence was given against Dan. Reynolds, in jail here, charged with the murder of Fred Culver in London Township on Thursday night, when the enquiry resumed last night, but no decision was reached.

Ben. Graham, proprietor of the hotel on the Hamilton road, where the tragedy occurred, said the trouble started when he refused to serve liquor to Reynold's young son, who accompanied him to the place. He admitted seeing Reynolds chase Culver with an uplifted axe, and heard Culver say when he was dying: "You've done it now," to Reynolds. Graham had armed himself with a gun for his own protection, and when Reynolds attacked him after hitting Culver, he lost the gun in the scuffle, but gained possession of the axe.

Dogs Go Wild.

Our tame dogs would all go wild if left to themselves for a few years. They tried the experiment once on Robinson Crusoe's island. They left some of their dogs there, and nobody called at the island again for about thirty years. And they found all the dogs had become quite wild. They hunted just like wolves, and they had forgotten how to bark; they could only howl. It was not till they became used to men again that they learnt to bark. A few years ago two dogs near to Nottingham lost their owners, so they made homes for themselves in a field. They hunted sheep and lambs, and did a great deal of damage, just as the wild dogs of India and Africa and Australia do. They looked just like wolves—so much had they changed during the months they had lived the life of wild dogs; and, finally, they had to be shot.

BURN AFTER MOTHER'S BURIAL

Gruesome Experience of Woman, Who Rescued from Death by Coroner's Grave-Digger, Lived to Add to Family Birth Roll.

To be buried alive is a fate of which many persons have a nervous dread which is by no means as fanciful as it appears. Very many cases have occurred in which a temporary suspension of animation has led to a living man or woman being actually fastened down into a coffin and even buried.

Most gruesome was the experience of the mother of Ebenezer Erskine, an Englishman, who was buried two years before her son was born! During an illness Mrs. Erskine was subject to fainting fits, and from one of these she was believed to have passed away. After the usual interval arrangements were made for her interment; and the village undertaker, who also served the community as sexton, measured her for coffin. The "deceased" was duly buried, and there, out for the cupidity of the grave-digger-undertaker, her story would have ended. But a ring which had been buried on the poor lady's hand had attracted his greed, and after the funeral this worthy opened the grave by night and began to saw off the finger bearing the ring. A ring-like scream from the supposed corpse almost scared the thief out of his wits—but his humanity overcoming his fear, he roused the parson's family, and the buried lady was restored to health at the expense of a finger.

A similar experience was that of the mother of the famous General Lee whose sorrowing relatives calmly looked on while she was buried alive. She related that she was fully aware of all the incidents of the funeral, but all mustered strength to make a rattling noise on the coffin lid when the clods of earth began to descend heavily upon it. The sound attracted the sexton's notice, and he hastily broke open the coffin, in time to save her from suffocation.

The Well-Dressed Man.

The business or professional man who neglects his clothes discards one of the most potent instruments of success.

Commenting on this obvious fact a writer on men's fashions remarks that apart from mercenary reasons, it is becoming more widely recognised that it is the duty of all men to do their best in the matter of dress to make themselves as presentable as possible.

There is also a psychological aspect of the matter which is not without interest. It is demonstrated that the average man is to some extent influenced by his own clothes, just in the same way as he is affected by his environment. Thus the same man well dressed, will [illegible] better, and by the same token, do better work than he would do if he were carelessly or inappropriately clad. In a word he will (more or less consciously, of course) live up to his appearance and become less slovenly in every way. As in most other things, it is the little things that count in the matter of dress. A man should study his appearance from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet

An Emperor-Policeman

Among the Duke of Wellington's special constables was a dreamy personage, then well known, but not very well spoken of in English society, named Louis Napoleon Bonaparte. He had returned to England nearly two years before after his melodramatic escape, in workman's disguise, from the fortress of Ham. The special constable's real career was now about to open. Two months after the memorable 10th of April he was in Paris as a member of the Constituent Assembly, and in the following autumn he was elected President by an overwhelming majority. What followed belongs to history, and takes us far from the enrolment of special constables.

Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,045,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)

This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total ism ot less than $45,000,000 to -50,000,000.

Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced from the fact that the railroad office at Carlsbad, which has a resident population of 6,270, receives from outside passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, 400,000 annually.

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. These figures can be multiplied by three of Carlsbad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for cure purposes (Carlsbad, Marienbad and Franzensbad) pay $913,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

ACADIANS AND DOUKHOBORS

Two Communities, Whose Praises Were Sung by Longfellow and Tolstoy, Who Are Settled Happily in Canada To-Day.

The years 1605 and 1632 saw two considerable migrations from Normandy and Brittany to the peninsula since christened Nova Scotia, which, for a long time subsequently formed a part of New France. These people were not fugitives of any description, neither the law requiring them nor persecution driving them. They formed a colony under their own Government's rule. They were farmers, with a desire to obtain freehold property and a life of peace and quietness. Their name resulted from the description of the Indians around, who designated any cultivated place as Kady. These people were comparatively few in number, for about a century after emigration their total population was computed at about two thousand. Things went fairly well at first, for they made excellent friends of the Indians in the vicinity, the Micmacs by name. Later, however, came the subjugation of the French in Canada by the English, and the latter's complete possession. Then it became necessary for these simple folks to take full measures and precautions for self-maintenance; as it turned out they were unmolested for forty years, no English settlement being formed in Acadia during that time. Eventually, however, the inevitable took place; the English settled at last, and formed the town of Halifax, and the disaffected Acadians had to undergo the bitter experience of deportation.

The Doukhobors

To turn our thoughts in another direction, we find the Doukhobors. These strange people differ considerably from the Acadians, the first and foremost reason being that they are now a scattered race, parts of which can be found in various Canadian States. Again, their nationality is different, for they are the descendants of Russian emigrants of the peasant class; and lastly, the cause of their emigration was in total contrast to that of the Acadians. In the reign of Catherine II, the Doukhobors, who are a religious sect entirely opposed to militarism, and in favour of a doctrine of non-resistance, could still not be induced to conform with the conscription laws of their country, the which had been the case for a considerable period previously, the ruler in question, however, considered persecution an unwise procedure, so that any sufferings the Doukhobors underwent were purely private. After the accession of Paul the first was changed, and in 1796 persecution with the cognizance of the State commenced. Alexander I reverted to the policy of Catherine and permitted the sect to form a settlement of their own at "Milky Waters," near the sea of Azof. Thus the Doukhobors became an industrial and economic community, as well as merely religious. Unfortunately they failed to give complete satisfaction to the Government, and were transported to the Caucasus. Still, owing to their anti-militarist attitude, persecution followed them. After this a small detachment emigrated to Cyprus, whilst in 1898 permission to leave Russia for Canada was granted by the Government with somewhat stringent conditions.

NO LYNCHING IN THIS CASE

Texans Who Didn't Lynch Youth Who Murdered Defenseless School Teacher Are Now Wondering If It Pays.

(By special cable)

Pecos, Texas. — Reeves-co passed up an excellent chance for a lynching been last July, when hundreds of strile citizens were itching to string up a young Mexican who confessed insulting, then murdering a white school teacher.

The murderer isn't hanged yet.

Emma Brown, pretty and 25, left the general store at Saragosa last July 22 and drove out over the prairie with a supply of groceries for her sister's ranch, 10 miles away. Half an hour later Leon Martinez, a young Mexican clerk in the store, left on a pony. Later Martinez returned. Miss Brown never reached the ranch.

Next morning a stray horse and buggy were found. Four bullet marks were on the buggy. Pink Harbert, a cowboy deputy sheriff, was hastily summoned. Some distance from the buggy he found the corpse of Emma Brown, scarred with two bullet holes and six stab wounds. Worst of all, Emma Brown had been stabbed in the back!

Reeves-co heard the news and boiled. But it agreed with Dist. Atty. Will Brady before the murderer was discovered, that there would be no lynching. Reeves-co would let legal justice be done for this terrible murder.

Then Leon Martinez was arrested and he confessed.

Race feeling and horror almost brought a lynching. But they held in. A telegram summoned Judge S. A. Isaacs from Midland, 70 miles away.

Strength of Character

There are no circumstances so poor but that character may display itself and make itself therein. Strength of character lies not in demanding special circumstances, but in mastering and using any that may be given. Our work and daily contact with our fellows form our scene of action, and God blesses with a peculiar blessing the efforts to put to profit, not some self-selected occasion, but the actual conditions in which we find ourselves. — Canon Scot Holland, "Creed and Character."

INDIAN CHIEFS PLEAD FOR ANCIENT DANCES

Oklahoma City. — Chiefs Cloud and Wathee, representing the Cheyenne and Kiowa tribes, have successfully persuaded Gov. Cruse, of Oklahoma, to intervene at Washington to have the privilege of holding the gift and "willow" dances restored to the tribes.

Indian agents at Segar have threatened to forbid these ancient tribal customs. The willow dance marks the consecration of one of the men of the tribe to some particular mission. Only men take part. It lasts two days and there is a feast at the conclusion.

The gift dance is the occasion for a gathering of the tribes and the squaws join in it. Guests are loaded with gifts. The chiefs are indignant at the report that their tribal dances lead to trouble and lawlessness.

IN FICHU FINERY.

Revival of Those Dainty Old World Accessories.

CHARMING FICHU DESIGNS.

The most distinctive of the new fichus is the model with jabot ends. This dainty accessory is of sheer handkerchief linen and suggests a Dutch neck at the back. A slide of lace takes the place of a brooch fastening.

Another charming fichu is the Charlotte Corday of handkerchief linen trimmed with real cluny lace. A collar collar almost reaches the waist in the back, and the little tabs in front are modestly folded under a huge breast pin.

A Nursery Romance.

Much has been written anent a suitable bride for the Prince of Wales, but no one who has discussed the subject in print seems to be aware of the nursery romance which started when the little Grand Duchess Olga, eldest daughter of the czar and czarina, was at Balmoral with her parents. The Prince of Wales, a baby, too, took a violent fancy to his small second cousin. In those days the Grand Duchess could not talk, so she only laughed and put her tongue out at her would be suitor. A few years ago, when the czar and czarina brought over their family in the imperial yacht to Cowes, Prince Edward again met the grand duchess, who is growing up to be a tall girl, the image of her mother, and his royal highness, boylike, treated rather shy of her. But onlookers, as usual, seeing most of the game, noted that he cast many admiring glances at his pretty cousin and she at him.

Musician and Scientist.

There is no more brilliant scientist in the world to-day than Sir William Ramsay, who has been warning Britain that, at the present rate of consumption, her coal supply will only last another 175 years. His most wonderful discoveries have been in connection with new gases in the atmosphere, upon which such names as argon, neon, and xenon have been bestowed, and the experimental work which led to these discoveries ranks as the most refined ever carried out. Of xenon, for example, there is only about one part in 70,000,000 parts of air. Sir William devotes his leisure to music. He plays both the piano and violin and has written the words of not a few songs. The collecting of curios is another of Sir William's hobbies, and at his house at Regent's Park may be seen many queer treasures thousands of years old.

Placing the Blame

Little Bertie's mother overheard him using some very strong language.

She promptly took him to task, explaining the wickedness as well as the vulgarity of such speech. She asked him where he had learned all those dreadful words. Bertie announced that Charlie, one of his playmates, had taught him.

Charlie's mother was straightway informed, and Charlie himself was brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bertie, and neither threats nor tears could make him confess.

At last he burst out: "I didn't teach Bertie any bad words. Why should I know them better than he does? Hasn't his father got an automobile, too?"

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free, with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write, me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 407 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that. I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

1—Pain in the back.
2—Too frequent desire to urinate.

Cookery Points

Pickled Red Cabbage.

Remove the outer leaves of two or three firm heads of red cabbage. Shave them fine, put in a large bowl and sprinkle over a good handful of salt for each head; mix well with the salt, cover and let stand twenty-four hours, then drain in a colander. For three heads of cabbage boil one gallon of vinegar with a pound of sugar, adding to this four large onions chopped fine, three bruised cloves of garlic, one ounce of whole peppers, one-half ounce of whole cloves, the same of mace, two tablespoonfuls of celery seed and a little cayenne. Boil slowly half an hour, remove and when cold strain the vinegar through a napkin; return it to the fire, let it get boiling hot, put the cabbage in a stone jar, pour over the scalding hot vinegar and when cold cover the jar and tie paper over the top. This cabbage may also be rinsed with cold water and served sometimes with a French dressing as slaw.

Carrot Pickles.

Scrape and wash six medium sized carrots, cut them in lengthwise slices and, laying one over the other, cut them down into small strips as for soup. Boil them three minutes in salt water, drain in a colander and set aside to cool. Cut the same way six green tomatoes in slices and fine strips, also three large white onions, one big red pepper and three sour apples. Put the tomatoes, onions, red pepper and apples into a bowl, sprinkle over salt and let them stand twelve hours. Then drain off the water and put all the ingredients into a kettle with one cup of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of celery seed tied up in muslin. Add sufficient vinegar barely to cover materials and boil two minutes. Then mix one tablespoonful of English mustard with a little vinegar and stir it into the rest; put into small well closed jars and set in a cool place.

Sweet Gherkin Pickles.

Fill a tub with salt water strong enough to bear up an egg. Put gherkins not over a finger long in this and let them stand nine days. Take them out and harden them by letting them stand in fresh cold water for several hours; then spread them out on a folded tablecloth to free them of moisture. Pack them in glass quart jars, fill with cold vinegar and set them aside for three weeks in a cool place. Then open the jars, drain off the vinegar and to that of each jar add one cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of extract of mace and the same of extract of cloves and cinnamon and cayenne pepper to taste. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, pour the liquid over the pickles, close the jars and set in a cool place.

The Time of Long Sermons.

Those who like long sermons should have lived in the seventeenth century. The manner in which the Rev. John Howe, Minister of Great Torrington, in Devonshire, conducted Divine service on a public fast day is thus described by a contemporary: "Mr. Howe said that upon these occasions he began about nine in the morning with a prayer for about a quarter of a hour, in which he begged a blessing upon the work of the day, and afterwards read and expounded a chapter or psalm, in which he spent three-quarters of an hour; then prayed for about an hour, preached for another hour, and prayed for about half an hour. After this he retired and took some little refreshment for about a quarter of an hour (the people singing all the time) and then came into the pulpit and prayed for another hour; and gave them another sermon of about an hour's length; and so concluded the service of the day . . . "

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

Judge Got the Baby.

A few years ago an Iowa county court judge tried to imitate King Solomon in his well-known decision respecting the child that was claimed by two women. In the Iowa Court two women claimed to be the mother of a child that was produced before the judge. Thinking that history might repeat itself, the judge asked for the infant. Then, opening his knife, he announced his intention of cutting the child in half. Whereupon one of the mothers exclaimed, "Oh, no! If it comes to that I couldn't keep the child yourself," and the woman left the court.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR The Hospital for Sick Children

Dear Mr. Editor,—

Thanks for your kindness in allowing me the privilege of appealing at this Christmas time on behalf of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

I make this direct appeal to the people of Ontario, for the fathers and mothers of Ontario, outside the City of Toronto, have precisely the same claim for their sick children as regards the privileges of the Hospital, as parents who reside in this city.

In brief the sick children from any place in Ontario whose parents cannot afford to pay, in, on certificate from a municipal officer of any city, town, village or township, treated free.

This is a privilege not granted by any hospital in the Dominion, or on this Continent.

Let me, in a few words, state that in the last 20 years, since 1891, there have been 4,731 patients from 450 places outside of this city treated free, as the parents were unable to pay for treatment. Last year 334 patients from 246 places out-side Toronto were so treated.

The Hospital is not a city but a Provincial institution. The Corporation of Toronto grants $15,000, not only for city children, but towards the maintenance of every patient in the Hospital, and the citizens of Toronto donate an average of $10,000 to the maintenance fund of the Hospital.

It would take more space than you can spare to tell of the good work done for the sick and deformed children of this Province.

Why, in the Orthopedic department in 26 years, nearly 700 children, boys and girls, have been treated for club feet, and about 600 were corrected. Two-thirds of these came from places outside of Toronto, from parents who could not afford to pay.

Surely we have a fair claim for help from the people of this Province.

Every day in Christmas to the child whose little life is saved, or whose crippled limb is straightened with the might of science—your money—and the mercy of the Hospital.

Will you, the reader of this letter, think of what your dollar will do? It helps to restore health and strength and gives sound limbs and straight feet to crippled boys and girls.

You give wealth to the Hospital, and the Hospital gives health to the children.

Yes, your money can put cripple's hinges on the door of the Hospital of mercy.

Will you, kind reader, help us? Just send a spare dollar to Douglas Davidson, the secretary-treasurer of the Hospital, or

J. ROSS ROBERTSON,
Chairman of the Trustees, Toronto.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

GENERAL MILES PRAISES CHINESE

War Always Unpopular with the Chinese but they are a Brave People but Nothing Can Stop Revolution.

(Special Cable Service.)

In some respects, China was to me the most interesting country I have ever had the pleasure of visiting. In their ancient civilization we find much that we could adopt with benefit, and still more that has been obsolete for centuries.

Ages ago China passed through some of the experiences that now interest or agitate our people. The controversies between capital and labor and the unequal distribution of wealth were problems in which they were concerned thousands of years ago. As a race they have encouraged industry, art, science and literature

Compared with some other people their integrity has been proverbial.

It was my good fortune, in 1902, to have the opportunity of seeing the different sections of China, as well as visiting the principal cities of Hong Kong, Canton, Tsienstn, Pekin and other important places. A marked contrast is noticeable between that and our country.

During my sojourn in that country nine years ago I found the leading men greatly exercised concerning the threatened dismemberment of their country. Ostensibly for the purpose of obtaining spheres of commercial influence, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan had all acquired control of certain portions of Chinese territory, and it seemed only a question of time when their nation would disappear from the map of the world.

China owes her existence today partly to the fact that two of the aggressive powers became involved in war over a certain portion of her territory.

To realize how far the absorption of that country had extended, one needed only to visit Hong Kong and see the formidable fortification defending the entrance to the harbor—the powerful fleet of battleships, the palace of the governor general and the 5,000 trained, disciplined, veteran (English) troops, all under a foreign flag. Similar occupation could be observed in other parts of the empire.

For hundreds of years war and the military profession has been unpopular with the Chinese people. They abhor the first and if possible would always avoid the latter. Their army now consists of approximately 160,000 men, and the government has recently been endeavoring to increase this number to 350,000.

That great empire of 430,000,000 people is now quaking like the tremors of the earth. From the center to the remotest quarter of that vast territory a political convulsion and revolution is affecting all its conditions and attracting the attention of the world. What will be the result — how far reaching will be its influence, or to what extent it will affect the 400,000,000 of the human race in other countries of the orient, it is impossible now to determine.

GERMANY AGAIN AFTER TERRITORY

PARIS. — It is learned from an authoritative source that Germany is negotiating with Spain for the acquisition of territory in Rio Munt, or Spanish Guinea, where it is proposed to establish warehouses and factories. Rio Muni is in Western Equatorial Africa, between Kamerun and the Muni river. A German commission will be sent to Rio Muni shortly to engage in topographical work.

MADRID. — Prime Minister Canalejas denies the statement that Spain was about to sell her Guinea colony to Germany or any other power. He added that Spain was willing to use great moderation in her negotiations with France about Spanish vested rights and interests in Morocco.

CANADA FOR MANUFACTURERS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Hon. J. G. Henderson, commissioner of industries of Hamilton, Ont., declared "Annexation sentiment in Canada is absolutely nil," while addressing the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association convention on the subject, "Canada, the manufacturers' opportunity."

"As a budding nation our loyalty is intense and practical, and our position as one of the leaders of the Empire compels us to maintain our tariff wall," he asserted.

The speaker stated that Canada is a firm believer in the home market and that there was no possibility in the very near future of any reduction in duties levied on articles manufactured this side of the line.

DISMISSAL OF KING'S CHAPLAIN

Charges of Drunkenness and Immorality Against Rev. Frederick F. Farrar. — Bishop Investigating Case.

(By special cable)

London. — The first court scandal in King George's reign exploded with violence, when The Gazette announced officially the dismissal of the Rev. Frederick Percival Farrar, the King's domestic chaplain, and also honorary chaplain to Queen Alexandra.

Charges of drunkenness and immorality have been made against the deposed King's chaplain, and they are now being investigated by the Bishop of Norwich. The disgraced clergyman has been rector of Sandringham, where the favorite residence of the late King Edward and of Queen Alexandra was situated. It is understood that he has resigned his rectorship in consequence of the charges against him, and a startling report is abroad that the Rev. Farrar is missing and that search is being made for him.

He is a son of the late Dean Farrar, and only last July he married Miss Nora Davis, a sister of Richard Harding Davis,- the author, and a daughter of the late Clarke Davis, of Philadelphia. The wedding was attended by many prominent society people of London. Members of the Royal family sent wedding gifts, those of King George, Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra being especially handsome.

GERMANY AND MOROCCAN CRISIS

Many People Are Sore on the Supposed Laxity of German Government in Allowing Britain to Dictate.

Berlin. — The official report of the secret sitting of the budget committee of the Reichstag in November, when Foreign Minister von Kiderlin-Waechter made a report on Anglo-German relations as affected by the Moroccan dispute with France, is now published.

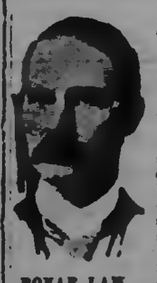
The Foreign Minister's account of the interviews between the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, and the German Ambassador at London, Count Wolff-Metternich, and of the communications that passed between Germany and England, show that the situation was most tense from July 21 to July 27, and the language used on both sides was so sharp that a peaceful outcome of the affair under the circumstances is considered most fortunate.

Great Britain, according to Herr von Kiderlin-Waechter, after receiving on July 1 an individual, as well as a general, explanation of the objects of the despatch of the German warship Panther to Agadir, remained silent until July 21.

Sir Edward Grey then had a conversation with the German ambassador, in which he declared that the time had come for Great Britain to intervene in the Franco-German negotiations, since these apparently were about to be broken off owing to Germany's unacceptable proposals, which would raise the question of the future of Morocco, whereby British interests would be affected. He requested an explanation of the German designs at Agadir.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

London.—The unionist forces in the British parliament have called upon a Canadian to lead them against the assaults of the progressive liberal forces. Andrew Bonar Law, born in New Brunswick and who removed to Glasgow, and was from there sent to the House of Commons, has been chosen leader of the British standpatters to succeed former Premier A. J. Balfour. Law is one of the ablest conservative debaters; also, he is the best chess player in parliament.



BONAR LAW

THE EMPIRE AND CANADA

London. — The London Chamber of Commerce tonight discussed "Canada" in its relation to the Mother Country. Faithfull Begg, treasurer, who presided, said that no country could show such a remarkable advance in progress as Canada during the past five years. Canada had done its part nobly in the recent elections and it was for the United Kingdom now to do here and show appreciation of the efforts of the Dominion in the cause of imperial unity.

A. W. Smithers, chairman of the G. T. R., thought the British Government was discreditable for investigating the emigration question so unscientifically. "The Dominion doesn't want the riffraff of our cities, and he appealed to the Government to transform unemployed casual labor into citizens acceptable to Canada.

She: "Oh, yes, I quite believe there's a fool in every family, don't you?"

He: "Well — er — my opinion is rather biased. You see, I am the only member of our family!"

This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

"I know Ames comes in for a lot of praise because he 'hunts with a camera instead of a gun,'" Forbes began, in a slightly acrid tone. "It never seems to strike people that there may be more than one kind of brutality."

"What's the matter with Ames?" demanded one of the men on the clubhouse porch.

"Up in Canada last fall, Forbes readily resumed, "I went off by myself one day, when Ames was bidding over his kodak, and I stumbled full on a black bear. Because I was the only thing in sight, very likely I became the immediate object of her attentions. I had only a slight lead, but I was going pretty well when Ames poked through the brust and took in the situation.

"'Hold on there, old chap!' he yelled. 'You're too far ahead, I can't get you both in.'"

LUNCHES SERVED IN DRUG STORES

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Oklahoma City is dry and the saloon free lunch has disappeared. Now every drug store in town has a lunch counter in addition to a stamp, city directory and public telephone departments. Lunch signs are displayed prominently on drug stores. One druggist explains it this way:

"When the saloons closed, folks tried to get their drinks in drug stores. But these were dry, too, and there was a boom in soft drinks. In cold weather, crackers were served with hot drinks. Folks found this a substitute for free lunch. Finally the free lunch became too elaborate and we put in lunch counters. Now every drug store in Oklahoma City is selling sandwiches, chili con carne, cake and pie."

TOWN NAMES OF THE WEST

The Men Who Found Names for Many Western Canadian Towns Displayed Much Ingenuity and Occasionally Humor.

The matter of place-names in the West is an interesting bit of study, and reveals not only an amazing profundity but a very considerable originality. They are not the kind of names that are known in the East. Very seldom does a western town duplicate the name of an eastern town — which is more than can be said of the East itself, where there are many repetitions. A glance at the newest map of the prairie provinces will show an interesting variety of names that are practically copyright. They are the kind of names that would not fit well in the East, simply because they have grown out of western experiences and conditions. The earliest were Indian and many sweet-sounding Indian names are on the map; then the cue was taken from the appearance of Nature, particularly in the case of rivers, hills, and valleys; and latterly the surnames of men are being commemorated, men who have taken some part in the establishment of the town, or in the case of many of the newest stations, the officials or engineers of the railway which is bringing the town into being.

Not even greater in variety, interest, and occasional oddity than the place-names are the names of the people. Here, too, an effort is made to commemorate some phase of western life, not infrequently with strange results. An Indian mother near Edmonton heard of the large part being played in the West by the railways, and straightway named her youngest "C.P.R." Another, desirous of doing honour to the white man's medicine conferred upon her first-born the surprising distinction of "Mary Ann Thompson's Sarsaparilla."

Sword in a Plank.

A curious discovery has been made at Oakley Station, near Dunfermline, Scotland. In the course of alterations for the purpose of heightening the platform, it was found necessary to substitute a fresh plank of wood for an old one. The latter was being sawn up for firewood when a sword was found imbedded in the heart of it. The plank had formed part of the platform support for at least fifteen years. There was little rust on the weapon, which was an old-fashioned type, a short cross piece forming the handle. How the sword could have got where it was discovered is a mystery, as there was no indication from the outside of the plank where it had entered, and it is believed that it had been picked up by the tree at an early period of its existence and encircled with the growth.

A King's Retreat.

We often hear of Boscobel Oak, people pointing to it as the very tree which sheltered Charles II. after the Royalist forces had been shattered at the battle of Worcester. But the Boscobel Oak is not the original tree; it has grown from an acorn taken from the original tree. Boscobel House, near by, is, however, the very house in which he hid. He lay concealed in a hole beneath a trap-door in the cheese-room, but as soldiers were everywhere about he had to crawl out of the chimney and make his way into a wood and hide in an oak tree. Returning when the danger was for a moment passed, he spent another night at the house, then, early in the morning, took food and drink with him to the oak tree, climbed up and stayed there for twenty-four hours. During that time Cromwell's soldiers passed beneath the tree searching for him, and he heard them saying what they would do if they caught him.

Complicated Census Work.

Census taking in China, it would appear, is a business complicated by Chinese customs. Thus the Chinese method of reckoning age is not the same as the European. A Chinese child at birth is said to be one year old, and after it has passed one New Year it is said to be two years old; so that if born in the last month of the year it may be said to be two years of age before it is 30 days days old according to European reckoning. Difficulties are encountered in China, as elsewhere, in regard to the ages of females. There was an old lady of Ching-tzu known to be over 100 who insisted on the enumerator entering her age at 99. This was because it is a customary term of abuse to call a person a "hundred years old donkey," or "ten-toothed donkey," which has the same significance. It is stated to be a common thing for a Chinese mother to give a son the name of a girl, presumably to deceive the fates, it being a common and true saying that a girl is easier to rear. This of course is another source of trouble to the enumerators.

Friendship of Books

To fall in love with a good book is one of the greatest events that can befall us. It is to have a new influence pouring itself into our life, a new teacher to inspire us, a new friend to be by our side always, who, when life grows narrow and weary, will take us into his wider and calmer and higher world.

Whether it be biography, introducing us to some humble life made great by duty done; or history, opening vistas into the movements and destinies of nations that have passed away; or poetry, making music of all the common things around us and filling the fields and the cities and the work of the city and the cottage with eternal meanings — whether it be these, or religious books or science, no one can become the friend even of one good book without being made wiser and better.

From Generation to Generation.

Grandfather Billings smiled covertly when Billings junior wondered where Billings third, aged seven, got his "trickiness." "If I didn't keep my eyes open," said Billings junior, hotly, "Billy would outwit me every time."

"This morning," he continued, "I promised him a whipping to-night. When the event came off just now, he never flinched or yelled. 'Think pure and simple!' said I to myself, mighty proud, for I wasn't sparing him in the least. But that wasn't it at all," he concluded, in disgust. "The young rascal had on three pairs of trousers."

"As I remember it," observed Grandfather Billings, reflectively, "you used to insert a small paragraph when a 'good sound one' was done you."

WHEN LINCOLN WAS SHOT.

Booth, Taking Advantage of Guard's Temporary Neglect, Rushed Through the Box Entrance and Accomplished His Deed.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln and their party sat down in their box at Ford's Theatre the fateful night the President was shot, the guard who was acting as substitute for Col. McCook, took his position at the rear of the box, close to an entrance leading into the box from the dress circle of the theatre. His orders were to stand there, fully armed, and to permit no unauthorized person to pass into the box. His orders were to stand there and protect the President at all hazards. From the spot where he was thus stationed, this guard could not see the stage or the actors; but he could hear the words the actors spoke, and he became so interested in them that, incredible as it may seem, he quietly deserted his post of duty, and, walking down the dimly lighted aisle, deliberately took a seat in the last row of the dress circle. It was while the President was thus absolutely unprotected through this guard's amazing recklessness—to use no stronger words—that Booth rushed through the entrance to the box, just deserted by the guard, and accomplished his foul deed. Realization of his part in the assassination so preyed upon the mind of the guard that he finally died as a result of it.

Mrs. W. J. Brown and Mr. Brown of Ottawa, and formerly of the Bank of Nova Scotia here, are in the city guests at the Oriental.

ILLUSTRATION OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

The United States Government is Running Department Stores, Hotels and a Steamship Line in Panama.

The United States government, as everybody knows, is engaged in building as a public enterprise, a canal across the Isthmus of Panama. What the world does not generally understand is that as part of this operation the government is also running lines of railway, a departmental store, hotels and a steamship line. At this government departmental store it is possible to buy almost everything, including ladies' patent leather shoes, briar pipes, teething rings for babies, sugared almonds etc. No less than fifteen hotels are operated, besides 13 mess halls. During one month these places served nearly 1,000,000 meals all told.

This has led a writer to suggest the possibility of the United States government developing Alaska by means of railways operated by the government itself.

Does not what has been accomplished suggest something more—the possibility of solving the trust problem by means of public ownership? It seems futile to talk of going back to the old days of small industries and free competition. The economy in large operations is something the public will not readily consent to surrender. Neither does it seem altogether easy to solve the problem by public control of corporations. The only easy way out would seem to be going the whole length and providing for public operation, something which does not, in view of what is being accomplished in Panama, appear so very difficult after all.

To-Day.

We shall do so much in the years to come
But what have we done to-day?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum,
But what did we give to-day?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done to-day?

Wife (displaying her new bonnet)—"This is the very latest fashion, John."
Husband (sighing)—"I wish it were, but I know it isn't. There'll be another out next month."

Judge Got the Baby.

A few years ago an Iowa county court judge tried to imitate King Solomon in his well-known decision respecting the child that was claimed by two women. In the Iowa Court two women claimed to be the mother of a child that was produced before the judge. Thinking that history might repeat itself, the judge asked for the infant. Then, opening his knife, he announced his intention of cutting the child in half. Whereupon one of the mothers exclaimed, "Oh, no! If it comes to that you may keep the child yourself," and both women left the court.

"It appears to me that Solomon was a very over-rated man," murmured the judge.

A lady while leaving the Post Office yesterday slipped on the icy pavement and fell, sustaining quite a shock.

Invaluabe to Every Farmer

Its Wonderful Power in Curing Sick Cattle and Colicky Horses Makes "Nerviline" Worth Its Weight in Gold.

The stockman or farmer that doesn't know of the thousand and one uses of "Nerviline" around the stable, has a great deal to learn. "Why, I wouldn't think of looking my stable door at night without knowing I had a supply of 'Nerviline' on hand. I always get a dozen bottles at a time from my druggist.

"To cure colic, indigestion and bad stomach in a horse or cow there is no remedy on earth in the same class as 'Nerviline'. Last summer I had a 5250 horse that got NERVILINE CURES COLICKY HORSES the scours, and I would have lost him if I hadn't been able to give him Nerviline. I poured a full bottle of Nerviline in a pint of water down his throat and saved his life. I know of neighbors who have saved many heads of valuable stock, stricken with colic, just by using Nerviline. It is equally good as a rub-on liniment, and I know from my experience that for man or beast internally or externally, 'Nerviline' is worth a dollar a drop."

James E. McCullough,
Stock Breeder, etc.

You will not regret using Nerviline—but see you get it and not something else, large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. At all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Miss Robinson "Showered."

The home of Miss Robinson, Coldsprings, was the scene of a very pleasing event on Monday evening, when Miss Ethel Robinson, niece of Mr. David Laurie, of Coldsprings, Otonabee, whose marriage to Mr. Ernest Mahood of the same township was the guest of honor at a "variety shower" on Wednesday. About 35 of the bride's friends of the Coldsprings Sunday School assembled and presented her with various articles of usefulness and beauty, for her new home. A delightful evening was spent in games and music, and the numerous gifts were accompanied with the sincere good wishes of the donors. The bride is extremely popular in the neighborhood and in the Sunday school, were she has been an earnest and indefatigable worker. At the conclusion of the evening dainty refreshments were served.

COMPANY IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

The Company was incorporated in 1906, and has made steady progress. Their Real Estate holdings are chiefly in and around Calgary and will so continue, but latterly they have been paying a little attention to Saskatoon, where such remarkable progress is being made. It will be the policy of the Company to purchase judiciously in and near Towns and Cities which have passed the uncertain stage of development and whose future is assured. The Company, with its expert knowledge of values is better able to handle such business than any individual, however well equipped he may be for the work.

While the Company has been, and will continue to be, conservative in the matter of dividends, it would appear probable that before very long a distribution of Assets, either in the shape of a Stock Bonus or substantial Cash Dividend, might be made. If not, however, the Shareholders will still benefit by holding a security of constantly increasing value, which will be reflected in the market price of the stock.

The remarkable progress of the City of Calgary is perhaps without precedent in Canada. Building permits issued during the ten months ended 31st October, 1911, reached the enormous total of $11,664,138.00

HIGHER DIVIDEND PROSPECTS

Mr. H. A. MacLean, President of the Company, in a letter dated 15th November, 1911, makes the following reference to Dividend and Reserve Fund: "While I can say nothing official at this time, I may mention that at the Company's Annual Meeting, following its year-end at 31st December, it is my intention to recommend that the Dividend for 1911 be declared at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, which will be an advance of 1 per cent. over the Dividend for 1910. I consider it safe to say in this connection, also, that the Dividend for 1912 will be at the rate of 12 per cent.

"The Asset and Liability Return covering the ten months ended 31st October shows, after allowing for all expenses and outlays of every kind, except the 1911 Dividend, a surplus of Assets over Liabilities of $311,736.72. The 1911 Dividend will amount to approximately $40,000.00, leaving a net surplus of approximately $271,736.72, equal to 90 per cent. of the Company's paid-up Capital. This amount may be fairly considered as a Reserve fund in its present shape, and the Company might continue with safety along its present lines. It is my intention, however, at the approaching Annual Meeting, to propose that a portion equal to 25 per cent. of the Real Estate forming this surplus, be set aside, and advantageously sold—the proceeds of such sale to be invested in high grade listed Railroad Bonds, yielding the Company about 5 per cent. This operation, repeated from year to year, will give the Company a reserve fund of pretty much the same nature as is carried by the Banks and other conservatively managed institutions."

COMPANY'S DIVIDEND RECORD

The Company has paid Dividends every year since its incorporation as follows:

1907	6 per cent.
1908	8 per cent.
1909	9 per cent.
1910	10 per cent.

FINANCIAL POSITION STRONG

The Company's statement of assets and liabilities as of October 31st, 1911, attested to by Messrs. Webb, Read & Hegan, appears in full in the prospectus. It shows the value of the Company's real estate and buildings, as valued by Mr. V. J. L. Eccles, to stand at $584,111, and balance of profit and loss account $311,736. Of the Company's authorized capital of $1,000,000, $388,380 is subscribed, $301,857.50 of which is paid up, leaving $86,522.50 of unmatured and unpaid calls.

Inquiries as to the Company's standing and the integrity and ability of the directors (of whom the President, Managing Director and Secretary-Treasurer devote their time exclusively to the Company's business) may be made of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Montreal.

It is the intention to make application in due course to have he stock listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Copies of prospectus and application forms for shares may be obtained from the undersigned, and in cases where the request for application forms states the number of shares desired it will be considered that application has been received at that date. The right is reserved, however, to allot a smaller number of shares than applied for.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

VOL XXXIV NO 52 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

VOTE FOR GORDON FOR ALDERMAN, AND CUT ELECTRIC LIGHT RATES IN TWO

POWER BY-LAW NOT A HARD AND FAST CONTRACT

MERELY A REFERENDUM OF PUBLIC OPINION ON A LIVE QUESTION.

Ratepayers are Asked If They Are Behind the Council in Entering into a Contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission for Power PROVIDING IT CAN BE SUPPLIED CHEAPER THAN BY POWER COMPANIES — Another By-law Would be Submitted to People Before any CONTRACT Is Signed With the Commission.

The Board of Trade met in special session last night to discuss matters municipal in view of the pending elections, and more particularly the proposition that Peterborough City enters into an agreement with the Hydro-Electric Commission for the supply of power for municipal and manufacturing purposes.

B. F. Ackerman wrote that the C. N.R. is charging double express rates from Peterborough, thus discriminating in favor of Toronto. This complaint will be forwarded to the chairman of the Railways Commission, Ottawa.

The Board was invited to send delegates to the 13th annual convention of the Canadian Forestry Association, to be held at Ottawa on the 7th and 8th of February.

On motion of Messrs. F. D. Kerr and W. R. Morris, Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., will be asked to represent the Board of Trade at this convention.

President V. Eastwood, here introduced the power by-law question, and asked Mayor Morrow to explain the situation.

His Worship replied that the by-law is in fact merely a referendum enquiring if the people are behind the Council in entering into an agreement with the Hydro-Electric Commission for the supply of power delivered at a sub-station for transmission by the city to consumers, with the object of securing cheaper power for the municipal, manufacturing and domestic purposes. If the people favor the proposition, then the Commission will submit estimates of the price at which they can develop power for this city's use, and in the event of said estimates proving of an advantage to the community, then another by-law would be submitted to the people asking authority for the Council to enter into a CONTRACT with the Commission for the supply of power AT A GIVEN PRICE PER h.p. The present by-law, His Worship said, does not BIND the city to anything, but simply ENDORSES the CONSIDERATION of a subsequent proposition between the city and the Commission for power at COST PRICE, estimated by the best engineers in the country.

Ald. Bradburn, the popular nominee for the Mayor's chair, and the city's Finance Minister last year, supported Mayor Morrow in his contentions. He offered that the passage of the by-law at the polls does not necessarily mean that the city MUST enter into an agreement with the Hydro-Electric Commission. If the people are willing that negotiations with the Commission shall be conducted, then another by-law, stating the price at which the Commission can furnish power, will be submitted to the ratepayers. "My position, personally, is that if the Commission cannot give us power cheaper than present prices, then we don't want it." (Applause).

Mr. W. R. Morris offered that the prevailing opinion is that the by-law if passed, would empower the Council to enter into an agreement with the Commission.

Ald. Bradburn—"Legally speaking, that may be true. But no Council of 10 men and a Mayor is going to sign a contract for power at rates in excess of the price. Such an assumption is absurd."

Ald. Brown pointed out that the Council had issued a manifesto above their own signatures that they will not sign any contract with the Commission without first submitting a money by-law to the people.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, an aldermanic candidate, contended that the by-law merely calls for an expression of opinion as to whether the Council shall call for estimates from the Commission or not. "If it were not for the Hydro-Electric Commission we would never get a competitor in power, and I feel that no danger can arise from the submission of this by-law for an expression of public opinion upon it."

Mr. Gordon had perfect faith in the wisdom of the incoming Council on so important a question.

Dr. Morrison thought the whole question a simple one. For years the people have been clamoring for cheaper power, which they must have, if they wish to continue in the race after new industries. We are now, he said, through negotiations with the Hydro-Electric Commission, in a position to get figures as to the minimum cost of power, and it does not matter whether it is the Seymour Co. or the Hydro-Electric Commission who supplies it, so long as we get cheap electricity for street and house lighting, and motive power. He thought every citizen should realise that this is merely a referendum and has no more binding weight than any other referendum.

Mr. W. H. Denham, characterised the by-law as a standard measure insisted upon by Mr. Beck, and if carried and the Council act thereon, then such action is binding. The danger consists in that the Hon. Adam Beck will not put a limit on it. In fact, he asks you to sign a cheque allowing him to fill in the amount. The by-law, he offered, empowers the Council to sign a contract for power at cost, and not submit it to the people until after the agreement is made. In such event the city would be committed to the Hydro-Electric Commission, even if the cost of power be $90.

To J. B. McWilliams, the Mayor replied that power from Burleigh Falls would cost $18.47 delivered at a substation here.

J. B. McWilliams—"Burleigh Falls is 20 miles distant, and No. 8 dam 40 or 50 miles, then how are you going to get power cheaper from the latter place, as proposed by the Commission?"

The Mayor—"No. 8 dam is only 26 miles distant as the crow flies."

Mr. J. B. McWilliams deplored the fact that previous Councils had permitted opportunities to pass years ago, when he sat on the Council Board he had offered power from Burleigh Falls at $3,000. This dam was subsequently sold for $150,000. Then Mr. Blair had offered the city No. 4 or 5 dams at $1 per h.p., and that proposition was turned down.

Mr. F. D. Kerr submitted that the whole matter was a question if the Council would really have to submit a by-law to the people before entering into a cast-iron contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission for power. The Statute of 1909 distinctly says that should the people vote in the affirmative on such a referendum as is now before them, then the Council would be vested with uncontrolled power to enter into a bargain absolutely binding without further submission to the ratepayers. He did not say that any Council would do this, but they had the power under the act, which is in effect a power of attorney given—not to this year's Council, or next year's Council, but to ANY Council—to enter into a bargain with the Commission, let it be wise or let it be foolish.

Mr. J. C. Shook asked if this by-law is passed would it bar the Council from making a more favorable arrangement with any other company.

The Mayor—"The Council would have the power to enter into a contract with any concern—Hydro-Electric or otherwise—but unless the people ratified a subsequent money by-law no definite action would be taken."

Mr. Denham objected that the Commission ask, as is customary with them, the submission of a by-law for the supply of power at cost, without a definite statement as to what the cost will be. If passed and acted upon by Council, the city would be committed to stand by the agreement no matter what the power cost.

Ald. Bradburn—"Do you think, Mr. Denham, that ten men and a Mayor are going to agree to take power at cost without knowing what that cost is going to be, whether it is supplied by the Hydro-Electric Commission, or the Seymour Power Co. More than that, the Hydro-Electric Commission represent the people and do not propose to come down here to hold the people up." (Applause).

Mr. Denham—"They are asking two millions more from Toronto in excess of the two millions first estimated."

The Mayor—"Those two millions asked for are for extension purposes."

Mr. Denham here offered that power delivered to a sub-station in Peterborough at $18.47 would cost from $5 to $7 to distribute.

Mr. Wm. Langford had every confidence in the Hydro-Electric Commission and in the incoming and every Council. But, he had some diffidence in opposing his views to those of the lions of the power concerns who resorted Board of Trade meetings. In conjunction with other remarks of this nature, he contended that "the gentleman who had recently left Peterborough for pastures new had opposed the city's accepting certain power propositions in the hope of furthering the interests of power people. That was done on this Board of Trade."

Mr. R. R. Hall concurred in the views of Mr. F. D. Kerr, and offered that an estimate of the cost of power should have been submitted before any by-law went to the people.

Mr. E. A. Peck, heartily endorsed the stand taken by the Hydro-Electric Commission, who have adopted the policy that before going seriously into any power proposition they must have a vote of the people on the question, truly contending that it would be of no use dealing with a Council that had not the people behind them. "So far as I know," Mr. Peck urged, "the Commission has not yet failed in their estimates; and with the best engineers in the country at their service, I think it very unlikely that their estimates were ever found far out. It is true that under the act the Council may enter into a contract with the Commission without first appealing again to the people should this by-law carry, but I see no reason why we should not trust the Council in this respect. An important factor in the situation is that we are not dealing with a private company, trying to make the best possible contract with the Council, but are negotiating with a Commission working in the interests of the people. (Applause). In my opinion, the ratepayers would be wanting in good judgment were they to turn this by-law down."

Mr. B. F. Ackerman was perfectly satisfied to trust this matter of power in the hands of the Hydro-Electric Commission and the incoming Council.

LET THE BY-LAW AWAIT COMMISSION'S PROPOSITION

The members of the City Council of Peterborough, have issued a statement, setting forth the reasons why, in their opinion, the property holders of the City, should authorize them to enter into an agreement with the Hydro-Electric Commission, for the supply of electric power for Peterborough.

This is undoubtedly the most important problem that the property holders of the City have had to deal with in many years, and it is most important that the facts should be clearly presented.

It may be possible that the Hydro-Electric Commission, of which Hon. Adam Beck is chairman, has done good work in the interests of certain municipalities in western Ontario, and it may be owing to this fact that many ratepayers of Peterborough may be unintentionally deceived as to what benefits, if any, the Commission can offer Peterborough.

The ratepayers of Peterborough should bear in mind the fact that few, if any, of the municipalities in western Ontario that entered into contracts with the Hydro-Electric Commission, for electric power, were, at the time, as fortunately situated in that respect as Peterborough. They were not in the centre of a power zone, such as is the case with Peterborough. They had not a surplus of upwards of 3,500 h. p. developed within the corporation limits, awaiting a market.

As a matter of fact, the towns of Western Ontario which availed themselves of the services of the Hydro-Electric Commission, were towns that were developing their power with steam plants, an extremely costly system. They could not, therefore, in the industrial field, compete with such towns as Peterborough and certain other places, where electric power was being developed under more favorable natural conditions.

The question each ratepayer of Peterborough should now ask himself is whether conditions are such that he is prepared to have his property mortgaged to an extent that is not at the present time known, in order that the City may go into the electrical development business.

He should bear in mind the fact that at the present time there is development within the city limits, or within 4 miles of the city, upwards of 9,000 h.p., and that at the present time only 5500 h.p. of this is being used.

Each property holder before voting to mortgage his property for the purpose of having the city develop electric power, should ask himself the question, "Has the City Council of Peterborough ever approached the Seymour Power Co., in order to ascertain at what price it may be possible to obtain a portion of this power, that is already developed and awaiting a market in Peterborough?"

As a matter of fact, the City Council of Peterborough, has not approached the Seymour Power Co., with a view to getting a price on power for the municipality. Instead of doing so, they come forward and ask the property holders to grant them authority to enter into negotiations with the Hydro Electric Commission.

Moreover the passing of this by-law, grants to the City Council wider powers than to merely "negotiate with the Hydro-Electric Commission." By a vaguely worded act of the Legislature, the City Council is granted authority, under the passing of such a by-law as is now being submitted to the property owners, to enter into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission, that may involve the City in an expenditure of half a million of dollars.

True it is that the City Council say they will come back and ask for a further endorsation of any proposition they may have; but the fact remains that they are not obliged to come back to the ratepayers, and ask for additional authority in the matter.

There is certainly too much at stake to permit of taking any chance in the matter. If the City Council desires merely to negotiate with the Hydro-Electric Commission, let them proceed to negotiate without the passing of this by-law, and let them, then, come back to the people with a proposition in concrete form.

Why should it be necessary for a by-law to be passed at this early stage in the proceedings? Does it not appear to any fair minded man that there is a nigger in the fence?

Why cannot the City Council negotiate with the Commission and then submit their by-law?

ARCHDUKE OF AUSTRIA

Will Imitate John Orth and Give Up a Throne—Now Being Disciplined by the Aged Emperor.

Vienna, Dec. 14.—Another romance connected with the imperial house of Hapsburg is contained in the dry official announcement that Emperor Francis Joseph has placed the Archduke Henry Ferdinand, brother of the Princess Louise of Saxony and of Archduke Leopold Salvatore "on leave with the stoppage of all emoluments."

Archduke Henry Ferdinand, who is a painter with great distaste for court life and military duties has been living for some time in Munich. He has long desired to abandon his rank and title, and is reported, to marry a Munich girl belonging to a family not of noble rank.

The family of the Hapsburgs has experienced a series of romances. The first among the more recent was that of the Archduke John Salvatore, known as John Orth, who disappeared after giving up his rank and title and marrying an actress named Milly Stiebel. He was said to have sailed for Chili on board the Santa Margaretha in July, 1890, and no trace of him has since been found.

Then came Princess Louise of Saxony, who disappeared from Dresden in 1902, leaving her husband, the present King of Saxony. She was forbidden to use her title of archduchess by imperial decree. She was divorced from the King of Saxony in 1903.

Archduke Ferdinand Charles this year ran away from his military duties and married a daughter of a court councillor, afterward assuming the name of Burg and living as a private citizen.

Archduke Leopold, who was a major general in the American army, renounced his career in 1902 in order to marry a Bavarian actress named Admovics, whom he later divorced. He lives in Switzerland under the name of Woelfling.

THE POWER BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—Permit me to occupy a few lines of your space in saying a few words in opposition to the power by-law that is now before the people.

I desire to say that I consider that our taxes are now high enough without asking the ratepayers of this city to enter upon a scheme of electrical development that may cost the city $500,000.

So far as I am concerned I do not think that the city is so badly in need of electrical power that they should enter upon such an expensive undertaking.

I think that the City Council has negotiated with the Hydro-Electric Commission for asufficient length of time to enable them to offer some sort of proposition to the public.

This by-law is only a trick to plunge the city into indebtedness of half a million dollars, to satisfy the whims of a few aldermen.

Ratepayer.

THE HONEY CROP OF ONTARIO.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Do you know that the annual Honey crop in Ontario is worth One and a Half Million Dollars, and that Ten Thousand persons from Point Pelee to the Cobalt regions, and further North, are engaged in the business of producing it, keeping three hundred thousand hives of bees for the purpose? Even then I venture to say, not one quarter of the nectar secreted by Ontario flowers is ever utilized. And although honey prices are advancing every year, not one tenth of the honey is consumed in Ontario homes that our people are capable of eating.

Now how can this industry be developed? Mainly by the educational methods now being used by the Department of Agriculture. The successful organization work culminated last month in the biggest annual convention of beekeepers Toronto ever saw. The next event is a Bee Short course at the Ontario Agricultural College, Jan. 9-20, 1912. This course is free to all who are interested in bees and every session from beginning to end will be full of information on the care of bees and how to make money from them.

During this course Mr. Morley Pettit, Provincial Apiarist, will give a series of demonstrations and illustrated lectures covering all the main features of practical management in a way that will be helpful to experienced beekeepers and beginners as well. Lectures will also be given on allied subjects by other members of the teaching staff, and a few expert bee specialists will be brought in

IMMIGRATION WORK OF A PRACTICAL KIND

Mr. Arthur Hawkes has Some Advanced Ideas on the Subject

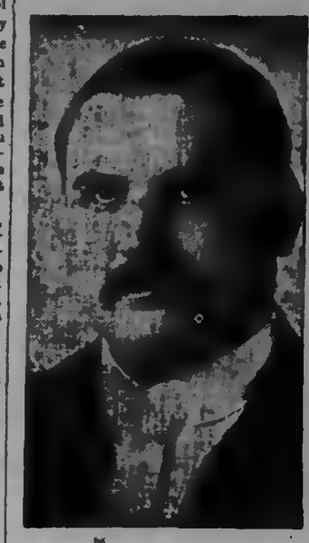
Ottawa, Dec. 23.—"Lots of people have forgotten in their treatment of the individual immigrant, in the way they talk to and about him, that he is here absolutely at the invitation of the Canadian government and that if he were not here lots of people who are now rolling in wealth would be washing their own dishes. You have to give the immigrant the benefit of a little applied knowledge; the 'root hog or die' policy does not bring success."

In these words Mr. Arthur Hawkes, recently appointed immigration commissioner by the Dominion government, who is in town, summed up some aspects of immigration as at present conducted. Mr. Hawkes, who has been appointed to prepare a report for the government on the most scientific and practical methods of obtaining settlers for the Dominion, has been out west and also in Quebec. He will be here for a day or so to see the government and will then go to Toronto to deliver an address on immigration. His work will, after Christmas, take him over to England and he expects to have his report ready about February.

The new immigration commissioner has seen about six of the provincial governments with regard to overlapping in immigration. "There is a certain amount of overlapping between the different provinces," he stated, "in Ontario for one, while New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and British Columbia are also carrying British islands. Many of the conditions affecting immigration, too, have changed since the present propagandk was started. In the British isles the pressure of population is becoming more insistent every year. Some four millions more people are managing to find subsistence than ten years ago; that is, despite the constant drain of emigration, the population increase has been sixty per cent of Canada's whole population.

Scientific Methods.

"All this talk of tariff reform in Britain is connected with the finding of an outlet for this surplus population. Methods of doing so have hitherto been somewhat accidental but it is the government's aim to now make them more scientific. I have no scheme in mind and have not the slightest intention of recommending the admission to Canada of British born emigrants exclusively as opposed to those of the United States. Apropos of British immigration I consider the Duke of Sutherland's colonization scheme to purchase land and put it in shape for the incoming settler indicates that there has arrived in Britain a class of people with means and public spirit who are beginning to realize what the pressure of population in their own country means and what Canada has to offer. They are now ready to put money into the actual settlement of the land which hitherto they sank in mines and railways. We can't go on indefinitely, as we have recently done, spending money on new railways, until we begin to pay interest on it out of earnings instead of capital. It is absolutely impossible for Canada to keep pace with her opportunities by the cradle route. Immigration is the whole works."



MR. ARTHUR HAWKES, Immigration Commissioner.

Dumping Not the Thing.

"I was up in New Ontario last week to meet some of the incoming settlers. An idea has for some time prevailed that it is possible to dump immigrants into Northern Ontario like coal into a cellar but this "root hog or die' scheme brings failure and discontent, not success. I am not criticizing the immigration department's works; it has never, I think, made any claim to infallibility. Not a single page, however, of immigration literature for British use was ever, to the best of my belief, written by a Britisher himself or, previous to my own appointment, has anybody who is really acquainted with British as well as Canadian conditions been given any say in immigration methods."

Mr. Hawkes has interviewed six provincial cabinets and is working out a plan for co-operation in immigration matters with the federal government. He will leave for England shortly.

HON. MR. BECK TO THE PEOPLE

Hydro-Electric Power By-Law And What it Means

The following letter was received yesterday from Hon. Adam Beck, Minister of Power, by Mr. W. H. Robertson, of The Times, and speaks for itself:

Mr. W. H. Robertson, The Times, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—In reference to what you say that the proposed By-law authorizing the Council to make contract with the Commission would commit the City to a large expenditure of money, this is quite incorrect.

The Commission finds it impossible to make any headway in supplying territories with power unless some authority is given the Councils to negotiate with the Commission and secure estimates to guide them as to cost of construction and the cost of power supplied to the City. The cost depends entirely upon the number of Municipalities who become partners in the scheme and the amount of power each will be able to take.

It is quite absurd to say that the Commission or the Municipality would undertake the expenditure of money without coming back to the people. In the case of Peterborough there will be a lot of information required before the Council or Commission would be justified in making a large expenditure. The Council would be required to supply a sufficient amount to buy or construct a distributing system. The expenditure on account of the Government would be a very large one. The Municipalities undoubtedly will require to go back to the people to secure authority to raise the money for distributing purposes.

I hope to be able to address the citizens of Peterborough on Thursday evening next. I trust there will be a large turn-out of the ratepayers so that they may fully understand the situation and enable them to vote intelligently.

Yours faithfully,
A. Beck.

Bohemian Summer Resorts.

According to the latest statistics about $40,045,000 is expended each year by visitors from foreign countries who take the "cure" at the natural mineral spring resorts in western Bohemia, along the Erzebirge (Ore Mountains.)

This does not include the sum spent by foreign transient visitors who stop for less than eight days or by those from the various crown lands. The grand total is ot less than $45,000,000 to -50,000,000.

Some idea of the volume of business transacted at the great Bohemian spas may be deduced fr the fact that the railroad office i ienbad, which has a resident p tion of 6,279, receives from outbound passengers for transportation tickets alone, exclusive of baggage receipts, -400,000 annually.

The post office in the same city turns over to the government after payment of all expenses a net profit of a like amount. These figures can be multiplied by three of Carlsbad. The three resorts depending on their natural mineral springs for cure purposes (Carlsbad, Marienbad and Franzensbad) pay $912,500 annually in direct taxes exclusive of the special assessments

OUR ENGLISH SPEECH.

Dr. Peterson, of McGill University, Montreal, delivered an excellent address last night at the Canadian Club banquet at the Oriental Hotel, on "Our English Speech." At the conclusion of the address a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker.

TWO WAR PICTURES.

Reminiscences Written by a Non-Commissioned Officer Who Served During the Napoleonic Wars.

There has recently been published a book containing reminiscences written by a non-commissioned officer who served during the Napoleonic wars. In these reminiscences there is given this description of a scene after the British attack on the French forces in Alexandria: "After the action was over we were ordered to go and take all the wounded of both armies and carry them to the boats . . . . It was truly a horrible sight to see the French and British writhing in agonies of death, and making friendship, who had only a few minutes before been filled with rage and hatred at one another—all their fierce passions stilled, and like a hushed child, taking one another in their dying arms."

This other picture is of the scene presented by Waterloo the morning after: "When morning came I went out to see the field on which so many brave soldiers had perished. The scene which met my eyes was horrible in the extreme. The number of dead was far greater than I had ever seen on any former battlefield. The bodies were not scattered over the ground, but were lying in heaps—men and horses mixed promiscuously together. I turned away with disgust from this heart-moving spectacle . . . . I confess my feelings overcame me; I wept bitterly, and wished I had not been a witness of such a scene."

"As It Was in the Beginning."

When William Pengelly was a sailor boy, weather-bound on the coast of Devonshire, he had his earliest geological experience, and Mr. Baring-Gould says he was wont to relate it as is printed below:

I received my first lesson in geology at Lyme Regis very soon after I had entered my teens. A laborer, from whom I was observing, accidentally broke a small stone of blue lias and thus disclosed a fine ammonite—the first fossil I had ever seen or heard of.

"What's that?" I exclaimed.

"If you read your Bible you'd know what 'tis," said the workman, somewhat scornfully.

"I have read my Bible. But what has that to do with it?"

"In the Bible we're told there was once a flood that covered the whole world. At that time all the rocks were mud, and the different things that were drowned were buried in it, and there's a snake that was buried that way. There are lots of 'em, and other things besides, in the rocks and stones hereabouts."

"A snake! But where's his head?"

"You must read your Bible, I tell ee, and then you'll find out why 'tis some of the snakes ain't got no heads. We're told there that the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head; that's how 'tis."

A couple of dozen shantymen arrived yesterday from the north on the Lakefield train, in order to spend Christmas with their families.

BLOOD STAINS OF CENTURIES

The Arabs Have Put Up Some Stiff Fighting in Bygone Days, as History of Many Nations Can Testify Away back in the days of Caesar, Algeria came under Roman rule, and enjoyed great prosperity until, about the middle of the fifth century, the Romans were driven from Africa by the Vandals. About two hundred years later the Saracens conquered the country, which became divided into a number of petty states, ruled over by barbaric chiefs. In 1505 there was a Spanish invasion, but in 1516, the Turkish pirate, Barbarossa, was invited by one of the native princes to lead a rebellion, which he did and was proclaimed king, introducing a new system of piracy, for which Algeria was noted until 1830, the history, meanwhile, being red with blood shed in encounters with Spain, France and England.

Following on strenuous fighting with the French from early in the nineteenth century, there was almost constant warfare in the interior until 1856, when the authority of France was undisputed and peace reigned for a time. In 1859 a rebellion was squelched, but in 1864 there was a serious uprising in the south. Year after year there were uprisings of a serious character, until, in 1877, a widespread insurrection broke out stimulated by the weakened condition of France at home. Horrible massacres were perpetrated, and all seaports were blockaded from the land side. It was not until after the fall of the commune in Paris that troops could be spared to quell this revolt. From October of that year, when a civil government was established, the colony has continued in a more or less flourishing condition.

Tripoli's history has not been so red. After falling successively into the hands of the Phoenicians, Romans, Vandals and Greeks, Tripoli was finally conquered by the Arabs twelve centuries ago, and has remained a Moslem state ever since. In 1510, Ferdinand of Spain took it, and thirteen years later it was given to the Knights of St. John, who were expelled in 1553 by Turkish corsairs. Tripolitan pirates soon became the terror and scourge of the Mediterranean, and half the states of Europe seem to have at some time or other sent fleets to bombard the capital. In 1835 the Turks took advantage of a civil war to re-assert authority, and since that time it has been governed by representatives of the Sultan. Tripoli, the capital, is a typical Moorish city.

SPY PROOF BLOTTING PAPER

Foreign Offices of Europe Tried Many Kinds of Blotter, Before Reaching the Point of Real Secrecy.

Every foreign office of Europe acts on the theory that an army of spies is constantly on the alert to steal its secrets, and infinite precautions are taken to baffle their efforts. Very shortly after the first use of blotting paper it was discovered that it was quite possible to cause a blotting pad to give up jealously guarded secrets by simply holding it in front of a mirror. Long after all the commercial world had forgotten the existance of such a thing the British Foreign Office used a sand shaker to dry its important written documents. Then specially manufactured black blotting paper was used, but was not found to be absolutely spy proof, and a return to the sand shaker was contemplated, when some one suggested the simple expedient of a small absorbent roller. These rollers have since been used for drying diplomatic documents. When such a roller has been run up and down across a document once or twice, the cleverest spy in the world is at liberty to try his hand at deciphering the impressions.

A Realist All Right

He staggered into the club, and sank into a chair.

"Horrible — horrible!" he cried.

His friends hurried to him, while one was dispatched for brandy.

"I cannot blot them out!" he exclaimed, burying his face in his hands. "Men and women rushing hither and thither — feverishly, madly, with anxious faces. Children struggling forward, now dropping like logs, now vainly endeavouring to regain their feet! Here is an old woman, clutching at anything or anybody in her fright! There, a feeble man, brushed aside by the tearing throngs that sweep by him, left tottering against a wall! Horror!" he cried, rising suddenly and stretching out his hand. "I can hear the shriek of a girl, who, only a few moments ago, had been full of happiness and mirth, as she comes crashing to the ground!"

"Poor fellow! Drink this," cried his hearers, as the brandy appeared, and then tell us what has happened!"

With a look of gratitude, the hysterical man drained the glass. Then, handing it back, he gave a great heave, and said, more quietly:

"Thank you, friends! It was just an ordinary scene at a skating rink!"

Large views, high hopes, and unselfish aims dissipates a whole army of petty trials, annoyances and irritations, and even greatly reduce real anxieties and solicitude.

The difference between honor and honesty seems to be chiefly in the move. The honest man does from duty that which the man of honor does for the sake of character.

SAW REYNOLDS CHASE CULVER WITH AN AXE

London, Ont., Dec. 21.—Damaging evidence was given against Dan. Reynolds, in jail here, charged with the murder of Fred Culver in London Township on Thursday night, when the enquiry resumed last night, but no decision was reached.

Ben. Graham, proprietor of the hotel on the Hamilton road, where the tragedy occurred, said the trouble started when he refused to serve liquor to Reynold's young son, who accompanied him to the place. He admitted seeing Reynolds chase Culver with an uplifted axe, and heard Culver say when he was dying "You've done it now," to Reynolds. Graham had armed himself with a gun for his own protection, and when Reynolds attacked him after hitting Culver, he lost the gun in the scuffle, but gained possession of the axe.

Two cupfuls of warm mashed potatoes, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of butter, five level teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Flour to make soft dough. Roll out half an inch thick. Fry in hot grease. The potatoes keep the dough nuts soft and they keep fresh much longer than those made with eggs.

The first camera-obscura was invented by Giambattista Della Porta, an Italian philosopher, during the latter half of the sixteenth century.

Many Falls Recorded.

The slippery state of the sidewalks makes it unsafe for pedestrians. Many take the middle of the road, although the walking there is also bad. Many falls are recorded. An elderly lady had a bad fall on Water street, and had to be assisted home, although fortunately no bones were broken.

MASTER OF ETON.

Canon Lyttelton Has a Passion for Beautiful Trees.

Nature study has an ardent and loyal supporter in the headmaster of Eton, Canon the Hon. Edward Lyttelton, who has kept his fifty-sixth birthday. It claimed Dr. Lyttelton at the age of sixteen when he began to learn to draw trees, which from that time onward exercised over him a most potent charm. The excitements of cricket notwithstanding, he has during a match gazed with delight on stately trees "in verdure clad."

Not very long ago Dr. Lyttelton drew in an unreported speech an interesting comparison between music and nature study. "Music," he pointed out, "stimulates the imagination, while nature study stimulates and steadies the imagination." He thinks that boys between the ages of eleven and sixteen, the most impressionable period in their lives, should be persuaded to regard nature study as a pleasure, and certainly not merely as something that may be useful in after-life.

Dr. Lyttelton denies that he is an autocrat. He regards, at all events, the genus puer with catholic and humorous sympathy, realizing that the dunce at school may possess mental faculties which sooner or later develop. Dr. Lyttelton tells of a boy who, regarded as an idiot by masters and pupils, spent his holidays in Paris, bought a Continental Bradshaw, studied it intently, and ultimately knew the times of departure and arrival of every train; he eventually became, indeed, one of the cleverest of railway specialists.

Canon Lyttelton is almost perfectly ambidextrous, and when famous as a cricketer he was known to throw a cricket ball 105 yards with his right hand, and then, changing over, to throw it almost as far with his left.

Naturally this gift often enabled him by a quick change to run out an unsuspecting batsman. It is said that this little dodge of his "came off" triumphantly one day when playing for a clerical eleven, and the victim on retiring from the field was heard to murmur, "Hang it all! when playing parsons you don't expect to be diddled out."

The "Father of Southwark."

Thousands of poor people in the South of London will regret that, owing to advancing age, Canon Horsley is obliged to leave his busy parish of St. Peter's, Walworth, for a quiet living in the South of England. For years he has worked zealously on behalf of the people of the slums, and there is scarcely a branch of parish or municipal work in London with which Canon Horsley has not been connected. To the people of Southwark he has been in every sense a "father of the flock," and it is stated that he once refused a colonial bishopric that he might stay at home and work in the slums.

The canon is a man with a fund of anecdote, and describing the odd dress of English bishops some time ago, he told a story of the Bishop of Bath and Wells, who had been visiting Scarborough. On the way to the train he he lost his reckoning, and stopped a boy. "I say, my lad, how far it is to the station?" "About a mile ahead," said the boy, who had never seen a bishop before. Then, staring at the bishop's knee-breeches and silk stockings, he added, "Halloa, guv'nor, what's up? Somebody swiped yer bike?"

How Carnegie Got Library Idea.

Dr. Andrew Carnegie told an audience at Liverpool that he had "taken to library forming because his father did it before him." Wm. Carnegie's efforts at library founding were, an Edinburgh contemporary points out, extremely modest as compared with the work of his distinguished son. In 1849 Mr. Carnegie's father was a journeyman weaver in Dunfermline. He and two other drivers of the shuttle met and agreed to convey books they had in their respective homes to one house. The combined libraries figured out only twenty volumes. The pioneers were joined by other weavers, and they agreed to tax themselves to the extent of a few pence per month and from this fund purchase new books. The little institution ultimately blossomed into the Dunfermline Tradesman's library. — Westminster Gazette.

He Tried Himself.

A good story is told of a former magistrate of Winnipeg, who arraigned himself in his own court upon the charge of being drunk and disorderly, and dancing an Indian snake dance in a public thoroughfare.

The magistrate took his seat and rapped for order. Then he called: "John Blank, stand up!"

The magistrate stood up. Then he solemnly tried himself for being drunk and disorderly, and fined himself $20 for it.

"But," said Magistrate Blank, addressing himself, "for twenty years you have been a sober and respected citizen of the community. In consideration of that twenty years of good conduct I will remit the fine."

A burst of applause was sternly repressed by the usher, and the next case was called.

YUAN-SHI-KAI IS CHINA'S DICTATOR

The New Premier is a Manchu and a Militarist and Will Crush the Progressives If He Can. —But Can He?

(Special Cable Service.)

PEKIN. — Yuan Shi Kai, who has accepted the premiership is considered "the strongest man in China" since Li Hung Chang.

The return to power of Yuan-Shi-Kai, after two years spent in enforced retirement, is a matter of grave concern to the progressives. It may mean disaster to them.

For Yuan-Shi-Kai is a great man—one whose very name is more potent with the people of China than an army. He is feared and respected throughout the empire.

And now the government, in despair at the spread of revolt, has summoned from obscurity this man who was so summarily dismissed and disgraced two years ago, and has put him again in supreme control of the army and navy. Which means that Yuan-Shi-Kai has virtually been made dictator.

PREMIER YUAN-SHI-KAI

That's just the sort of place Yuan is best fitted for. He is a Diaz-like individual, a man of tremendous energy and of big brain. In the days of the absolute monarchy he seemed like a progressive by contrast. He was associated with Li Hung Chang and did much toward untangling the mess caused by the Boxer outbreak. But Yuan is not a progressive. He is a militarist.

Indeed Yuan represents all that China is today in military standing. For Yuan MADE the present Chinese army. When he came to power on the death of the great Li Hung Chang he set about the reorganization of the entire military establishment of the empire, and thanks to his effort China has now a thoroughly equipped and well drilled army.

Now he has been called to take the premiership. If any one in China can turn the trick he can. And that he will do his best to crush the progressive movement may be taken for granted.

For Yuan is a Manchu.

THE FOUNDER OF SUFFRAGETTE MOVEMENT.

Mrs. EMMELINE PANKHURST

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is shortly coming to Canada, is one of the original suffragets. She is easily the most prominent figure among the English suffragets, with her clever daughter Christabel perhaps a close second. Just now she is touring the United States, speaking for the cause of woman's suffrage.

Mrs. Pankhurst is a little woman — but, Oh, my! She speaks like a house afire. Wherever she appears she awakens great enthusiasm by her simple yet dramatic telling of the story of the battles between the suffragets and the English authorities, and of how she and many others were thrown into prison for daring to stand up for woman's rights.

TO HOLD HATPINS

Sticking one's hatpins into the pincushion generally results in the ruin of a dainty cover and very much detracts also from the attractive and harmonious effect of the dressing table. It is much wiser to have a special receptacle for them.

A very pretty and useful hatpin holder can be made by covering a glass tube with ribbon. These tubes can be bought at many of the large shops. They are just long enough to hold the hatpin, are closed at the bottom, and finished at the top with a liplike rim. After buying the glass buy ribbon to match the decorations of your room just wide enough to make a cover for the glass by sewing two pieces together. The cover may be either the length of the tube and put on smooth, or it may be longer and shirred on each side. The latter way is prettier, but it will catch dust and must be frequently brushed out.

At the bottom of the case the ribbon is gathered together tightly, and either a tassel sewed on or a bunch of bows of baby ribbon. At the top it is finished by hemming each piece of ribbon separately, not sewing the pieces together. The hem must be wide enough to come out beyond the rim of the glass. A long loop of the baby ribbon is sewed at the top of each seam to hang the case up or one piece of ribbon may be used, an end sewed at each side. In either case a small bunch of bows is used as a finish where the ribbon is sewed.

THE LATEST FROM PARIS

In this smart model the crown of the hat is of Burgundy velvet, with a little up and down frill of gold lace.

A Tasty Dish

The recipe given below treats of a method of cooking eggs for the breakfast table. Take three eggs and put them on in cold water and boil them for a quarter of an hour. After plunging them into cold water remove the shells. Then chop finely the whites of the eggs. Next melt in a stewpan one teaspoonful of butter and mix with it ½ oz. of flour or a tablespoonful, a shake of pepper, and half a teaspoonful of salt. Gradually mix in half a pint of milk (1 breakfastcupful) and stir until it boils. Add to this sauce the chopped whites of eggs, and pour the mixture on to a hot plate (a dinner plate). Next grate the yolks of the eggs, or rub them through a sieve, over the contents in the hot plate. Make a pretty border of little snippets of toast around it, and serve very hot.

Curried Eggs.

Allow one egg for each person and put into boiling water sufficient to cover them. Cover the pan tightly and let stand on the side of the range for half an hour. Then put into cold water for a moment, remove the shells, and stand aside until needed. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan and when it begins to color add an onion cut into very thin slices and a tablespoonful of Chutney sauce. Stir all together until cooked to a delicate brown then add a cupful of good stock mixed with a tablespoonful of curry powder and let simmer for ten minutes. Cut the eggs in half lengthwise, place in the curry mixture, cover tightly, and let stand until thoroughly hot. Serve with rice cooked in a separate dish and pass Chutney sauce.

An overheated chimney gave the Fire Department a run to 111 Stewart street yesterday morning. The fire was easily extinguished with the use of chemicals. No damage was done.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, and when you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 357 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that; I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself as that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cure, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

1—Pain in the back.
2—Too frequent desire to urinate.
3—Burning or obstruction of urine.
4—Pain or soreness in the bladder.
5—Prostatic trouble.
6—Gas or pain in the stomach.
7—General debility, weak nerves, dizziness
8—Pain or soreness under right rib.
9—Swelling in any part of the body.
10—Constipation or liver trouble.
11—Pain or soreness in the small of the back.
12—Pain in the back of the head.
13—Pain or soreness in the kidneys.
14—Pain or swelling of the joints.
15—Pain or swelling of the muscles.
16—Pain and soreness in nerves.
17—Anemia or chronic rheumatism.

THE MORNING TIMES

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1911.

THE DISTURBER OF EUROPE.

There was a brief but very significant cablegram published a few days ago, says the Hamilton Herald. It was to this effect: A Vienna paper published an authoritative dispatch from its Berlin correspondent, stating that during the recent Anglo-German crisis, when the British and French bankers withdrew their credit from the German banks, the German bankers applied for aid to American bankers, who responded, after being assured that there would be no war, the assurance having been given as the result of a consultation by the German bankers with the German government.

This goes to show that the issue of peace or war was, and is, in Germany's hands. That power is the only great power that is preparing and planning for aggressive warfare. It was able to give an assurance to the bankers that there would be no war, for it was not ready—not just yet. The British government could have given no assurance. It is preparing for war—but for a defensive war. Its plans depend on those of the prospective enemy. Only the aggressor can fix the hour when the blow is to be struck. That Germany would have let loose the dogs of war last summer if the conditions had been propitious is certain. The Agadir expedition was intended for the purpose of testing the strength of the Anglo-French entente and ascertaining to what extent British patience could be imposed on. The firm attitude of the British cabinet convinced the German government that the psychical moment had not arrived and that war would have to be postponed to a more convenient season.

It cannot be deferred much longer. That huge army and expensive new navy, constantly growing in size and cost, must soon be put to the use for which they are designed. In spite of Hague tribunals and international peace societies and arbitration treaties, the blow will be struck soon, and it will come suddenly.

THE REWARD OF THRIFT.

"There is nothing more admirable than thrift, and there is nothing more pitiable than when the accumulations of thrift are pocketed by the rapacious harpies who prey upon the small investor," says the Economist (Eng.)

It is therefore not only desirable, but it is absolutely necessary that we should have some plan of investment under which we may by putting aside from week to week or month to month a portion of our earnings, make provision against the "Rainy Day," and this plan is afforded by the Canadian Government's Annuities Act, which was approved by Members of both Houses of Parliament. The benefits to be derived from the purchase of a Government Annuity as a means of making provision for old age are, it may be said, far more beautiful than those which may be derived from any other safe investment, and far greater than the people have any idea of, simply for the reason that with every payment of Annuity is returned a portion of the purchase money together with compound interest at 4 per cent. If the Annuitant lives the average number of years he may be expected to live according to mortality experience, he will receive back all that he paid in as well as the interest thereon. But this is not all, for should he survive this expectation the Annuity will not cease, but will go on until his death. It seems paradoxical that a man can use his principal without his income becoming less, but this is made possible under the Annuities System.

The age of five is the earliest age at which payments for the purchase of an Annuity may be begun, and the age of 55 has been fixed as the earliest age at which, except for invalidity or disability, an Annuity may begin, but the longer it is deferred the larger, of course, will be the amounts received. For example, the payment of $1 a week by a man of 25 until he is 55, would give him an Annuity from the latter age of $256.26, payable quarterly; while if he continued paying until he was 60, his Annuity would be $397.36. In either case, if he died before the date fixed for the Annuity to begin all his payments with compound interest at 3 per cent. would be refunded to his legal representatives. For a slightly increased payment the Annuity would be guaranteed for 10 years certain, or for life, whichever should be the longer. Everyone should apply for information in regard to this most provident system of saving—a system which if adopted, will bring as its reward an old age of Comfort, Happiness and Dignity. Literature descriptive of its features, and tables showing the cost on different plans, may be obtained at the Post Office or on application to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom letters go free of postage.

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so."

A PRINCELY OFFER

The following letter addressed to Mr. Samuel Gompers, President American Federation of Labor, by Mr. C. W. Post, Battle Creek, Mich., has been sent to The Times for publication. It speaks for itself:—

December 21, 1911.

Dear Sir,—Press reports indicate that you are greatly depressed and harassed by fear and the disrepute brought on your Federation.

The query has arisen whether you are big enough to sense the movement of a great Power which guides humanity, and to conclude that the time has arrived when "Labor" should be honestly represented instead of misrepresented.

If the thought of truthful and earnest effort has come, and you earnestly desire better conditions for the wage earners, may I tender to you an invitation to come out to Battle Creek for a conference with the President of the Trades and Workers Association, Mr. J. W. Bryce?

If you will permit it, your expenses will be paid from the time you leave Washington until you return.

You will be put up at the Sanitarium for a week or ten days' rest and freedom from worry, as a guest, either of the Association or of myself, as you prefer.

When rested, let us consider the new movement for the workingmen of America, enlisted under the banner of the National Trades & Workers Association, free from strikes, slugging, picketing, tyranny, fines, dynamiting and murder.

Belonging to the American Federation of Labor are hundreds of thousands of self-respecting and law-abiding workingmen who are members under pressure, and who deplore the tactics you and your associates have employed and forced upon them.

They want steady employment fifty-two weeks in the year and do not relish being forced by strikes into idleness pending the "negotiations" between crooked labor leaders seeking bribes, and crooked employers who hire said leaders to call strikes on competitive jobs, thus making the workingmen tools kept idle while the chiefs scrap for control or bribe money.

You will perhaps reject this proposal believing that strikes are a necessary weapon to preserve the rights of workingmen. But the new way has been in very successful operation over two years and found to have more power than the old way.

The honorable Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, The National Association of Stationary Engineers and the National Trades & Workers Association perfect trade agreements without strikes, secure the highest wages and yet preserve the respect and esteem of employers and of the members themselves.

Workingmen are roused to resentment from being forced to contribute from their hard-earned pay envelopes to defend known sluggers and murderers, and to being heavily fined for not obeying the orders of leaders when they know those leaders are simply using them to insure complete dominion over the daily lives of the American workingman.

He seeks to maintain his position as an honest, peaceful citizen, and not to be forced to affiliate with and support thugs and murderers.

Personally, I have only sincere and open denunciation for the past methods of you and your associates. Nevertheless, if you are ready to join in an earnest and truthful step forward for your members and will accept this invitation in the spirit in which it is given, you will be most welcome, and will be treated with the greatest consideration we are capable of, and in addition I will agree to contribute a quarter of a million dollars in cash to the new movement.

The Trades & Workers now have a splendid $400,000.00 home to care for their indigent members, and with the addition of the members of the American Federation of Labor and its endowment we can merit the support of the public, all working for the new day of peace with honor in the industrial field.

Yours very truly,
C. W. Post.

Passed 17th day of November, 1911.

WHEREAS The Peterborough Radial Railway Company has applied to the Council of the Township of North Monaghan for the franchise and right for a period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the public highway or road, which may be better known as "The Monaghan Road" extending Southerly from Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turn-outs and other appliances for the purposes of the said Railway, and the Council and Company have agreed on the terms and conditions on which in the opinion of the Council the said right should be given, which terms and conditions have been reduced to writing, and are fully set out herein, and it is necessary that the said terms and conditions and the period for which said right is to be granted should be submitted to the vote of the Electors of the Municipality in the manner provided in the Consolidated Municipal Act (1903) and the Ontario Railway Act 1906 with respect to By-laws requiring the assent of the Electors.

THEREFORE the Corporation of the Township of North Monaghan by the Council thereof, enacts as follows:

1. This By-law shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

2. The Council of the Township of North Monaghan are hereby authorized to enter into an Agreement with The Peterborough Radial Railway Company in the words and figures following, namely:

THIS AGREEMENT made in duplicate the 17th day of November, 1911, between THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTH MONAGHAN, hereinafter called the "Corporation," of the FIRST PART and THE PETERBOROUGH RADIAL RAILWAY COMPANY, hereinafter called the "Company," of the SECOND PART.

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto and dated the Fourteenth day of March, 1904, the Corporation did grant unto the Company a franchise and right for the period of thirty years, therein set forth, together with the exemption therein referred to, and

WHEREAS by Agreement made and entered into between the parties hereto, and dated the Nineteenth day of September, 1904, the Corporation did further grant unto the Company an extension of said Franchise to the Boundary Line running along the Western limit of the City of Peterborough from Charlotte Street to the Northern boundary of the Township of North Monaghan, and

WHEREAS the parties have further agreed to further extend the said Franchise from the north side of Charlotte Street southerly along the highway known as the Monaghan Road (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan), to the water's edge of the River Otonabee in the Township of North Monaghan.

1. WITNESSETH that the Corporation doth hereby upon and subject to the terms, provisoes and conditions hereinafter referred to and contained, and subject to the Special Statute incorporating the Company, and of the Sections of the Railway Act applying to the said Company, grant to the said Company the Franchise and right for the period of twenty-four years from the First day of July, 1910, to use the Public Highway or Road, which may be known as "The Monaghan Road" extending southerly from the north side of Charlotte Street, (and which Road constitutes the boundary between the City of Peterborough and the Township of North Monaghan) to the water's edge of the River Otonabee, in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of a Street Railway, including the right to place the necessary poles, wires, ties, rails, turnouts and other appliances thereon for the purpose aforesaid. Provided, however, that the rails shall be laid along the centre of the road allowance as far South as Cameron Street and that from the North side of Cameron Street South to the River Otonabee the rails shall be laid on the portion of the highway designated by the Township Council.

2. AND it is expressly declared and agreed by and between the parties hereto that wherever in this agreement the parties of the First Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Corporation, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns, and wherever in this agreement the parties of the Second Part are referred to under that designation, or as the Company, the same shall extend to and include as far as applicable their successors and assigns.

3. AND the Company do hereby covenant, promise and agree with the Corporation in manner following, that is to say:

4. THAT the propelling power of such railway will be horses, electricity, or any other power except steam as the Company wish to adopt and put in operation.

5. THAT the Company will lay the rails flush with the road, and so as to cause the least possible impediment to ordinary traffic, that the same will be laid in accordance with the existing level or grade of the road at the time of laying the same or as near thereto as is compatible with a proper execution of the work.

6. THAT the Company will so construct and maintain the railway that the same will not interfere with that the Company will maintain their roadbed between their rails and the water tables and drainage, and drivestrip in the same manner as the remainder of the Highway is maintained.

7. THAT the Corporation shall not be liable to the Company for any damage the Company may incur or sustain from the breakage of any sewer or water pipe or for any damage or delay that may be caused by the construction of sewers, laying of water pipes or repairing the same or from any delay that may be caused by freshets or fires.

THAT it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation to lay down or permit to be laid down in the road water pipes and gas pipes, and to alter and repair or permit to be altered and repaired the same respectively, and also subject to Section 5 hereof to grade, alter, improve and repair the road whenever public convenience may so require without cost or claim for damages against the Corporation for interruption or interference with the traffic of the Company or its railway.

9. THAT in case the Company shall refuse or on reasonable notice, neglect to do and perform any matter or thing required by the Franchise or contract thereunder to be done and performed by the Company the same matter or thing may be done by the Corporation and the cost thereof recovered from the Company.

11. THAT each car will be numbered and supplied with a gong to be sounded on approaching and crossing an intersecting street, or in case any person or vehicles shall appear on or near the track.

12. THAT the fares to be charged by the Company will be the same as those charged in the City of Peterborough, and the payment of fare upon any part of the line hereinbefore provided for will entitle the passenger to be carried to any part of the railway line in the City of Peterborough without additional fare.

13. IT shall be the duty of the Company when removing snow from its tracks to spread the same evenly upon the Highway so that the same will not injuriously affect the travel on that part of the Highway outside the Company's tracks.

14. SHOULD the Company forfeit its Franchise in the City of Peterborough the Township Council may declare this Franchise to be forfeited and cancelled.

15. IT is understood and agreed that the Company is to put the highway on each side of the track in as good a condition for general travel as the travelled part of the road was before the laying of the tracks.

Chest Inflammation

Suffered From a Heavy Cold, Pleuritic Pains in Side—Constant Coughing "NERVILINE" CURED QUICKLY

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Von Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh racking cough and severe pains darted through my sides and settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments, but none broke up my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

NERVILINE CURES CHEST COLDS

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large size bottles 50c, or sample size 25c. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

ABNER KINGMAN

Mr. Kingman of Montreal is by way of business a member of the big group of Canadian gentlemen who handle financial propositions, and is recognized as a successful and reliable business man. To the general public, he is, however, more widely known as one of the pillars of the Young Men's Christian Association, his active interest in which runs to a directorship of the International Organization, formed in 1854 in connection with the Associations of the United States and Canada. To Montreal belongs the honor of having opened the Y.M.C.A. movement in the Dominion. This was in 1851. Men of all faiths, even those with no religious professions whatever, are free to acknowledge the value of the good work being carried out by all departments of the body, and in connection with the effort in Montreal particularly, Mr. Kingman's name stands well to the front. He has been an active member from an early stage, and is looked upon not only as a conscientious worker, but as an able adviser in financial matters in which latter connection, his business capabilities admirably fit in.

ARCH. P. McKISHNIE

Mr. McKishnie, fiction Editor on the Canadian Century, Issued from Montreal, is one of Canada's young writers who turns out his stories in a fashion that attracts and holds the interest of his readers from the initial letter to the final word.

If you are by nature a lover of the woods, lakes and the wild things which inhabit them. If you have a good outdoor story or hunting yarn to spin, Archie P. McKishnie is your friend. The well known writer and author of Gaff Linkum and "Love of the Wild" is Canadian in birth and sentiment and comes of that grand old Scotch Ontarian stock about which Ralph Connor has written so many stories. You do not meet the real McKishnie when he is at his office desk or in his study — tho' to be sure his personality impresses you right away with visions of the open and the nature he knows and loves so well — but trail with him thro' the tangle of bush grown uplands in buff shirt and corduroy; paddle with him along placed, mountain hemmed lakes; or ley for drenching chilly hours in the reed blinds, and you will know McKishnie aright. The love of the wild games of the forest and marsh is his to impart to the ready listener, and McKishnie's camp soon receives his initiation into the Grand Lodge of the Open Spaces.

He is a practical man in wood wos: he knows his animals, reptiles, fish and birds at first hand. Nature selected him as one of the few to whom she reveals her secrets.

There is nothing conservative about him. Tho' his first love is the woods and the creatures of the wild, he has an open heart for kindred subjects, and is well informed upon topics other than that of nature. His numerous magazine stories show that he has a grasp on a wide range of subjects, while his next book will be illustrative of spheres far remotes from that of "the wild."

In some respects, China was to me the most interesting country I have ever had the pleasure of visiting. In their ancient civilization we find much that we could adopt with benefit, and still more that has been obsolete for centuries.

Ages ago China passed through some of the experiences that now interest or agitate our people. The controversies between capital and labor and the unequal distribution of wealth were problems in which they were concerned thousands of years ago. As a race they have encouraged industry, art, science and literature

Compared with some other people their integrity has been proverbial.

It was my good fortune, in 1902, to have the opportunity of seeing the different sections of China, as well as visiting the principal cities of Hong Kong, Canton, Thiensin, Pekin and other important places. A marked contrast is noticeable between that and our country.

During my sojourn in that country nine years ago I found the leading men greatly exercised concerning the threatened dismemberment of their country. Ostensibly for the purpose of obtaining spheres of commercial influence, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan had all acquired control of certain portions of Chinese territory, and it seemed only a question of time when their nation would disappear from the map of the world.

China owes her existence today partly to the fact that two of the aggressive powers became involved in war over a certain portion of her territory.

To realize how far the absorption of that country had extended, one needed only to visit Hong Kong and see the formidable fortification defending the entrance to the harbor—the powerful fleet of battleships, the palace of the governor general and the 5,000 trained, disciplined, veteran (English) troops, all under a foreign flag. Similar occupation could be observed in other parts of the empire.

For hundreds of years war and the military profession has been unpopular with the Chinese people. They abhor the first and if possible would always avoid the latter. Their army now consists of approximately 160,000 men, and the government has recently been endeavoring to increase this number to 350,000.

That great empire of 430,000,000 people is now quaking like the tremors of the earth. From the center to the remotest quarter of that vast territory a political convulsion and revolution is affecting all its conditions and attracting the attention of the world. What will be the result — how far reaching will be its influence, or to what extent it will affect the 400,000,000 of the human race in other countries of the orient, it is impossible now to determine.

GERMANY AGAIN AFTER TERRITORY

PARIS. — It is learned from an authoritative source that Germany is negotiating with Spain for the acquisition of territory in Rio Muni, or Spanish Guinea, where it is proposed to establish warehouses and factories. Rio Muni is in Western Equatorial Africa, between Kamerun and the Muni river. A German commission will be sent to Rio Muni shortly to engage in topographical work.

MADRID. — Prime Minister Canalejas denies the statement that Spain was about to sell her Guinea colony to Germany or any other power. He added that Spain was willing to use great moderation in her negotiations with France about Spanish vested rights and interests in Morocco.

CANADA FOR MANUFACTURERS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Hon. J. G. Henderson, commissioner of industries of Hamilton, Ont., declared "Annexation sentiment in Canada is absolutely nil," while addressing the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association convention on the subject, "Canada, the manufacturers' opportunity."

"As a budding nation our loyalty is intense and practical, and our position as one of the leaders of the Empire compels us to maintain our tariff wall," he asserted.

The speaker stated that Canada is a firm believer in the home market and that there was no possibility in the very near future of any reduction in duties placed on articles manufactured this side of the line.

Thoughts at 8 A. M.

I love to think of boyhood days when I
the turkeys fed.
I used to fix their breakfast food ere yet
the sky was red.
I used to dry shampoo the horse and massacre the cow.
I love to lie in bed and think I needn't do
it now.

I love to think of boyhood days when I rose at four
And fetched the water from the well, a hundred pails or more.
And then I dragged the harrow out and harrowed up the plow.
I love to lie in bed and think I needn't do
it now.

TEACHING THE DOG

The training of animals, to teach them to perform all sorts of entertaining tricks, is a task that requires talent on the part of the trainer, but, above all, demands patience and a thoroughly methodical procedure. Begin with the dog, and see how he is taught his tricks.

The first thing every dog must learn is his name. Select a short, sharp-sounding name, and stick to it. Never call him anything else. If you have several dogs, the name is taught on the same principle. Divide their food, and then, placing a piece on the ground call each in turn by his name, and give him the food when he comes for it. Send the others back if they come forward out of their turn. By and by they will learn that a certain name is always associated with a certain dog. Ramble among the dogs, and call out one of their names every now and then. If the right dog comes to you, reward him with a piece of cracker. Pay no attention to the other dogs. They will learn very soon; and the first great lesson — dependence and obedience — will have been learned.

Having taught a dog to fetch and carry — which he will easily learn — the next thing is to teach him to go and get any object called for. Place a glove on the floor; then say to the dog, "Fetch the glove," putting the accent on the last word. Then, when he has done this several times, place a shoe on the floor; and teach him to fetch this in a similar manner. Now place both objects on the ground, and teach him to fetch either one, as asked for —, rewarding him when he brings you the right one, and rebuking him when he fetches the wrong, which you take from him and replace. He will soon learn to distinguish the articles, when a third may be substituted, and so on until a number are on the floor. You should then go into the next room, taking the dog with you; and send him to fetch any article you mention. After a little time he will bring you the right one every time.

Similar methods can be adopted with regard to other articles and the letters of the alphabet.

The Retort Courteous.

Workers are, doubtless, they who shall inherit the earth. But certain indolent natures, gifted with wit, can afford to take occasional chances as ordinary legatees. A writer in Vanity Fair tells of one such fellow, a student in a noted philosopher's class.

The student, who was a lanky youth sat in the rear seat. His attitude was sprawling, and he was either asleep or resigned about to go to sleep.

"Mr. Fraser," said the philosopher sharply, "you may recite!"

Fraser opened his eyes. He did not change his somnolent pose.

"Mr. Fraser, what is work?"

"Everything is work."

"What! Everything is work?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then I take it you would like the class to believe that this desk is work."

"Yes, sir," wearily, "woodwork."

AN OCEAN ROMANCE ENDS IN TRAGEDY

New York, Dec. 21.—Driven from his bride by her family's threats to have him arrested because they declared she was too young to be a wife, Louis Segratta re-entered his own home in Williamsburg after a three-days' absence last night, and after firing ineffectively at his mother-in-law, and his wife's sister, wheeled in anger or desperation as his bride suddenly appeared, and shot her dead. Then Segratta turned the revolver on himself and inflicted mortal wounds.

The marriage of Miss Winnifred Heron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heron, Ottawa, and the granddaughter of the late Mr. Gordon Brown, Toronto, to Dr. Phillip Weatherbe, of Halifax, N.S., took place very quietly yesterday at Grace Church, Deer Park, from the residence of Mr. Edward B. Brown, K.C., uncle of the bride.

RUBY MINES AT DISCOUNT

Nature's Secret of Precious Stone Manufacture Said to Have Been Laid Bare and Big Slump in Prices is Promised.

Attempts to manufacture diamonds in the laboratory have drawn the attention of the public from time to time, notably in connection with a recent lawsuit. The rich harvest which awaits the successful and not too scrupulous experimenter, and the extraordinary political consequences which must follow upon any sudden collapse of the diamond market and of the diamond mining industry, are absolutely startling to think of; certainly both rewards and consequences would be out of all proportion to the scientific value of the achievement. Yet there is reason to believe that before many years have passed the "synthetic diamond" may be as much a reality as the synthetic ruby is today. But the public will not be allowed to hear of the discovery at once — the process will be kept secret as long as possible in order to maintain high prices — and it is pretty safe to prophecy that ten times as many swindles will be perpetrated with the synthetic diamond as there have been with the synthetic ruby. Even yet, although the industry has been in full swing for several years, and all the essential points of the process are known, the general public has not awakened to the fact that rubies of the finest quality and of the purest "pigeon's blood" colour, as well as sapphires, spinelles, and chrysoberyls, are being turned out in quantity from several laboratories in France and Germany. It is extremely difficult to get people to understand that these products are not imitation rubies — they are quite different from the red "paste" which masquerades as ruby in the cheaper sorts of jewellery. The new products are real rubies in every sense of the term, but they have been made by man, not by nature.

APPLES OF GOLD IN TASMANIA

Great Apple-Growing Centre Opening Up in Australia and Orchard-Owners on this Continent Will Have to Keep Awake.

Recent enlightenment has shown that Tasmania, which is one of the States of the Commonwealth, has a considerable area of splendid land suitable for agriculture and fruit-growing situated in the Great Tamar Valley, near the city of Launceston. This Tamar Valley is destined, in a few years, to be more famed for the production of apples than Oregon and Washington, or the Pacific slopes of U.S.A. Cox's "apples of gold" from this district, are among the choicest fruits, and have been selling in Great Britain recently at over $5.00 per bushel case, after over 12,000 miles in cool storage.

The River Tamar extends over 36 miles; in parts it is two miles wide, and is a great attraction for pleasure seekers. Some of the land here has recently been sold at low figures, but prices are rising owing to the greater knowledge of its value as fruit land. This locality has originally been settled by hardy pioneers from the River Tamar and the town of Launceston in Cornwall, England, from which places the local names have been derived. The climate has plenty of sunshine and no great extremes; in fact, it may be summed up in one word, "ideal"; also the rainfall is from 30 to 35 inches per annum.

The land is being readily taken up by settlers from the various countries of Great Britain, Canada, India, and other parts.

Cross-Firing

Many are the stories told of "Bobs." Here is one of the best (says a "Daily News" writer), although I do not vouch for its accuracy. He was watching the firing at Bisley and noticed two or three errors on the part of the markers. So he went to the telephone and rang up the officer in charge. "The marking is very bad," he observed. "It's the best you'll get," retorted the officer. "Do you know who I am?" sternly demanded Lord Roberts. "No, I don't." "I am Lord Roberts." "Well, I am Lord Wolseley," came the reply. Lord Roberts loves a joke, but how he took this one is not recorded.

Have decided to mine a large quantity of the Very Rich Ore shown up by recent developing work, and also intend to erect a mill to crush from 20 to 25 tons a day. This will enable the Company to pay dividends next summer. In order to provide funds for this purpose the Company now offer the balance of the 50,000 shares offered to the public in the Prospectus dated 26th day of September, 1910, filed with the Provincial Secretary, Sept. 27th, 1910. These shares are now selling at $1.25 per share until Nov. 25th. They will then advance to $1.50 per share. They will continue to advance in price as developing work proceeds. Assays got from this property run from $22.00 in gold per ton to $86,240.40 (eighty-six thousand two hundred and forty dollars and forty cents). Part of the machinery is now at the mine—the balance will be taken in on the snow roads this winter.

The Golden Rose Mine is forty miles from Markstay Station by winter roads, and in summer it is reached by boat from Temagami Station on T. & N. O. Ry.

WHEN LINCOLN WAS SHOT.

Booth, Taking Advantage of Guard's Temporary Neglect, Rushed Through the Box Entrance and Accomplished His Deed.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln and their party sat down in their box at Ford's Theatre the fateful night the President was shot, the guard who was acting as substitute for Col. McCook, took his position at the rear of the box, close to an entrance leading into the box from the dress circle of the theatre. His orders were to stand there, fully armed, and to permit no unauthorized person to pass into the box. His orders were to stand there and protect the President at all hazards. From the spot where he was thus stationed, this guard could not see the stage or the actors: but he could hear the words the actors spoke, and he became so interested in them that, incredible as it may seem, he quietly deserted his post of duty, and, walking down the dimly lighted aisle, deliberately took a seat in the last row of the dress circle It was while the President was thus absolutely unprotected through this guard's amazing recklessness—to use no stronger words—that Booth rushed through the entrance to the box, just deserted by the guard, and accomplished his foul deed. Realization of his part in the assassination so preyed upon the mind of the guard that he finally died as a result of it.

The fire department received a call to 111 Stewart street yesterday morning. The trouble was a chimney fire and no damage was done.

ILLUSTRATION OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

The United States Government is Running Department Stores, Hotels and a Steamship Line in Panama.

The United States government, as everybody knows, is engaged in building as a public enterprise, a canal across the Isthmus of Panama. What the world does not generally understand is that as part of this operation the government is also running lines of railway, a Departmental store, hotels and a steamship line. At this government departmental store it is possible to buy almost everything, including ladies' patent leather shoes, briar pipes, teething rings for babies, sugared almonds etc. No less than fifteen hotels are operated, besides 18 mess halls. During one month these places served nearly 1,000,000 meals all told.

This has led a writer to suggest the possibility of the United States government developing Alaska by means of railways operated by the government itself

Does not what has been accomplished suggest something more—the possibility of solving the trust problem by means of public ownership? It seems futile to talk of going back to the old days of small industries and free competition. The economy in large operations is something the public will not readily consent to surrender. Neither does it seem altogether easy to solve the problem by public control of corporations. The only easy way out would seem to be going the whole length and providing for public operation, something which does not, in view of what is being accomplished in Panama, appear so very difficult after all.

Creeps like a Serpent

Catarrh is an insidious disease, scarcely noticeable at first, but horribly relentless if not checked. No disease makes such inroads into weak constitutions as Catarrh. It spreads from the place of beginning to the lungs, bronchial tubes, stomach, intestines, and before long all the organs of the body are affected.

A splendid remedy, attended with remarkable success in curing Catarrh has lately come prominently to the front. Its name is Catarrhozone, and no case is recorded where it failed to quickly relieve and cure.

The strong points about Catarrhozone are that it is both a local and constitutional treatment. It not only affords quick relief to the local symptoms, but also purifies the blood of all Catarrhal poisons, builds up and strengthens the system.

Catarrhozone Inhaler supplies an abundance of medicated air which is breathed in at the mouth, and after passing through every air cell and air passage of the breathing organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

This penetrating, volatile antiseptic at once kills the germs that cause Catarrh, and prevents the disease spreading when once established. It is so healing and soothing that the inflamed membranes, and sore spots are restored to normal and healthy condition in a few days.

Catarrhozone cleanses the nose and throat and keeps them entirely free of mucous discharge. It prevents dropping in the throat, cures headache and makes breathing easy and the breath pure and sweet.

To build up and invigorate the system, a blood purifier and tonic called Ferrozone should be taken after each meal. In conjunction with Catarrhozone it is a valuable aid in establishing such a healthy condition of the body that Catarrh cannot exist.

Other remedies have been known to give relief, but to permanently eradicate every trace of Catarrh you must use Catarrhozone. It is a commonsense, convenient, clean method of cure that is endorsed by the profession.

You are sure to be benefited quickly and positively cured by Catarrhozone. The complete outfit costs only $1.00. Trial size, 25c. Sold by Druggists, and The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

W. H. BRADBURN FOR MAYOR

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been nominated for the office of Mayor of the City of Peterborough, I solicit your votes and your influence to elect me to that position.

As an owner of property and a heavy tax payer, I am deeply interested in the welfare of the city and if elected will endeavor to keep the expenditure down to the lowest point consistent with good service.

I will advocate a policy of progress. We have a good city and its advancement should continue. I will give of my own time to assist in securing manufacturing industries.

For this purpose and to secure light and power for the citizens at the lowest cost, I believe we should if practicable, have electric energy owned and controlled by the city and should accept the assistance of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario to procure it.

The inconvenience caused by there not being a bridge over the river south of Hunter street is so considerable that a bridge should be placed at a point at or near Sherbrooke and Maria streets, and by having a new bridge built at Hunter street by the city, the Government and the Street Railway, and the present Hunter street bridge moved further south to Sherbrooke street, a saving can be made and the extension of the street railway to the East Ward secured. It should be accomplished in that way.

In street work, steps should be taken to improve our streets along permanent lines, as the traffic on many is so heavy that the maintenance of ordinary roadways on them is expensive.

The appointment of a permanent assessor should receive consideration, as with an assessor giving his whole time to the work a more equitable assessment should be secured.

Anything that will advance the interests of the city and the ratepayers will receive my best attention, and having been in the Council during the past five years, and in touch with the business, I believe, I can give you good as well as faithful service.

I am, Ladies and Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

W. H. BRADBURN.

COMPANY IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

The Company was incorporated in 1906, and has made steady progress. Their Real Estate holdings are chiefly in and around Calgary and will so continue, but latterly they have been paying a little attention to Saskatoon, where such remarkable progress is being made. It will be the policy of the Company to purchase judiciously in and near Towns and Cities which have passed the uncertain stage of development and whose future is assured. The Company, with its expert knowledge of values is better able to handle such business than any individual, however well equipped he may be for the work.

While the Company has been, and will continue to be, conservative in the matter of dividends, it would appear probable that before very long a distribution of Assets, either in the shape of a Stock Bonus or substantial Cash Dividend, might be made. If not, however, the Shareholders will still benefit by holding a security of constantly increasing value, which will be reflected in the market price of the stock.

The remarkable progress of the City of Calgary is perhaps without precedent in Canada. Building permits issued during the ten months ended 31st October, 1911, reached the enormous total of $11,664,138.00.

HIGHER DIVIDEND PROSPECTS

Mr. H. A. MacLean, President of the Company, in a letter dated 15th November, 1911, makes the following reference to Dividend and Reserve Fund: "While I can say nothing official at this time, I may mention that at the Company's Annual Meeting, following its year-end at 31st December, it is my intention to recommend that the Dividend for 1911 be declared at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, which will be an advance of 1 per cent. over the Dividend for 1910. I consider it safe to say in this connection, also, that the Dividend for 1912 will be at the rate of 12 per cent.

"The Asset and Liability Return covering the ten months ended 31st October shows, after allowing for all expenses and outlays of every kind, except the 1911 Dividend, a surplus of Assets over Liabilities of $311,736.72. The 1911 Dividend will amount to approximately $40,000.00, leaving a net surplus of approximately $271,736.72, equal to 90 per cent. of the Company's paid-up Capital. This amount may be fairly considered as a Reserve fund in its present shape, and the Company might continue with safety along its present lines. It is my intention, however, at the approaching Annual Meeting, to propose that a portion equal to 25 per cent. of the Real Estate forming this surplus, be set aside, and advantageously sold—the proceeds of such sale to be invested in high grade listed Railroad Bonds, yielding the Company about 5 per cent. This operation, repeated from year to year, will give the Company a reserve fund of pretty much the same nature as is carried by the Banks and other conservatively managed institutions."

COMPANY'S DIVIDEND RECORD

The Company has paid Dividends every year since its incorporation as follows:

1907.....6 per cent.
1908.....8 per cent.
1909.....9 per cent.
1910.....10 per cent.

FINANCIAL POSITION STRONG

The Company's statement of assets and liabilities as of October 31st, 1911, attested to by Messrs. Webb, Read & Hegan, appears in full in the prospectus. It shows the value of the Company's real estate and buildings, as valued by Mr. V. J. L. Eccles, to stand at $584,111, and balances of profit and loss account $311,736. Of the Company's authorized capital of $1,000,000, $388,380 is subscribed, $301,857.50 of which is paid up, leaving $86,522.50 of unmatured and unpaid calls.

Inquiries as to the Company's standing and the integrity and ability of the directors (of whom the President, Managing Director and Secretary-Treasurer devote their time exclusively to the Company's business) may be made of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Montreal.

It is the intention to make application in due course to have the stock listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Copies of prospectus and application forms for shares may be obtained from the undersigned, and in cases where the request for application forms states the number of shares desired it will be considered that application has been received at that date. The right is reserved, however, to allot a smaller number of shares than applied for.

By J. W. BROWETT, OPTOMETRIST.
Q. Why is it that Glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?
A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is to-day; only old persons or those near-sighted wore Glasses. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q. Why is it that cheap Glasses do not give satisfaction?
A. Cheap Glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is, brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

VOL XXXIV NO 292 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, DECEMBER 25 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to the Readers of The Times

MR. G. N. GORDON SHOULD BE ELECTED TO COUNCIL

G. N. Gordon, who is running for alderman in the Centre Ward, for ex-Ald. Bradburn's unexpired term, is a well known and popular citizen. Without saying anything against Mr. Morrow or against Mr. Langford, we feel that Mr. Gordon out of this field should be elected alderman.

He is a young man who is well-known as a successful lawyer and who is a public speaker of very great ability as well as a man of sound judgment and with a clear insight into all public questions. He has shown himself capable of grappling with large questions and of successfully dealing with them. For the last six or eight years he has shown wonderful development and ability as a lawyer, and the City of Peterborough could elect no man who would be more useful in the Council than G. N. Gordon. Next year the power question must be disposed of, and we are pleased to say that Mr. Gordon's attitude on this question is entirely satisfactory to us. He says that he has an engineer's opinion upon it that power should be obtained in Peterborough for manufacturing purposes at $14.00 a horse power instead of $20.00, the present price, and that the rates for lighting of stores and houses could be practically cut in two. If the City could secure cheaper prices from the Hydro-Electric Commission than could be given from other sources, he believes in dealing with those from whom we could get the cheapest prices and not be tied to a monopoly.

Mr. Gordon states that if he is elected alderman, that he will have it announced thfough the press every two weeks the report of the Medical Health Officer showing the names and amounts of butter fat contained in licensed to sell in the city. This is the milk sold by every milk dealer a move in the right direction for it will show whether we are getting what we pay for or not.

It is a well known fact that Mr. Gordon is a Protestant and a member of the George street Methodist congregation. He is also well known for his temperance stand, is a total abstainer and a much respected citizen.

Considering everything, there is no stronger man running for the Council than Mr. Gordon, and we urge the electors to make a wise move and elect him to fill ex-Alderman Bradburn's chair for 1912. His running has nothing to do with the campaign of G. A. Gillespie and Joseph Metheral who are on the ticket for a two year term, while Mr. Gordon is a candidate for ex-Alderman Bradburn's unexpired term.

THE POWER QUESTION

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The experience that has been obtained by municipalities procuring electric power through the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission shows that this is a satisfactory way for a municipality to obtain power.

The Managing Engineer of the Toronto Civic System says in a letter: "In a general way, it may be said that the advent of the Toronto Hydro-Electric system has reduced the price of power in Toronto 30 to 40 per cent. already and has greatly stimulated the use of electricity." The Telegram has estimated that the saving amounts to $50,000 00 per annum.

The Secretary Treasurer of the Woodstock Water and Light System says:—"Regarding your enquiry of the 8th inst., we beg to say that the introduction of Niagara power into our city has reduced the cost of power to users 25 to 30 per cent., and has also resulted in a slight reduction in the cost of light which we expect will be further reduced very shortly."

The City Clerk of Hamilton says that the system in Hamilton is in its infancy, but one effect it had was the reduction of street lighting rates when it first suggested to take Hydro-Electric power. The price of street lighting was reduced from $62.50 to $47.50 per lamp per annum."

The General Superintendent of the London system says: "The effect of the introduction of Hydro-Electric power has been the cutting in two of residence lighting rates from 9c to 4½c net, also no meter rent is charged as against 25c per month previously. The power rates have been reduced to such an extent that a yearly horse power can be purchased on the 10 hour basis as low as $21.-60 per h.p. As a consequence while the old company had a minimum of about 2700 consumers connected, the City of London has connected in about 9 months operation, 3000 consumers, with 4400 contracts signed. There is no doubt, however, that at the end of the present year 5000 consumers will be reaping the advantage of municipal ownership as regards cheap power. In consequence of cheap power there is an increased demand and this again cheapen power."

The Secretary of the Preston Light and Water Commission writes:—"The introduction of Hydro-Electric power in our town has cheapened the lighting rates considerably. In many cases the bills of the larger consumers have been cut in two, and bills have been reduced in almost every instance."

The town Clerk of Galt says:—"We took over the street lighting on the 1st of April last and the private lighting on the first of June. Since the last mentioned date monthly statements have been furnished by the Commission having the lighting in charge and which go to show that the average price per kilowatt has been about cheaper against twelve hours' current by the private company. Power users, prior a discount of 10 per cent. is allowed for prompt payment."

The secretary of the Light and Heat Commission of Stratford writes:—"Our Commission have just issued a statement for the eleven months of this year (or to 30th Nov. 1911) which shows that we have reduced the rates for light and power supplied to our customers by an average of more than 25 per cent. from 1st March, 1911, at which time the new rates came into effect."

The secretary of the Board of Light and Heat Commissioners of Guelph writes:—"The Hydro-Electric Power Commission so far have done more than they promised, and the service since last March has been excellent. The effect it has had on the rates so far as we are concerned is that they were reduced at the beginning of the year 10 per cent., and we expect to make a further reduction at the beginning of next year about 20 per cent. this is for lighting. The street lighting has been rearranged, and instead of having 100 old out of date arc lamps, we have at the present time 1000 80 c.p. Tungsten lamps installed, and everybody seems to be well pleased. The cost to the City will be approximately ten or eleven dollars per lamp per annum, all night and every night service. The power you may judge the satisfaction it is giving, when a year ago we had only about 50 h.p., to-day we have 2600 h.p., in motors installed and over 1000 h.p. actual business per hour (10 hour)."

The City Treasurer of Ottawa has furnished reports of the Ottawa Municipal Electric Commission. These show that the operation of the city's plant with power supplied by the Hydro-Electric Commission resulted in a reduction at once of 50 per cent. in the price of light, $15.00 per h.p. per year in the price of power and $20.00 per lamp in street lighting. The net profit in the operation of the plant, after paying interest and sinking fund, which was transferred to capital account for depreciation and extensions, improvements, etc., amounted in three years, 1908, 1909, and 1910 to $65,153.94.

The Ontario Commission commenced operations with fourteen municipalities as its customers and a demand for 26,000 horse power. Now it has 34 such customers and a sale of 38,000 horse power. On January 1st, 26 municipalities will vote on by-laws authorizing their councils to make contracts. The system has been so successful that municipalities are moving in all parts of the Province to take advantage of it.

The ratepayers have nothing to lose and may gain much by voting in favor of obtaining power from the Commission.

NINE KILLED IN A WRECK

Frightful List of Casualties Reported on the Seaboard Air Line, Near Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 23.—Derailment of a train on the Seaboard Air Line at Gloster, 35 miles northeast of Atlanta, resulted, it is said, today, in the injury of 41 persons. Nine are believed to be fatally hurt. The wreck occurred last night. Wires to the derailment scene were torn down.

The train which left Atlanta at 8.35 o'clock for Washington, was going 40 miles an hour when near Gloster Station struck a broken rail.

The engine and several cars went over safely, but a Pullman sleeper and one first-class passenger car went into a ditch.

One woman has been taken to the hospital and several passengers hospital and several of the passengers fainted.

COAL PIT WAS FLOODED

Miners Had Narrow Escape

WOULD BE MIGHTY EASY TO GET TANGLED UP

The City Council of Toronto went into the municipal power business. They voted two million dollars towards the hydro-electric scheme, and most ratepayers who voted for it, thought that this would be sufficient to complete the project. Next week, however, the rate payers are to vote on a by-law to raise another two million dollars to complete the system. Peterborough should be careful not to get tangled up in a similar proposition.

And they ARE liable to get well tangled up in a similar proposition, if they pass the by-law that is before the ratepayers at the present time. For it must be borne in mind, that if this by-law is carried on Thursday next, the power question is completely out of the ratepayers' hands. The City Council may, or may not, as they choose, come back for the approval of any contract they may enter into with the Hydro-Electric Commission.

This was, no doubt, one of the reasons why the town of Lindsay turned down a similar by-law. Furthermore, it must be remembered that the town of Lindsay is not as fortunately situated in the matter of electric power as is the city of Peterborough to-day. There is at Lindsay scarcely any surplus power available, while there is in Peterborough to-day 3,500 h.p. developed and unused. But the City Council has never asked for a price on a block of this unused power.

It would not have been necessary to have a by-law passed by the ratepayers granting authority to the City Council to ask the Peterborough Light & Power Company for a block of this power.

The Council feels, however, that it is necessary to have a by-law passed granting them permission to negotiate with the Hydro-Electric Commission.

The fact of the matter is that the passing of this by-law grants more than merely authority to negotiate for power. As has already been pointed out in these columns, if the by-law is carried the City Council can go ahead and tie the City up to a proposition that may involve an expenditure of $500,-000.

One of the gentlemen offering himself for office as a member of the City Council asserts that he understands that the town of Campbellford with a civic plant is offering power at $15.00 per h.p. Has he taken the trouble to find out what it is costing the town of Campbellford to develop their power? If the town of Campbellford, or for that matter any other municipality, desires to offer power to manufacturers for less than it costs to develop it, that is their own business. Incidentally it might be mentioned that Campbellford secured ownership of a dam outright at an annual rental of only $1.00 per year. The Town of Campbellford secured this dam while Peterborough's City Council was sleeping. Can the City of Peterborough now secure water privileges at any dam on the Trent Canal for an annual rental of $1.00 per year?

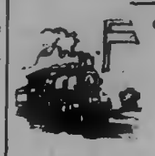
As a matter of fact, the City of Peterborough cannot secure a municipal plant for an expenditure of less than $500,000.

An addition of $500,000 to the debenture debt of Peterborough would mean an addition to our taxes of upwards of $40,000 per year. The passing of the power by-law simply means handing over to the City Council authority to load on to the ratepayers an expenditure of half a million dollars.

The passing of the power by-law means increased taxation. Our taxes are already too high. Those who have to pay them know this to their sorrow.

GRAIN ROUTE IS INSPECTED

C.P.R. New Line is now Ready for Business



OR some days the new C. P. R. Georgian Bay line which passes through Peterborough, has practically been completed and ready for work. A few days ago an engineer of the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners has inspected the line from Coldwater Jct. to Bethany Jct., 88 miles, and forming the connecting link between Peterborough and the east, and Port Nicholl, the C.P.R.'s new Georgian Bay terminus and port. The road will be opened for traffic in a few days. The branch from Coldwater Jct. to Port McNicholl, a distance of about 14 miles, has been open for some time.

The new road runs in a southeasterly direction from Coldwater Jct. on the C.P.R. line from Toronto to Sudbury, to Bethany Jct which is 12 miles west of Peterborough on the main line between Montreal and Windsor. Between Port McNicholl and Bethany Jct. there are twelve stations, as follows, with mileage:—Fesserton, 8.7; Coldwater, 12.5; Uhthoff, 19; Orillia, 27.25; Brechin, 40; Eldon, 49; Balsam Lake, 53; Grass Hill 61; Lindsay, 70; Reaboro, 75; Franklin, 82; Bethany, 86; Bethany Jct., 88. The two main towns served by the road will be Orillia and Lindsay.

The construction of this road was commenced about a year ago. The maximum grade is four-tenths of one per cent.

MR. MATTHEWS' ADDRESS

Chairman of the Water Commissioners Re-Elected.

Owing to the crowded state of our columns on Saturday, we were unable to make room for the address of Mr. T. F. Matthews, chairman of the Board of Water Commissioners. In thanking the ratepayers for electing him by acclamation, he said:

I wish to thank the mover and seconder of my nomination as Water Commissioner for 1912, and in doing so, to take this opportunity of making a few remarks:

First of all, I desire to express the regret of the Commissioners, owing to the death of our late Superintendent, Mr. W. Henderson. Those of us who knew him best were aware of his sterling character, of his fidelity to the work of the city entrusted to him, and of his ability to carry on such work to satisfactory completion.

It may not be out of place to mention that I have served the city for ten years, having been first elected in 1902. During that time, I, with the other Commissioners, have endeavoured to progressively manage the waterworks department for the city, and in any work we have undertaken, have endeavoured to look forward to and plan for a greater Peterborough. The following comparisons may be interesting:

Mileage of Street Mains—1902, 17.61; 1911, 36.47; increase 18.86—per cent. 107.0.

Number of Hydrants—1902, 129; 1911, 246; increase 117; per cent. 90.8.

Number of Services—1902, 1,070; 1911, 2,222; increase, 2,152—per cent 201.0.

Net Revenue—1902, $22,957.58; 1911, $43,300.41; increase, $20,342.-83—per cent. 88.6. (Estimated.)

Debenture Debt—1902, $337,000.00; 1911, $462,000.00.

During the ten years water rates to the consumers have been reduced more than 33 1.3 per cent., as compared with the rates charged by the Water Company. The hydrant rental to the city has been reduced from $36.00 per hydrant per year, to $27.-50 or 21½ per cent.

In addition to supplying water at a reduced rate, the water Commissioners have paid to the City Trust Commissioners $66,445.90, as a sinking fund, to be used in retiring debentures, as they become due. The amount paid for interest on debentures during 1911 was $18,197.70, and to the sinking fund $9,370.23.

The cost of the new dam, pumping machinery and connections, including land purchased, amounts to $139,158.43. In addition, we have spent on a wing wall on the east side of the river, about $5,000.00. I cannot give you the exact amount, as final settlement with Mr. Conroy contractor, has not been made.

I believe the city has reason to be proud of its water works system. The advice of the late engineer, together with other eminent engineers, has been followed, and we have now a pumping plant that will answer

The action of the Commissioners in building a new dam, and their statements, respecting the available power, are now vindicated, as the Canadian General Electric are about to generate more than 1,200 h.p. in addition to the power required for the water works system. In a few weeks it is expected that all work will be completed, when we will be pleased to invite the Mayor, Council and citizens, generally, to look over their property.

W. H. BRADBURN, MAYOR OF PETERBOROUGH FOR 1912 BY ACCLAMATION

J. J. HARTLEY WITHDRAWS FROM MAYORALITY CONTEST.

Competition in Each of the Wards Except Number Five for Aldermanic Seats—Ex-Aldermen Gillespie, H. J. Johnston and Jos. Duffus Again in the Field.

At 9 o'clock Saturday night, the time limit for qualifying, Mr. J. J. Hartley had not signed the declaration of qualification as a candidate for the mayoralty, hence, Ald W. H. Bradburn the only other candidate in the field, will be Peterborough's Mayor for 1912.

Five Aldermen are to be elected on January 1st—one each for the North, South, and West Wards, and two for the Centre Ward. In the East Ald. Anderson deservedly enjoys the distinction (unusual in this city) of having been returned by acclamation. The candidates who have qualified, and whose names will consequently go before the electors, are as follows:

SOUTH WARD—Ald. Buller and Jas. Garside.

CENTRE WARD—For regular term, Ex-Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie and Ald. Metheral. For Ald. Bradburn's unexpired term, G. N. Gordon and W. G. Morrow. The latter gentleman it must be understood, is not Mayor W. G. Morrow, although enjoying the same name.

WEST WARD—Joseph Duffus, Ald. Edgar and H. C. Hill.

NORTH WARD—W. J. Johnston and Wm. Langford, Jr.

PUBLIC OPINION

MR. WM. LANGFORD'S OPINION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The opponents of Municipal electric power have tried to raise a bugaboo on the point that a favorable vote on the Hydro-Electric question on January 1st will give the Council authority to enter into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario next year or some succeeding year.

I say this is a bugaboo, and for two reasons, either one of which is in itself sufficient.

If a favorable vote is recorded on the question whether the ratepayers wish the City to procure power from the Hydro-Electric Commission, the Commission will proceed with the necessary steps to prepare estimates and submit the terms of a contract. If these are considered of advantage to the City, a by-law must be submitted to the electors and receive their approval before money can be borrowed by the City for the distribution system and other plant it will require. The vote on January 1st will not give authority to the Council to borrow money on debentures or for a term of years; a By-law for that purpose would have to be submitted later.

That of itself is sufficient. But what are these opponents of Municipal power afraid of? To whose interest would it be to make an improvident bargain? The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission has no interest to serve other than the interests of the people. It would not be of any advantage to the Commission or any member of it to have the City make a contract with it that would be disadvantageous to the ratepayers. The Commission and the Council have in this matter, only one interest to serve,—that of the ratepayers.

If it were a company that the City proposed to deal with, the matter would be different. The company would desire to make gain by dealing with the City and would endeavor to make a bargain that would give them the largest profit obtainable. Not so with the Commission. They gain nothing; they make no profit for the Commission or any other person. They offer their services to the City, with all their power, experience and capable engineers, to enable the City to procure power and equip a distribution system. If they cannot help the City to its advantage, then neither the Commission or any council would have any possible reason for going on.

The personal and corporate interests are all on the other side. It is to their interests to keep the City and the citizens from procuring their own power and light, and while others may be made timorous by bugaboos they are the ones who set them up to try to frighten the people from taking a step that will aid themselves.

Peterborough should have its own power and light; and the ratepayers should endorse the request to the Hydro-Electric Commission to give its capable and powerful assistance.

Yours truly,
Wm. Langford.

Permanent War-Paint.

The new football rule making it imperative for a goalkeeper to wear a distinguishing jersey led to an amusing incident at a junior match in the Midlands recently.

When the visiting team came on the field their goalkeeper, a youth of gigantic proportions, was seen to be wearing a jersey of the same flaring colours as the rest of the side.

"You must get another jersey," ordered the referee, and the player trotted back to the pavilion.

Back he came in five minutes, still wearing the offending garment. "There ain't another jersey in the place half big enough," he explained.

"Then you'll have to play without one," snapped the autocrat of the whistle, whose temper was not sweetened by waiting about in a cold drizzle.

When the young giant once more reappeared on the field with his team's colours still in evidence, the patience of the official quite gave way.

"If you don't change that jersey I'll order you off the field!" he bellowed.

"I ain't got no jersey on, mister," came the reply. "I've been wearin' the blessed thing as an undershirt all the week, and the bloomin' dye's come out!"

BUILDING OF A NEW DAM

Elephant Butte Dam, Biggest in America, to Reclaim Rio Grande Valley — "The Land of Lost Hopes."

Engle, New Mexico. — Here, in this land once known as "The Land of Lost Hopes," the United States government is building what will be, excepting the Assuan dam in Egypt, the biggest irrigation dam in the world. Certainly it will be the biggest in the new world.

This dam, known as the "Elephant Butte," will convert the Land of Lost Hopes into the smiling land of fertile well-watered fields that it was 300 years ago.

For the upper valley of the Rio Grande Del Norte wasn't always the arid waste that it is now. Time was when this country was covered with the crude but effective ditches of pioneer Mexican agriculturists and green with their gardens and vineyards.

But that was when the Rio Grande was an all-year-round river. That was before the folks of the Colorado valleys, where the Rio Grande has its sources, had begun to impound water on their own account.

Since 1886 the Rio Grande is as dry as a bone.

The dam will be 1400 feet long, 185 feet wide at bed rock and 265 feet high. It will take 410,000 cubic yards of concrete to build it, and it will take 350,000 barrels of cement to make the concrete.

The work is now well under way it is the biggest irrigation enterprise now being pushed by the United States and perhaps the biggest engineering job it has on its hands, excepting the Panama canal.

FORTUNE FROM A SHOVEL

The Shovel Used by Navvies on Canadian Road Making an Invention of a Labourer in England.

The simplest labour-saving device may quite possibly be worth a fortune. Eighty-nine years ago a number of men were at work on the road-bed of a line of railway in course of construction between Birmingham and Manchester, England. They were cutting through a hill and moving the material by loosening it with picks, shovelling it into barrows, and wheeling it away. The shovels they were using were known as Irish shovels, with a square-cornered blade about 15 in. long. The work progressed but slowly, and the sub-contractor in charge rebuked his workmen for not making quicker progress. One of them replied that if he would grind off the corners of the shovels it would be easier to get them into the earth, and consequently they would be able to work more quickly.

The contractor ridiculed the idea, which he considered a piece of insolence on the part of the workman, but the navvy was quite in earnest and not easily discouraged. When the work was completed he discussed the matter with a friend of his at Sheffield, who persuaded an ironmonger he knew to make a dozen or so as an experiment. The tools were offered to a large contractor, who promised to let some of his men use the new shovels and report results.

About a week afterwards the contractor returned with the information that his men were fairly quarrelling as to who should use the new tools, some arriving to work a quarter of an hour before time in order to be there first when the tool-box was opened. The navvy's suggestion had proved a good one; a patent was secured, and an agreement made between the navvy, the manufacturer, and the contractor. When the navvy died he left a fortune of over $135,000 the proceeds from royalties on the manufacture of shovels under his patent.

FAMOUS SNUFF-TAKERS

The eighteenth century was the age of snuff-taking "par excellence." The custom was general among all classes of people, it was an act of politeness for well-bred men to offer their snuff-boxes to well-bred women. Women themselves carried their own boxes and interchanged pinches with the gentlemen and in Canada it was fashionable amongst the officials.

At fashionable dinner-parties after the cloth was removed snuff-boxes were passed around. Pope and Bolingbroke, Swift and Congreve, Addison and Steele, all indulged in the pleasure. Dr. Johnson carried his snuff in the capacious pockets of his waistcoat, and would convey it to his nose without stint. He could not abide the narrow confines of a box. Frederick the Great resembled him in this respect. Both Napoleon and Wellington were prodigious snuff-takers, but Washington indulged only moderately. Jefferson was fond of snuff, as his waistcoat and frill often showed. Henry Clay was another famous snuff-taker, and often needed the stimulus of a pinch when making a speech.

HOW THE BLIND READS

The Method Was Brought About By An Act of Charity on the Part of One Hany To Beggar.

How did the blind learn to read? It was in this way.

A man named Valentine Hauy, who for a long time had wondered how he could bring happiness to these unfortunate people, was one day walking through an out-of-the-way boulevard, when he came upon a blind beggar.

Touched by the helpless sorrow of the man, he put his hand in his pocket and gave him a piece of money. But he had hardly taken a step forward when the beggar, an honest man, called him back.

"Surely, sir," he said, "you have made a mistake; you have given me a crown instead of a penny."

The astonished giver asked the beggar how he had been able to quickly to detect the different value of the money.

"Oh!" said the beggar, "it is enough for me to pass my finger over it."

This was like a flash of light.

"If the blind," thought Hauy, as he continued his walk, "can distinguish by the least touch a piece of money, why should they not distinguish by the same means a letter, a figure, a mark — in short, any sign whatever, so long as it is raised?"

On this foundation he set to work, and presently invented a method for teaching the blind to read. His first pupil was a blind boy whom he rescued from begging at a church door. This boy learned with astonishing quickness to read by means of raised letters. Very soon Valentine Hauy was able to show his pupil in public, and the sight of a child reading with his fingers excited the greatest surprise and admiration.

When his method was perfected, he appealed to the public for funds to carry on his work, and, thanks to the subscriptions which came to him from all sides, Hauy was soon able to open the first institute for teaching the blind to read.

What Water Can Do

No sooner are the London and Ottawa seasons over than we see announcements of various more or less great personages departing for some Continental or British Spa to take the waters, and allow their systems to recover from the fatigues of fashionable or political life. The drinking of the medicinal water is not the whole of the cure; change of scene, simplicity of diet, early hours, freedom from bustle and worry all play their part in the restoration of body and mind. It is quite possible, however, to have some of these benefits without the expense of going away from home, merely by the aid of pure, drinking water. The human body consists of water in the proportion of about sixty per cent., and the water removed from the body by means of the breath, the perspiration, the urine and the bowels is the vehicle by which the body gets rid of the waste products resulting from the activity of its various organs. As a rule the more active a tissue is the more water it contains, and, therefore, within reasonable limits, an increase in the amount of water taken will tend to [illegible] change.

Postage Stamps

A lady living in Sydney for many years has hoarded a collection of postal stamps left by her father, who had pursued his hobby of collecting for fifty years. The daughter was ignorant of any knowledge of philately, and threw the stamps into an old trunk.

Recently she visited a stamp exhibition, and for the first time awoke to the value of the stamps in her possession. She secured the assistance of experts, who estimated the value of the collection at $100,000.

Photographs on Finger-Nails

One of the latest fads in Germany is the mounting of photographs on the finger-nails, the idea growing out of the whim of a cousin of the Kaiser, who had an enamelled portrait of her fiancée worked on the nail of her little finger. This portrait was a work of art and cost $75, but now the fashionable manicures of Berlin have taken up the idea in the photograph form. The picture is rendered waterproof by coating it over with a shellac-like substance burned upon the nail. It is said that a photograph so mounted will last about four months without renewal.

CLEVER INVALIDS

Tom Hood — One of the Greatest Humorous Writers Wrote Most of His Best Verses While in Torture.

By the death of W. Clark Russell we lose one of the finest writers of sea-stories that this century ever possessed. His romances throb with such vitality that it is hard to realise that for many year their author had been virtually a cripple. Yet such was the case, and his latest works were dictated to his son while he himself was stretched on a couch of pain.

What wondrous results can be effected by strength of will the life of Herbert Spencer pre-eminently shows. Of delicate constitution, he set himself to accomplish a task the magnitude whereof would have appalled the most robust, and wrestling manfully with the demon of ill-health, which sometimes for months together totally incapacitated him from work, never wavered in his stern resolve until, in 1896, he brought his stupendous "System of Synthetic Philosophy" to a triumphant conclusion.

His fellow-worker in the field of evolution, Charles Darwin, for over forty years knew not the joy of a day without pain. Dyspepsia allied, maybe to gout, held him in thraldom, so that his life was one long and continuous struggle against illness. Yet he bore his unenviable lot with cheery patience, and, though his poor health at times compelled him to cease from his arduous studies and researches, the work that he left accomplished is proof sufficient that no physical ills could subdue the indomitable energy of his mind.

In pain and torture, too, lay Tom Hood when he penned some of his most humorous verses. Even in boyhood his health was delicate, and with increasing years his weakness became more alarmingly apparent. Yet he gallantly struggled on until, in the winter of 1844, he finally broke down and took to his bed. Even there his fertile brain refused to rest, and not till death took him in the following spring did the world cease to enjoy the dying poet's witty words.

Over Keats, the while he was composing those poetic gems that have given him place among the immortals, was posed the hand of death. A victim to consumption and consequent haemorrhage from the lungs, he resolved, "as a soldier marches against a battery," to try the effect of a winter in Italy. Thither he went, and lingered on in Rome, where, on February 23rd, 1821, his brief life of twenty-six years came to a peaceful end.

NATURES WARDROBE

Dame Nature Allows Her Children a Complete Change of Clothes At Least Once a Year

Dame Nature allows her children a complete change of clothes at least once a year. In some instances she is more liberal. This change of raiment does not always meet with man's approval, and, because of the petty annoyances it may cause, the fact that the whole matter is not without points of interest is generally overlooked.

During the autumn the canary has a most irritating way of casting its feathers, and causing what the housemaid calls a "litter" all over the room for their tiny yellow feathers get blown about, and they are extremely difficult to pick up. The sweeping brush is no good at all for the purpose; every feather must be taken up separately, and really, considering that they are from one little bird, their number is extraordinary. "Drat that canary!" remarks the lady of the broom and duster.

The poultry yard is dreadful. Feathers lie everywhere, giving the whole place a desolate, unkempt-for look, which is quite in keeping with the miserable appearance of its inmates.

But it is not only the feathered family which cause trouble by leaving their discarded clothes tossing about. Never drive behind a white horse in the spring unless you have a mind above being disturbed by horse hairs. In the pre-taxi days the point was worth remembering, for a white horse between the shafts of the hansom at certain times could make the "fare's" black coat unsightly. A horse sheds his coat — but not his tail or mane — in the spring, and grows a short, glossy, summer coat, which is the delight of the groom. As the winter approaches this animal's appearance undergoes a change. His coat grows long, and is extremely dense, so that if he is out in the fields he can stand severe weather.

It is worth while examining the coat of the house cat in the summer and then in the winter. The animal's appearance may have undergone no change, yet the increase of hair is there all the same. The long-haired cat cannot make her toilet so unobtrusively, and the owner must be very blind who does not know when she is "moulting" and when she is "in coat."

UNSINKABLE SHIPS

New Invention For Forcing Water Out of a Ship by Compressed Air, Permitting the Holes to be Repaired from Within.

If all that is claimed for the idea proves correct there will be a revolution in the work of ship-saving in the near future. Indeed, it promises to revolutionize naval warfare, for it is claimed for this new invention that ships can be kept afloat even after being rammed. In fact, they can be made practically unsinkable. The invention is the outcome of an idea for forcing water out of a ship by compressed air, thus permitting the holes to be repaired from within. The idea is a very simple one, and was suggested to Commander Marsh, of the battleship North Carolina, lying off New York, by Mr. Witherspoon, the engineer engaged in the construction of the New York railway tubes under the Hudson River.

All the experiments tried proved entirely successful. The sea-cocks were opened on the Carolina and water was permitted to fill one of the watertight compartments. Compressed air at a pressure of twelve pounds to the square inch was then forced into the compartment through a small opening. In ten minutes all the water was driven back into the river. Simultaneously with the twelve-pound pressure into the waterlogged compartment compressed air at seven pounds pressure was driven into all the surrounding compartments and a three-pound pressure into the next series of compartments, this being necessary to prevent the pressure on the original compartment buckling the sides and the deck.

Commander Marsh is most enthusiastic regarding the idea. He points out that the invention now enables them to do repairs to the hull below water-line from the inside, either after collision or during a naval battle. "Ships," he says, "are now for the first time practically unsinkable, for the water-tight compartments alone will not keep a ship afloat indefinitely. There is always a leak somewhere. All that is necessary," he continues, "is to install a system of pipes and gauges and attach them to the compressed air plant. Every warship already has such a plant for the purpose of blowing off poisonous and explosive gases, which can be utilized for driving out the water. The whole cost for a battleship is about $400. How is that for a low insurance premium against the sinking of a battleship worth $10,000,000?"

Pigs From All Quarters

Old prints, old books, old anything, postcards or paintings, are all fit subjects to form a collection. But one of the most curious, and one of the most interesting collections is a museum of pigs.

Not live pigs, mind you, but model ones. For some years now the wife of mine host of the Green Man Hotel, at Blackheath, London, has been gathering together a wondrous assortment of model pigs. There are pigs in pewter, china, and ivory, earthenware, silver, and gun-metal; pigs that stand a foot high, and pigs that measure less than half an inch over all; pigs in fancy-dress, and pigs in glover; as paper-knives, inkstands, or ash-trays. In every form and shape there are pigs.

They have come from all over the world, and practically every country is represented. People have stayed at the hotel, admired the collection, and later from some far-away spot has come a pig.

How many there are it would be difficult to say. Many a time has their owner begun to number them, but lost count.

ARABI PASHA.

When the late Arabi Pasha received his pardon ten years ago, and was permitted to return to Egypt, he was very grateful. He expressed a hope that he would be able to come to England to pay his respects to the King, and thank those who had helped him, but that hope was never realised. It is understood that it was on the recommendation of Lord Cromer that the exiled rebel was allowed to return to his native land, and the liberty accorded him does not appear in any way to have been abused. Arabi had sixteen children in exile with him in Ceylon, and the $250 allowance per month which he received from the Egyptian government he used to say was scarcely sufficient to provide for his large family.

How Garibaldi Died.

A book recently published thus describes the death of Garibaldi: "The end came in his white house at Caprera, on a June evening in 1882. The old sailor, farmer and fighter was propped up on the pillows to watch for the last time the sunlight gilding the waves and the granite rocks. While his life was slowly ebbing out, two little birds whom he had taught not to fear him fluttered in from the moor, and sat chirping on the window-sill. The attendants were about to drive them away lest they should disturb him, when that voice was heard once more by men, bidding them let the little birds come in, and always feed them after he was gone. And then the old warrior turned his face to the wall and quietly passed away."

CALABASH PIPES

Showing How the Favourite of the Smoker Can Be Made to Grow in Your Back-Garden or Window.

The fruits are allowed to remain on the vine, which is a relative of the gourds, till the outer parts are quite hard, for if gathered before they are thoroughly ripe, difficulty is experienced in seasoning. On the other hand, they must not be allowed to remain long enough to be exposed to frost, for a severe frost is likely to cause injury. Dry, sunny weather is more favourable to the development of fruit than wet weather, for though the plants will take plenty of water, more satisfactory results are obtained from watering by hand than from the plants being subjected to an excessive amount of rain. The past summer, with its long-continued heat, has been ideal for the successful cultivation of these gourds, in England, providing they were well watered at frequent intervals. Seeds sown here on a slight hot-bed and the plants allowed to grow till they reach a frame, which could be lifted off about mid-June, would probably give the most satisfactory results. If grown throughout the whole of their career in a frame or greenhouse, however, arrangements ought to be made for a free circulation of air at all times. Apart from the utility of the fruits of this plant, it is quite ornamental enough to receive attention from a decorative standpoint, either indoors or out.

THE MAIN THING

The Poets May Sing, but the Heart's the Thing and Scientists the Brain But It's the Stomach That Counts.

Troubles 'to burn' we have, in turn, and blessings befall us, too; and we show our pluck and we have our luck in whatever we have to do; but all of our pluck and most of our luck will come from our real might, and that will depend in the usual end upon whether the stomach is right! There'll be bills galore and we'll walk the floor, if we're not in the best of trim; there'll be notes mature and we'll fall for sure, if we're lacking at all in vim; we may want to roam from the things at home and consider it all a blight, but there's nothing so punk it can make us flunk, if only the stomach is right! The poets may sing that the heart's the thing, and the scientists talk of brain, and these may not shirk in their daily work, but it's little that they ordain; they are organs fine but their chief design is as registers of mood, and the one that guides and their way decides is the one that handles food! And its function great and its high estate are the marvels we should admire, and to cherish it and to keep it fit should be our chief desire; if it's sound as a bell we can do things well, and do 'em with all our might; we can laugh at fate and can celebrate if only the stomach is right!

Sceptical

Meditating in a certain Northern churchyard the other day, we came across an old tombstone bearing the following epitaph:—

"Here lie the bones of William Shott,
Bluff landlord of the 'Foaming Pot';
He warmly welcomed travellers sore,
But now his smile is seen no more."

"Requiescat in pace," we murmured. "One of the good old sort." Then our eyes wandered further down the sad "memento mori," and discovered that some sceptic with a sharp nail had added:

"Fret not; his welcome down below
Was more than warm—it's hot, I trow."

Then, alas! we, too, grew sceptical; so fertile are the seeds of doubt and suspicion. Alas! alas!

A Tall Yarn.

A big-game hunter and his brother recently spent a year in and about the Rocky Mountains. They had two rifles, one bullet, and one keg of powder. With these they say they killed on an average twenty-seven head of buffaloes a day. The fact that they did all this with one bullet led to the following cross-question:—

"How did you kill all these buffaloes with only one bullet?"

"Well, we shot a buffalo; I stood on one side and my brother on the other. Brother fired, and the bullet passed into the barrel of my rifle. We kept up the hunt for twelve months, killing nearly 200 buffaloes a week, and yet brought home the same ball we started with!"

FIRST MOVING PICTURE

The Original of Cinema Films Found To Be Result of a Bet Between a Governor and Edward Muybridge.

Considerable discussion has been going on for some time past as to who originated cinema. Many claimants to the distinction have come forward, but after careful investigation it would appear that the honour really belongs to an Englishmen, Edward Muybridge, who emigrated from Kingston-upon-Thames in the forties, and settled in California, where later on he obtained an appointment as photographic surveyor of the Pacific Coast.

The first moving picture which he produced was really the outcome of a wager made between the Governor of California (Leland Stanford) and a friend as to whether a horse ever has four legs off the ground at the same moment while running. Muybridge was asked to settle the point. He placed 24 cameras in a line to cover each movement of the horse and the rider, the camera shutters being moved by connecting pieces of string which the animal broke as it passed. The result was a series of pictures showing each movement of the horse. It settled the argument, for Muybridge was able to show that except when jumping the horse never had all its feet off the ground at one time.

This experiment caused Muybridge to think what an interesting thing it would be to present the photos in motion. To do this he copied the method made familiar to many in the zoetrope. This toy was a pasteboard cylinder, with slits in the upper section, and when it revolved rapidly it reproduced drawings apparently in motion. To reproduce the effect upon a screen, using photographs was a mechanical feat which was finally conquered, the movements of the horse being shown, but no background. This was before the introduction of the flexible film for the camera, and before rapid photography had been developed.

Muybridge lived to see the wonderful moving picture of to-day. When he died in 1904 at his home in England, he left with officials of the community and his friends the photographs and much of the apparatus used in his experiments.

Dogs Go Wild.

Our tame dogs would all go wild if left to themselves for a few years. They tried the experiment once on Robinson Crusoe's island. They left some of their dogs there, and nobody called at the island again for about thirty years. And they found all the dogs had become quite wild. They hunted just like wolves, and they had forgotten how to bark; they could only howl. It was not till they became used to men again that they learnt to bark. A few years ago two dogs near to Nottingham lost their owners, so they made homes for themselves in a field. They hunted sheep and lambs, and did a great deal of damage, just as the wild dogs of India and Africa and Australia do. They looked just like wolves—so much had they changed during the months they had lived the life of wild dogs; and, finally, they had to be shot.

Two Days to Make a Town

The largest single building ever moved bodily was a block of dwelling-houses known as Normandy Apartments in America. The building weighed 5,000 tons, yet it was decided to shift it as it stood, in order to make room for an elevated railway. It was done, however, without any mishaps, though the move took ten weeks' hard labour to accomplish.

In 1890 the inhabitants of Tipperary had a dispute with their ground landlord, and gave notice to quit in a body. At a spot some miles distant they were provided by the Land League with a brand-new Tipperary. Unlike the inhabitants of Platte they decided to leave the houses standing, though everything else portable was taken. It was lucky they did so, for New Tipperary proved a hopeless failure, and after a few months the inhabitants had another huge flitting back to their old homes.

Milking by Electricity.

We have had milking machines for some while; now comes the American electric machine which jealously watches the milk from cow to pail, from pail to dairy, from dairy to steriliser, from steriliser to separator, from separator to churn, from churn to refrigerator, neatly packed up as germless butter.

You press a button. Four cows are electrically milked simultaneously, and all this happens. And not a germ, not a molecule of contamination. This is an era of hard choices for the man who loves health and purity equally. The farmyard of the future is not an inspiring speculation, but the most aesthetic person cannot preserve a blind eye to the sediment in his glass of milk.

China Chips.

Persons having the same surname are forbidden to marry in China.

There is no word in the Chinese language that conveys what we call "public spirit," nor is there a word for patriotism.

All the imperial buildings in China are painted yellow, and it is a capital offense for any one to imitate the color on their houses.

The fortune teller is always present at Chinese weddings, and if the fortunes told are not satisfactory either party may then and there declare the engagement off.

Household Hints.

Never wash marble with soap and water. Use ammonia in the water if you would have a highly polished, clean surface after your trouble.

To avoid mixing up towels when all the family use the same bathroom embroider initials or one initial on towels for each member of the household.

To protect your rolling pin and board in absolute cleanliness make coverings for them of unbleached muslin, having drawing strings and loops sufficiently strong to hold them when the bags are hung up.

LADY CARD-SHARPERS

Investigation Show That Certain Women Make a Business of Attending Charity Card-Parties to Cheat.

Eleven women were refused admission recently to a charity card-party organized at the Church of St. Francis Assisi at Brooklyn, because they were believed to be card-sharpers. An investigation which was started unearthed the fact that a number of women make a business of attending such affairs of the gamblers who haunt Transatlantic liners. The women are not professional gamblers, but members of respectable families, who are unable to resist the temptation to cheat at cards.

It has become known that women have banded themselves together for concerted work by lip signals, by marking cards with tiny pin-pricks, and otherwise, and, according to Father [illegible], chief of St. Francis Assisi, who discovered the latest conspiracy, even know how to stack the cards.

Father Kelleher's discovery was due to an extraordinary accident. He was riding on a Brooklyn tram-car when he overheard two women seated next to him discussing how they intended to capture the prizes at the St. Francis party by cheating. Father Kelleher told the other priests of the parish, and they watched the doorway of the 47th Regiment Armoury, where a card-party was being given. Father Kelleher detected the two women with nine others as they were endeavouring to enter. They were told that they could not get in. No explanation was offered, and the women did not demand any, but hastily disappeared. The churches and charity organisations are generally being notified of the discovery, with the suggestion that concerted effort should be made this winter to break up the practice. It is a disputed point whether the women are punishable for arrest on a charge of cheating.

The time was long past midnight.

"What was that terrific noise upstairs, darling?" exclaimed the nervous young man.

"I think it must have been papa dropping a hint," she replied.—Philadelphia Record.

Underground Post-Office

In Austria, between Laibach and Trieste, a few miles distant from the former, are the famous Adlesberg caves, visited by thousands of sightseers every year. A feature of these caves, visited by thousands of sight-315 yds. broad, and 190 ft. in height. In this hall the Austrian Government has lately established a post-office at which stamps and illustrated postcards are sold to visitors. Each card bears a special post-mark denoting the fact of its having been mailed in the lower regions. In the first few months after the opening of the post-office the number of cards dispatched amounted, on an average, to 10,000 a day.

Great Moral Question

Mr. Alexander, the evangelist, tells the following story:—

"There were two darkies over in my country named Moses and Ephraim, who went out one night to rob a hen-roost. Moses planted the ladder, climbed up the tree where the chickens were roosting, grabbed them round the neck one by one, and handed them down to Ephraim, who put them in a bag. About a dozen had been bagged when Moses suddenly stopped the proceedings.

"'What's the matter, Brother Moses?' asked Ephraim.

"'I'se jes' been thinkin' whether, now you and me's members ob de church, it's right for us to take all dis yer man's chickens.'

"'Brudder Moses,' said Ephraim, 'dat's a great moral question which you an' I ain't got time to wrastle wid. Pass down anudder yaller-leg!'"

An Evidence of Chinese Awakening.

G. Davidson, who for 25 years has been engaged in educational work in China, gives this typical incident as illustrating the viewpoint of the modern Chinaman as aroused by the revolution. A British teacher in one of the schools of Changtu, we are told, was pointing with pride, before his native geography class, to the many red colored possessions of Great Britain, when he was stopped by shouts from the little Chinese pupils of:

"You stole them."

We are further told that in connection with the propaganda of the revolutionary party there has been circulated a poster depicting the swallowing of Egypt by Great Britain.

Proverbs of Tripoli

Some proverbs of the Tripolitan people which have lately been published in a Turkish paper show what a refreshing fountain of wisdom is about to be stopped up by Italian aggression.

"You cannot," says one of the proverbs, "escape your fate, even on a horse."

"Whoever," says another, "has ears will soon find one who will lend him flour."

"If a dog has to be beaten," says a third, with a familiar though perhaps more elegant ring, "there will be no lack of sticks."

A fourth proverb points out that whoever is seeking pearls must go to the depths of the ocean." Yet another shrewdly remarks that "Even a sooth-sayer cannot foretell his own fate." A very cynical proverb says that "Whoever trusts a woman has been smitten by God, and God punishes everybody according to his deserts."

Kitchener a Stage Manager

An interesting incident in the life of Lord Kitchener was recorded some years ago by Mr. Hermann Klein. Referring to the rehearsals of "Human Nature" at Drury Lane, in the days of the late Sir Augustus Harris, Mr. Klein says: "Actively assisting in arranging an African fight was a gentleman in a frock-coat and tall hat, of undoubtable military appearance, who impressed me by his quiet, masterful manner and the imperturbable patience with which he directed manoeuvres to be repeated over and over again until they were satisfactorily executed. After the rehearsal was concluded I went upon the stage. Augustus Harris was talking to his military adviser. He beckoned me to approach. 'Klein,' I want to introduce you to my friend, major Kitchener, who has been kind enough to come and help me with this "soldiering" work. What do you think of it? Did you ever see such fighting and marching on the stage before?"

A Pointer for Pie

Never set a pie on a flat surface when removing from the oven. Use a flatiron stand or wire trivet. This prevents steamed, soggy under pie crust. Three [illegible] forks placed so that the tines meet in one point in the center will set the pie circulate under when one has not the stands.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

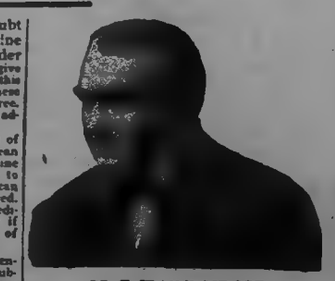
I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, but would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though, there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, note which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 357 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From my standpoint you owe it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do this; I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do this.



DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT

who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

What is it that keeps down cholera cramps, and summer complaints in America? Ask any doctor or live druggist and he will tell you "Nerviline." Just fancy, a million bottles are sold every year to people who use Nerviline for stomach disorder, cramps, flatulence, and summer complaint. For fifty years in most Canadian homes no other pain-relieving medicine but Nerviline is kept. Nothing cures the aches, pains and sickness of the entire family so quickly as Nerviline.

"As far back as I can remember, at least 50 years ago, there was never a time that our house was without 'Nerviline.' In the summer time, when the children ate green apples and got sick with diarrhoea and cramps, it was Nerviline that cured them. My father used Nerviline frequently to cure gas on his stomach and acute indigestion. There are but few minor ailments that Nerviline does not cure, and I know of no medicine so useful; in fact, so indispensable around the home as Nerviline."

PUBLISH MY LETTER THE WORLD OVER

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.
